Look what we found! IN THE MAILBAG

Dear Sir:

In the May 17 issue of THE SPOTLIGHT, there was a picture of a class at the Tri-Village Nursery School. The last line of the paragraph underneath the picture stated: "The school is the only pre-school registered with the NYS Department of Education." As a former teacher at the Westminster Nursery School in Albany, to which many trivillage area residents sent their children, I wish to point out that the Westminster Nursery School is also registered with the NYS Department of Education. I would be grateful if you would set the record straight.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Matthew H. Elbow

Dear Sir:

A weekly newspaper columnist took issue recently with a statement by the Republican State Chairman that "Watergate was not a Republican project." Evidently he has information not available to the Senate's Watergate committee, inasmuch as members of that committee have made similar statements recently.

In point of fact, the Watergate break-in was neither planned nor approved by the Republican Party. The Republican National Committee, the Republican National Chairman, the Republican State Committee, the Republican State Chairman and the sixty-two county Republican organizations in New York were not involved in any way, and cannot be held responsible for the mess.

The organization which ran the President's re-election campaign was set up outside of Republican National Committee framework and jurisdiction. This ad hoc organization hired the burglars and buggers. The 1972 campaign finance committee also was outside of the party's organization and control.

Not too surprisingly, most responsible commentators have recognized these easily provable facts. The New York Times made the point editorially this month that the Watergate principals were not party people, but individuals of very limited political and governmental experience. The Buffalo Evening News on April 27 referred to the Watergate instigators as "faceless aides" with a "raw sense of power." To liberal columnist Joseph Kraft on May 3 they were "aides whose silent characteristic is fidelity to the boss," and whose "loyalties to the man blinded them to the interest of the presidency and the nation." The U.S. News and World Report described them editorially as persons "who were dedicated to re-electing the Republican President in 1972 and to nothing else."

An Associated Press story by Saul Pett on May 6 pointed out that the division between the Republican Party and the ad hoc organization running the President's campaign was so sharp that "(former National GOP Chairman Robert) Dole and the national committee were excluded from important strategy sessions by what he called 'the tight circle' around the Oval Office."

Dole was more outspoken in an interview with columnist Carl Rowan on May 3. He said the men behind Watergate "came into power without really working to get there. They had no practical knowledge of politics. When they got power they didn't know what to do with it." He said "these people around Nixon were not Republicans in the sense of trying to build the party. Their only interest was in re-electing the President." The National Committee, he added, "was relegated to the back of the bus -- no, the truth is that we weren't even on the bus at all."

The distinction between the Watergate zealots and the Republican leadership is deep and real. Whereas the men involved in Watergate had no allegiance to the party, Republican leaders take a long view that goes far beyond the next election. Their concern is not with winning alone, but with upholding the principals that made the party great and that put a Republican in the White House for most of the years since Lincoln became President.

Republicans are at least as deeply concerned over what happened in 1972 as anyone else. As the New York Times pointed out on May 2 in calling for an independent Watergate prosecutor, "It is significant and encouraging that members of the President's own party in Congress have taken the lead in urging this essential action." Columnist Robert Thompson observed earlier, on April 9, that "normally loyal GOP Senators and Congressmen are as offended by it (Watergate) as are the Democrats." James Reston of the Times made a similar observation on March 30, noting that the Republican members of Congress "feel obliged to expose the facts, even if the facts hurt the President and expose the tricks of his political associates."

In light of the foregoing, which is a small part of the record, I submit that it is untrue and unfair to infer that Watergate ever was "a Republican project." Aside from the abuse of trust and criminality involved, the breakdown and subsequent events made absolutely no sense to

Efforts to tie Watergate to the Republican Party are not only wrong, but a gross libel of millions of Republicans and others who worked and voted for the re-election of the President and other GOP candidates simply because they believed it was best for the country.

