Spotlight CALENDAR

ABOUT THE CALENDAR

The information printed in this column is a FREE service to Spotlight readers. We neither charge nor receive any fee for publicizing these events. It is for this reason that we ask those who send in information to make sure that it is complete; we cannot (repeat: CANNOT) make weekly changes in running announcements.

Because the Calendar condenses the coming event in capsule form, it has become one of the most widely-read weekly Spotlight features. It was so designed to allow for more space for additional features. Therefore, organizations should not expect to find a duplication of facts in another place. If we were to run all of the events twice, we'd be cutting down on our available space and thereby defeat the whole concept.

At Hertz we buy new cars every year.

So we always have last year's models to sell. Chevrolets that are just one year old or less. Our stock includes a wide choice of sedans, hard-tops.

And our cars have been washed, serviced and checked out after they have been driven.

In fact, the used car you buy from us was probably better taken care of than any car you've owned yourself.

LIBRARY NOTES

Storyhours

The Bethlehem Public Library gets many phone calls and questions at this time of year in reference to the pre-school storyhours. We don't mind getting these questions, but the information given here may answer many of them. There will be four storyhours, and they all require registration. The only stipulation is that the child must be four years old by December 31, 1973.

The storyhours begin the first week of October and will meet every week in conjunction with the school schedule. On Wednesday morning there will be storyhours at 9:30 and 10:45. Registration for these two storyhours will be Wednesday, September 19, at 10 A.M. On Thursday there will be a storyhour at 10:45 and again this year we will have an afternoon storyhour at 2:15. The afternoon storyhour is limited to children who go to morning nursery school and therefore cannot attend any of the other storyhours. Registration for the two Thursday storyhours will be Thursday, September 20 at 10 A.M.

The storyhours will be limited to 20 children, so registration is necessary. A waiting list will be kept in case there are children who decide not to attend.

We're looking forward to a good year.

All Is Forgiven!

While you are sorting books during fall housecleaning days, please help out the Bethlehem Public Library by keeping an eye open for any unreturned library items. Last fall (October and part of November), due to some faulty film in one of our machines, we circulated over 13,000 items for which we (unknowingly) had no record at the time.

To point out what conscientious borrowers we serve, all but approximately 200 items have returned to our shelves. If you find any library material from this period of time among your own, please return it — fine free, of course.

The American Farmer

(Editor's note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on American agriculture. The series is provided courtesy of DEKALB AgResearch, Inc.)

Half a century ago, agriculture's major inputs were land and labor. Higher production normally brought higher profits, and the way to higher production meant putting more labor to work on more land.

Now, however, land and labor are both limited and expensive. And, as such, they have been overshadowed in importance by three other inputs — capital, management and technology.

"Extensive" farming — the putting into production of more acres — has been replaced by "intensive" farming — getting more production out of the acres available. This has created the demand for capital, management and technology. These three inputs hold the key to future increases in agricultural production.

The capital requirements of the average American farm are by no means small. Consider that an acre of land may cost $1,000 or more. Or that the cost of a new tractor often exceeds $10,000. Add to this the thousands of dollars needed each year to cover operating costs — fuel, fertilizer, etc. — and the total often reaches several hundred thousand dollars.

It's obvious that most farmers cannot by themselves take on the job of financing their operations. They have to turn to other sources for credit.

According to the 1971 Fact Book of U.S. Agriculture, "In recent years, credit has been used to finance four-fifths of all farm sales. Federal land banks and life insurance companies are the largest institutional holders of farm mortgages, with outstanding balances on January, 1971 of $7.1 billion and $5.6 billion respectively. Commercial and savings banks held loans of $4.4 billion."

The American farmer is also a heavy user of non-real estate farm loans. He uses these mainly to finance seasonal production costs and living expenses. The Fact Book reports, "In 1971, about $12.3 billion of the non-real estate farm debt was owed to merchants, dealers, individuals, and other miscellaneous lenders and creditors. Commercial banks, which supply the most non-real estate credit to farmers, held outstanding loans of $11.1 billion."

