Crabgrass?

All it takes to clear out crabgrass is a few minutes on your lawn with Scotts CLOUT. It goes right to work on crabgrass — makes it shrivel and begin to disappear in just a few days. A second application one week later, is usually sufficient to knock it out completely.

The Spotlight CALENDAR

ABOUT THE CALENDAR

The information printed in this column is a FREE service to Spotlight readers. We neither charge nor receive any fee for publicizing these events. It is for this reason that we ask those who send in information to make sure that it is complete; we cannot (repeat: CANNOT) make weekly changes in running announcements.

Because the Calendar condenses the coming event in capsule form, it has become one of the most widely-read weekly Spotlight features. It was so designed to allow for more space for additional features. Therefore, organizations should not expect to find a duplication of facts in another place. If we were to run all of the events twice, we'd be cutting down on our available space and thereby defeat the whole concept.

Tri-Village FISH — Call 439-3578 for voluntary service — 24 hours a day the year 'round — offered by residents of Delmar, Elsmere and Slingerlands to their neighbors in need of help in any emergency.

GIVE & TAKE SHOP — Staffed and stocked by the parishioners of St. Thomas' Church. Clothing for all seasons, all ages, all sizes, available to everyone. St. Thomas' Rectory basement (entrance between Church and Rectory), Mondays 9:30-11:30 A.M., Tuesdays 1-3

P.M., Thursdays 7-9 P.M., Saturdays 10-12 Noon.

Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Post #1040, American Legion Auxiliary, meets third Tuesday of month except July & Aug., 8 P.M., Post rooms.

The Albany County Pistol Club, Winne Place and Maewin Drive, Delmar, welcomes guests at its indoor pistol range every Tuesday at 8 P.M. Information: Dave Herbach, 439-4372 or Tom Corrigan, 439-3301.

COVER STORY

NEW DENBY'S COMING,

AN EARLY OCTOBER opening of Denby's in Delaware Plaza, Delmar, was confirmed today by Sanford W. Husten, president of the Capital District department store group. The newest branch in Denby's announced expansion program will have 25,000 square feet of sales space for men's, women's, and children's clothing, together with shoes and accessories.

As designed by Edward F. Breen Company, New York City, the interior of the former Throughway Building has been completely remodeled to include new lighting, heat, and electrical installation, as well as wall and floor construction. The fixturing contract has been let to William Bloom and Son of Providence R.I.

Employment headquarters will be set up in the Delaware Plaza store during the latter part of August to process applications for sales force, department managers, and office personnel.

Today's announcement also named John Hartz as Manager of Denby's Delaware Plaza store. Mr. Hartz resides with his family in adjacent Saratoga.

"With Troy's largest store as its foundation, the Delaware Plaza branch represents one more phase of our continuing metropolitan area expansion program," Mr. Husten noted. "Denby stores in Albany's Stuyvesant Plaza and Colonie Center are now well established; this fourth facility leads directly to further branch growth to be implemented during 1973."

Hard Facts on SOFTBALL

THE LEAGUE-LEADING Van Curlers had a good week with two wins and one loss in the Bethlehem Softball League. The play went like this:

Jim Cleary pitched the Curlers to a 6-2 victory over Mead's Corners with Mike Essex the loser. Tony Cornell had two doubles for the winners. Three days later, Jim Cleary repeated his performance (with a vengeance!) by beating Selkirk #1 22-7. Ray Elmore was the loser. In his third try, Cleary lost to Selkirk #2 as the Curlers could tally only 2 markers to the Firemen's 5. For the firemen, the Hummel brothers took the honors: Dick, 2 singles, Bob, 2 doubles.

In the only other game, Delmar Liquor defeated Mead's Corners 7-3. Winning pitcher was Don

The standings:

	W	L
Van Curlers	8	3
Selkirk #2	7	3
Delmar Liquor	5	3
Mead's Corners	5	7
Jack's Tavern	4	5
D.L. Movers	4	6
Selkirk #1	2	8

The Elsmere Volunteer Fire Company has fielded a softball team this year. The schedule calls for local and city teams with the firemen having won four and lost six losses.

Sweeney, Agency Specialist, have just completed an intensive one-week field management course given by the Life Insurance Agency Management Association, an international cooperative organization of over 500 life insurance companies. This 125th Management Orientation School was conducted at Jug End in South Egremont, Massachusetts, July 17-21. Part of a unique management training program, the school is devoted to agency planning, recruiting, selection, training, and supervision.

All three men have recently joined Farm Family. Mr. DiBello has had extensive experience with the Scouts of America in the New York and New Jersey area, and was an agent with an insurance company before joining Farm Family.

