Answers about..... BETHLEHEM CENTRAL Schools

By Ann Treadway

Director of Public Information

Bethlehem Central Schools

(Questions of general interest about Bethlehem Central schools will be answered in this column if they are addressed to Mrs. Treadway at 700 Delaware Ave. or by telephone weekday mornings at 439-4921, Ext. 267.)

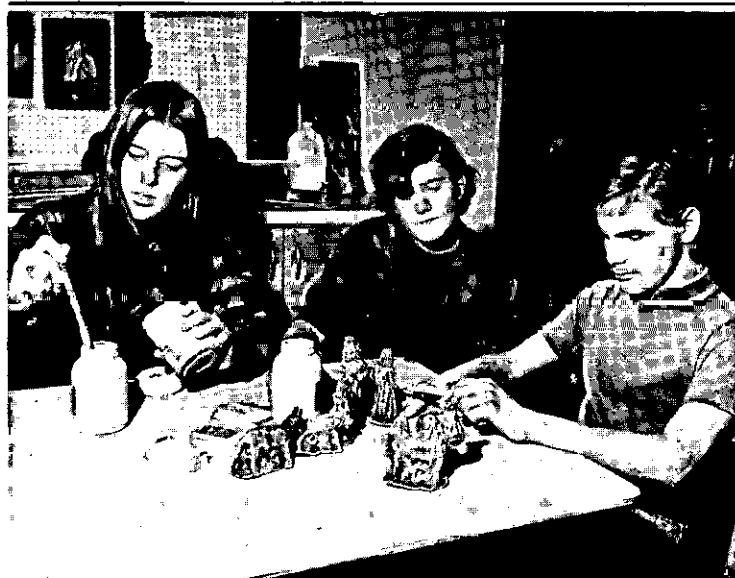

QUESTION: Why is it that the football uniforms used this year by the freshman football team were extremely worn-out and discolored, while the freshman basketball team has brand new uniforms?

ANSWER: Ray Sliter, director of health, physical education and recreation for Bethlehem schools, replies as follows:

"When purchasing uniforms for teams, we try to determine priorities based on needs. We usually try to purchase new uniforms on a varsity level, which gives us a better grade of material that will last longer. When new uniforms are purchased for a team, the existing uniforms are handed down to the lower levels. With a total of 27 interscholastic teams, and the money available to purchase only one or two new sets of uniforms each year, some uniforms are naturally quite old.

"In the case of the freshman basketball uniforms, we had a special problem. The team's old uniforms had been used for seven years and because of innumerable launderings had shrunk beyond use at this level. They are presently being used by eighth graders. The existing varsity and JV basketball uniforms were already ten years old, so many were beyond use. For this reason, we purchased a set of new uniforms for the freshman basketball team.

"In football, our philosophy is to put much of the money available into protective equipment — which doesn't show."

HIGH SCHOOL ARTISTS AT WORK—Among the many talented art students at Bethlehem Central High School is Tom Winship, right, who in spite of his blindness attends art classes regularly and impresses pupils with his skill. He is shown putting the final touches on a Nativity Scene of clay models, which he did as a Christmas project. His classmates are Patricia (Trish) Keefe and Scott Tubbs.

MICHAEL EMERY, a junior at Bethlehem Central High School, has been selected to play with members of the Albany Symphony on February 6, in the Performing Arts Center at SUNY. At the February 6 concert, Michael will play the first movement of Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto. THE CHALLENGE to our oceans by our polluting presence on this planet has received considerable attention from environmentalists, in books, e.g. The Frail Ocean, and in articles in leading news and conservation magazines. At this same time though, the oceans are continually being threatened by oil and chemical discharges. Dr. Carl George, Associate Professor of Biological Sciences at Union College, Schenectady will discuss this challenge to our oceans at the Bethlehem Environmental Improvement Association's meeting on Thursday, January 27.

Dr. Carl George combines strong academic credentials with an equally strong field research background in biological and environmental sciences. He spent six years at the American University of Beirut, Republic of Lebanon, studying the impact of the Suez Canal and the Aswan High Dam on the ecology of the Eastern Mediterranean. This is Dr. George's fifth year at Union College, Schenectady.