It's an ironic cycle — credit is necessary if the American farmer is to maintain or increase his efficiency. But because the use of credit increases his operating costs through interest payments, it is even more imperative that his operation be efficient . . . to offset the increased costs credit brings to the operation.

Management is the second important new input. In simple terms, management means making the right decision at the right times.

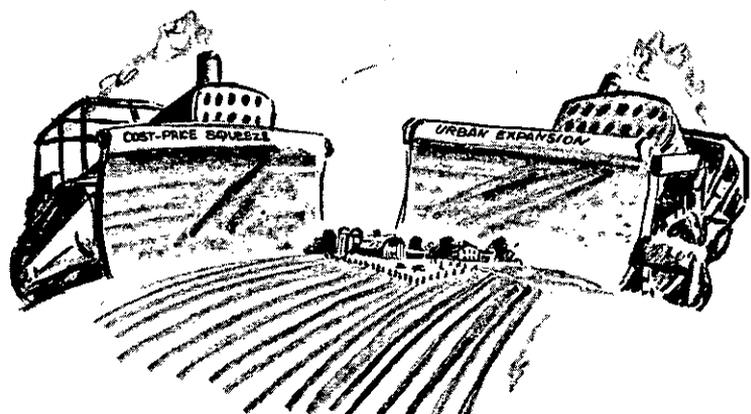

Modern farming is full of decisions. It's more than pulling a plow behind a tractor or throwing a bale of hay onto a wagon. It's deciding when to sell, what to buy and which way to speculate. The decisions hold the potential to keep a farmer in business . . . or to put him out. They're often lonely decisions.

The emphasis on management has brought a new generation of farmers. They are more educated and better informed than generations past.

The third major input is technology. Combined with the farmer's land, labor, capital and management, technology has played an important role in the amazing productive capacity of the American farmer.

Technology is the development of hybrid seed. It's better-bred animals. It's disease-resistant crops. It's vaccines and other medications for livestock. It's improved pest control.

Modern agricultural tech-

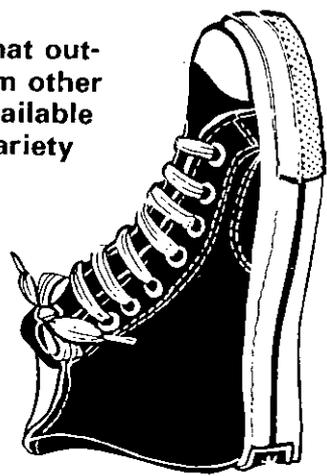

The cost-price squeeze and competition for land are two of the biggest problems facing the American farmer. His production costs, in many instances, have climbed much faster than the prices he receives. Unlike many other businessmen, he cannot tack on a suitable profit to the products he sells. Because of this, he often operates at a loss until better prices come along.

nology is responsible for the so-called "Green Revolution," which has given new hope to the struggle to feed the world. Technology is the basis of the revolution brought about by the acceptance of hybrid corn. If American farmers returned to non-hybrid seed — given current advances in such areas as fertilizer and insect control — it would still require 20 million more acres, or approximately 29 percent more acreage, to meet the present demand for corn.

Technology is the result of research efforts by universities, agricultural companies and even farmers, themselves. And technology will play an even more important role in tomorrow's agriculture.

As world population continues to increase, the land area available for production of food and fiber continues to decline. Each year, acres of valuable productive land give way to masses of steel and concrete in the form of highways, airports and urban expansion. More space is required just to satisfy our increasing population. And more people mean greater demands for more food. The way to increased food and fiber supplies, then, is not through increased acreage, but through greater production on the acreage that is available. That is the role of research.

What more can be said about the actual operations of the American farmer? He drives a tractor. He feeds cattle. He plows his land. He harvests his crops.

But, that's not all. The American farmer combines the inputs of land, labor, capital, management and technology and produces food and fiber for the world.

