spotlight:

Please publish the following. It might save someone from wondering and from fruitless hoping.

To whomever, near the Delmar By-pass and Murray Ave., once owned an orange and white girl cat, with a blue collar.

We stopped, because there was no blood and she might have been alive. She was already stiffening, however, her neck cleanly broken. There could not possibly have been any hope, even if whomever had hit her had tried.

She is buried in the woods behind our house, with a large flat stone on her grave. She was much too lovely to leave for the crows. We are sure you will miss her, but perhaps knowing that she rests in dignity will help just a little.

Philip K. Raeder, Jr.

Delmar, N.Y.

To the Editor, Spotlight:

Our sports program at Bethlehem Central High School rests in the hands of the taxpayers. On July 14 they will vote on a proposition which will make it possible to continue these programs which have been most valuable to the students and the community. The Bethlehem Central High School Men's Association wants to make certain facts known that deserve consideration by the voters.

The expenditure the proposition authorizes, about $25,671, means a tax levy of about fifty cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation, a tax of $3.00 on property assessed on $6,000 for example. In addition, the continuation of interscholastic sports yields $7,500 in anticipated revenue, which may reduce the tax levy by nearly 30%.

The benefits of the sports program to the athletes are clear and undeniable — character building, motivation, leadership, self-discipline, commitment to group and its goals. The contribution the programs make to the schools and entire student body are less noticed, but equally valuable — morale, school spirit and pride in teams' achievements as representatives of the school.

The community has been actively interested in the school's sports activities for many years.

If the sports program were not continued, the loss of even one year would have irreparable consequences both for the teams and the entire student body. Morale will suffer, other activities will become attractive to use up their energy, and spare time.

Every other Suburban Council school has a budget which provides their students with an interscholastic sports program. For a very modest cost, the voters of the Bethlehem Central district can also continue the programs here and give our students equal advantages. The Men's Association urges every registered voter to vote "Yes" on Proposition #4 on July 14.

John E. Hauf, President
B.C.H.S. Men's Association

To the Citizens of Delmar:

I urge all citizens of our fine community to join me in voting "Yes" on Proposition #4, Interscholastic Athletics at the next school vote on July 14th.

In these times our youth are faced with many critical health problems, some of which have already surfaced in our community. It would be most tragic to remove from our school offerings the interscholastic athletics program which provides our students with good wholesome activity. Our quiet little community offers little to occupy the time of our teen-age population.

The Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association has established certain affirmations with which we most heartily concur and they are offered here for your information.

Affirmations

"We believe in athletics as an important part of the school physical education program. We believe that the experience of playing athletic games should be a part of the education of all children and youth who attend school in the United States.

Participation in sound athletic programs, we believe, contributes to health and happiness, physical skill and emotional maturity, social competence and moral values.

We believe that cooperation and competition are both important components of American life. Athletic participation can help teach the values of cooperation as well as the spirit of competition.

Playing hard and playing to win can help to build character. So also do learning to "take it" in the rough and tumble of vigorous play, experiencing defeat without whimpering and victory without gloating, and disciplining one's self to comply with the rules of the game and of good sportsmanship.

Athletics may also exemplify the value of the democratic process and of fair play. Through team play the students athlete often learns how to work with others for the achievement of group goals. Athletic competition can be wholesome equalizer. Individuals on the playing field are judged for what they are and for what they can do, not on the basis of the social, ethnic, or economic group to which their families belong.

We believe that school athletics are a potential educative force of great power that is not used so much as it should be and that is too often misused. We believe that concerted efforts should be made by school personnel and by other citizens to capitalize more effectively on the potential values in school athletics.

We hope that this will help the American people to understand better the role of athletic education in their schools. We further hope that the teaching profession will provide leadership for all citizens to work together to build programs for elementary and secondary schools that will give all the children and youth of the nation the best possible chance to benefit in full measure from taking part in athletics."

The basic moral and spiritual value in American life is the supreme importance of the individual personality. From this value is derived the goal that athletic activities foster, above all else, the growth and well-being of the individual student.

Athletic education quite properly sets before the learner the immediate goal of improving proficiency in the physical skills relevant to playing the game well. Mastering such skills is itself a worthy aim. Value of the process is enhanced by the collateral outcomes that accrue. As the player practices to perfect his technique, and as he improves his skills in the actual playing of the game, he also adds to his strength, his muscular coordination and his capacity for physical endurance. Both mental and bodily health are built by wholesome physical exercise.

