What to do if you smell gas.

Pick up the phone and call the nearest Niagara Mohawk Office.

Any hour of the day or night. Our servicemen will promptly make an inspection and do whatever is necessary to correct the situation.

While waiting for our servicemen to arrive, ventilate the area. While natural gas is nontoxic and contains no poisonous ingredients, a leak can become hazardous if combustible gas pockets are allowed to form.

The important thing to remember, though, if you do smell leaking gas, is to call us immediately.

In fact, it would be a good idea to put the paper down for a minute, look up the telephone number of our nearest office and jot it down with other emergency numbers.

COVER STORY

BIG PROJECT

THE PROGRESS OF construction of the Bethlehem Water Pollution Control Plant is shown through the use of aerial photography. Merwyn K. Atwood, Executive Secretary of the Bethlehem Sewer District, announced work is over 35% completed on the $2,000,000 plant located on a 16-acre plot in Cedar Hill. This recent picture shows the aeration tank, clarifiers and administration building under construction.

In related work, the contract for the construction of the seven-mile-long interceptor sewer line running from just north of the Delmar By-Pass to the new Treatment Plant was awarded to The Olin Construction Company of Camillus, New York, and work has just started. The trunk lines, pumping stations and force mains will go to bid this year as well as portions of the collection system.

Look what we found! IN THE MAILBAG

Gentlemen:

The 1972 Cub Scout Pack 258 Blue and Gold Dinner recently held at the American Legion Blanchard Post 1040 was one of the most enjoyable that we have had in many years and all concerned wish to extend our most sincere appreciation to the officers and members of the Post.

Yours very truly,
Edward S. Conway

Dear Sir:

I am one of 11,000 Girl Scouts in the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council who wish to thank all the people who supported our sale of Girl Scout Cookies. Each box you purchased has helped to give us the money we need for our troop programs. The council, too, can go ahead with plans for camp repairs and improvements; balance the operating budget and have the necessary funds to finance the transportation of Senior Girl Scouts who have been selected for opportunities in various parts of the United States this coming summer.

So, thanks to you all.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS INCLUDES MANY SKILLS — Mr. Lorenzo Benati, right, is shown instructing Richard Scoons in architectural drawing. Another popular Industrial Arts field of instruction is Electronics, and pupils in these classes are in need of old radios and television sets. Anyone popular Industrial Arts field of instruction is Electronics, and pupils in these classes are in need of old radios and television sets. THE SPOTLIGHT

LaPlante, Miss Hilary Pert, Miss Colleen Bain, and George Stagnitta.

A TOTAL OF 18 SENIORS AT Bethlehem Central High School have been named Honor Graduates of the Class of 1972. These students have maintained averages of 90 or above while enrolled at the High School.

It is the tradition at Bethlehem Central to honor all 90-or-above average graduating seniors, rather than just a valedictorian and salutatorian. It is also traditional at Bethlehem Central to have senior students elected by their classmates participate in the commencement ceremony, rather than inviting an outside speaker.

This year's Honor Graduates are: David Schulenberg, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Schulenberg, 494 Haskell Rd., Delmar; Carolyn Preska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Preska, Van Dyke Rd., Delmar; Karen Reissig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reissig, 243 Murray Ave., Delmar; Jennifer Easton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Easton, 13 Brightonwood Rd., Glenmont; Sarah Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Gordon, 97B Elsmere Ave., Delmar; Lisa Tietz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tietz, 3 Saybrook Dr., Glenmont.

Also, Philip Jerry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jerry, 264 Delaware Ave., Delmar; Anne Hartheimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hartheimer, 26 Tamarach Dr., Delmar; Sally Tomiko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Tomiko, Schwartz Rd., Selkirk; Keith Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams, 72 Winne Rd., Delmar; Margaret Comes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Comes, 9 Bender Lane, Delmar; John Coffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coffey, 36 Carstead Ave., Slingerlands; Jan Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards, 35 Southwood Dr., Slingerlands.