To his academic and field research qualifications, Dr. George adds another dimension of environmental activity. He is the Chairman of the Eastern New York Chapter of Nature Conservancy. At the BEIA meeting, Dr. George will also speak on the goals and activities of Nature Conservancy.

mar Reformed Church at 8:00 P.M. The purpose of the auditions is two-fold. First, the Spikehorns wish to present to local singers the pleasure and enjoyment of singing in a barbershop chorus, and secondly, the auditions will serve as tryouts for the 1972 Spikehorns show chorus who will present their annual show on Saturday, February 26.

The chapter's chorus director is Tim Fitzmaurice, director of Music at Christian Brothers' Academy, and outstanding coordinator of the annual Diocesan Music Festival held each spring at the Saratoga Performing Arts. Each guest will receive a voice placement test; then he will spend the remainder of the evening singing his part of actual barbershop arrangements with the chorus. While the auditions are in process, the general chorus and guests will sing-along with Tom Cogan, vocal music director of the Albany Academy, who is the chapter's assistant director. strains of Wild Irish Rose will make the rafters ring.

In addition to community sing and the rehearsal of two of the show songs an emphasis will be placed on quartet-ing. In addition to the dis-organized quartets the Ridge Runners of Valatie and the Less Enfants of Albany will participate in the evening's music program. The only requirement for a guest is that he like to sing and enjoy the fun and fellowship present in the singing of close harmonies.

During rehearsal breaks, it is obvious that they have enjoyed working together. When Mary learned that Alisa would reach her eighth birthday during rehearsal, she arranged for a cake and trimmings, and the cast took time out to properly note this important milestone. Not to be out done, Alisa arrived at rehearsal a few days later with a cake to help celebrate Mary's birthday.

Alisa lives in Slingerlands with her parents and is a pupil in Mrs. Phillips' third grade class at Slingerlands Elementary School. She enjoys reading and her piano lessons, but says that hot wheels are her thing. In fact, she is looking forward to growing up to become a "hot wheel expert." Her mother, Judy, describes Alisa as a tom-boy who likes to climb trees. Alisa and her family like Lake George during the summer, where her father adds, she keeps him busy towing her on water skis. Alisa reminds him that this happens only when she is not using the row-boat that has been in the family since his boyhood. For her quiet moments, this active little girl prefers writing poetry to playing with dolls. Her enthusiasm for her poetry prompted us to ask that she share her favorite with our readers. She came up with "As Quiet As," her most recent work, which appears below.

Mary Eagle is a native and resident of Troy. A member of Latham Community Players, she has appeared with Albany Civic Theatre, Eighth Step Players and Hoosick Valley Theatre Company. This is her first appearance with Slingerlands Community Players and her twenty-first role in community theatre productions. A graduate of Catholic Central High School and Albany College of Pharmacy, she is Director of Pharmacy at Cohoes Hospital.

Performances are scheduled for 8:40 each evening at Bethlehem Central High School in Delmar. General admission tickets at $3.00 and student tickets at $2.00 are available in the Delmar

A little known and interesting aside to his career as a Budget Analyst were his successful efforts to interest Governor Dewey's Budget Director, John Burton, in the acquisition and development of commercial lumbering property at Lake George for a State Beach and Park. This effort resulted in the present State "Million Dollar Beach" in Lake George Village.

DOES THE THOUGHT of a winter vacation arouse fear and trepidation within your heart? You want to get away from those diamond shaped flakes of snow into a warm climate. So what's your problem? Weight and wait. You want to wait until your weight is below goal just in case you can't control your food. Your fears are unnecessary, unfounded. You can go anywhere in the week and stay on program.

It would be unfair not to lay down the ground rules. You can't stuff yourself with any of the delicacies that are offered in various countries. If you can't resist the French croissants and have two or three plus the butter and ever present jam, better stay home. If you put forth the little extra effort required, you can make it with comfort.

Recommendations for making it abroad, and I have done this in the past and most certainly will continue to do it in the present and future, would be as follows:

Take along items that are difficult to get abroad such as powered milk and artificial sweeteners. The new program offers such a variety of foods that even in France or Italy it can be easy to cope with. As a matter of fact, in most European countries, food deliveries are made daily and you can easily supplement and foods that you wish. Most hotels in Europe that are American style will comply

LOCAL NURSERY schools have found a new, exciting field trip for their students. By visiting a Yamaha Music School, their children are treated to a full hour of musical games, dances, small organs for each student to play, unusual instruments, and all around fun.

