COVER STORY

MEMORIAL DAY 1971

BETHLEHEM'S MEMORIAL DAY PARADE and Service at Veterans' Memorial Park is always climaxed by the placing of the wreath honoring those who have lost their lives in all wars. This year the wreath was placed (l. to r.) by Barbara Palmer, President Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Post #1040, American Legion Auxiliary; Harold Barkhuff, a past County Commander of the Legion; and Norma Thwing, President of the V.F.W. Auxiliary.

FROM THE EDITOR

This is the kind of habit we'd like to avoid: Writing a letter of explanation every issue! But circumstances make further explanation necessary.

The Spotlight staff met for dinner last Thursday night at Trotta's Restaurant and at that time the early reports indicated that we had a winner! But we didn't dream of the extent of the odds. First of all, our Classified Ads jumped over 50% for this current issue — that's how the new classified format took hold. Then, the Calendar jumped by 150%!

The jump in the Calendar has already necessitated a change in type face. The only way we could absorb such an onslaught was to decrease the size of the type just slightly so we can accommodate everyone. We apologize for our seeming unwillingness to make up our minds but we had no way of knowing just how great a response our effort would bring forth.

This is our only apology for progress! From now on, we'll work even harder to bring you more of what you so enthusiastically accept.

SUPER-SALESMAN

PART II

by LeVere Fuller

IT IS EASY to drift into using superlatives when writing about Buck Smith. We say: Buck is the greatest salesman this area has ever seen! Now — can we back it up? We saw how successful he was when he built $25 plus a $200 loan into the most successful gas station business in town. He sold service; he sold his personality; and he sold gas, oil, batteries and tires. Somewhere in those years he must have discovered just how great his salesmanship was — because he's been at it ever since. He'll tell you that a lot of his success was "luck." But experience has taught most of us that "luck" is usually spelled: "hard work."

A new building was constructed across Kenwood Avenue from Buck's station (it is now the Laundromat). One side was leased by a dry cleaner; Buck leased the other and opened a Firestone Tire and Auto Accessories store. He hired Gene Jagareski to manage it and his second business was born. The store was also a Firestone distributorship, so it sold not only to retail customers but also to gas stations at wholesale; it became a busy place. On the day that tire rationing was declared, the store had an inventory of more than 300 tires. Buck decided that the red tape that went with rationing was more trouble than it was worth. He returned the tires to Firestone and closed the store.

There's another true story that happened about this time.

DEER HUNTING was a sport that Buck dearly loved — but it was probably the after-hunt companionship that made the biggest hit. Left to right: Famous local artist Edwin Buyck, Cliff Davenport and Buck.

When Buck's income reached a point where he could afford it, he bought his dream car: a brand new grey Cadillac (he's still driving Cadillacs!). He, Catherine and Butch were living in the home he had built on upper Kenwood Avenue. There was a car accident right in front of the house; a youth was badly injured. Buck and a neighbor got the young man in the Cadillac (it had less than 1000 miles on the speedometer!). They started for the hospital. At the Four Corners, Cpl. Jimmie Morris of the NY State Police said he'd provide an escort. At that time, the Troopers drove Fords on patrol. Buck passed Jimmie and it's said that Buck was well into Albany while Jimmie was fighting a losing race — he was still in Elsmere!

As they were crossing the bridge over the Normanskill, Buck's companion urged him to go faster as the injured man seemed to be on the point of dying. Buck was doing 95!

At the hospital, heroic work in Emergency saved the man's life. Had he been 5 minutes longer getting there, he couldn't have survived because he was losing too much blood.

— Before leaving the hospital, Buck thought he'd stick his head in the door and see how they were doing. Maybe it was the blood — perhaps over-excitement — something — Buck fainted dead away — the only time in his life,

Super-Salesman? So far he has sold gas, oil, tires, repairs, he would sell farm machinery, become a partner in an auto

 as a hobby, he dabbled in buy-

 Super-Salesman.

In 1941 or 42, Empire Markets built the store at the Four Corners that is now the Star Supermarket — with a gas station in front of it. Buck moved across the street to a facility that was able to handle three or four times as many customers. The area was growing and at one time he had five full-time employees at this location. But it was one of those things — every time the business increased, the rent went up! Buck has never objected to hard — but like most of us — he likes to have a commensurate return for his effort. Therefore, he now got out of the gas station business.