The New Look

The dieticians and nutritionists who supervise the experimental kitchens for members of Weight Watchers International refuse to let themselves be frustrated by high prices and huge shortages. Instead, they put their collective heads together and adapt new foods to help us all along. In doing this, of course, they add variety to the already multi-faceted Weight Watchers program and give it a new look (or to be more specific, a new taste). But enough of explanations — let's get on to the food and let's start with big items first; namely, those which become entrees or main courses.

In this category, members of Weight Watchers will find that ham, pork and a whole group of lentils and legumes (peas and beans) are now legal. For those who have dreamed of frankfurters and beans, that delicacy is now possible. For those of us who like to do magic with pork and black-eyed peas, that is also now legal, as is a taste treat with ham and pineapple. But, members of Weight Watchers will have to remember that we can only use ham which is smoked or cured and broiled, baked or roasted. The pork must be lean with all white fat removed. The beans and peas must be counted as part of the meat allotment. In the fish department, we can now add clams, oysters, scallops, and scungulli to the 5 times a week list;

DETROIT—The car which most exemplifies the newness of Cadillac for 1974 is the redesigned Coupe de Ville (top). The standard front end features a new lighting arrangement. New bumper guards are wider and lower. The bumper impact strips are standard and are silver gray in color to blend into the chrome bumper. An all-new rear quarter panel has enabled Cadillac designers to create this smart appearing fixed rear coupe window. A custom Cabriolet vinyl roof option is now available for the 1974 Coupe de Ville. The half-top design is similar to that on the Eldorado Cabriolet.

Cadillac will again have the Fleetwood Eldorado Convertible (bottom) in its lineup for 1974. The focal point of the new front appearance is a uniquely-styled fine mesh grille. The grille extends down below the center bumper bar and is protected against im-acted by two short guards. As on the standard Cadillac, the bumper guards are wider and lower to provide protection from low impacts. The side appearance features a narrow body molding which protects the side of the car from parking lot damage. Along with the new grille, bolder striping and new wheel discs accentuate the classic Eldorado lines. Seven convertible top choices are available.

New Record!

The spine tingling finale of the 20-hour Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon Against Muscular Dystrophy, which saw an astounding $12,395,983 raised in its closing hour, amazed Jerry himself as much as his estimated 65-million viewers. The final toteboard figure, showing $12,395,983 pledged, set an all-time record, far exceeding the $9.2 million raised in 1972.

Jerry's Telethon was seen in the Capital District area over WRGB, Channel 6. Al Vrooman, Telethon Chairman reported that contributions in the Capital District area totalled $130,219. An additional $12,970 was deposited in the fishbowl outside and inside the WRGB studio.

Prominent Capital District personalities made frequent appeals during local cutaways. Appearing with Telethon MC's Steve Fitz and Ed Dague were: Mayor Corning, Albany; Mayor Duci, Schenectady; Mayor Godnick, Rutland, Vt.; David Allen, Pick-A-Show; Bill Edwardson, WQBK, and Sandy Gear. Station manager George Spring and Martha Ingerson assured a smooth production for the entire 20 hours the show was on the air.

Return from Washington

Dave Bruce and Paula Goodfellow of Altamont; Patty Rapsard and Brenda Cook, Schenectady; Linda Haverly of Latham; and Brenda Mineau of Feura Bush returned recently from Washington

D.C. where they represented Albany County 4-H at the Citizenship Short Course at the National 4-H Center.

Designed to develop a greater understanding of individual responsibilities of citizenship, the one-week session was filled with listening, learning, sharing and touring.

The most interesting part of the course was exchanging ideas with young adults from other parts of the United States.

The program this year featured small group discussions of contemporary topics such as community development, ecology, economics and government.

The group saw their Federal Government in action through a session on the executive branch held at the United States Department of Agriculture and by spending a whole day on Capital Hill. The group visited Representative Samuel Stratton's office where they had the opportunity to talk with his staff and presented him a plaque made for a 4-H project.

Big Prices — Less Profit

Although recent months have been marked by dramatic increases in consumer spending for food, the average, net operating profits of 6,360 food stores across the country have plummeted to a new low, according to Cornell University agricultural economists.