Also, Barbara Henk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henk, 103 Elsmere Ave., Delmar; Ann Hoppe, daughter of Mrs. James Hoppe, 41 Herrick Ave., Delmar; Patrick Aiken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Aiken, 61 Kenaware Ave., Delmar; Colleen Bain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bain, 46 West Bayberry Rd., Glenmont; and Sheillagh Egan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Egan, 691 Delaware Ave., Delmar.

The three members of the Class of 1972 elected by their classmates to participate in the graduation ceremony on June 23 are John Roberts, John O'Hern, and Patrick Corrigan.

THREE RECENT SCHOOL-RELATED programs were commended by the Bethlehem Central Board of Education at its April 4 meeting.

Pupils and teachers in the seventh grade at the Bethlehem Central Middle School were cited by the Board for "the innovative and meaningful activities connected with Homespun Day," a re-enactment of an historical period held at the Middle School on March 24.

The Board also unanimously commended four local physicians, Dr. Lawrence Gifford, Dr. Robert Friedlander, Dr. Howard Netter, Dr. Ronald Filippi; Ray Sliter, director of health, physical education, and recreation; and Mrs. Ruth Ann Cons, school psychologist; on their "organization and presentation of the adult education course on human sexuality." The physicians donated their time.

HAVE YOU EVER HEARD OF A product that works better if less is used?

Laundry expert Virginia White of The Miracle White Company says that housewives typically use too much laundry detergent, thinking that the more they use, the cleaner the wash.

Generally, the results are just the opposite. Too much detergent leaves a dull, gray residue on the wash, causing it to be rough.

Miss White says that the best method for determining the correct amount of detergent is by trial and error.

THE GRAND UNION COMPANY has become the first of the nation's top ten food chains to announce its entry into the burgeoning, highly popular catalog-showroom general merchandise business.

Charles G. Rodman, President of the increasingly diversified billion-dollar-a-year retailing organization, said that Grand Union plans to have three catalog-showroom stores in operation by September 1st. Shortly afterward, a 360-page, full-color catalog is to be circulated. Mr. Rodman announced that William H. Preis, Senior Vice-President of The Grand Union Company, has been placed in charge of this new venture.

The first catalog-showroom store to be operated under the "Grand Distributors" name will be located in New Jersey and Connecticut. Each store will be stocked with more than 6,000 general merchandise items for immediate sale. Lines will include fine jewelry, housewares, appliances, radio, television and stereo equipment, sporting goods and luggage.

The new operation will be a division of Grand Union's wholly-owned Shop and Save Trading Stamp Corporation of South Hackensack, N.J., distributors of Triple-S Blue Stamps and the country's sixth largest trading stamp company.

"Catalog-showroom operations have shown phenomenal growth in recent years," Mr. Preis said. "Last year, for example, the industry had an estimated $1-billion in sales. Business is expected to triple by 1975."

Mr. Preis said he expects Grand Distributors to become a major factor in this exciting new industry within three years "with continued rapid expansion into many different geographical areas throughout the 70's."

JoAnne, a petite five foot two inches, started at Weight Watchers weighing about 260 lbs. She had a period of discouragement but was persistent. She stayed with it and has now lost 107 pounds. When I asked JoAnne what she considered to be the one most important factor in her ability to lose weight, she most vigorously maintained that it was attendance at classes. She feels that when the devil wants to make you eat that odious piece of cake, the vision of your lecturer and classmates all on your team voting for you, chases him fast and furiously away.

Mr. Wasserman has nothing but praise for his wife who feels and looks like a beautiful new person. Incidentally, he has lost sixty-five pounds as well.

of their selection of a house through a new service called Mortgage in Advance, according to Mr. Richard F. Lindstrom, President.

Mr. Lindstrom said that Bankers Trust will issue "Mortgage in Advance" Certificates which will confirm that the holder has arranged for an amount of credit prior to his selection of a house.

This service will be available in all offices of Bankers Trust of Albany and, in fact, will be available in all offices of Bankers Trust New York Corporation, a multi-bank holding company with more than 160 offices in 24 counties of New York State.

