The Light Touch

The world hasn't yet been inherited by the meek, but it sure is being supported by a lot of them.

Office boy to another: "Gee, I've got to get back to my desk, or I'll be late for my coffee break."

Somebody who thinks there's no fool like an old fool is probably a young fool.

One thing kids do that parents can't is drive the car home on an empty tank.

The height of feminine expectation: to be asked out when your hair looks nice.

You can also expect real values on your home painting needs.

Memorial Service Set

Plans are underway for the renewed annual Town of Bethlehem community memorial church service for its townspeople who gave their lives in the wars in which our Nation has been involved.

Reinstituted two years ago with services at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Elsmere, followed last year with rites at the Community United Methodist Church in Slingerlands, this year it is scheduled for the Delmar Reformed Church at 386 Delaware Avenue.

The time is set for Sunday, May 27 at seven-thirty in the evening. Everyone is invited. For those wishing to join in the procession to the Church ceremony there will be a formation commencing an hour earlier at the Delmar Fire Company parking area on Nathaniel Boulevard.

The program, as in the past, is sponsored by Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Post 1040 American Legion whose commander, Michael Mele who made the announcement. Joining with the Legion Post is the Veterans of Foreign Wars Bethlehem Memorial Post 3185 whose commander is Charles H. DeGrush, and several of the town's fire companies and other organizations.