In a survey report of 51 food chains with aggregate sales of $17.5 billion, entitled "Operating Results of Food Chains '72-72," Prof. Wendell Earle and Willard C. Hunt, research specialist, recorded an operating profit of minus 0.46 per cent of sales.

"It is important to note that the gross margin for all firms declined from 21.52 per cent in 1971-72 to 20.93 per cent of gross annual sales this past fiscal year," they said. "In addition, the total expenses for all chains increased slightly, mainly as a result of increased payroll expenses."

CONSERVATION COMMENTS

Prepare for the Deer Season

The heavier the hunting pressure, the greater part luck plays in getting a deer. In spite of this, in some of the most heavily hunted parts of the State there are a few hunters who manage to get a buck just about every year. In a State where, year after year, about one hunter in 12 gets a buck, these few consistently successful hunters must be doing something to stack the cards in their favor.

Probably one of the big differences between these successful hunters and Mr. Average Hunter is that they think "deer" all the time, whereas Mr. Average Hunter doesn't start thinking "deer" until a few days before the big game season, and sometimes not until the evening before when one of his buddies calls up and asks him to join the party for a big drive opening morning.

When does Mr. Average Hunter really start getting ready for opening day? The weekend before the big game season opens there are more small game hunters in the woods than any other day of the season, opening day excepted. Admittedly, this isn't very scientific evidence that most deer hunters wait until the last minute to start their reconnaissance for deer, but it does make you suspicious.

Labor Day marks the end of the summer vacation period and should also mark the start of deer "hunting" for anyone who wants to increase his chances of getting a buck during the coming open season. Most archers have learned the value of spending all the spare time they can roaming the area they intend to hunt in search of deer sign, and to become better acquainted with the daily habits of deer. Gun hunters would do well to match their diligence.

Without snow on the ground so that deer tracks show clearly, what does the hunter look for to prepare for deer season? Throughout the year two major activities of deer are feeding and resting. In addition to locating these primary areas of activity the hunter should also try to find the best traveled routes between them. A fourth consideration is escape cover where deer seek refuge when they are being heavily harassed by hunters. These areas may not show much sign of use during the fall, but can often be picked out, for they are the places that you avoid because they are so hard to travel through.

Rest areas change the least from one year to the next because they depend on a combination of the topography, vegetation and weather. They are generally located where prevailing or thermal winds Michelin Radials last twice as long as bias-ply tires.

An average driver will run up about 10,000 miles a year. At that rate, you can count on at least 4 years, or 40,000 miles from a Michelin steel belted radial tire. About double what you can expect from a bias-ply tire.

Why? Because they run cooler and reduce the risk of heat blowouts. They're flexible. And they absorb jolts like a cushion. You'll even save gas because they roll easier. Look into Michelin radial tires today.

will bring warning to the deer so it can slip out the back way.

Spring weather can make a difference in what fruits and nuts are available for food, so it is quite possible that an area that was an important feeding area last year may not be important this year. Success or failure of the apple crops in apple orchards can be seen at once, but the frequency deer use a trefoil patch may require numerous trips to come up with a good answer.

Most people can't sneak up on deer feeding or resting, even if they know where they are. The main reason for finding these places is to know where deer are moving, so that you can find a spot along their line of travel to wait. Deer are creatures of habit, and will travel the same routes at about the same time of day, so waiting, if the reconnaissance has been done properly, isn't too bad.

Where hunting pressure is heavy, deer quickly abandon many of their daily routines. Then they are most apt to be intercepted as they are forced from one patch of escape cover to another. Locate natural funnels of terrain or cover through which deer will pass as they move from one patch to the next.

After you have spent two months casing your hunting area, and are all set for that "old timer" on opening morning, don't forget that he didn't get to be an "old timer" just by luck. He may just move out to that little patch of gold-rod in the large open field and spend his time there, unmolested, until the season blows over.

Question:

How long must my husband and I have been married to qualify me, after his death, for a widow's pension?