THE GLENMONT Community Church will hold its Daily Vacation Bible School during the week of August 21-25, meeting from 9:30-11:30 each morning at the church. All children in the community, from those three years old through those attending middle school, are welcome to join in studying the topic The Wonder of the Body.

The children between three years and fourth grade will concentrate on exploring the five senses. Girls entering the fifth grade through the middle school will study a course in preparation for babysitting. Boys in this age group will engage in a program of weightlifting. Everyone attending will participate in an opening program of singing, Bible lessons appropriate to the age group and topic being studied, and, of course, recreation and refreshments. In addition, those children examining the five senses will conduct experiments and engage in craft work and games focusing on each sense.

An offering will be collected each morning for the Vacation Bible School project — to buy a piece of learning equipment for the Wildwood School for brain injured children. Hopefully, both teachers and students will finish the week with a sense of awareness of and gratitude for that marvelous creation—the human body.

A CORNELL University plant pathologist says that air contaminants such as dust, soot, smoke, sulfur oxides, nitrogen oxides, ozone, and especially peroxyacetyl nitrate (PAN), have been positively identified as harmful to a wide range of food crops and ornamental plants.

Symptoms of air pollutants on plant leaves are flecking, stippling, bronzing, and banding, although long term damage is yet to be assessed through more research.

"We now know that air pollutants put many kinds of plants under severe stress, lowering yields and quality," Prof. Arden F. Sherf at the N.Y. State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, Cornell, said.

He pointed out that onions, tomatoes, beans, spinach, lettuce, petunias, pines, ash, aspen, and lilac are especially sensitive to dirty air.

Sherf made this assessment on the basis of year-long work to detect air contaminants and determine their effects on plants in 14 "sensor gardens" established by Cornell last year in nine counties across the state.

"Although 1971 was not a bad year for air pollution in the Northeast, we did find ozone and oxidant damage in three locations and also succeeded in stimulating some local interest in improving environmental quality," he reported.

Discussing the major pollutants and their effects on plants, Sherf singled out ozone as the most important pollutant in the eastern part of the United States as far as plant damage is concerned. On the other hand, PAN appears to be the major problem on the West Coast, especially in the Los Angeles area.

Ozone, he pointed out, causes flecking or stippling on upper leaf surfaces, primarily. The most sensitive vegetables are potatoes, snap beans, onions, eggplant, spinach, sweet corn, and lettuce.

Leaves are most sensitive to ozone about the time of full growth so lower leaves show the most injury, he explained. Very young and old leaves are normally resistant. Some crops such as beet sorghum, and turnips as well as some weeds develop reddish-purple pigmentation from ozone.

Sherf said that other chemicals such as ethylene, chlorine, ammonia, hydrogen chloride, mercury, hydrogen sulfide, and carbon monoxide are also harmful.

For the past several months crews of workmen, in spite of the rainy weather, have been preparing grounds and buildings for the gala event. 3 new buildings have been erected while repairs and improvements to others have been under way. Hundreds of man hours go into the planning for the vast array of displays and exhibits that make up the agricultural, educational and entertainment features of a Fair the size of the Altamont Fair.

Clarence T. Schmid, president, is planning on making the 78th exposition one of the finest in its long history. "With the new buildings and many special new fea-

Phone Delmar HE 9-1446
Oakwood Rd., Elsmere

IN SECTIONS of the State where we had more than our normal share of rain this summer, a good dog might make the difference between a satisfactory hunting season and a disappointing one. Usually 80 percent of the individuals in the fall small game populations are young of the year, but if wet weather mortality this summer eliminated too many of the young, a companion with a good nose should be helpful.

As many hunters have learned to their sorrow, however, a dog that is not under control can be worse than no dog at all. During August and September there is ample time to get your dog in good working condition, both physically and mentally. A dual benefit will be that you will also be in better condition to function more efficiently and longer too.

Unfortunately most hunters plan their dog training in the evening after the day's work. August is of little value with this type of schedule. The ground and vegetation usually are parched dry. Under such conditions, wildlife will be resting in the coolest place they can find, leaving little or no telltale scent. The air is usually too hot for either man or beast to be out getting very vigorous exercise.

A training program in August geared to sunrise is entirely different. The temperature is fit for exercise, the early morning dew helps to emphasize the scent of birds and wildlife is out moving around in search of the last bite to eat before settling in for the long hot day.

The help that a good dog can give in locating game is only one of the reasons for using a hunting dog. Two other equally important values are a reduction in crippling losses and extending the recreational time of hunting.