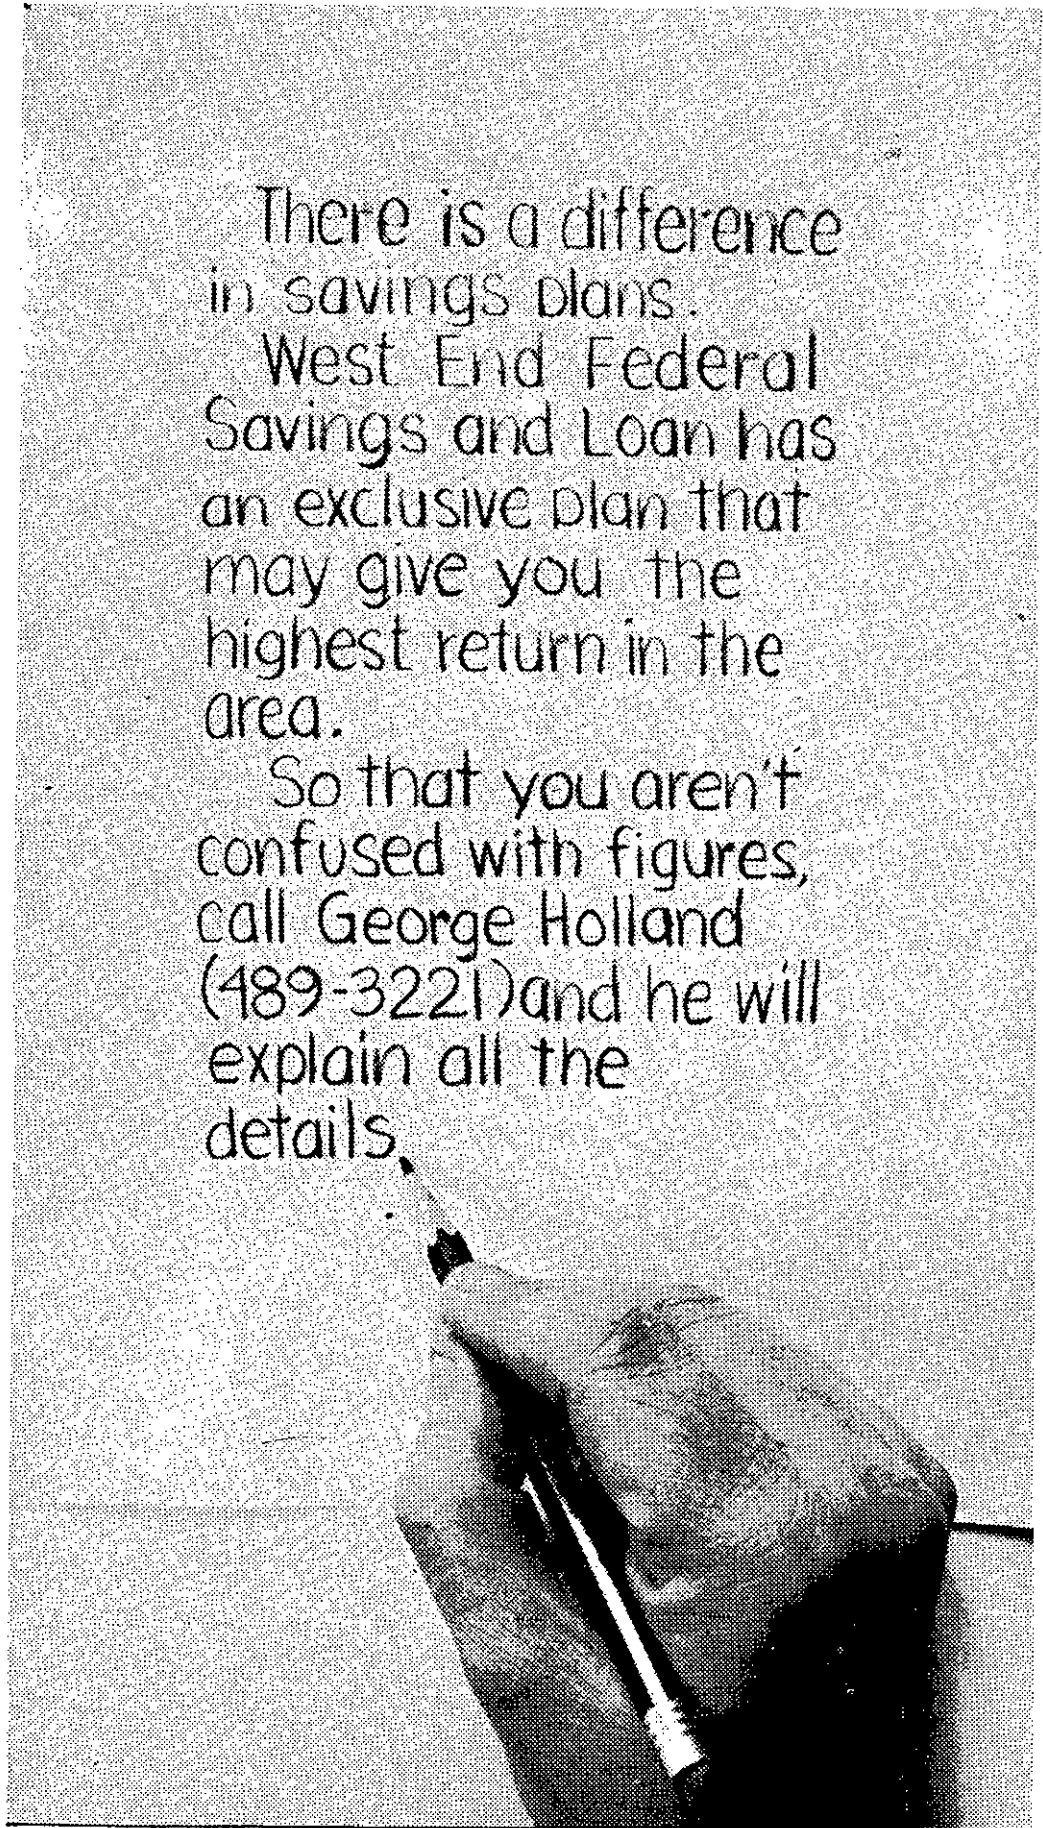

Arranging for the church service is the Blanchard Post Chaplain, Reverend Charles H. Kaulfuss who will be joined by the Reformed Church clergy, Reverend Gerard J. Van Heest and his associate, Reverend David L. Cooper.

In announcing the service, Commanders Mele and DeGrush jointly stated "Nearly two hundred people last year attended this service. This year we look for that many or more. Now that America is once again free of any land forces involvement with wars this is an appropriate occasion to join in prayer that all wars could cease. Let the such kid-pleasers as Kiddie Kollage, Totem Poles, Bird Hiking, Land, Sea and Air, Hang Loose!, and two sections of Do Your Own Art Thing.

Some of the new offerings for evening class Workshopers (middle and high school students) are a Fixit repair course for girls, party treat preparation, Golf, an Art Studio, and Mini-bike Maintenance and a Greaser's Club for the mechanically minded. Last year's format of basketball for girls and soccer for boys will be reversed this year.