Answer:

Providing all other qualifications are met, you are legally the widow if:

Social Security: You and your husband were validly married or, if the validity of your marriage is questionable, then if the laws of the state in which your husband lived will allow you to inherit his interstate personal property.

Veterans: You were married for any length of time before: December 14, 1944 for World War I widows; January 1, 1957 for World War II widows; February 1, 1965 for Korean Conflict widows; before the expiration of ten years following termination of the Vietnam era for Vietnam widows; OR you were married continuously for one or more years OR you are the mother of the veteran's child born before or after marriage.

Civil Service (Federal): You were married for at least two years immediately prior to your husband's death or if you are the mother of his child born of your marriage.

JOIN THE REVOLUTION

"JOIN THE REVOLUTION" is the unique invitation of the Town of Bethlehem to its American Revolution Bicentennial Warm-Up and Barbeque at the Town's new Elm Avenue Park Saturday, September 22, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Billed as a prelude to the Town's observance of the 1976 bicentennial of the "oldest Republic on Earth," the half-day festivities, starting with a colorful flag raising ceremony, will highlight:

- A preamble of the Town's long range plans for the upcoming bicentennial by Supervisor Bertram Kohinke.

- Award of a distinguished service citation by the Town to the Village Volunteers, the award-winning 17-year-old fife and drum marching unit, created by Bethlehem citizens, that recreates and symbolizes "The Spirit of '76."

- An unusual one-day-only display of Americana and antiques from the Town of Bethlehem Historical Association Museum.

- A chicken barbeque catered by John Geurtze's Woodridge Farms at $5 per adult and $2.50 for children under 12. Ticket reservations will close September 19. For information, contact Mrs. Mary E. Van Oostenbrugge, 767-9919 or Marie Wiedeman, 465-4367. Checks should be made payable to the Association.

- A bake sale with the slogan "bake and buy for the Bicentennial" is chaired by Miss Marjorie Terrell, 439-4489 and Mrs. Jack Morgan, 439-3144.

Other features will include yester-year music by a barbershop quartette, and a colorful old fashioned square dance called by Dick Thayer.

William Pompa, Vice-President of the Association, will be the Master of Ceremonies.

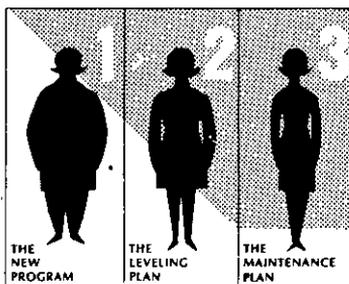

The Warm-Up event is chaired by Mrs. H. Carleton Kelley and Thomas E. Mulligan of the Ways and Means Committee and James Van Dervort and James Wiedemann of the Museum Committee.

ON SEPTEMBER 22, a replica of the original 13-star American flag will be raised at 1 P.M. at Elm Avenue Park to open the Town of Bethlehem's Bicentennial Warm-Up sponsored by the Town Historical Association. Pictured with Bethlehem Supervisor Bertram E. Kohinke are (left to right) J. E. Brauer, Association President; Mrs. H. C. Kelley, chairman of the event; and Col. Robert Leech, chairman of the Association's Bicentennial committee.

Cadillac '74

More than ever... America's Number One Luxury Car.

It is a matter of record that in the model year just ending more people chose to own Cadillacs than ever before in history—more than double those of the nearest competitor. And it is true that Cadillac traditionally leads all U.S. car makes in both resale value and owner loyalty. It's a record without equal. Yet in many ways the Cadillacs of 1974 are superior to the cars that established this record.

It's what you expect of Cadillac
...and something more.

More choice. And what a choice it is—the greatest in the luxury field. There are the three you see here. The classic Fleetwood Brougham. The magnificent new version of America's only luxury convertible—Eldorado. The newly styled Coupe DeVille. Plus six other basic models. Plus...

New Special Edition Cars. Luxury versions of DeVille. A new Brougham d'Elegance. And the new ultra-elegant Fleetwood Talisman, a car we think is destined to be the talk of the luxury class. More elegance. Inside every 1974 Cadillac is a new instrument panel that gives the car the lap-of-luxury look. Interiors are more luxurious than ever.