"Our customers can shop for a house knowing that they're 'half-way home' with the mortgage," said Mr. Lindstrom. "The new service eliminates almost all uncertainty on the part of the buyer and seller regarding the financing of a house." The Mortgage in Advance Certificates is issued for 6 months, and may be renewed if a buyer needs more time to find a house. Bankers Trust Company offers mortgage loans as high as $50,000 for up to 80% of their appraisal of a house with a term of up to 25 years. This service is applicable to one and two family owner occupied houses. "The Mortgage in Advance" expedites mortgage approvals after the buyer finds a house he wants," added Mr. Lindstrom. "This new service will benefit the home buyer and seller, and the real estate broker as well."

The bank expects a significant increase in the volume of home mortgages this year and as Mr. Lindstrom said "this is certainly a service our community needs."

HIGH-VOLTAGE electric stations and transmission towers may look like inviting places for youngsters to explore and climb, but they are death traps for those unaware of their hazards, Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation reminded area residents today.

"Anyone who enters our substations or climbs our poles or towers is flirting with death or serious injury," said the utility's district manager, Thomas W. Dowling.

He said Niagara Mohawk has over 800 substations and many thousands of transmission line towers across its upstate System. The substation equipment is protected by high chain-link fences or walls and the towers are marked with "Danger: High Voltage" signs. "The signs mean what they say," he emphasized.

Even though the utility uses these warning and protective devices, and operating personnel make periodic inspections of the installations, children occasionally manage to get into substations and climb on equipment or to scale the transmission towers.

"In many cases, it is not necessary to touch the energized equipment, as the voltage is so high that just getting close to it can produce a fatal arc," it was noted.

In upstate New York, there have been at least three recent instances in which children received burns from electrical equipment operating at 34,500 and 115,000 volts, and all miraculously survived.

All three incidents involved boys from eight to seventeen years of age, and the equipment was within a few blocks of their homes. In all cases, the accidents occurred in areas that were clearly "off-limits" to the public.

The power company urged parents to warn their children of the dangers of such installations and asked all Niagara Mohawk customers to be alert to anyone playing in or on such equipment. "If neighbors adjacent to our substations or towers observe anyone going near these installations, they should immediately notify Niagara Mohawk or their local police agency," it was emphasized.

The power company official also noted that Niagara Mohawk has electrical safety films and pamphlets which are available to school and youth groups on request at the utility's local office.

Exchange Commission.

The acquisition is contingent upon the tender for exchange by holders of at least 95% of the common stock of Schenectady Discount. Its also subject to approval by regulatory authorities.

First Commercial commenced operations on December 31, 1971, when it acquired all the stock of First Trust and Deposit Company of Syracuse, New York, and National Commercial Bank and Trust Company of Albany. It operates a total of 89 offices. For the year ended December 31, 1971, First Commercial had assets of $1,241,536,478. Consolidated net income before securities gains was $10,931,859, or $2.27 per share.

IN JULY 1972, the Saratoga Festival will add drama to music and dance when the Juilliard Acting Company joins the New York City Ballet and The Philadelphia Orchestra as a resident company of the Saratoga Performing Arts Center. This exciting new prospect on the summer's cultural horizon was announced jointly yesterday by Peter Mennin, President of the Juilliard School, and Richard P. Leach, Executive Director of the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

Plans call for a gala opening on Monday, July 3, with Sheridan's immortal comedy "School for Scandal", to be given in the Spa Theater. Thereafter there will be eight weekly performances including two weekly matinees. Four plays are planned for the season's repertoire. The underwriting necessary for a four-week, four-play Saratoga season has been pledged in major part by the the Rockefeller Foundation.

In anticipation of its move to Lincoln Center, the Juilliard School added in 1968 a drama division to its already existing music and dance divisions, and engaged John Houseman to direct it. Now, four years later, the public performances of the Juilliard Acting Company are, by common consent, among the high points of the current New York theater season.

In the words of The New York Times, "Anyone worried about the future of the American Theater should see the new Juilliard Acting Company in action."

"For all of us, this is a dream come true", Saratoga's Executive Director said yesterday. "Ever since the Center opened, we have aspired toward making the Saratoga Festival tripartite, so to speak. It has taken us seven years to find the right theatrical constituent. In my own personal scheme of things," Mr. Leach added, "the advent of the Juilliard Acting Company is the most important artistic event in the Center's history since the arrival of the New York City Ballet and The Philadelphia Orchestra. John Houseman is a great man of the theater — a great educator as well. I dare to hope that his company will soon fill what has long been a crying need in this country — a national theater company of the stature of Sir Laurence Olivier's National Theater of Great Britain."