THE PUBLIC HEARING on rezoning a portion of the land along Route 32 near Feura Bush drew a crowd of interested people (upper photo) that overflowed the Bethlehem Town Hall hearing room into the hallway and down the stairs to the first floor. The hearing began with talks, slides and maps explained in part by (above) Richard Grant of Owens-Corning. It was explained that the manufacture of fiberglass insulation is a clean process and that any emission released into the air would be less than 5%. After the facts were presented, there was a period in which anyone could speak pro or con. There were many who favored the zoning change in order to permit Owens-Corning to build and operate the plant — those who objected, based their argument on the fact that broadening the tax base to avoid future rise in taxes is good — as long as the plant is built somewhere else. There were those who questioned the credibility of the less than 5% pollution statements even though similar Owens-Corning plants have been carefully checked and the results recorded. Some objected on the grounds that their experience with emissions from the GE plant are objectionable. What they did not realize was that almost coincidentally with the date of the meeting, GE put into operation several additional phases of anti-pollution equipment and from now on the odor-emission has been and will be nil. A complete picture story of this operation is scheduled for a future issue of the Spotlight. Owens-Corning has promised that same kind of anti-pollution cooperation.

Country Club Open

"It's a fertile valley where the grass grows beautifully," says William R. Wais, President of Sycamore Country Club, Inc., Route 143, Ravena. Mr. Wais is referring to the newly-expanded Sycamore Golf Course, situated on 140 acres of lush leisure land. The 18 hole championship course is fully irrigated, with two meandering creeks, bridges, ponds, and a variety of trees including Austrian Pine, Norway Spruce, and Weeping Birch. A splendid panoramic view of the Berkshires in Massachusetts, can be seen from the 15th green. A driving range and practice green are ready for play.

The focal point of Sycamore is a huge renovated 100-year old barn, constructed with hand-hewn pegged beams. The rustic, 3-story building houses a lounge, pro shop and snack bar.

Alex Sharpe, the resident pro, is former member of the U.S. Air Force ADC Golf Team which was invited to the Bing Crosby Open at Pebble Beach, and the Bob Hope Desert Classic. Mr. Sharp has also been invited to the Liggett-Myers Concord Open. An appointment for instruction from Mr. Sharpe can be arranged by phoning the Club.

Sycamore Country Club is semi-private, accepting daily greens fees as well as dues paying members. Single membership fees are $100 initiation and $240 dues.

There are presently three golf leagues at Sycamore which play on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The leagues are composed of groups from Winthrop Laboratory, GE Plastics, and the Sterling-Winthrop Research Institute.

Roy Wais, Vice-President of Sycamore Country Club, Inc., teamed up with his father to start developing the course in April, 1971. William R. Wais, Jr., worked with his father in 1960 to build Tall Timbers Country Club in Guelderland. Mrs. Melanie Wais, Secretary and Treasurer of the Club, rounds out a total family involvement with Sycamore.

More About Golf

Betty Burfeindy is defending champion in the Sealy-Faberge Golf Classis co-sponsored by Sealy Mattress Co. of Albany, New York. A dedicated golfer, she once converted a mink coat she won in a tournament to cash so she could continue on the Ladies PGA tour.

Betty Burfeindy

But her victory at the 1972 Sealy Classic and the $25,000 first prize solved her money problems. Her appearance on TV brought her national recognition, and she has since become a gallery favorite, says Morton H. Yulman, president of the Sealy Mattress Company of Albany.

"Every week I get comments from spectators who say they saw me with Sammy Davis on TV from Las Vegas," Betty said, "and I have never before played in a tournament where I could look down the eighteenth hole and see a gallery line the entire fairway from tee to green, but it was sure true at the Sealy. I noticed it especially because I had to keep it straight or else hit someone. They were three or four deep."

The comparison between her 1971 and 1972 record has a Cinderella-like flavor. In 1971 she earned $2,203.33. And in 1972 -- $47,528.84. She rose from 47th to fourth place in the official money lists and was named LPGA "Most Improved Played of The Year" by Golf Digest Magazine.

And not all of her travail has been on the golf course. Not long after reluctantly turning back the mink for cash in early 1971, she became victim of a serious hyperactive thyroid condition.

"It could have been fatal if I had continued playing," Betty said.

"Actually, I was fortunate to be alive when my doctor discovered the thyroid condition. My heart beat was 125 at rest -- I don't mean sitting, I mean when I was sleeping."

Surgery took care of the condition and Betty rejoined the tour in late 1971 after borrowing $500 from a friend. She placed in the money in the last two LPGA tournaments of the year.

But in Palm Springs, Calif., came the genesis of Betty's spectacular comeback. There she spent the entire winter working with famed golf teacher Johnny Revolta, financing her study by working as a clerk in a liquor store. Her game was rebuilt, right from the bottom up. "I played more than 110 rounds of golf in less than five months."