Look what we found! IN THE MAILBAG

Dear Members of the School Board,

You do not hear the message that is being brought home to you by the voters of this community. On May 13, at the School Board meeting, John Clyne at last spelled out where he felt items should be cut; your attitude should have been more positive. He was ignored by most of you. He was drawing attention to areas that he had been led to believe needed re-examination. Some of this involves reorganization and re-evaluation of programming and staff — this is painful and obviously something you don't wish to tackle. But from the vote, the desire on the part of many people is that they want you to do this for them. Why, do you keep ignoring this request? There are many ways to skin a cat. John Clyne doesn't say he has the answers, but with so many 'professional' staff people, with a faculty of over one half having been here more than 10 years and with the 'professional' salaries they continue to push for, can't the public expect a constant re-examination of job responsibility and staffing needs.

A school system that is amoral in much of its teaching, that has teachers preaching political ideology from the front of the room and that has staff and faculty concentrating more and more on the A-typical child, on either side of the spectrum, cannot expect to win the support of its constituency. The large majority of the community falls into the "average" category and ask that the school keep the primary responsibility in the home with the parents and also help to keep more of the money in the home with the parents so that they can continue to promote the cultural values they feel are of vital importance to their lives.

A town that has been in existence since 1793, whose people have slowly built it through financial sacrifice and careful planning are not about to leap onto any educational bandwagon. Whether the newer elements in the community like it or not, this is a town whose values are steeped in the Christian faith, the tradition of the importance of the family unit, the thinking twice before you move forward and not primarily in the making of much money and permissiveness. Knowledge doesn't necessarily mean intelligence; a big house and being well-traveled doesn't necessarily mean prominence; your own psychiatrist doesn't necessarily mean adjustment to living in a Republic. Until the newer elements in the community come to respect and look at the long-standing community residents as equals, things will continue to come to a grinding halt at the polls. There is a feeling of being ridiculed, and being put down that is sensed by many for the values that the general citizenry of this town know are important. When some of the arrogance leaves the self styled "intellectuals," and this includes some of our teaching staff, cooperation may begin to be a little easier to come by.

(Name Submitted)

Dear Sir:

I find myself in the unique position of writing my very first letter to the editor — in response to the two "name submitted" letters you published on June 3, in the "ALL NEW SPOTLIGHT." I also must state, in all honesty, that due to certain prior commitments, I attended only ONE STRAND III meeting, but I was on the Advisory Committee and received a copy of the group's recommendations which I thoroughly studied. I was, however, kept up to date by oral and written reports on the Committee's activities.

To begin with, I assume the "Name Submitted" letter writers assume that to be a concerned parent one must be totally concerned with sex and how and if it is to be taught in our schools. Perhaps, as a very wise man suggested long ago, the "Name Submitters" protest too much. One night, as a parent, consider the sex education of one's children a "God given privilege." One might also consider it rather as a moral and natural responsibility to one's children and be grateful for all qualified help available. After studying the Strand III recommendations, I would say that these are NOT the results of overly sex conscious participants, but merely recommendations by concerned people who spent long, unpaid time trying to, in fact, not "pull a snow job," but let the sun shine in!

Look around at the youth of today and some of their problems. Our children seem to need all the correct facts they can get and the earlier the better — when they can be presented and received in the same way as the "3R'S" — sanely, rationally and unemotionally. Why must family living be supercharged with all these negative overtones? Family living is in the mainstream of the American way of life. I wonder if "Name Submitted" rebelled at the "new Math?" Did he or she feel that this too was "pushed down our throats?" I read these "Names Submitted" statements as a strong and clear cry for parental help on the Adult Education Level which I also see wisely is included in part of the Strand III recommendations.

If "Name Submitted" had gone over the Strand III recommendations, I feel he or she would have discovered:

1. Only teachers who are qualified to teach health and feel comfortable teaching it, would teach it. (Can the same be said of Parents?)
2. The Strand III Program (Still not set up) would be based on New York State guidelines and implemented by advice from parents, physicians and the Clergy.
3. Teachers would not have to make moral judgments in order to teach this course. They would be fulfilling a teaching responsibility.
4. The Strand III recommendations provide that if a program is to be set up, it would be OPTIONAL at all levels. This excludes, to me, the need for any referendum to further blow up a normal and natural part of humanlife. Only those parents who want to take advantage of a program in our school's curriculum could do so. This is, indeed, a step forward for Bethlehem parents in the area of parental involvement in school curriculum. To put it bluntly, we as parents, get freedom of choice and hopefully we can handle it.

To all who unselfishly gave of their time and energies to prepare the Strand III recommendations and are trying to re-introduce life and reality into the schools, my personal thanks. To all of you "Name Submitted letter writers" who want the solitary privilege of granting this information to your children in your own homes, I can only question your personal feelings of inner security. I do not even know your names but I would say "you have nothing to fear except fear itself!"