More flair. The smart new styling of the Coupe DeVille is a case in point. Its beautiful new lines, highlighted by the private quarter window, further accent its youthful flavor. As does the bold new Cadillac grille.

More driving pleasure. Finer engine performance...from start to stop. Due in part to a new combustion chamber, a new camshaft, a choke reindexer to provide quick starting, a snorkel to supply the engine with cooler air. The rolling smoothness of the ride tells you this is Cadillac at its best. Available on all models are steel-belted radial tires and a new High-Energy Ignition System.

And something less. Even less engine noise with high-damping engine mounts, a fan clutch and a muffler for air intake. Inside the car, a virtual network of acoustical materials—including double seals on doors—silently does its job. After all, it's a Cadillac.

To own or lease the 1974 Cadillac of your choice, or just to look them over, we invite you to visit your Cadillac dealer now. Cadillac '74...more than ever, America's Number One Luxury Car.

Now on display by your authorized Cadillac dealer.

One Million!

Just over 14 years ago, in April of 1959 in little Val-court, Quebec, Canada, Joseph-Armand Bombardier completed a small snowmobile and sold it to Lansdowne House, a mission in Northern Ontario.

On August 29 in Valcourt, bardier Limited, the company founded by the late Mr. Bombardier who died in 1964, will celebrate becoming the first manufacturer to produce one million snowmobiles.

Mr. Bombardier's 1959 machines were the start of a continuing production of one and two passenger recreational and utilitarian snowmobiles as we know them today. He called them Ski-Doo snowmobiles and in the winter of 1959-60 sold 225 machines.

Other dignitaries from Canada and the U.S., as well as all Valcourt employees, will participate in the ceremonies

... and they will be joined by the employees at 13 Ski-Doo distributors throughout North America. The ceremonies will be carried by telephone hookup in Canada and the U.S. And when President Beaudoin leads a toast to the millionth Ski-Doo snowmobile and the late Mr. Bombardier, the toast will be joined by distributor employees in Newfoundland, New Brunswick, New Hampshire, Quebec, Massachusetts, New York, Ontario, Michigan, Minnesota, Manitoba, Alberta, British Columbia and Alaska.

Ski-Doo Snowmobile No. 1,000,000 is scheduled to be presented to the J.A. Bombardier Museum, which houses originals of inventions of the late Mr. Bombardier, including Ski-Doo No. 1. A replica will be presented to Dr. D.M. Baird, Director of the National Museum of Science and Technology for display at that museum in Ottawa, Ontario.

Among those participating in the Valcourt ceremonies will be Father Maurice Ouintet of Lansdowne House, Northern Ontario, who acquired the first Ski-Doo snowmobile in April, 1959. That machine was later reacquired by Bombardier for the J.A. Bombardier Museum.

Beaudoin, who also is general manager of the Ski-Doo Division, said production of the millionth machine will kick off six weeks of celebrations in Ski-Doo snowmobile dealerships in the U.S. and Canada, during which Ski-Doo Division of Bombardier Limited will give away 11 new 1974 Elite side-by-side seating snowmobiles and 30 new 1974 Elan twin-cylinder snowmobiles.

One Elite and five Elan snowmobiles will be awarded in a separate contest in Idaho and Wisconsin, with the other 10 Elites and 25 Elans being given away in a sweepstakes in the remainder of the snowbelt states and provinces. Information about the celebrations, for which the entry deadline is Oct. 13, is available from participating Ski-Doo dealers.

During the celebrations, two dealers also will be presented with one week trips to Austria and the Bombardier-Rotax engine plant.

Michael Cloutier, vice president-marketing, Ski-Doo Division, said the Elite snowmobiles to be given away will be equipped with AM/FM radio, ski rack, Millionth Ski-Doo Snowmobile crest engraved with the recipient's name, in addition to such standard Elite equipment as twin bucket seats, tachometer, speedometer, electric fuel gauge, reverse/forward gears, and electric start.