With her strong game (she was recently voted the LPGA's longest driver), the 26-year-old strawberry blonde from Canaan, N.Y., soon will be able to afford a whole mink.

Her immediate aim now, as she tunes up her game in California with mentor Johnny Revolta, is to win the $100,000 Sealy-Faberge in Las Vegas next May 31 - June 3.

"And I feel I can. The Desert Inn course is made for my game, and I have a deep personal ambition not only to be the first two-time winner of the event, but also to be the leading LPGA money winner in 1973. With a $25,000 first prize in the Sealy-Faberge, I'll be well on the way toward that goal!

Anti-Burglar Program
The Kiwanis Club of New

Scotland announced launching of a program that could sharply reduce burglaries among participating homes and businesses in our community.

Robert Hoffman of the Kiwanis Club explains that the program involves the marking of valuables with a special engraving tool that his club will make available to local residents without cost. The engraving tool has been made available to the Kiwanis Club by the Insurance Co. of North America.

Marking of valuables in this way acts as a strong deterrent to burglars and makes positive identification of stolen items much easier.

"We're naturally interested in any plan that can help stop the alarming increase in burglaries today," Mr. Hoffman said. "This program is the best idea we have ever seen to stop burglaries, and it is very simple plan to put into operation."

Similar programs have been extremely successful elsewhere. Burglaries have declined dramatically in many cities where the idea has been tried.

Mr. Hoffman says that the New Scotland Kiwanis Club will lend engraving tools ($5 deposits to individuals and businessmen on a "first-come-serve" basis. After two days, the tool must be returned so the next person can use it. The deposit will be returned.

The engraver tools will be available for loan at the following locations:

- 1) THE BANK, Maple Ave.

Voorheesville contact: Mr. Terry Miller 765-2367

2) The Coffee Cup Restaurant, Route 85, New Scotland Rd. contact: Mr. Paul Wheeler 765-9035

3) Mr. Robert J. Hoffman, 2 Cedar Ct. Voorheesville 765-4257

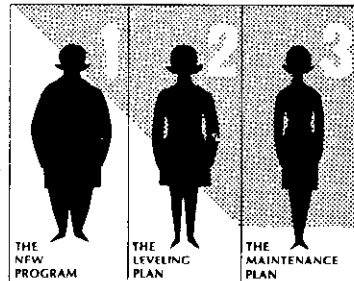

Residents usually mark their TV sets, stereos, appliances, cameras, sporting equipment, musical instruments jewelry and other valuables. Businessmen should mark office equipment and tools and anything else that might interest a thief.

After the participant has marked his valuables with either his Social Security number, drivers license number, telephone number or his name, he fills out an inventory sheet for his records. He also receives a set of warning decals to place on his windows.

The decals serve to discourage thieves from even attempting to break in. A burglar knows stolen items marked in this way will be very difficult to sell to a "fence". Even if the goods are stolen, positive identification is much easier.

"It's like an engraved invitation to jail if the thief is caught with the goods in his possession," Mr. Hoffman said. "Thieves aren't as dumb as you might think," Mr. Hoffman went on. "They may be dishonest, but at least they can read the decals."

The idea originates in California. In one city, among 4000 participating homes, only six burglaries have occurred. Among 7000 non-participating homes, in contrast, over 1800 burglaries were committed. This figures out to less than 2/10 of a percent for participating homes, as compared to over 25 percent for the non-participating homes.

TAKE ZEST OUT OF THE PEST

Many recent agronomical studies are in agreement about one thing: strong, healthy vegetables seem to be the least tempting to most destructive insects and diseases. So the first thing to consider in pest control is that well-tended, organically grown vegetable crops put you halfway home in your battle with pests.

As to the other half, there are ways and means of battling nuisances—if you are consistent. One way to be consistent is to use a very effective, insecticide called Spectracide, which is a broad-spectrum, non-persistent chemical containing diazinon that can be used not only for vegetables, but flowers, fruits and lawn pests.

Here are some anti-pest precautions for vegetable growing:

1. Use crop rotation in your vegetable garden.
2. Choose disease and insect-resistant vegetable plants varieties wherever possible.
3. Always remove dead or diseased vegetables.
4. Cleanliness is vital. Keep the vegetable garden free of trimmings and waste.
5. Dust or spray with an insecticide every two weeks during the growing season, up till 10 days before harvesting for most vegetable crops.

Wandering & Wondering . . .

