Dry comfort for damp rooms

- ★ 8,000 BTU's of cooling plus higher efficiency operation to save watts... save dollars!
- ★ Provides greater-than-normal BTU capacity per watt consumed*
- ★ Air Drive control with rotating louvers to help evenly circulate cool air throughout a room
- ★ The Panic Button for maximum cooling when demands are greatest
- ★ Insta-Mount for fast, easy installation
- ★ 7.5 amp — plugs into any adequately wired 115-V. household outlet†
- ★ COMFORT GUARD™ control for balanced cooling

Model AXC-P80-2

includes 1-year service

*The cooling ratio (BTU per watt — Energy Efficiency Ratio) of many standard air conditioners is increased in higher efficiency units. Increased output with decreased input results in more economical operation.

Look what we found!
 IN THE MAILBAG

Letter to the Editor:

A sincere thanks to all those who attended our meeting on behavior, "Decorum in the Classroom, How to Achieve It?" For any of you who came to find out what the problem is — we are sorry if you went home disappointed. What we did not want to happen was to spend the entire evening airing soiled linen and not be constructive in our comments. If we have interested you enough to delve into this question yourselves — we have accomplished part of what we set out to do.

For those of you who want to know when the next meeting is and what happens now, we feel that another large meeting at this time would serve no definite purpose. However, we want you to know that we are going to continue what we started. From the people we have talked to and from the people who have contacted us, we believe that there are many parents who are concerned about behavior and other aspects of education.

We would like to hear from many more of you whom we have not yet heard from. Won't you please send a note, or call, one of us soon? There is strength in numbers and that is what brings about change. A note can just say, "We support you," or it can be as specific as you feel is necessary, if one particular area of school life concerns you, tell us about it. Your response will help us over the summer months to formulate our plans.

Sincerely,
 Jeanne Tartaglia

readers must have deduced, is Union National Bank's new office at 193-195 Delaware Avenue.

I fully respect Mr. DeCecco's right to express his preference in architectural design and I support his interest in establishing acceptable development standards. However, preference in architecture is largely a subjective matter, and I feel that Union National's office is a valid and acceptable example of contemporary design. The building is the work of a reputable architect, whose plan incorporates all the requirements of a suburban banking office. We followed all regulations in submitting our plan for review, before receiving approval for a building permit.

The exterior appointments to the grounds remain unfinished, and once they are completed, I am confident that the building's aesthetic effect will be compatible with your community. We have contracted with a landscaping firm for planting of trees and shrubs, which will reduce the present "open-look" of the lot considerably and will provide an improved green belt around the building.

Union National Bank is enthusiastic to be a new member of your community, and we want to cooperate in every possible way with the town and its residents.

Sincerely,
W. C. Schutt

To the Editor,

I would like to comment on the letter sent to the Times Union Tuesday, June 11, 1974, written by John Clyne, Member of the Bethlehem Board of Education. I find it very hard to believe that a person of "experience" (as he related to us at the Budget Meeting June 11) sitting on the Board of Education could not effect the outcome of our School Budget. Mr. Clyne repeatedly argued how the budget was filled with "frills, fads, doo-dads, and experimentation" but I have not seen Mr. Clyne mention any specifics, being a man of "experience" I would hope Mr. Clyne would point these things out to benefit all. In the next school budget I am sure Mr. Clyne will relate his "frills, fads, doo-dads etc. . . ." to the community as well as the Board, to create a slim and effective Budget. As a student in the Bethlehem Central Schools who has worked on the Budget Information Committee with Dr. Zinn (Superintendent of Schools) I find it very hard to believe the budget can exist with Mr. Clyne's allegations. Mr. Clyne mentions in his letter that the budget could have been reduced "if the Board of Education really tried," well Mr. Clyne is on the Board and if he could have related some of his constructive ideas to the board I am sure the other board members would have at least considered them.

I would like to give the board credit for what they have prepared for us and I would hope the citizens would sit down and figure out why they have defeated the budget. I am sure if more citizens became involved in the preparation of the budget and more citizens really bothered to find out why there was a proposed increase in taxes, their minds probably would have been changed. Not enough citizens really bother to consider rising school costs and inflation when it comes to school districts, most people see the increase in taxes and ignorantly defeat the budget. I ask the parents and citizens to become involved throughout the year to get the whole picture on the budget.

P.S. I find it very ironic that Mr. Clyne (who was a candidate for re-election to the School Board) chooses to spend his election day in front and inside the Polling Place, greeting all of Bethlehem's citizens as they arrive to vote, although this is legal I consider this poor politics, especially with a man of his "experience."