Art Program Analyzed

He described the major aim of art instruction at all grade levels as making possible aesthetic experiences for pupils which can provide for immediate and continuing life

GOOD MANAGEMENT

ROADS IN THE TOWN OF NEW SCOTLAND should benefit greatly from the federal funds now being allocated under the revenue sharing plan, according to John Cossac, highway superintendent for the town. He is so confident of this result that he is proposing a five-year plan for the portion of the federal money earmarked for highway improvement, he said last week.

"The most important aspect of revenue sharing is that it does not add to the tax burden now being carried by the citizens of New Scotland," Cossac said. "This is money that the federal government is issuing to the localities for much-needed capital improvements and other effective projects that could not get off the ground if they were to depend on local taxes.

"First among these is the improvement of our roads. We have been doing the best we can with the money provided each year by the Town. There is no question, however, that there are many other highway improvements that can be made, and equipment purchased, if we have the necessary money.

"As soon as it is determined how much will be allocated to road improvements in the next fiscal year, I will submit my plan. It can be extended for the entire five-year period," he said.

Cossac, who has been superintendent of the Town of New Scotland Highway Department for 12 years, is running for the Republican renomination in the primary elections on June 4.

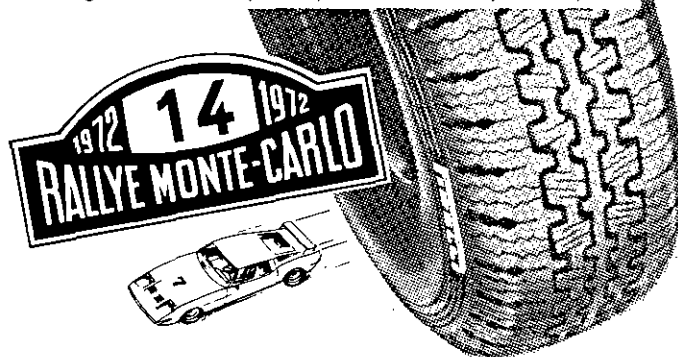

In our picture, Mr. Cossac points out improvements that need to be made at the Clarksville landfill.

enrichment. "Just as you can't explain the taste of a certain food," he said, "you must experience an art form to know it."

A basic goal of any good art program, he said, is to bring about pride and satisfaction, a sense of accomplishment, and "an emotional glow" which is rewarding to the individual pupil. He stressed that the art program does not primarily train future artists or prepare pupils for college, but seeks to enrich the present and future lives of young people and thus is a very important part of the overall district educational program.

Getting down to specifics of the Bethlehem Central art program, Mr. Reich reported that this year there have been 3.2 teachers conducting elementary art classes in the six district elementary schools. There have been 2.4 art teaching positions at the Middle School, and 3.4 at the High School. (The art staff totals 9 persons).

Mr. Reich said that, particularly at the High School level, enrollment in art classes and the quality of art work being done have both increased significantly. Hiring of an additional High School art teacher is provided for in next year's budget.

As suggestions for improving the art program next year,

Mr. Reich said that the scheduling of art classes in the elementary schools should be more flexible. He also mentioned that more aides could be used, to free art teachers for more actual instruction time. An apprentice program, which would make use of High School pupils as aides in the art classes of younger pupils, is now in the planning stages.

School Board Action

An additional $14,000 was added to the posposed budget for 1973-74 by the Bethlehem Central Board of Education at its regular meeting last week, due to passage by the State Legislature of a bill which would extend textbook funding aid to all pupils in grades K through 12.

This added amount, which would come from the State (and be dropped from the budget if it does not) changes the school budget total to $9,110,380.

Other action taken by the Board as its May 23 business meeting included:

—Appointment of Miss Mona Melanson as a Middle School guidance counselor, replacing Mrs. Margaret McGibbon who is retiring. Miss Melanson has been employed as a counselor at the High School during the past year.

—Approval of a maternity leave of absence for Mrs. Linda Farrell, Middle School home economics teacher, effective through July 1, 1974.

—Acceptance with regret of the resignation of Mr. Bruce A. Roeck, High School health teacher, who has obtained other employment.