Information gathered in a Small Game Take Survey run a decade and a half ago revealed some interesting facts which I am sure are just as true today as they were at that time. For every duck that was brought home by a duck hunter without a dog, his counterpart with a dog brought home 1.7 ducks. No small part of this is due to the ability of the retriever to recover waterfowl downed out of reach of the gunner without a dog.

In the case of pheasants and snowshoe rabbits, the man with a dog was 1.6 and 2.0 times as successful in bringing home game.

These are two species where having a good dog can make a big difference between even seeing and not seeing game. On opening day most hunters can put a pheasant in the air, but after a day or two the birds become runners and virtually disappear. The hunter with a well-trained dog can still find and handle these wary birds.

Crippling losses in upland game are not as well documented as they are for waterfowl. In the latter case, the facts point to one lost bird for every four or five in the bag. Many of these lost birds could have been saved if the hunter had a good retriever. In grouse cover, even a clean kill may be hard to find, and any animal with enough life left to move even a few feet may be impossible to locate without the help of a good canine nose.

If one takes his hunting for recreation rather than primarily for meat-in-the-pot, a dog has another added attraction. Watching your dog do a good piece of work on game can be a great satisfaction on itself. For some this need only involves being in the field with your dog and away from the tensions of the work world. For others, it has taken the form of field trials where competition is held between dogs to demonstrate their ability.

During September and early October the Three Rivers Wildlife Management Area just outside Baldwinsville is a showcase of bird dog work. Field trials scheduled will include those for German shorthaired pointers, Brittany spaniels, Weimaraners, pointers and setters. These trials are of national or regional character, drawing in some of the most

MANY GREAT JOCKEYS have ridden their way into the National Museum of Racing Hall of Fame here on historic Union Avenue in Saratoga. But Eric Guerin, one of this year's electees, to the shrine, dieted as well as rode his way in.

The soft-spoken Cajun from Louisiana, still riding at 47, returned to Saratoga, scene of his fondest memories, to be honored at the Hall of Fame induction ceremonies for his great achievements, including more than 2,600 winners over the past three decades. Date of ceremony was August 7.

But he was able to reach the heights only by following what has to be the oldest-established, longest-running, permanent, non-bloating fief in racing history. Never has anyone eaten so little to gain so much — a place among racing's great.

Diet-conscious Americans who need an inspirational figure to bolster their will to thin need look no further than Guerin. His long, relentless battle against unwanted weight entitles him to an extra helping of non-fattening kudos.

In addition to sticking to his ascetic diet since 1947, Guerin, whose most famous mount was Alfred G. Vanderbilt's immortal Native Dancer, has also sweated off an estimated 20,000 pounds in race track "hot boxes" through the years. No matter how little he ate, he still had to puddle off some three pounds every riding day to meet the immediate weight demands of his assignments.

He bettered these pre-race ordeals by reading hundreds of books of every genre in the dry hot box as opposed to the steam room, where the vapor blots out the printed word.

"I found early that reading relaxes me," Guerin said the other day, "and you can't take weight off satisfactorily in the hot box unless you're relaxed. If you're tense, it's harder to sweat off weight."

A native of Maringouin, La., the self-denying veteran is rather tall for a jockey—about five feet four inches—and began having trouble with his weight soon after he started riding in the early 1940's.

He fought the threat to his livelihood with the usual jockey-room defenses of that era—long sessions in the hot box and the inordinate use of strength-sapping cathartics. He ate his one big meal a day ravenously and went heavy on the fluids. The rest of the time, he starved. It was a losing fight.

The turning point in his eating life style came in 1947. Hospitalized with a broken back as the result of a spill which his lack of strength was a factor, he listened to the advice of Dr. Alexander Kaye, medical advisor to the Jockeys Guild. Dr. Kaye prescribed a new eating regimen, vitamins—and will power—and he did.

C.J. YANG, Assistant Professor of Health Service Administration, Ithaca College; Dorothea M. Seaton, Assistant Hospital Director, outline program in the Hospital Administration for undergraduate students. James M. Tripp, Hospital Administration Trainee, presently a senior at Ithaca College and BCHS graduate, of 2 Saybrook Drive, Glenmont looks on with Joseph M. Henessy, Chief of Personnel Service, who resides at 126 Devon Road, Delmar.

"The diet I've followed since then is a two-meal-a-day affair," Guerin said. "For breakfast, I have one poached egg on toast and coffee. Then nothing--and that includes liquids, except for a little water when I need it--until dinner, when I have a helping of lean meat and a vegetable or salad. I've also taken therapeutic vitamin supplement and a weekly shot of vitamin B-12. And liquids, I've found, are the big enemy of reducing. "It's not easy to live that way for 25 years, but I'd do it all over again if I had to. The diet and vitamins have made it possible for me to keep on riding, and that's all I ever wanted to do. And I have no plans to retire just yet, I can still ride at 116 or 117 pounds. But I can't afford to do many 'vacation', like the time my wife, Bessie, and I visited the folks down in Louisiana and I ballooned up to 130 pounds. I even regret it when I can't resist a dinnertime cocktail once in a while."