The Yamaha Music School was begun in our area just three years ago. Since that time, hundreds of children, ages 4 to 8, have had the benefit of weekly Yamaha classes, where, through fun and games, they learn the basic principles of music. And, through understanding music, they learn habits of self discipline, abstract thinking, muscular coordination, and hearing and thinking capabilities.

An opportunity for the children to enjoy this brief, structured, activity-packed hour is the reason for the large number of nursery school visits to the Yamaha Music School. There is no charge to the nursery schools, since the purpose of these filedtrips is to broaden the musical horizons of children at their most impressionable age—when they are very young. For information, call 877-7924.

Everybody knows that fine executive stationery is often printed on a very expensive paper known as rag bond. underwritten by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and provides up to $5,000 residential coverage and up to $15,000 commercial coverage for losses resulting from burglary, robbery or vandalism. The protection is designed for people in those areas where the crime rate has made crime insurance broadly unavailable, unaffordable or both.

According to Aetna Life & Casualty, the insurer chosen to sell and service the policies in New York, several modifications have been made since experience indicated the coverages and costs were not sufficiently tailored to the needs of those people for whom the program was intended.

Split coverages at reduced cost have been designed for the commercial policies. And, for both residential and commercial policies, deductibles have been lowered and protection device requirements have been relaxed, said Aetna.

Splitting the commercial coverage to make burglary and robbery protection available independently allows businessmen to buy burglary-only coverage at a 50% reduction in premium or robbery-only coverage at a 40% reduction.

With this option, a businessman who, for example, faces a high robbery loss exposure but minimal threat of burglary can pay for only that coverage he needs.

Deductibles have been reduced from $100 to $50 for businesses with annual gross receipts of under $25,000. Similar reductions have been made for larger businesses. Deductibles for all residential policies have been lowered from $100 to $75. In the event of a loss, the policyholder—either commercial or residential—is responsible for the amount of the deductible or five percent of the loss, whichever is greater.

Protection device requirements have been relaxed to include a wider range of acceptable locks. And, if a businessman buys robbery-only coverage, he need not meet any protection requirements.

All of the changes are applicable to policies brought after Jan. 1, 1972. For policies purchased before that date, revisions in deductibles and protection requirements will be retroactive.

Any resident or businessman in New York can buy

OPEN LETTER TO HON. EDWIN MASON

Dear Ed:

It was with profound shock that I listened to the Speaker's announcement at Monday's session that you have been removed as Chairman of the Assembly Standing Committee for Agriculture for the 1972 session. Knowing you as a vigorous and energetic person, I could not believe that this action was necessitated by reasons of health. I have since confirmed my knowledge that you are in good health and as vital as ever.

Under the foregoing circumstances, I believe that your removal as Chairman of the Agriculture Committee was dictated by the monolithic efforts of the Executive branch of State Government to dominate the legislature. You have been an articulate and outspoken critic of the fiscal designs of the current Executive branch. I believe your efforts have served your constituency in their concern for the rising tax burden of the citizens of this State. Obviously there are those in State government who would prefer to silence your voice.

As a minority member serving on the Agriculture Committee during the 1971 session, I know from experience that as Chairman of that Committee, you saw to it that every voice on the Committee was heard and that the business of the Committee was a fair treatment of all legislative bills which came before us.

Because this matter transcends party considerations and goes to the root of the separation of powers within the State government, I will release this letter to the communications media. I feel that an issue as vital as this one calls upon all of us to speak as men and not simply as Democrats or as Republicans.

I feel that your punishment in being removed as Chairman of the Agriculture Committee was a very cheap shot and that the transparency of the reasons given officially is clear to all who really wish to see.

I will look forward to serving with you again on the Agriculture Committee but will continue to deplore the manner and the reason for your removal as Chairman.