Seeing teammates and opponents at close range in athletic contests enables the player to gain penetrating insights into the dynamics of human behavior. He will learn to appreciate what other people are really like.

The student learns from athletics not only about other people but also how to get along with them. He learns to take turns, to respect the rights of others and to judge others for what they can do. They playing field is a living laboratory of democracy in action where all players are treated without favor prejudice.

Both competition and cooperation are prized in our American culture. Both values are fostered by well conducted athletic encounters. Athletics are competitive by definition and they are cooperative by necessity. In team games athletic competition teaches the individual how to work with others for group goals.

Interscholastic athletics broadens the social experience of both players and spectators. They learn from travel, visiting other schools, making the acquaintance of other young people of similar age and interests. Valuable outcomes are accentuated when visiting teams are treated not as enemies to be humiliated but as honored guests.

Good sportsmanship practices have lifelong value, for the students in today's schools are tomorrow's community citizens, and they as adult spectators will demonstrate some of the attitudes they are now learning as students.

I have attempted to reveal to the community a sampling of the goals and values we seek for our young people through the athletics program. Our coaches represent one of the truly fine staffs in the Capital District area. The records achieved in athletics by the Bethlehem teams are well known to all. Please do not deprive the youngsters of this very low cost program. Vote "YES" on Proposition #4 on July 14th.

tended many of the firm's factory training schools over the past 15 years.

Mr. O'Toole speaks with great pride of the firm's growth and of its accomplishment. He is particularly proud of their sound reinforcement systems at The Saratoga Performing Arts Center, and the Colonie Summer Theatre. He is excited about their current installations at SUNYA Theatre-Music Building, and the new, ultra-modern Physical Education Building.

This new move, he explains, allows us to more actively pursue our most exciting venture, closed circuit television and videotape recording. Our new facilities include demonstration and recording studios more elaborate than anything in this area. Now we can truly serve our customers with the finest television and video recording equipment and allow us to bring in large groups for training session, etc.

Mr. O'Toole explains much of the firm's success is due to its acceptance of new and better equipment and technology in the past several years. For example, the firm's use of Acoustavoicing, the Altec Lansing process which tunes a sound system to the room it serves.

Mr. O'Toole resides with his wife Martha and five children — Kathy, Nancy, Michael, Mary and Ken, Jr., — at 3 Jules Drive in Colonie.

Workshop Plans

Heldeberg Workshop begins

its three-week program on August 3. Planning sessions are in full swing. Miss Sammie Ives, a former teacher in Bethlehem, now Assistant Professor at Plattsburgh State University College, will serve again as Director of Creativity. She has announced a number of changes in the program. Discoverland, an enrichment course designed for second and third grade children, will continue to provide a variety of experiences in art, music, dance, science, drama, and the social sciences. Under the leadership of Miss Lucinda Wright of Voorheesville, boys & girls will have an opportunity to experiment in several areas and then direct their interests toward those areas that are most appealing to them.

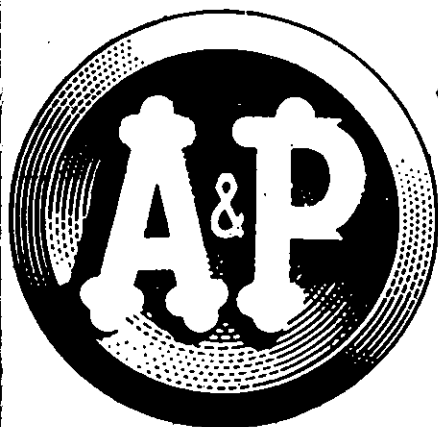

Studio C, designed for grades 4 through 6, offers a broad spectrum of individual, large and small group experiences. Students interested in dance will have the opportunity of working with Mrs. Ida Gilman of the Capital Area Modern Dance Council. Miss Ives and Mrs. Corinne Weeks assisted by Marilyn Davis and Barbara Sieme, will continue to encourage young people in drama and the many facets of staging. Mr. Ronald Bover, who taught for many years at Clarksville, will conduct experiences in stagecraft and creative construction as well as going out to the Heldeberg Land to work creatively in the area of environmental education. Mr. Bover will have just returned from a ten week European Study Tour on Conservation Education. He will have much to share with young people in the Studio C group. Studio C will actually be made up of several studios. There will be times when the Art Studio will be alive with children and a variety of activities. If you were to glance in the door you might very well see a group of boys and girls experimenting with stage make-up or improvising costumes. On one wall there could be a gigantic mural with each participant adding his or her ideas in colored chalk or tempera paint. There could be as many as four kinds of puppets being constructed and it is very possible that Mr. Bover would be helping a group of boys construct a strange and exciting building for a play. There will be opportunities for children to work in small groups and then there will be the sociability of sharing productions and ideas together.