Sincerely,

Judith M. Swire

P.S. Actually the choice of whether your child gets a sex education or not is not really a choice you as a parent make entirely. T.V., movies, magazines, friends all contribute to his information or misinformation. The actual choice you might have is whether or not you will permit your child to have the benefit of informed educators on this subject.

Again sincerely,

Judith M. Swire

Richard B. Swire

To the Editor:

As a candidate for the newly-created three-year term for board member of the Bethlehem School District, I feel it is my obligation to present a platform for my campaign. In this letter, I shall outline major school problems in this community, as I see them.

In my discussions with voters in the School District, I have found a real lack of communication by the Board of Education. Their new public relations expert has increased the number of issues and the quality of the school publication, and the Board has attempted to meet with the voters to discuss the budget. Despite these superficial efforts, the board has been largely unsuccessful in communicating with the public both this year and in the two previous years. I maintain this is because the Board understands neither the voter nor the means of reaching him.

A second problem, directly related to budget defeats in these last three years, is the property tax, which is the worst administered and one of the most regressive taxes in the country. While the Board has constantly expounded the virtues of the school program, on the one hand, and the voters have attacked expenditures, on the other, no one seems to have realized that we may be able to have a quality program and increase revenues with little or no increase in the tax rate.

Thirdly, the Board has failed to realize its power as a governmental unit. It has refused publicly to discuss its needs and problems with other units of government which might be able to provide it assistance in fulfilling its duties.

Lastly, the Board has not used the best and most modern techniques for analyzing the budget needs of this district. There is a need for a thorough review of the way in which the annual budget is prepared.

In coming weeks, I shall recommend solutions to these problems. They will be neither cure-alls nor platitudes, but will be based on solid foundations. If effectively administered, they will result in better relations with the voters and a reduction in property tax increases, while maintaining quality education for the District. The solutions will be based on my observations of school district operations as a member and co-chairman of the Citizens' Advisory Committee and my years of experience as a budget examiner and staff member of legislative committees on government operations and employers.

Sincerely,

Lloyd Nurick

The exercise involves more than 60 ships, ranging in size from aircraft carriers to fast patrol boats, and 300 aircraft from the U.S., Greece, Italy, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

During the exercise, the combined NATO force will perform simulated wartime air strikes, anti-submarine warfare tactics, air defense, surveillance, and amphibious operations.

"DAWN PATROL 71" is designed to test the skills of ships crews and evaluate the reliability of their equipment.

FOR THE FIRST TIME since its conception, Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Post #1040 American Legion held a joint installation of officers with the Legion and Auxiliary participating. Robert J. Smith was installed as Commander and Barbara Palmer was elevated to the post of Auxiliary President. The installation service, which was fairly well attended, was followed by refreshments served under the direction of outgoing Commander John V. Ennis.

ANDREW A. AIEZZA, JR. of 322 Delaware Avenue, Delmar is $286.53 richer because of a suggestion he made to The Bank's Suggestion Committee.

Suggestions are a part of The Bank's employe incentive program, to involve its staff in improving procedures. The committee meets quarterly to select awards from the many presented throughout its 57-office system. Secretary of the committee is Robert D. Butler, Assistant cashier at 60 State Street.

Aiezza is employed as a teller at 60 State Street but prior to a recent stint in summer camp with the National Guard was a return item clerk. This was when his idea was formulated.

His suggestion was to eliminate a form used in transmittal of funds between internal departments of The Bank. By using a simpler procedure, mechanical details were elimi-

OVER 80 BILLION POUNDS of municipal, industrial and agricultural waste are generated in New York State alone each year — a figure which is rising at the rate of 8 per cent annually. At this rate, we may soon run out of places to put this garbage. What is the solution?

Each individual can help by using household wastes for other purposes. Garbage and lawn trimmings can be reused and recycled back into the land. The soil will benefit and in a small way each individual's involvement can aid in solving this major solid waste problem.

A pamphlet entitled "Ecology of Compost" is now available. It explains how to prepare and use organic wastes to construct and maintain a compost pile and the reasons for developing a compost pile.

A copy of this pamphlet may be obtained by sending 10¢ for handling to the Office of Public Service, State University, College of Forestry, Syracuse, New York 13210. Bulk rates are available upon request.