Warm Regards,
 Thomas W. Brown

SNOWMOBILE RACING AT CORDIAL GREENS

— For the past two weeks snowmobile races have been held at Cordial Greens Country Club in East Greenbush. A year ago, Cordial Greens purchased its own snowmaking equipment to insure the continuance of the season's races even though Nature may not provide enough of the white stuff.

More than 125 sleds have raced thus far this season under the direction of Charlie Logan.

Here is a schedule for the remainder of this winter: January 30, February 13, 20 and 27. Races begin at 12:30 P.M. on the scheduled Sundays and entry registration may be made until 11:30 A.M. on race days.

Trophies are awarded in the Junior and Powderpuff divisions — Juniors include ages 12 to 15. Cash prizes are awarded in the Stock and Modified classes. On Saturday, February 5, the Club will offer a prize of $100 to the winner of the 10-lap air cycle race. Also on that day, there will be 25-mile Stock and Modified races.

On Sunday, February 6, Cordial Greens will hold a Family Day and play host to the children from Vanderheyden Hall in Troy.

Cordial Greens' sledders meet twice monthly on the second and fourth Tuesdays at 8 P.M.

Further information about Cordial Greens activities may be obtained by calling Gail Finkle, 477-7068.

Wandering & Wondering . . .

NOT BEING INTERESTED in betting the horses, we may have missed the newspaper story which told of the horserooms in the City of Albany being closed. In fact, we were completely surprised a few days ago when a friend said he now has to place his bets in Delmar!

RECONSTRUCTION — It is February of 1924. The morning papers are generous in their acclaim of a concert in New York City's Aeolian Hall in which the great Paul Whiteman featured the first public playing of a brand new work by George Gershwin, "Rhapsody in Blue."

A couple of years later we bought the only arrangement for full orchestra of the "Rhapsody" to be stocked by an Albany music store — the cost was either $10 or $15 — a small fortune in those days!

George Gershwin was born at the turn of the century and lived 38 short years. During his lifetime he did more for strictly American music than almost any other composer. The "Rhapsody" was done on radio by the same Paul Whiteman who introduced it; it was performed as part of a movie; it was recorded.

And then last week it was included on a TV super-special for '72. The first half of the program was devoted to many of the better known Gershwin songs. Then, Jack Lemmon introduced "Rhapsody in Blue" and "An American in Paris" in the same breath. We settled back in our chair and expected to be thrilled for the next 3/4 of an hour. What did we get? What we got was an 8-minute hodge-podge of both works!! A cut-down version of either work takes 20 MINUTES!!

Western Electric, local telephone companies, the ad agency handling the program, Jack Lemmon, Peter Nero et al should have exhibited more taste than this. The program was supposed to honor the memory and works of this country's greatest composer — instead it made a mockery of 2 of his three serious works — the third, which wasn't even mentioned, is his "Concerto in F." Somebody (or somebodies) has too many holes in his head!!

OUR MAIL WAS ESPECIALLY heavy this week both in quantity and QUALITY! We have space for only four of the letters received — the first one our second from Barbara Manne. Here it is:

Dear Mr. Fuller

Thank you for answering my letter (Jan. 13). My argument dealt with priorities. I objected to your approach because I felt it created the illusion that our responsibility in the drug problem begins and ends with making sure our public officials do their jobs. The creation of strong and effective external forces to change mass behavior should not be goals in themselves to solve what might be an internal problem. We should certainly recognize the necessity for police and other officials and ask for their co-operation. Nevertheless this very need for them in the drug problem should also be recognized for what it is: a sign of our own failing. It is my personal opinion that the cause of this failing can be found in some of the inconsistencies and hypocrisy that exist in adult thinking and doing as my previous questions attempted to point out. So if resolutions are to be made and responsibility delegated, let them be directed at ourselves, as adults (I would certainly hope this category includes our officials).

Since my children are still young, I cannot speak as a parent of teenagers. However, thinking back to my own teen years, I seriously question that, as you suggest, when our children reach sixteen our parental influence upon them is measured by the amount of time they are actually in our presence (excluding cases of neglect). According to your line of reasoning, once our children have left for college, parental influence ceases completely. I tend to think this influence is something which begins at birth, builds up throughout the years and lasts forever. Many experts feel it is in the very early years that we mold our child's values and concepts of himself and the world. By the time he is sixteen, we can do little more than reinforce what we hope we have already taught him. However, if we have our child's love and respect, and if we've always told him the truth to the best of our ability (which means it is our responsibility to be knowledgeable) then those few hours a day with him may be all we need to combat outside pressures.