For Guerin, who has ridden in Kentucky and Florida this year, a visit to Saratoga is a homecoming. "Haven't been up there in five, six years," he said recently at his Florida home in anticipation of his visit. He rode his first stakes winner at the Spa in 1946 aboard Belair Stud's Hypnotic, three years after he first hit the Big Apple at old Jamaica. And his 1946 win started one of the most impressive Saratoga stakes-winning records.

Between that year and 1963, when he won the Travers on George D. Widener's Crewman, he rode 24 Saratoga stakes winners. His mounts accounted for three Travers, four Hopefuls, four Schuylervilles, three Alabamas, three Saratoga Specials, the Flash three times, the Test twice, and one Whitney and one Spinaway.

With Native Dancer, he won the 1952 Hopeful, Saratoga Special, and Flash, and the 1953 Travers. For Guerin, as for millions of television fans of that period, there was no horse like Vanderbilt's great gray colt, whose only defeat in 22 starts was by a head in the 1953 Kentucky Derby. Guerin rode him in all his races but the American Derby.

"Native Dancer was in a class by himself," Guerin said not long ago. "Riding him, I had the feeling that he was never fully extended because, when he seemed to be giving his best and you asked for more, he always came up with it.

"In all the races he won for me at Saratoga, he was well within himself. I'll never forget what proved to be his last race. It was an overnight handicap called the Oneonta, in 1954. He carried 137 pounds — and won by nine lengths. He did it so easily."

The Saratoga race remembered most vividly by Guerin for its lighter moment was the 1951 Hopeful, in which he rode a talented, but eccentric, Vanderbilt two-year-old named Cousin.

"Cousin," Guerin recalled, "developed an aversion to working in the morning and was contrary in other things. When he got to the starting gate for the Hopeful, he just sat down in his stall, and I remember saying to Ted Atkinson — he was on another horse —, 'Well, he'll surely get beat today.'"

"But Cousin finally got to his feet — and turned in a most remarkable race. He didn't do any running to speak of until the final sixteenth, but when he finally decided to run, he really turned it on, enough to win the race.

"If I remember right, Cousin was an orphan and had been babied so that he got wrong ideas.

"Social Outcast was another horse I recall riding for Mr. Vanderbilt at Saratoga. I won the Whitney with him in 1954. He really loved the Saratoga track."

One of Guerin's great Saratoga stakes' satisfactions came when he rode Crewman to win the 1963 Travers.

"Mr. Mulholland (the late Bert Mulholland) had trained Crewman all year just for the Travers," Guerin said, "and he told me that the colt would win the race, I would have felt mighty bad if I couldn't win with him after that. But win Crewman did — at better than 19-1."

Look what we found! IN THE MAILBAG

Open Letter:

On behalf of the Bethlehem Coffeehouse I would like to outline our plans for the coming year. The new officers who will take office this fall have determined that their most important goal will be to offer a far more diverse calendar of events than heretofore—with the hope that a larger segment of the community will be attracted.

At least once a month, a children's program is planned (musical, theatrical or instructional) and a square dance with band and caller. Part of this schedule will be put on by the BCHS Make Believe Theater Troop who will present a sequence of improvisations of children's stories. Hopefully, these programs will attract more family groups.

Other monthly activities will include theatre productions, educational and representative films, jazz and creative photography workshops and local talent nights.

One of the important ways we hope to serve the creative needs of the community is by having our building available to any responsible group requiring a stage or meeting place. For instance, an experimental theater group would like to present plays but has no available stage, or a chamber music group needs a place to practice. We have these facilities and we are anxious to help.

In addition to these plans, we will continue the Saturday night folk concerts. These concerts will cover all areas of historical music including both urban and country blues, ragtime, traditional themes, music from other lands, children's songs and songs of the Bluegrass country. With this variety, we feel sure that most people in the area will find one that is a favorite.

Whereas last year's main problem was lack of organization and communication, this year's could be a lack of funds. If this happens, it will slow our plans for fixing up the building and adding to the present facilities. However, we believe that our student officers working with our adult board of directors can meet both our budget and the goals we have set.

We are looking forward to exploring the Coffeehouse potential and we sincerely hope that we can count on your continued support. Sincerely

for the Officers and the Board

Wandering & Wondering . . .