Cloutier pointed out the Ski-Doo snowmobiles are the world's largest selling brand and that no other snowmobile is anywhere near the million-machine mark which Ski-Doo will establish at its Valcourt facilities August 29.

Wandering & Wondering . . .

THE SCHOOL BUS STANDEES are bothering some of our readers — especially now that schools have opened and they see for themselves the overloading and the accompanying dangers.

One telephone caller told us that back in 1971 or early 1972, the Congress of the United States passed a bill applying to the educational process which stated in one part that every student riding a bus must have a seat on that bus. The bill was signed into law by President Nixon. Since its effective date, not one of our 50 states has abided by it or implemented its provisions; not one school board (as far as is known) has recognized this Federal authority.

So the law exists — but like so many others, it is ignored and probably will continue to be ignored until a real tragedy makes it impossible to forever look the other way.

Best letter of the week comes from a young lady who knows the horrors of a bus accident. Here's her letter:

Dear Mr. Fuller:

In regards to your views on letting youngsters stand on school buses, I have to agree with you. I was a victim of a serious school bus accident a few years ago. It was a late run, so fortunately the bus wasn't crowded. Everyone was seated and no one seriously injured. The bus was forced off the road, turned over several times down an embankment and landed on its side. Seats, school books & students landed in a heap. Panic-stricken kids trampled each other trying to get out. I believe if the bus had been filled to capacity (seats and aisle filled with students as on most of the regular runs) there would have been serious injuries — possibly death.

Suppose the driver must slam on the brakes with students standing in the aisle. How do these kids hang on, with their arms full of books?

About the three statements callers made to you; "the cost is too great" — I think a child's life is more important than school expenditures. As for "the students refusing to sit because they'd rather stand" — if it is a rule that students be seated on buses, they would have to sit or find other means of transportation. And last, "the bus only has one mile or less to travel when it is near capacity" — is this person saying an accident can't happen within one mile of the school?

Now that I am a parent and will have a child in school in a few years, I will do anything in my power to see that there is no standing allowed on school buses and that every passenger must wear a seat belt. After all, if it is regulatory that the bus driver wear one, why not the student? Aren't their lives just as important?

Mrs. Robert Judware

WE STILL GET A KICK out of the unfortunate TV weather forecaster who lives in the Capital "District." Time was when radio performers, announcers, etc., had people who regularly listened for pronunciation mistakes and brought them to the person's attention thereby helping him to be a better performer. Today, the "get by" attitude seems to rule the roost.

Then, the other night, we were intrigued by the WRGB newscaster who was giving a report on Mayor Corning's closing Cine 1 and 2 by invoking an old law. But the reporter said, "Sinna 1 and 2."

Don't tell us that dictionaries have gone completely out of style.

Then, there was David Allan's swan song on Friday morning, September 7. David was naive about his being fired by WRGB — he couldn't understand why, when he did nothing to invoke the wrath of anyone. Well, he has certainly been in show business long enough to realize that if someone in authority doesn't like the color of your tie — that's grounds for firing.

For those of you who may follow his "Pick-A-Show" program, it is now on WAST at 9 A.M. WRGB has only one or two more "live" shows to go and then everything local except the news will be on film or tape — and more than half of the news is generally taped earlier in the day.

TV has now reached the point where 90 (or more) per cent of what is available is simply a free movie. It looks as though GE Broadcasting can hardly wait for the day when all manpower can be replaced with GE appliances.

THE WHERE AND WHEN AREA SPORTS

What: High School Sports.

Spotlight readers are directed to the weekly Calendar beginning on this Saturday, September 15, for inclusion of area high school athletic contests. For example, on Saturday you'll find:

Each week, the Calendar will list the events so that those who follow high school sports will know the where and when of all the games.

At present, only games involving BCHS are listed — but if the schedules from R-C-S and Voorheesville are received, they will also be included.

Three fine high schools in the Spotlight area field some exceptional teams during the school year. It is hoped that further publicizing of the schedules will add to game attendance.