NIAGARA MOHAWK Power Corporation will spend about $57,000,000 for construction work throughout Eastern New York during 1972.

William J. Donlon, administrative vice president, said the amount is part of some $198,000,000 the power company has allocated for capital improvements this year across its upstate New York service territory.

Mr. Donlon noted that a large amount of the budget will be invested in projects which will ultimately raise Niagara Mohawk generating sources by nearly 2,500,000 kilowatts during the 1970's. The work includes completion on the west owned Roseton oil-fired plant nearing completion on the west bank of the Hudson River north of Newburgh. The first of its two 600,000 kilowatt units will be in service in 1972 and the second in 1973.

"It's worth noting in this context that Niagara Mohawk anticipates spending at least $1.1 billion dollars for construction during the next five years," Mr. Donlon said.

"In conjunction with new generating projects go major commitments to preserving the environment. In 1972 alone we will invest $33,000,000 in environmentally related projects which will not provide additional power to meet the increasing needs of our customers, but will substantially improve the environmental surroundings in which the energy is produced, he said.

Among major construction projects in the Company's Eastern Division is completion of an 82-mi. transmission line from Utica to Albany, designed for future operation at 765,000 volts, highest in the nation. Another segment of the line already is in operation between the New Scotland Station and New England, providing another link between the New York and New England Power Pools.

Also in the eastern area, Mr. Donlon said, 1972 will see completion of the Leeds Switching Station near Catskill, which will connect the tritility Roseton Station and the Power Authority's Blenheim-Gilboa pumped-storage development on Schoharie Creek to Niagara Mohawk's 345,000-volt network.

"Work also will be continued on expansion and improvement of our electric distribution system," he said, "including a new substation in Albany known as the Trinity Place Station to serve the expanding needs of the renewed metropolitan area."

Mr. Donlon emphasized that while the Company must look ahead to provide ample supplies of energy in the future, it will continue a number of detailed environmental research programs.

"Many of these programs already have made significant contributions to our knowledge of the environment in the vicinity of all our major power plants. In addition to continuing atmospheric surveys, consultants have studied the effects of our stations on such bodies of water as Lakes Erie & Ontario, & the Niagara & Hudson Rivers. In each case it has been shown that water released from the stations has no harmful effect on aquatic life," he said.

"Aside from these physical research programs," he added, "our own engineers are engaged in a wide variety of feasibility studies on an economic solution to environmental requirements involving various fuels, waste heat applications and advanced types of power generation with a potential for reducing environmental impact.

In sum, we are not only active in 1972 projects to provide clean energy for the immediate future, but also for the decades ahead."

MILLIONS OF Americans can indulge in one of their favorite pastimes — celebrity watching — when the Sealy Golf Classic is televised live from Las Vegas the weekend of May 6-7.

There on the screen will be people like Joe Namath, the celebrated New York Jet quarterback and "Mr. Personality" to millions. "Joe played in the 1971 Sealy," said Morton H. Yulman, President of the Sealy Mattress Company of Albany, N.Y., sponsors of the tournament that introduced women's professional golf to TV, "and we hope he'll be back."

Other sports figures competing on the Desert Inn course were Joe DiMaggio, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame; George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders, whose last minute gridiron heroics are an inspiration to every man over 40; Mickey Mantle, former New York Yankee; Jerry Lucas, mainstay of the N.Y. basketball Knicks; John Hadl, San Diego Charger quarterback; Fred Biletnikoff, pass-catching Oakland Raider's end; and the legendary boxing great Joe Louis.

Glen Campbell, whose voice and face are familiar to millions, led the Hollywood delegation. Others from the entertainment world playing along the fairways with the women pros were Don Adams, Joey Bishop, Fred MacMurray and Vic Damone. Don won the Variety Club Cup awarded to the amateur on the winning pro-amateur team.