The greatest challenge to parents is to practice what we teach. As we teach predominantly by our own example, in actuality we often teach just the opposite of what we preach. We might be surprised to discover just how much our children's philosophy and behavior are really like our own.

Sincerely yours,

Barbara Manne

Thank you, Barbara. We sincerely hope that you will continue to add your ideas to ours — even though we may not entirely agree at times.

THE NEXT LETTER IS from the Rowland Avenue section which has also suffered from harassment and vandalism. Now read this:

To The Editor:

My heartfelt sympathy goes to the lady living on Center Lane in Delmar, who wrote concerning harassment and vandalism of her property at Christmastime. Believe me, she is fortunate if she only experiences this at Christmastime. We on, Rowland Ave., have to contend with it the year 'round.

Our street sign has been torn from the lawn post, eggs thrown against the picture window, rocks broke the kitchen window, our outside faucet was turned on full-flow, flower pots were smashed on the patio, bird feeders pulled out of the ground and smashed, etc. Our neighbors have suffered similar incidents.

Now, why can't we at least have a Police prowler car patrolling these areas? Some of this vandalism occurs in the night-time, but most of it appears to be caused by school children, walking home from school.

With property assessments so high in this area, we are paying for protection of our property, or we should have a re-evaluation, to allow for depreciation due to damages.

Let's all write in and let the town fathers know how we feel on this deplorable situation.

OUR THIRD GOES BACK TO what we wrote about the "super" (?) bomb now being used in Vietnam — the bomb that kills every living thing within a one-mile radius:

Dear Mr. Fuller:

Mr. Caro and I agree with your statement on the nature of war as expressed in "Wandering and Wondering" in the January 6, 1972 issue of the Spotlight.

Thinking along your lines about the silence of all Churches, it has long bewildered us how Christian nations engaged in war can justify it all year and then declare a truce for Christmas. If the war is recognized as so evil it cannot be engaged in on Christ's birthday, how can these same nations righteously resume this evil at the end of the truce? We would be less damnable never to call the truce that to offer this gift of temporary peace from such stained hands.

Perhaps our President and the Pentagon officials would be more receptive to peace if they (and only they) had to personally fight their wars, involve only their own homes and families.

It is the old men who discuss the war, the President and the generals who direct it and the YOUNG men who must fight it.

Thank you for your public expression against the war. We hope it will cause many people to pause and think of the horrors of war, particularly when they enter their houses of worship and the election booth.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Saul M. Caro

Thank you, Mrs. Caro, for your letter. It brings to mind that someone somewhere once said: When wars are fought by the officials who run the warring nations, we will have eternal peace!!

OUR FINAL LETTER THIS WEEK is on the subject of snowmobiles. Note: I will certainly accept Dr. Duncan's invitation to go over the data he has accumulated as soon as possible. Here's his letter followed by some of the important laws applicable to snowmobiles.

Dear Mr. Fuller:

From reading your comments in the Spotlight, I know you are interested in the use of snowmobiles. In case you haven't seen it, I am enclosing information on the new amendments to the snowmobile laws for New York State. This information is contained in an article from the Dairynews for January 5, 1972.

You seem to be a rare type of editor, one who states his thoughts and feelings without worrying about whose toes may be trod upon. I have gathered information over the past year on a problem which needs someone such as you to publicize.

It is apparently a hot political potato but may well be affecting the health (yes, I mean health) of many Town of Bethlehem residents. To me it is much more important than environmental pollution by some of the more publicized companies although it is the same type of problem.

I will be happy to discuss this with you anytime. I work during the day at the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets but will take time off to meet with you and show you my accumulated data. If you then feel you don't wish to or can't help, I shall not broach the subject to you again.

If you care to call me, my telephone number is 439-9168 at home or 457-5130 at the office.

I am not a crackpot. This problem is real and is important to town residents. I hope you will be sufficiently interested to at least listen to my tale.

Sincerely yours,
Dr. Charles S. Duncan
Elm Avenue East
Selkirk