William Morrison, sixth grade teacher at the Middle School, will direct Heldeberg Summer Stock, a program for students from grades 9 through 12. With his fine background of experience in Slingerlands Players, Mr. Morrison should have a great deal to offer not only in dramatic but in staging techniques as well. Thomas Hughes, of the Schenectady Schools will head the Junior high school. On Stage program.

Not only are there teachers and ex-teachers from Bethlehem in the program but there are a number of volunteers from the area. Mrs. Harriet Hasslam is Chairman for Studio C. Frank McLaughlin will continue his talents for the second year to Summer Stock. Miss Wendy Manning, Mrs. Bailey Bloom, Mrs. Jean Bode all plan to provide their services to the Creativity Program. In fact, the Chairman for the total Heldeberg Workshop Program is a Delmarian, Mrs. Joan Uhrick.

Heldeberg is essentially an enrichment program. It is designed to extend the activities of the schools in directions that are different from the usual scheduled plans. Children and young adults delve deeply into one area that particularly interests them. The entire Staff knows a deep concern for youth, for the creative growth of young people. Every effort is made to set up conditions (facilities and climate), motivation and personal productivity.

People interested in knowing more about the Heldeberg Workshop can obtain brochures by writing to Heldeberg at Voorheesville, New York.

High Finishers

A number of players from the Town of Bethlehem finished high in the first annual Albany County-wide Junior Tennis Tournament held on June 23-24 at State University in Albany. The tournament had 80 entrants.

The boys 12 singles final was an all-Delmar event with William Minnock winning over Tony Kimberly 6-3, 6-4. Another final all-Delmar event was boys 16 doubles won by Peter Eckhardt and Ed Minnock over Steve Anderson and David Denny 6-4, 6-2. Festival

St. Patrick's Church in Ravena will sponsor its second annual Summer Festival from 6 P.M. to midnight July 24 and 25 on the parish school grounds. Proceeds will be used to help defray the operational expenses of the parish school.

Dr. Robert P. Whalen and Albert Nunziato, general chairman, said the festival will feature pony rides, games for children, refreshments and booths.

Instead of the traditional cake sale, the festival will have a cake booth under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Holpit.

Among special events for teenagers will be a "Battle of the Bands" from 8:30 to 11:30 P.M. Saturday, July 25, in the school auditorium.

For guests of all ages, the festival will offer an All-American Hot Dog Stand.

Heading the list of awards being offered is a seven-day Caribbean cruise for two aboard the Italian Line's S.S. Leonardo Da Vinci.

Other festival officials include: Mrs. Angie Steele, awards; Mrs. Mae Heim, festival secretary; and Andrew Reynolds, treasurer.

A similar festival will be conducted July 31 and Aug. 1 at St. Mary's Church in East Durham.

The New Principal

"I feel terribly responsible. Like being mayor of a village larger than the one I grew up in ... it's awe-inspiring to me."

Even as she smiled and made these comments to a reporter, one could sense that it will not take too long for Miss Helen Hobbie to take full charge as Bethlehem Central High School's new principal.

Last Thursday night the Bethlehem Board of Education announced Miss Hobbie's appointment to replace Paul Rungé as administrative head of the large suburban high school in the village of Delmar, Albany County.

Understandably, Miss Hobbie had no specific comment when asked what her philosophy will be as principal. It is too soon, really, to ask, she and the reporter agreed. However, the former math teacher did express "the obligation" she feels to not only pupils and parents at Bethlehem High, but to all residents in the community, including teachers and non-professional staff members at the school.

Miss Hobbie emphasized her support of the Board of Education's district policies and those of Superintendent Richard Moomaw.

On April 24, the superintendent issued a public statement whereby he anticipated "no radical changes" in the educational programs at Bethlehem Central High School. He said that programs would continue to be evaluated, developed and changed in an orderly fashion "through the planning and decision-making process" as it had always been.