"We designed the Sealy Classic as a 4-day celebrity pro-am because the presence of famous people gives TV viewers and spectators alike a very special treat. Not only does the tournament offer a close-up of the greatest women golfers in the world, but it also affords and opportunity to see in an unusual setting people they've admired for years," said Mr. Yulman.

The Sealy Classic is the only women's pro event in which celebrities play during the complete tournament, similar to the Bing Crosby championship.

"The Crosby rates right at the top of the TV viewership polls of all golf events," Yulman said, "and we expect the Sealy Classic to rate way up there, too. Considering the outstanding personalities who were with us the first year, we know the format is a winner, and their participation will even be greater in 1972," he predicted.

Celebrity and women's pro watching starts Saturday afternoon, May 6, and will be resumed on Sunday, May 7, when the second annual Sealy LPGA Classic is once again held on the championship Desert Inn course in Las Vegas.

GORDON BOK, well-known guitarist, vocalist, sailor, will appear in concert at THE ARTS CENTER on Maryrose Campus on April 23, at 3 P.M. Although he has been known in Folk music circles for some time, Gordon Bok is perhaps best recognized for his tour with the Clearwater, the sloop that sailed the Hudson with Pete Seeger and company, reminding all-comers that the river was once clean and beautiful, and could be once again.

When Bok sings of the sea, he can do so with the feeling of a man who has been there, who knows what it's all about. He started working with the big sailing vessels when he was fourteen years old, an easy direction for a down-Mainer. A solid six-footer, it's easy to believe that Bok can handle the big sailing vessels as easily as he handles his 12-string guitar and his richly sung songs.

THOMAS L. Davidson of Delmar, is helping train future scientists, engineers, doctors, and technicians in Malaysia.

A 1970 engineering physics graduate of Cornell University, Davidson, 23, is serving a two-year tour of duty as a Peace Corps volunteer. He teaches high school physics in Kuala Kangsar, a town of 20,000 in the tin and rubber-rich southeast Asian country.

Davidson's skills are considered critical by Malaysian government officials whose hopes for continued economic growth hinge on the development of scientific manpower.

Davidson finds teaching in Malaysia both rewarding and frustrating. At times, he says, he feels there is little he can do to bring about real progress in the country. On the other hand, the mutual understanding he has shared with the Malaysians is invaluable.

"The Malaysians are not as different from Americans as one would imagine," he says. "True, their customs and habits are different, but underneath the people are made of the same human material as the rest of the world."

Davidson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. William Davidson of 8 Werner Ave., Delmar.

THE BOYS have settled in at Saint Agnes School of Albany. This first year of co-education at the hundred-year-old Episcopal school has proved so successful that applications are now being invited for the Middle School, grades six through eight. The new coeducational Middle School is designed to meet the needs of the pre-adolescent. It is characterized by the right combination of individual attention, innovative curriculum, child guidance, and skill mastery.

But whatever the grade level, enthusiasm, exuberance, and wonder are as much a part of the Saint Agnes School classroom as blackboards and chalk. Students achieve with pleasure in learning, and sheer joy in accomplishment. The five to seven year olds have the total involvement of the "open classroom" which has received so much attention and praise since its opening two years ago. Children in the open classroom don't sit at desks and don't learn by rote; the teachers have daily conferences on each child's progress and guidance is individual. The program is augmented by special subjects such as French, Modern dance, music, and shop. Best of all, the children enjoy school; they learn how to initiate their own individual projects as well as work and play with others.

In grades 3 through 5, the educational program is organized along more traditionally structured lines, but individual attention is the key to learning. The children feel secure in the warmth and interest of their teachers. "Ungraded" programs in science and math developed on the open school concept encourage the children to achieve peak capacity in these vital fields.

The college preparatory Upper School will continue the highly successful January term which was introduced this year. During the mini-term, students studied government first hand, explored literature, sciences, and the arts in depth, and enjoyed a variety of educational activities and programs. In addition, the fall term at Saint Agnes School will mark the introduction of mini-courses in the humanities and math curricula.