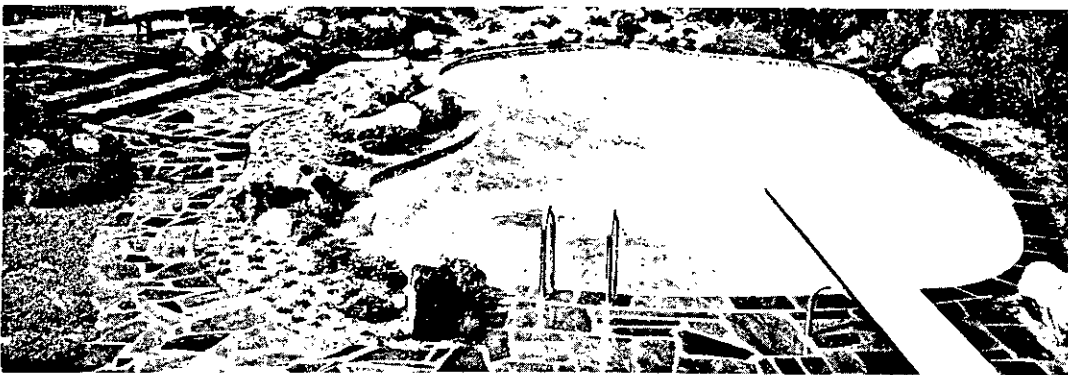

—Approval of tenure appointments for the following teachers: Miss Dorothy Eklund, Middle School math; Mr. Louis Gilboord, Middle School English; Mrs. Charlotte Rounds, elementary; Mrs. Bernice Smith, Middle School English; Mrs. Estelle Sullivan, Middle School Science; Mrs. Ann Ulion and Mr. Terry Ulion, both Middle School Social Studies.

—Awarding of contracts to the lowest responsible bidders for these areas: Nurses' supplies, custodial supplies, office and instructional sup-

It was announced earlier that the New Scotland rate would drop from .17 to .15. If the rate is set at .16, rather than .15, the school tax rate increase for residents of New Scotland will be considerably smaller.

Students and faculty at Albany's Saint Agnes School are making a movie, their third this year. Following two major films by the Lower School children, an Upper School class, "Classical Characters in World Literature," is putting the finishing touches on their production, "Metamorphosis of a Myth."

The film is an outgrowth of a classical humanities class in which students first study a Greek myth and then read several plays, both classical and modern, that are based on the myth. The film portrays the myth of the House of Atreus, the family of Agamemnon, legendary King of Mycenae who was supposedly murdered by his wife and her lover after his return from the Trojan War.

Coeymans History

We were very fortunate to have spoken this week with Edward Giddings, author of "Coeymans and the Past," an illustrated 150-page history of Coeymans. The book will contain an authoritative description of Baron Petier Coeymans, his family and their descendants, along with 50 pages of photos, maps and letters. Interesting anecdotes which refer to incidents as far back as the 17th century, are found throughout the book. The Tricentennial Store on Main Street, Ravena, will take orders for the book ($1 deposit) which is expected to be available June 1.

Mr. Giddings has accumulated a comprehensive collection of historical photographs of the Coeymans area and its residents. Most of the illustrations have been reproduced into slides and prints. Mr. Giddings is probably the most knowledgeable individual in the area, or anywhere, on the history of Coeymans. His facile description of a local tar-and-feathering episode, which may have occurred centuries ago, or his personal recollection of the huge Ice House on the Hudson — together with his compilation of historical data — qualify Mr. Giddings as the quintessential historian.

Slide Program

Edward Giddings (see above) will show a slide presentation of Coeymans to the Tricentennial Belles at the Coeymans Civic Center on Wednesday, June 6, at 8 p.m. Mr. Mitchell Conery will also be present to show films on the 1930's and 40's. The Gingham Gals and the Bonnie Blue Belles will be hostesses for the evening. The affair begins at 7 p.m., when all Belle Chapters are to have their pictures taken by photographer Robert Riccardo of Selkirk.