Miss Hobbie indicated, she, too, believes in an orderly process for change - if it becomes necessary and she is always willing to listen to ideas. "I want to be receptive to people," and said she will make "every effort" to communicate with all in the community. Miss Hobbie wants folks to know what is happening in the classroom, consequently, her office door will always be open.

"The big thing," she said, "is public relations . . . talking to people, parents to the newspapers . . . all kinds of things."

The genial teacher - now alone in her carpeted office - pointed to a small vase atop a filing cabinet, filled with summer flowers. "The staff gave me those," she smiled.

Then, rising to walk down the long corridors to a conference with her superintendent, Miss Hobbie confided: "I'm just beginning to get oriented, but, frankly, I'm looking forward to it."

Leadership at Bethlehem Central High School appears in firm, yet understanding hands.

Chlorinator Installed

The Village of Voorheesville has installed a new chlorinator at the reservoir, replacing a 30-year-old machine which was discovered to be defective during last month's water contamination.

Mayor William Wenzel said he had no idea whether the old machine was responsible for the water problems, but there was a suspicion that the machine was operating improperly.

Cost of the new chlorinator and installation will come to about $900, the mayor said.

Muster Performance

The Village Volunteers Fife & Drum Corps of Delmar was the first unit to perform at the Grand Review of Ancient Martial Musick at the New Windsor Cantonement at Vail's Gate, New York.

Fifteen units were accepted and all were appropriately garbed in colonial attire. The village Volunteers played Bluebells of Scotland, Ginger Pop - Kingdom Coming Medley, Duke of York and Yankee Doodle as their musical presentation.

A large contingent of Delmar families went along to see the corps perform.

For further information and registration, phone 439-2410. You must have your Learner's Permit to be admitted to the class.

Ladies' Invitational Tournament

The Women's Golf Association of Tall Timber Country Club will sponsor an Invitation Tournament, "18 Holes with Snoopy," on Thursday, July 30. Play will begin at 8:30 A.M. with a "shot-gun start."

Following luncheon in the Clubhouse, gross and net prizes in each of 3 classes will be awarded.

Mrs. Burton Prettyman, Chairman of this year's tournament, and her Co-Chairman, Mrs. Lee R. Chait, have requested that all reservations be made by July 23rd.

The field will be limited to 20 teams or a total of 80 golfers.

Picnic

Lake George was the scene of the annual picnic meeting of Van Rensselaer Society, Children of the American Revolution. They were joined at Fort William Henry by Benjamin Franklin Society of Glens Falls. A historical film and slide presentation was reviewed and the Fort, which includes a museum, cemetery, and Iroquois Village was toured.

The group then gathered at the lakeside summer home of Mrs. Dreck J. Olton for a picnic luncheon and swimming party. Mrs. Olton is Regent of Mohawk Chapter D.A.R. The meeting which followed was opened with the invocation given by Christy Lee Morris, of Delmar, State Second Vice President. The program included a study of Lake George's pollution problem, a quiz on Stephen Foster's music conducted by Betsey Nesbitt, State Chaplain and a talk on the life and work of Edgar Allen Poe presented by Jay Jakovic, of Albany, State First Vice President.

At the Library

Good news for everyone in the Tri-Village area. The annual series of six "Evenings on the Green" at the Bethlehem Public Library will be held Tuesdays at 8 P.M. during July and August. Bill Spence will again get things off to a rousing start on July 14. Those of you who were at his show last year already know Bill is an accomplished entertainer. That, in addition to being one of the best folk singers anywhere, means a great time for everyone. Join the crowd and listen to Bill's informal chatter, fine singing and have fun when sooner or later the audience joins in on the choruses.

Also during July, Reneta Benenati is having a one man art show at the Library. Mrs. Benenati is a graduate of Albright Art School, has her MA in Art from Columbia University and has studied at the School of Ceramics, Alfred University. She has taught elementary and secondary art in Walden, East Islip and Babylon and in the Ravena - Coeymans - Selkirk Central School System. The artist says, "I love to paint - I work fast. I've been too busy the last few years so am taking a leave now. I'll keep painting. Spray enamels, acrylics and temperas are favorite mediums although colleges are a challenge." Her abstracts are fascinating - the colors gentle, the works imaginative, the message interpretative.

Corrections Made

Structural imperfections in the new Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Junior High School, currently under construction, have been corrected.