Gentlemen:

On Tuesday, June 4th, I went to the Middle School tennis courts in Delmar for the purpose of playing tennis. When I arrived at the courts, I sat down next to the two northernmost courts which are side by side and closest to the school. I sat there with my partner for the purpose of waiting until the people who were using the courts had finished so that we could play. When we arrived at those two courts, both courts were filled by people. The nearest court was used by two gentlemen who were playing singles, and apparently had been playing before we arrived. The far court was being used by a doubles group which had apparently been playing for some time when we arrived, since they were well into at least one set of tennis. The far court lost one of their players and replaced him with another one for doubles.

My partner and I waited for one hour and five minutes and neither of these groups made any indication of relinquishing the courts.

It is absolutely appalling to me that no rules and regulations have been promulgated for the use of these courts so that all the taxpayers may get the benefit of them, and it is even more inconceivable to me that four adults could play doubles on a court for at least an hour and a half knowing full well that people are waiting to use the court and still refuse to relinquish it. I hope that the people who are using these courts read this letter and exhibit some consideration to fellow tennis players in the future.

I have written to the School Board of the Town of Bethlehem requesting that they immediately institute rules and regulations with respect to the use of these courts, with a limit of one hour per group so that all the taxpayers in Delmar may get a chance to use these courts.

Sincerely yours,

Question:

My Series E Savings Bonds were payable upon my death to my mother. She passed away recently. Must I now cash these bonds?

Answer:

You may cash the bonds but you are not compelled to do so because of your mother's death. The maturity dates on Series E Bonds have been extended. These bonds are now earning approximately 5.5% interest depending upon how long they are held. Your bank can arrange to have these bonds reissued bearing the same dates as the originals without any loss of interest. The proof you will need of your mother's death can be secured from us.

Reissued bonds may be registered in one of three ways: (1) your name alone, (2) your name and a co-owner, (3) your name payable upon death to someone else. If you cash the bonds now the interest must be considered for Federal Income Tax purposes. On the reissued bonds, however, any interest consideration may be deferred until the bonds are cashed or until they mature, which ever comes first.

On Monday, June 24th, this service returns to its regular summer schedule of 8:30 A.M. to 1 P.M. Telephone answering service will cover the afternoons. The number is listed in the Spotlight Calendar.

As you know, it is now officially accepted for girls to play Little League baseball. Although I agree with many of the principles of the Women's Liberation movement, I think this is going too far.

I was involved with boys' organized baseball from Little League through Senior Babe Ruth, approximately ten years. I don't think it is any place for a girl. It's too rough — not that they can't handle the roughness, but they shouldn't.

A Grand Opening

There is going to be a Grand Opening Saturday, June 22 that I would like to tell everybody about. It's real special to me because it happens to be a store that my brother, Jim Fuller, and his friend, Gregg Case, have opened. It's Focus Men's Store and is located on Route 9W, near Stewarts, in Ravena.

I hope everybody goes to see this fine store, and say hi to Jim and Gregg and get them started on many years of success.

I would also like to wish them success and happiness in their venture.

— S.S.

Think You're Smart?

If the answer to the first question is "yes", you're smart.

If the answer to the second question is "yes", you're getting smart.

Here's The Test—Do you have a free checking account? Yes . No . Do you want a free checking account? Yes . No . Either way, you have either signed up for Charter Check Credit at our Union National Bank, or are about to.

When you sign up for Charter Check Credit, three great things happen.

1. You Get A Free Checking Account with free personal imprinted checks. No charge for deposits, no minimum balance required, and you get a complete statement monthly.

2. You Get A Line Of Credit that enables you to write yourself a loan—when and as you wish. Your line of credit costs nothing until used.

3. When you make yourself a loan, repayment is automatic, all Charter Check Credit activity is noted on your monthly statement, and the unpaid balance is covered by free credit life insurance.

Getting smart? Let Union Jack help you fill out the form.

YOUNG PEOPLE ASK:

WHAT SHOULD I INSURE?

The Answer:

Insure anything you can't afford to lose. Like your furnishings, your home and your car. Or insure against expenses resulting from injury or loss of property or lost income due to illness.

The Cost: Not nearly as expensive as you may think. If you rent, you'll find Aetna's Tenants Policy low in cost and excellent in coverage. If you have a safe driving record, you can probably qualify for Auto-Rite, the safe-driver's money-saving auto insurance.

Why not come in and see us and get an honest analysis of your insurance needs? We'll give you the protection you need — no more and no less — at a reasonable cost. Call us today.