KENNETH R. SMITH of 427 Kenwood Ave., Delmar, N.Y. 12054, retired on May 14, 1971, as Rural Mail Carrier at the Slingerlands Post Office, after 30 years service in the Federal Government. Mr. Smith was appointed Rural Carrier on May 12, 1941 and took a leave to serve in the United States Army from April 1, 1942 to October 19, 1945. He served as Acting Postmaster at Delmar Post Office from April 30, 1959 to July 1, 1961. He returned to the Slingerlands Post Office and served as Rural Carrier until his retirement. He is the recipient of Safety Award Pins for twenty years of safe driving. Mr. Smith was active in the Boy Scouts for many years. He is a Past President of the Old Capital District Rural Letter Carrier Association. He also served as President, Secretary and Treasurer of the Albany County Rural Carriers Association. He is a member of Bethlehem Lodge #1096. Mr. Smith is married to the former Evelyn Main and both he and his wife are ardent Campers. They have made two trips to California in their trailer and will leave the middle of June for Alaska. With Mr. and Mrs. Smith, above, is Postmistress Flanagan, on the right.

Equipment —
Please Come Home!

Boy Scout Troop 75 of the Delmar Methodist Church is attempting to recover some of its equipment which has strayed into closets, attics, basements, garages (you name it) of former scouts. This gear could be used if available from our storeroom at the church.

Included are tents, shelter halves, cook kits, (or any parts thereof), merit badge or instruction books, water cans — anything that somehow didn't find its way back to the rightful place.

Won't you please check to see if you have any of these items around and, if so, see that they get back to the scout room at the church any Thursday night? The scouts and committee of Troop 75 will be grateful. Also, if you have any personal equipment (including uniforms) that you would like to donate, it couldn't find a better home.

The Spotlight Goes to School

BERTOLD E. WEINBERG of 47 Dumbarton Drive, Delmar, has announced his candidacy for the Bethlehem Central School District Board of Education. Weinberg, 44, structural engineer with the State University Construction Fund, is running for the five-year term created by voters in last month's election.

Weinberg has long been active in school affairs. For the past several years he has attended many school board meetings and has been a watchdog of board affairs. He has also served on the Citizens' Advisory Committee for the past four years, including its Steering Committee. He has also been working on educational facilities in his professional work.

Weinberg attended Albany High School and is an RPI engineering graduate. In addition he has a Master's Degree in public administration from the State University of New York at Albany and is a licensed professional engineer. He is active in many professional and community activities, both locally and nationally.

Weinberg is married and has two children currently attending Bethlehem schools.

Weinberg, who has been a local resident for the past six years, says he is running for the board position as neither a conservative nor a liberal.

"I'm running for the board because I would like to see the best possible education this community is able to provide, within its available resources," he stated. "The tags don't really mean a thing when you get down to the problems of operating our school system effectively. Like so many families, we moved to Bethlehem on account of the high reputation of its schools. I am concerned that this be maintained."

Weinberg says he will center his campaign around the concept of quality education — "What are some of the things this school system should be doing, that are not currently being done," he asked, "to provide a quality education for all students — the college-bound as well as those who will be seeking employment right after graduation? How can we use our existing resources — financial, educational and community — most effectively?"

In discussing the financial situation, Weinberg said, "I certainly believe our schools must be adequately financed. But, I don't believe that pouring more money into the schools will automatically improve the education our children are receiving." As a first step, he proposed finding out just what it is that the community expected its schools to accomplish. "Then it becomes the responsibility of the board and the administration, working together, to accomplish those goals as economically and effectively as possible. These are questions which the board has not been asking itself or the community for many years." "What I'm talking about," he stated, "could be called a question of accountability. Our schools exist to serve the needs of the people and it is the responsibility of the board of education to see to it that those needs are met."

In commenting on the quality of education now being provided, Weinberg said he believed the quality of the program had been slipping for a number of years. "Inadequate financial support may be part of the reason," he admitted, "but the problem goes much deeper than that. I believe we've got to face some of the educational issues that have been shunted aside for too long before we can improve the quality of our schools."

ROLAND E. DUTIL, JR., 37 year old Right-of-Way Officer with the New York Division Office of the Federal Highway Administration, has filed the required petition for the three year term on the Bethlehem Board of Education.

Roland E. Dutil, Jr.

Mr. Dutil has decided to seek the new three year school board position due to his active interest in youth and their problems, a desire for a balanced educational program and a personal wish to achieve these as efficiently and economically as possible.

He believes that cost per pupil, in all areas, should be a function of comparative re-weeks this summer by Don Camp, coach of the Bethlehem Central tennis team.

The classes will meet twice weekly, on Monday and Thursday, starting on June 28. There will be separate classes for beginners and intermediates, at 9:30 A.M. and 10:30 A.M.