Eye Clinic Tonight

The Greater Ravena Area Lions Club will sponsor a free Glaucoma Eye Clinic at RCS Senior High on Thursday, May 31, from 6 to 9 P.M. Lions members will provide transportation for anyone who needs it.

King & Queen

Congratulations to Donald Persico of Ravena and Josephine

Losavio of Selkirk, who were crowned King and Queen at the RCS Prom on Saturday, May 19.

Dems to Meet

The Selkirk-South Bethlehem Democratic Club will hold its next meeting on June 7, 8 P.M., at the Selkirk Fire House. Members are asked to bring with them all returns for the 50-50 drawing, which will take place at this meeting.

Ladies Will Meet

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Selkirk Fire Company No. 1 will hold its general meeting at the Selkirk Fire House on Monday, June 11, at 8 P.M. This will be the final meeting until September.

This Is It, Fellas!

The Single Belles Box Supper will be held at Mosher Park, Ravena, on Sunday, June 3, at 5 P.M. Each unmarried Belle will bring a box supper for two, for which the single men present will make bids. Joseph Nunziato will be the auctioneer. At 7 P.M., an old-fashioned outdoors band concert will be given by the RCS Band under the direction of Malcolm McNaughton.

Moving Up Day

"Moving-Up Day" at RCS Senior High will be Friday, June 1. Awards will be presented to the students at noon.

New Officers

J. Everton Brauer of Selkirk was elected President of the Town of Bethlehem Historical Association at its annual business meeting on May 17. Other officers elected are: William D. Pompa, Vice President; Mrs. Charles E. Alford, Recording Secretary; Miss Marjorie A. Terrell, Corresponding Secretary; and Miss Eleanor Gochanour, Treasurer.

Elected to the Board of Trustees for a term of three years were Mrs. Mary E. Van Oostenbrugge and James Weidemann.

An engraved bowl was presented to the outgoing President, William Weisheit, Sr., in appreciation of his services. The Association will resume its monthly meetings in September.

The Bethlehem Museum, located at Clapper Road and Rt. 144, Selkirk, will now be open every Sunday, 2 to 5 P.M. Admission is free and the public is invited to visit.

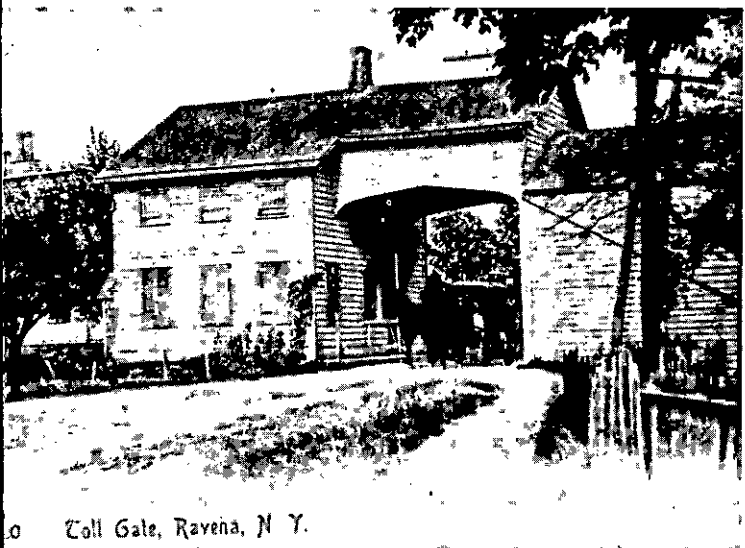

TO HELP CELEBRATE spring and improve our environment, the people in the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets (Albany office) collected money to purchase trees to donate to schools in the state. Ten Radiant Flowering Crab Apple trees were bought and planted at 10 area schools. Wanda Losee, a secretary in the department displays the tree she requested to have planted at the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Junior High School. Mrs. Losee's name was drawn from those A&M employees who wanted one of the trees donated to their school. From left — Italo Frese, building and grounds chairman and a member of the school board; Mrs. Losee; Angelo Rosato, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

PETIER COEYMANS was essentially a miller. This was the very last mill to operate in the area — having been in use for 200 years on Coeymans Creek.