The structure is considered safe and the cost of the necessary repairs will not cost the residents of the R-C-S Central School District a dime, indicated Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank J. Filippone.

Dr. Filippone explained that the trouble during the construction of the school came from the cracking of concrete reinforcements called "double tees."

He said the new junior high building featured in its design a type of overhung "double tee" that is reinforced by prestressed steel. This feature, the superintendent explained, is part of the school's basic design.

The school is a two-building featuring an overhang - hence the need for the "double tee," the superintendent said.

Dr. Filippone described the "double tee" thus: "Picture a flat concrete plank that forms a downward stem and spaced every so often and designed to add strength to the building."

He said the Becker Elementary School on Route 9W in Selkirk features such an overhang and was designed by the same architectural firm, Blatner, Mendel and Mesick of Albany.

According to Dr. Filippone cracks developed last winter at the point where the concrete double tees meet the ceiling of the first floor and the floor of the second story. Discovered last January, the defects were reported by Architect Henry Blatner to the R-C-S Board of Education. They "were not large ones," the superintendent told a reporter yesterday.

Consequently, Dr. Filippone said that 17-foot lengths of channel iron was bolted through each cantilevered stem to hold them together, plus "many pieces of 1/8 inch steel rods added" along the upstairs floor to insure its reinforcement. Of the upstairs reinforcement Dr. Filippone commented: "We caught it before we poured the second floor."

An inspector for the Division of Buildings and Grounds, State Education Department, has pronounced the improvements "more than adequate," the superintendent said. He also noted that this particular department of the State Educational branch has been two such inspectors for the entire state.

Once they learned of the defect in construction, the R-C-S Board of Education hired a consulting engineer from New York City to investigate the building. Since then, the superintendent said, he has been working with the architect.

Although reportedly not certain how much the modifications will add to the total construction cost of the new junior high school,

Dr. Filippone said the additional funds will not be charged to the R-C-S School District. This is something the architect is working out with the sub-contractors, the superintendent said.

The new R-C-S junior high faces the present junior-senior high school facility. In recent years, the location of both schools have come under attack by some residents as being susceptible to dust from the nearby Atlantic Cement Company and its blasting operations.

NEW CADET — Merrill S. Blackman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Blackman, Jr. of 29 Altamont Road, Voorheesville, will report next week for his first year at West Point. Mr. Blackman, a graduate of Clayton A. Bouton High School in Voorheesville, is winner of a Regent Scholarship and National Merit Scholarship letter of commendation. While in high school, he was vice president of his class, president of the Honor Society, and co-captain of the wrestling team.

Control of Lawn Insects

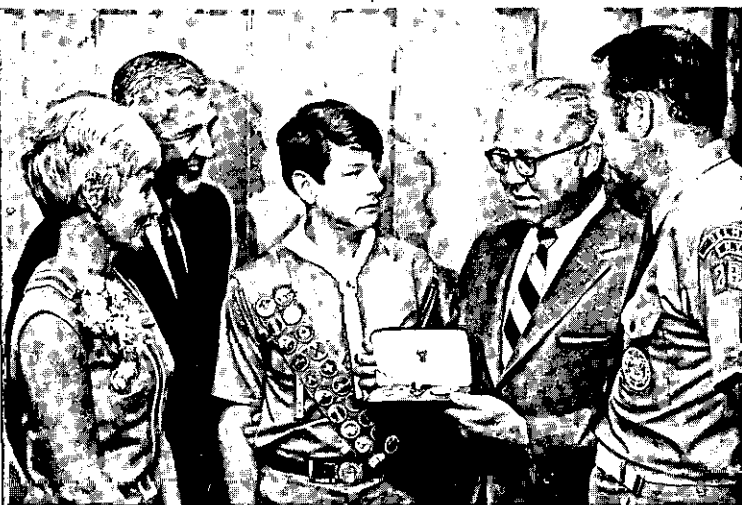

This is the time of year when insect pests do their most damage to lawns. Some of these pests destroy the roots of turf, while others attack the leaves and stems. Here are a few of those pests and what to do for them.

ANTS - Although ants don't do any harm to turf themselves, their hills formed around their nests often smother grass plants. CONTROL - Apply 5 lbs./100 sq. ft. of 5% chlordane dust. Then soak in with water.

SOD WEBWORMS - These are the larvae of whitish or gray millers found around lawn areas. The worms live in tunnels under the turf and feed on the leaves and stems. CONTROL - Apply 2 1/2 lbs./1000 sq. ft. 5% chlordane dust. Apply in late afternoon or evening, but do not water in until the following morning.