IN 1936, Harry Winston, the famous diamond entrepreneur, gave Lazare Kaplan, a diamond cutter and fellow New Yorker, the task of cleaving the huge 726 carat Jonker Diamond. The decision held its own drama, for in studying the uncut stone to determine cleavage planes, Kaplan had disagreed with other experts as to how it should be cut. If his decision was wrong, the stone would shatter disastrously the moment Kaplan tapped the cleaving wedge with a mallet. As it turned out, he was not wrong. The Jonker cleaved exactly as he had predicted. During the subsequent year Kaplan cut 12 gems from the Jonker, the largest of which was sold to the late King Farouk of Egypt.

Although the cleaving of the Jonker took place almost 40 years ago, it was a climactic moment. It put the seal, as it were, upon the distinguished reputation of New York City diamond cutters, a reputation that is still undimmed. For New York City was, and still remains, one of the foremost diamond-cutting and marketing centers in the world—a billion-dollar-a-year industry employing thousands.

The story of this fascinating industry is told in "Dia-mons and New York", the newest permanent addition to the New York State Museum's "World of Gems" exhibit.

The exhibit has four sections covering all phases of the industry:

(1) "Diamond Cutting" shows how a diamond is transformed from an uncut stone into a valuable gem. The display features actual tools used in the cleaving, sawing, girdling, and polishing of diamonds.

(2) "Diamonds and New York City deals with the past and present of New York City as a diamond-cutting and merchandising center. It features the cutting of the Jonker Diamond by Lazare Kaplan as a tour de force of the New York City diamond cutter who helped build the reputation of all New York City diamond cutters.

(3) "Color and Value of Diamonds" explains the various criteria used to determine a diamond's market value. This section also shows how color can add to the value of a diamond.

(4) "The Origin of Diamonds" shows the geologic beginning of diamonds. Specimens of dismond-bearing materials, and various diamond crystals in their natural shapes are featured.

Visitors can view the new exhibit in "The World of Gems" Hall at the New York State Museum on the fifth floor of the Education Building from 9:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. daily.

Wandering & Wondering . . .

RELIGION HAS NOTHING TO DO with our thoughts on abortion. We respect the tenets of the Catholic Church — but these had nothing to do with our present feelings.

We had just finished looking at the Evangelist last week with its headlined-front-page story on the local abortion scene with the picture of the 20- to 24-week fetuses in the wastebasket when our youngest daughter came in from school. When she was BORN, she had completed the SAME gestation period as the contents of the WASTEBASKET — give or take a week or two. Today, she's fifteen, a high school student who gets better-than-average grades. The horror of it all struck us! Under different circumstances and without tender-loving-care, she could have been one of those murder victims.

Of course there's one big difference: fifteen years ago the law DEFENDED these helpless little mortals. But the law made no difference in our home — because we just happen to love children — and especially babies.

The revelations in the Evangelist made us very angry — we hope it had a like effect on thousands of others. And again, we call our readers' attention to the fact that it was this diocesan paper which did all the work for the Albany dailies and the local TV and radio stations. Sure, they publicized the story — AFTER the Evangelist did the work and put it all together. When we asked a TU editor, "How come?" — he had no answer. Here's a weekly with limited funds and limited facilities doing the work of the big dailies.

The Evangelist went further and made specific charges, especially concerning the disposal of the bodies and they voiced the utter detachment of those responsible by showing a picture of the two or more which had been placed in the wastebasket. To say the least, the story and picture graphically illustrated what could easily be termed "legalized murder."

On the Sunday following the printing of the story, Bishop Edwin Broderick wrote a letter demanding repeal of the NYS abortion law. The letter was read in all 210 churches of the diocese. In urging repeal, the Bishop asked, "... who shall live — and who decides?"

District Attorney Proskin promised to investigate the charges.

THE TIMES-UNION SPORTS EDITORS worked very hard last summer to bring professional baseball back to the Capital District. Lack of an equal amount of enthusiasm at Albany Hall drowned the project. Probably every baseball buff in the area was keenly disappointed that we cannot generate enough push to support any kind of professional sport.

Then, in a recent Sunday Sports Section, one of the writers put a lot of words together about Donald Wilson — a lot of words that were only lukewarm in their approval of this man who, on his own, wants to organize and field a semi-pro baseball team here. We don't know Mr. Wilson — never met him. But if he's just half as sincere as his idea is good, then he warrants far greater support from the papers.