ANN MARGARET COEYMANS married Andries Ten Eyck and settled in this home built in 1749. It was located around Shear Farm and was torn down in the 1890s.

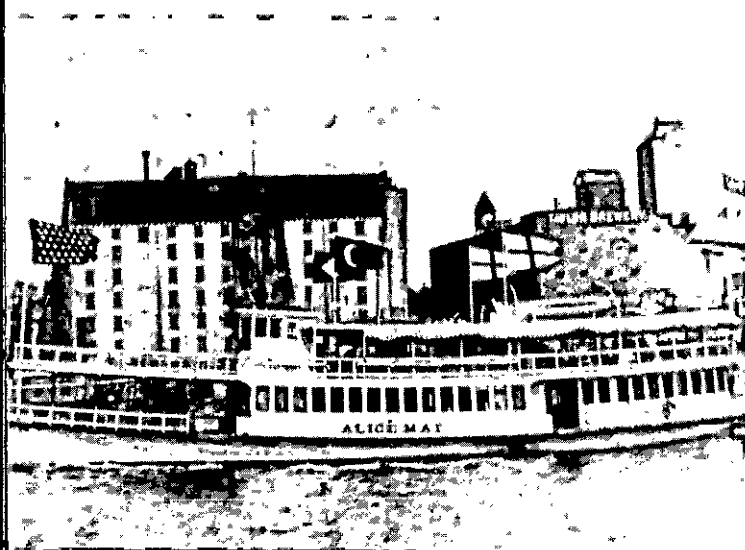

Toll Gate, Ravena, N. Y.

THIS PARTICULAR TOLL GATE, in Ravena, was built around 1850, located on the road from Coeymans to Westerlo.

THE STAGE COACH was a popular means of transportation 100 years ago. Horace Greeley is supposed to have ridden in this one.

THE "ALICE MAY" steamboat made two trips a day from Albany to New Baltimore during the 1890s.

ANDRIES WHITBECK and his wife Mayke (Coeymans) were the first residents of this home built in 1741.

Two Honored
Two Albany men, who have distinguished themselves in the food and wine industries, were invested with an award from the French government on Friday, May 18.

THE ORDER OF CHEVELIER de Merite Agricole is awarded to Yves Longhi, owner of L'Auberge des Fougere Restaurant in Albany, and Mortimer A. Schwartz, owner of the Wine Shop in Albany, by M. Hughes Homo, Consul General Adjoint of France.

Meyers Funeral Home

DELMAR, N. Y.

Question:

Does a coroner or medical examiner have the right to direct where a deceased person be taken after death?

Answer:

The orderly processes of government require that sudden and violent deaths be thoroughly investigated. When the coroner or medical examiner is involved in these circumstances he may legally deny removal of the body from his jurisdiction until the cause of death is determined, but he may not order the body sent to any private mortuary without the consent of the decedent's family. If none of the family is available at the time of death the coroner or examiner may order the body temporarily removed to a public morgue or private mortuary. When this is done the receiving facility acts solely as a repository until a mortuary is chosen by the survivors.

It is morally, ethically, and legally wrong for any emergency personnel to steer the families of people involved in these unfortunate circumstances toward any certain mortuary. Their interference is unlawful and punishable by either legal or disciplinary action.

Yves Longhi, owner of L'Auberge des Fougères Restaurant and Mortimer A. Schwartz, owner of The Wine Shop, were invested with the Order of Chevalier de Merite Agricole by the Consul General Adjoint of France in New York, M. Hughes Homo, at L'Auberge des Fougères, 351 Broadway, Albany. Frank Wells McCabe, Chairman of the Board of National Commercial Bank and Trust Company and Agent Consulaire of France at Albany, hosted the ceremony.

The Order of Merite Agricole is a civilian order, rather than a military order, for people who have achieved notable accomplishments in agriculture and related fields.

Wandering & Wondering . . .