CUTWORMS - Occasionally these garden pests can be found feeding on the leaves of grass plants. The type of damage is the distinctive cutting-off of the stem near the soil line. CONTROL - In the late afternoon, spray with 50% Sevin at a dosage of 8 ounces/1000 sq. ft.

LEAFHOPPERS - These tiny

cago, succeeding Thomas W. Dooley, who has resigned, Realtor Philip C. Smaby, Minneapolis, NIREB president, announced recently.

The Brokers Institute, with nearly 17,000 members throughout the country, is the largest affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Founded in 1923, it has as its primary objective the training of those engaged in the real estate brokerage field.

Mr. Magel, currently executive vice-president of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards, will assume NIREB's top staff position on Aug. 1, Realtor Smaby continued.

A graduate of Western Michigan University, Mr. Magel began his career as a real estate association executive immediately after graduation when he was named chief executive officer of the Kalamazoo (Mich.) Board of Realtors. He was with that board for seven years when he was named executive vice-president of the Real Estate Board of the Bronx (N.Y.) in 1962. In 1964, he joined the New York State association.

While with the Bronx board, he served as editor of The Bronx Real Estate and Building News, a monthly trade publication.

Mr. Magel has at various times during his career served as an advisor to local and state governmental agencies in connection with legislative counseling. His legislative liaison work was concerned primarily with planning and zoning, land development, construction, taxes, and industrial development.

Participation in NAREB has included membership on the Multiple Listing Policy and State Associations Committees, among others.

Last year, Mr. Magel awarded the CAE (Chartered Association Executive) designation by the American Society of Association Executives.

Mr. Magel and his wife, Ar-delle, have two children, William Jr., and Katy Lee.

New Office

Boatmen visiting the Adirondacks now have a new regional office of the Division of Motor Boats to serve their needs.

"The growth of boating, particularly trailer boating, has made this office a necessity." James J. O'Brien, Director of the Conservation Department's Division of Motor Boats pointed out.

"Very often boatmen visiting the Adirondacks lost precious days from their vacation time if a problem arose in regard to the registration of their boat, or in registering a newly purchased boat."

"This new office will be able to provide 'instant registration' for newly purchased boats and can assist the boatmen in many other ways."

Located on Route 86 in Ray Brook, Essex County, the new regional office is in the heart of the Adirondacks and conveniently available to the northern counties and the St. Lawrence River

Disaster Kits

Albany Area Chapter Red Cross officials are pleased with the response to date from individuals, organizations and service clubs to their appeal last week for aid in filling 300 family disaster comfort kits as part of the 50,000 nationwide quota based on a request for such assistance by disaster operations authorities in Peru. Approximately one-half of the cash and materials requested have been received to date at the Albany Red Cross chapter and indications are that more is forthcoming.

G. Frank Ackerman, chairman of chapter volunteers has asked groups to assist in the preparation of cloth ditty bags for the Peru situation. Gift bags have been sown by the Loudonville Community Church, St. Sophia Greek Orthodox Church, 4-H groups and Girl Scout Troops in the East Greenbush area, Westminster Presbyterian Church, Greenville-Durham branch of the Greene County Red Cross District, and the Glenmont-Van Wies Point branch of the Albany Red Cross chapter. Materials for these bags came from those previously allocated for fall delivery by the Albany Red Cross to our servicemen and service-women in South Viet Nam. These

Much of the relief material is being air shipped without charges on a "space available" basis by Braniff International, Eastern Airlines, Northeast Airlines, Pan American Airways, and Delta Airlines.

Ralph Mitchell, chief of the American Red Cross mission supporting the Peruvian Red Cross, labeled the disaster "one unprecedented in its scope in the history of South America. Over 50,000 persons died in the May 31 disaster, some 100,000 were injured and up to 600,000 were made homeless."

Mr. Ackerman said the Albany Red Cross chapter needs more help so as to complete its quota of 300 kits in time for June 30th shipment. The chapter, he said, needs an additional $600 to $700 in cash or kind to complete the task. Money or items will be received at the Albany Red Cross chapter house located on Hackett Blvd. at Clara Barton Dr., between the hours of 9 A.M. and 5 P.M. Checks should be made payable to "Red Cross Peru Comfort Kits."