Instruction will take place at Bethlehem Central High School, and the fee is $18 for the 12 class sessions. Pre-registration is necessary, and women may enroll by calling Mr. Camp at 439-1046.

This is the fourth summer that this popular tennis program for women has been offered in Delmar, under sponsorship of the Bethlehem Tennis Association.

A similar tennis class for area men will also be taught by Mr. Camp — if there are enough men interested and a suitable time can be arranged. Men who would like to have group tennis instruction may call Mr. Camp to indicate their interest.

GUEST SPEAKER for the annual "Author's Day" at the Glenmont Elementary School last Friday was Dr. Richard

E. Brown, author of "The GAO: Untapped Source of Congressional Power," published last year. Dr. Brown, who lives with his family at 10 East Bayberry Rd. in Glenmont, is presently program director of the Legislative Commission on Expenditure Review.

Dr. Brown spoke to third, fourth and fifth-graders at the school on the importance of research and developing good researching skills.

Some of the questions he posed — and answered — for his rapt audience were: Why is research something to think about? What kinds are important? Who does it? How is it done? His basic theme was: "Wanting to know both old information and new has led to great things!"

Dr. Brown's teaching experience has been on the college level, at the University of Tennessee and the College of William and Mary, but adult observers at the Glenmont "Author's Day" program say he established "a marvelous rapport" with his young listeners.

Dr. Brown was employed for many years as a consultant for the U.S. General Accounting Office, which provided him with much of the information for the book published last October by the

THE SOUTHGATE CO. has petitioned the Bethlehem Town Board for a change of zoning from Residential "B" to Commercial "CC" for a parcel of land, 19.88 acres, on the west side of Route 9-W adjoining land already owned by the Southgate Co. The company explains that the land is necessary for the addition of a motel and parking facility as part of the planned Southgate Mall, a huge shopping complex which is scheduled for a construction start this summer. The petition was referred to the Planning Board for consideration and recommendation.

AT ITS LAST meeting, the Bethlehem Town Board received a petition signed by 40 residents of the Beaver Dam Road, Route 144 and Parker Road area, requesting the Board for zoning.

The petition was referred to the Planning Board.

POLITICAL ARENA

THESE ARE the candidates of the Republican Party in the 1971 election in the Town of Bethlehem: Supervisor, Bertram E. Kohinke; Councilmen, William S. Segur and William Johnston, Jr.; Town Clerk, Marion T. Camp; Receiver of Taxes, Kenneth P. Hahn; Superintendent of Highways, Martin Cross, Jr.; Town Justice, Donald D. DeAngelis; Legislator, 38th District, Edward H. Sargent, Jr.; Legislator, 37th District, Earl J. Robinson.

Mr. Robinson, local representative for a down river lumber company, was chosen to succeed Edward J. Grogan in the County Legislature. He is an active Kiwanian who has held the office of Lieutenant Governor in the Capitol District Division of the club.

Mr. DeAngelis has been counsel to the Bethlehem Police Department for the past three years. He will seek the office of Town Justice now held by Harry Rezzemini who is not seeking re-election.

Another newcomer on the ballot is Mrs. Marion T. Camp who was appointed to the Town Clerk's job when Margaret Kneff resigned and moved from this area.

In presenting the unanimously-elected slate, Robert Wiggand, Committeeman from the 5th District said,

"Mr. Chairman: I would like the privilege and honor of nominating the candidates to represent our Republican Party for election this fall. Everyone present is familiar with the record and reputation of these people.

"They are experienced and well qualified, and will certainly work as a team for our party and our Town Government.

WIDE SELECTIONS —
Artificial Plants, Cemetery Pieces.

To All Area Brides-to-Be:

Frankly — we don't carry bone china. No sterling flatware either.

We're not apologizing — we just think Stoneware lasts much longer — Stainless Steel doesn't tarnish — and Linens should wash and wash and wash.

We even think they're prettier.

Today's Bride (we believe) wants to USE her gifts — not store them for special occasions.

So if you're a Bride of today, we have a little gift for you:

Come in, look over our contemporary lines. Register the ones that appeal to you and pick up a $2.00 Gift Certificate.

A TITLE ON THE DOOR . . . RATES A BIGELOW ON THE FLOOR. So the kid made it big! You always knew he'd do it. Although there were times when you had your doubts. Now you should celebrate. Give him the same beauty and warmth you have at home — a Bigelow carpet. Bigelows come in lots of luscious shades. There's one for every taste . . . even a doctor's.