THIS COLUMN MUST NECESSARILY be written before any part of Memorial Day Weekend — but, as of right now, the weatherman is promising sunshine and warmth for Monday. We sincerely hope he's right because we'd like to bring you all kinds of pictures of the Elm Avenue Park opening.

RECEIVED A MYSTERY LETTER this past week that is still bothering us. Here's the opening paragraph:

Dear Sir:

I was sorry to see that a statement I had made before the Bethlehem Town Board was misinterpreted by you.

Thanks for crediting us with the mistake but this time we can't take the blame. The rest of the letter goes on to show the misinterpretation relative to the Board's Owens-Corning hearing. But we have never quoted anything or anyone who was present at that meeting — in fact, we never did make it.

So — sorry, wrong number!

HERE'S A LETTER THAT WAS WRITTEN to "clear the air" and state the true facts about the trip three Town of Bethlehem officials made to an Owens-Corning plant in Georgia.

To: The Editor

On May 9, 1973 there appeared in The Knickerbocker News a letter written by a professor at the State University of New York at Albany. This letter distorted and exaggerated the facts concerning a trip to Fairburn, Georgia to inspect an Owens-Corning Fiberglas plant by three officials of the Town of Bethlehem.

Owens-Corning has applied for a change of zoning so they may get a building permit to construct a similar plant in Bethlehem. Time was important, as part-time town officials must leave their various private occupations in order to make these trips. This trip was made in one day and night two. We had a steak sandwich and a cup of coffee in Holes will be made approximately 20" in depth and 18" apart at the outer dripping of the leaves where the feeding roots are located as illustrated above. Atlanta. No entertainment took place. Any common citizen can afford a sandwich and coffee. This trip was strictly business and not "heavily loaded with company influence," was not "a two-day junket to Georgia," and cannot be associated in any way with the Watergate investigation in Washington. We went through the Fairburn, Georgia plant with the intention of finding some good reason why we did not want a similar plant in Bethlehem. We were in every bit of that plant except the ladies' rooms.

It seems inconceivable that a professor of the State University of New York, who should set an example for our younger generation, would irresponsibly write a scurrilous letter for public consumption, thereby casting unproven suspicion on the dedicated officials of the Town of Bethlehem, without first carefully researching the facts.

ANOTHER LETTER THAT CAME last week was written by Ben and Pat Keezer, 229 Elm Avenue, which is near the entrance to the new Elm Avenue Park. Their letter expresses great concern about the traffic which they feel will create a real problem at the park entrance. Perhaps this condition did exist on Memorial Day when the opening day ceremonies were held but we can't see why there should be a problem from this point on.

The writers also feel concern that drivers fail to use the auxiliary lanes that were provided to let through traffic proceed when someone turns into the park or onto Elm Avenue. In this area, there is a real problem. Many drivers have no idea of what a "yield" sign means; many don't know why those extra lanes were put there — or else they don't care.

This is a problem for the Bethlehem Police and for extra vigilance not only at this point but where the Delmar by-Pass enters Elm Avenue. The violators of the "yield" signs create a danger that we've written about on previous occasions here. The danger involved is almost as great as the driver who fails to observe a "Stop" sign.

We agree with Mr. and Mrs. Keezer that the Police must necessarily increase their vigilance or there will be some serious accidents.

We also agree that the trucks present somewhat of a problem — but their infractions are more or less limited to overloading and failure to observe the speed limit. And again, if the dangers are to be minimized, there will have to be arrests in these areas.

REASONS FOR TRIMMING SHADE TREES

- To remove dead and broken limbs and stubs left by improper trimming, so as to prevent the decay of healthy parts of the tree and promote rapid healing.
- To thin out undesired limbs so as to prevent the shading out and killing of desired limbs.
- To remove limbs that are rubbing against roofs, siding, utility lines and preventing proper chimney draft.
- Harmony trimming of numerous trees in a congested area gives one the best possible effect from each tree without sacrificing one for another.
- Vista trimming when properly done allows the view and light desired and maintains the natural shape and beauty of the trees.