If his idea is backed up by a valid plan for forming such a team, we would certainly be among the first to give him unqualified cooperation — and we're almost positive that every other area weekly would do the same.

In fact, if Mr. Wilson will contact us and present his plan, we'll give him all kinds of cooperation — once we're convinced that it's feasible.

This is your invitation, Mr. Wilson, to contact us. We'll promise you one thing, Mr. W., and that is: Convince us and then watch us go to town for you!

OUR APOLOGY FOR MIXING up a couple of pictures recently. Probably you figured out that the captions were switched. All you had to do was look at a picture on one page and then hunt for the right words to go with it! We try to avoid these things, but we frequently stub our toe.

cause two very good friends are responsible for the project. The project: Thunder Hill Campground at Rensselaerville. The friends: Roger Trautman, the young, bearded giant at Glenmont Liquor Store, and Tony Albright who operates the Arco Gas Station at the corner of 9W and the Feura Bush Road.

Thunder Hill is brand new — this will be its first season of operation. Some of the features: private lakes for boating and fishing (no motors), playgrounds, farm animals, nature trails for hiking, camp store, snack bar, recreation building, fireplaces, tables, hot showers, flush toilets, camper and tent sites, horse-back riding, swimming, electricity, movies, hayrides, clam steams, steak roasts, barbeques, laundromat, etc., etc., etc.

The 200-acre facility will be open all year with cross-country skiing and other sports featured during the winter months.

And that's just for starters. For the active, there'll be all kinds of the more strenuous fun — and for the tired (like us) a wonderful place just to relax and rest.

Nestled among the Helderberg and Catskill mountains, the tract is beautifully shaded by thousands of trees, making it one of the most attractive spots around. We hope to have some pictures when spring has finally sprung — if it does this year! And we'll surely find time for some visits this summer. Near enough for easy commuting, it should be an ideal spot to get away from it all.

Brochures, rates and a map for easy-finding, plus complete information, will be available soon. Just ask Roger or Tony.

WE'VE BEEN FLATTERED BY THE RESPONSE to many of the features we've printed — and most have made waves. One of the big exceptions was the feature on drug use and abuse at R-C-S. We had just one telephone call and no letters. Is it that parents just aren't interested — or that they believe they have complete control in their family? We thought there would be big parent interest; we thought Bethlehem Central might make an appeal for cooperation like R-C-S. The silence has been deafening!

WE'RE NOT A DOG WORRYING A BONE — but we can tell you, like the woodchucks, the unlicensed motorcycles are now making an appearance. Someone wrote to us last summer saying we were making a mountain out of a mole hill and that they (the cyclists) were just out for a ride — so what harm? Well, we'll tell you: the first motorist that has the sad misfortune to hit one of them as it ducks out of the woods onto the highway will have a different theory — especially at today's registration and insurance rates.

POLLSTERS IN THE AREA SEEM TO AGREE that Bill Edwardsen is giving the other early-morning disc jockeys a fit. Reason is: he's clobbering them in the ratings — not only in Albany but Schenectady and Troy as well. The word is out that his greatest upset is the big station on Balltown Road, where, it is said, Big Bill has given the Dirty Dozen a real Excedrin headache. Someone even ventured to predict that heads will roll unless some way can be found to hawg-tie the big man. Too bad they didn't give this more thought two years ago.

Anyway, WQBK, 1300 on your dial, and Big Bill — the place to be tuned every morning from 7 to 11. Give a listen and you'll discover why this man is rated #1.

A FEW YEARS AGO, R-C-S Board of Education had an Assistant Principal who refused to comply with the Board ruling that he must live within the District. His final decision was accompanied by his resignation — or something. Now, we have a similar occurrence in the Bethlehem Police Department — a patrolman who resided outside the Township claimed a second residence within its boundaries and was separated from his job. Anyhow, that's what we hear on radio, see on TV and read in the daily papers. Nobody tells us nuttin'.

ADDED MEMO: For the second straight week the Evangelist tore away at the NYS Abortion Law — demanding its repeal. If this publication keeps up its crusading ways, it could very well become the most widely-read newspaper in the area. Such a happening would certainly make the "biggies" sit up and take notice.