ONE OF THE AREA'S FOREMOST EDUCATORS at the college level says that he believes that foreign languages are a waste of time in high school unless they are to be actively used later in life. And, according to him, the study of Latin is therefore a waste of time since it is neither written nor spoken in our world of today.

We have to disagree with his theory completely. We know that our English vocabulary and word usage would be a lot less had we not studied Latin and French — yet we use neither per se. We happen to believe that the study of these two languages was basic in our striving to put words together that others might read. From Latin, the student finds the entire basic structure of English, and French helps to enlarge that understanding.

We agree that Latin is a "dead" language but when our own tongue is so dependent on it, we believe that anyone who has occasion to write anything from a business letter to reporting will certainly do a better job because of a study of other languages.

In our own household, our youngest daughter is the only one of our children to find languages at all bearable. Her math may not be her top subject — but her English vocabulary and word usage is a joy to behold. Instead of fighting the study of languages, she finds them a stimulating challenge. And both her writing and speaking prove our point. Students there are who find the study of words a bore — but there are many who thrive on it.

We simply cannot see why the study of languages should be eliminated from the entrance requirements of the college that has journalism or writing courses.

ANOTHER OPINION: WE HAVE BELIEVED for some time that a certain clique of today's medical doctors are, by their attitudes and actions, promoting socialized medicine in this country.

In this instance, we cannot speak from experience because the doctors we have, both medical and dental, are of the "old school." For instance, our dentist, even though he has celebrated some 70 birthdays is still available on a 24-hour a day basis for an emergency. He will make room during his busy day to aid a sufferer from a toothache and he will get up any time of night to help anyone in pain. For something less than an emergency, he will give a patient an appointment not more than two or three days away. He's a truly remarkable man and he will tell you that he has never refused help to anyone at any hour. Our medical doctors also are equally helpful.

Hardly a day goes by, though, that someone doesn't tell us of having to wait two, three or four weeks for a dental appointment or an equal wait to receive routine medical care.

Again this week we refer our readers to the "It's My Turn" column in Newsweek magazine. In it a young doctor writes of the flaws in today's approach to medicine and why a patient becomes a statistic rather than a human being with problems. He explains the procedures in today's Emergency Room and why the policy followed is so disastrous. He believes that many of today's basic attitudes, patient-doctor relationship and policies long in force must be changed or modified in the struggle to help the ill.

Nearly everyone is familiar with the long years of sacrifice, dedication and near-poverty that each medical student faces before he can begin to earn a comfortable living. The author of the column sincerely believes that the system is breeding the kind of doctor to whom statistics are all-important. And he suggests solutions which could change all this.

WE HOPE THAT MANY OF OUR READERS will take part in the Memorial Day celebration in the Town of Bethlehem on May 28. The beginning of the day will be much like other years with a parade at 10 in the morning followed by a ceremony at Veterans Memorial Park on Delaware Avenue at the D&H underpass.

The Kiwanis Club of Delmar will begin serving a chicken barbecue at noon at Elm Avenue Park. This will be followed by an afternoon of various activities — with the chicken served whenever you're hungry until the evening closing.

Next week the entire day's schedule will appear in the Spotlight. In the meantime, several different kinds of tickets for use of the park facilities are on sale at the Recreation and Parks Department office on Adams Street.

One thing to keep in mind: the opening of the park will mean that a great many facilities will be ready for use — but remember, this is only Phase I. There are a great many more to be completed when Phase II is finished.

We think you'll want to see the "Miracle which has been wrought on Elm Avenue."

REGISTRATION DAYS

What: It's time to register for Pop Warner Football.

When: Three days:

Thurs., May 17 — lunch hour at both Beth. Middle and St. Thomas Schools.

Fri., May 18 — Lunch hour at Beth. Middle School.

Sat., May 19 — 10 A.M.-12 Noon at Beth. Central Middle School

This year, Bethlehem will field two Pop Warner teams. One, the 80-110 lb. class, will be for 10, 11 and 12 year olds. A second team will be made up of boys in the 105-130 lb. weight class, 12, 13 and 14 years old. Boys who have the correct weight and register will play in all games. Pop Warner rules strictly forbid permanent bench warmers — so, if you sign, you play!

CAN YOU JOIN?

What: Bethlehem Senior Citizens.

How: If you have celebrated your 60th birthday, you are eligible to join this group of happy seniors who freely contribute so much to the Town. You'll be joining an active group of local residents who maintain a regular meeting schedule, take trips around the State and at Christmastime they rejuvenate toys for the less fortunate. For complete information on joining, call Jack Weaver (439-4087).