AN OPINION — For accusing Sen. Tom Eagleton of driving drunk charges and arrests without verification, it is our opinion that Jack Anderson should be forever barred from the media and henceforth he should never have a written word published nor should he be allowed to appear on radio or TV. This seems only fitting for his unfounded smear of a man who was already fighting a losing battle for his political life.

It is our opinion that if Mr. Anderson was allowed to add to the inability of Sen. Eagleton to at least try for the job of Vice President of these United States, then his false accuser should have his method of livelihood removed also.

This is probably unconstitutional — but when does justice take over for licentious so-called freedom of the press?

Now to Sen. Eagleton. The Senator no doubt was wrong in hiding the fact that he had been the patient of a psychiatrist. But who is to judge today whether a cure is an all-time cure. If we have an appendectomy, we never expect to have an attack of appendicitis. If mental blocks are removed and the cause of an attack of mental fatigue removed, who is to say that the cause has not been removed forevermore?

We'll agree that it is a ticklish subject — knowing the whims and fancies of the American voter.

Does your memory go back to the campaign of Herbert Hoover and Al Smith for the Presidency. Poor Al Smith couldn't even carry the normally solid Democratic South after the whispering campaign that said, "Hey, did you know that if Al Smith is elected the Pope is moving the Vatican to Washington?" It happened (the whispering campaign, that is) we're ashamed to say. And even though Mr. Hoover had nothing to do with it, Mr. Smith was soundly beaten because of his religious beliefs!

And now Sen. Tom Eagleton has been forced to withdraw because of some rather ambiguous charges and the help of Jack Anderson.

Let's look at Sen. McGovern for a moment. In our opinion he should have disqualified himself at the same time he forced the withdrawal of Sen. Eagleton. His mental alertness and good judgment were (and are) under suspicion. First of all, what man who has been nominated for the Presidency would choose a running mate without first making sure of his background? Of all the millions McGovern spent to win the nomination, he could certainly have spent a few thousand for a complete dossier on Sen. Eagleton. Thus, if Mr. McGovern shows so little responsibility in something as important as his running mate, how can he be trusted to make decisions on a national and international scope?

In our opinion, this whole thing boils down to equal guilt on the part of the two candidates and Mr. Anderson has become this country's Public Enemy #1 — and should be so treated.

One last observation: These opinions have nothing whatever to do with a political party — as we will prove subsequently if those campaign contributions, etc., are actually made to stick to the GOP.

IN THE CAPITOL DISTRICT, Congressman Sam Stratton has said that the dropping of Sen. Eagleton from the ticket will hurt the Dems for years to come — and Mayor Corning, who didn't want Sen. McGovern in the first place, has voiced misgivings on this latest move.

As this is written, three of the top Democrats have again refused to run in the Vice Presidential spot: Abraham Ribicoff, Edward Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey.

Their continued refusal in the face of this crisis, should tell us something.

A CALL FROM Dr. Frank J. Filippone, R-C-S Superintendent of Schools, urged us to continue to expose the unfair treatment of our youth. His only criticism of what we have done in their defense so far: "... it just wasn't strong enough!" We agree. He said one of the "extras" on that Senior Banquet bill was an item for $90.00 for a few pitchers of "cola." Great!

It would be better for these places to post signs at the entrance proclaiming: "We HATE Teenagers!" That way their acts of discrimination would at least be known beforehand.

TRIVIA: These stories can become monotonous: Our same son-in-law who tried to transport eggs on his car roof has now tried the same impossible trick with a pair of his son's sneakers — with the same disastrous results! There must be easier ways of getting a story in this column!

THE COMMUNITY CORNER, usually in this space, is taking a short vacation along with so many of our readers. We'll be back real soon!

WE DON'T USUALLY PLUG A MERCHANT or group of merchants — but we have to make an exception this week. We're calling your attention to the Annual Sidewalk Sale at Delaware Plaza this Saturday, August 12. Every store will be featuring merchandise at unbelievable prices for this day — and many of the super-bargains will be displayed on the sidewalk in front of the stores. Why plug it? Many of the people who operate these stores have become fixtures in our area: Charlie Grover, D. LeWanda, George George, Mary Mele, Herm and Helen Rasker, Bob Warsh, Jack Donnelly, Doug Marone, Tom Tartaglia and Carl Shell, to name a few. When Delaware Plaza opened many years ago, it was almost more than our area could support. But we continued to grow and the merchants stuck with us. Today, the Plaza is actually small — but it's getting bigger! Denby's will be open soon — and more surprises are coming.

Delaware Plaza deserves your support — and its long-time merchants who had so much faith in our area deserve our consideration. The Sidewalk Sale is one way to show your appreciation.
