in just one year.

Sure, you can earn a higher annual yield but you have to tie your money up from 2½ to 7 years to do it. And, if you withdraw all or part of your Savings Certificate prior to maturity, F.D.I.C. requires that a "substantial penalty" be imposed.

Our 1-year 6½% Time Deposits pay you an effective annual yield of 6.81% with interest compounded daily, credited monthly. Minimum deposit is only $500. Each account is insured up to $40,000 by F.D.I.C. Principal and interest must remain on deposit to earn the high annual yield, but, if you wish, monthly or quarterly interest checks are available. And, if at the end of one year you want your money, it's yours.

So decide which is better for you. A long-term commitment of cash or a slightly lower effective annual yield with your money available to you in just one year? Then, start your happy ending at the bank where happy endings begin.

Proceeds will be used again this year to publish the student literary-art yearbook, The Thinking Reed. Public support is welcome.

Dolphin Relay Teams: Victorious

The (Bethlehem) Delmar Dolphins were victorious at the Adirondack District Winter Relay Carnival on Sat., March 22 at the S.U.N.Y.A. pool. Every Dolphin relay placed . . . 14 out of 26 first places were won by the 8-18 year old swimmers. The most exciting relay of the day was the grand finale . . . a masters relay! Swimming for the Dolphins were local stars: Jeri Friedman (Dolphin Coach), Diane Clyne, Cliff Elkins and Charles Neff (three are parents of Dolphins).

The point count for the local teams was as follows: Delmar Dolphins, 304; S.U.N.Y.A., 198; Uncle Sam, 162; Colonie, 130; Spartans, 124; Voorheesville, 92; Albany Jewish Community Center, 66; Schenectady Jewish Comm. Center, 22.

Look what we found! IN THE MAILBAG

Dear Neighbor:
Helping Hand Block Parent, organized in the Town of Bethlehem by the Bethlehem Junior Woman's Club, is designed to be a safety aid for children going to or from school. Block Parents on each block will provide a refuge from stray animals, bullies, alarming strangers, sudden illness or accident.

A "Helping Hand Block Parent" will: 1) Display the "Helping Hand" sign prominently. (Supplied by Bethlehem Jr. Woman's Club.) 2) Be alert for strangers or unusual activities in the neighborhood. 3) Assist the child by contacting the parent and/or the Police Department in case of emergency. 4) Notify Project Chairman of any incidents that occur.

A "Helping Hand Block Parent" will not: 1) Ordinarily administer First Aid. 2) Offer food or beverage. 3) Transport a child in a car. 4) Transfer the insignia to anyone without the approval of the Project Chairman.

To prevent abuse of this program, the "WHEN" and "WHEN NOT" to call upon a Block Parent will be emphasized through classroom discussion.

Volunteer now as a Block Parent to make YOUR town a safer place for all children.

Very truly yours,
Bethlehem Jr.

Woman's Club

LIBRARY NOTES

Genealogical Study

With interest in our nation's history burgeoning, interest in family histories is growing too. How far back can you trace your ancestors? Would you like to know more about your family tree?

The Bethlehem Public Library is sponsoring a program on genealogy at 2 P.M. on Wednesday, April 16th in the Library's Large Community Room. Mrs. Adele Jackel, an assistant librarian at the New York State Library, will present a program evaluating the genealogical collection of the Bethlehem Public Library and the State Library.

Learn more about genealogical research. Attend the program at the Bethlehem Public Library at 2 P.M. on Wednesday, April 16th. The session is open to anyone interested and there is no charge for it. Due to the nature of the session, however, we must ask you to register at the Bethlehem Public Library by Wednesday, April 9th.

"Way Out West"

One of the "best of the Laurel and Hardy feature films" will be shown Sunday afternoon April 6th at 2 P.M. in the Large Community Room of the Bethlehem Public Library. The film, WAY OUT WEST, runs for 65 minutes, and there is no admission charge.

Kite Workshop

Has anyone ever told you to "Go Fly a Kite?" Would you like to do it? First you need a kite to fly, right? The Bethlehem Public Library is coming to your rescue.

If you are in grades two through five, you are eligible to participate in a Kite Workshop at the Library at 2 o'clock on Saturday, April 12th. The workshop will run from two to four, and will begin with a film called "Kite Story." After the film, you will learn how to make different kinds of kites, and then you will make one to take home.

If you are interested in participating in the kite workshop, call Mrs. Harris at the Library (439-9314) by April 10th. You must sign up, so the Library knows how many people to plan on.

Here & There

The Pajama Game

The Bethlehem Central Class of '75 presents THE PAJAMA GAME, music and lyrics by Jerry Ross and Richard Adler, as their senior play production. THE PAJAMA GAME is basically about the management and labor problems people had to face in factories in the 1950's.

The play will be directed and produced by Mr. Richard Feldman. Mr. Feldman has produced some very fine productions, and he is confident that THE PAJAMA GAME will be a huge success.

Some very fine actors will be making this play a success.

The musical director for THE PAJAMA GAME is Mr. Joseph Farrell.

The play will be presented at the Bethlehem Central Senior High School on the evenings of April 3, 4 and 5 at 8:15 P.M.

We are confident this production will be a smash hit, and we hope everyone will come and share the excitement with us.

Needlework Exhibit

"NEEDLEWORK 1975" an exhibit by the N.Y. Capital District Chapter of the Embroiderers' Guild of America will be held at Schrafft's on Route 9W, Albany on Sunday, April 13th from 1:00 to 4:00

COVER STORY

(editor's note: This award was one of six given in the United States in 1974, and the only one given in New York State. The Spotlight joins with its' readers in commending the Beth. Sportsman's Club on receiving this award.)

The residents of the tri-village area and surrounding communities have only a short drive necessary to avail themselves of a rare opportunity located in the picturesque hills above Clarksville. Situated off the Dunbar Hollow Road are 230 acres of specially managed woodlands ranging from a hillside of huge red pines to a small mountain stream winding along the valley floor among scattered bunches of white birch trees. A recently completed log cabin, of shaped, massive logs taken from the same land, sits on a gentle slope leading to a small mountain pond in which is reflected the silhouette of the distant Catskills on one side and the closer Helderbergs on the other.

On most any weekend, several of a very active group of conservation and environment-minded men and boys can be seen vigorously involved in various aspects of an exciting outdoor program. A unique heterogeneous group of men is working and enjoying together the fruits of their labors as well as the most simple and basic things nature has to offer. Doctors and laborers, lawyers and clerks, engineers and truck drivers all have one common link in the BETHLEHEM SPORTSMEN'S CLUB to which they belong, with nearly 200 others from just about every walk of life — to enjoy and preserve the outdoors for themselves and others after them.

Many organizations are formed to encourage specific projects of interest to their members. The Bethlehem Sportsmen's Club, a very unique and dynamic organization, is environment oriented. They are a rather serious, yet naive, group of outdoor folks, that involve themselves in all the ramifications of conservation — hunting, fishing, skiing, archery, swimming, picnicking, conservation law, protection of endangered species and harvest of those that are abundant — and in preserving the quality of life for those who enjoy the out-of-doors. They sponsor such diverse programs as a "Wildlife Habitat Improvement" program that won a national award and a symposium on the conservation ethics of hunting at the Bethlehem Senior High School.

The habitat program began two years ago when five high school students made a forest and game survey of the 230 acres of Club grounds. For this they received recognition for completing the best conservation project that year from the Albany County Conservation Alliance. The survey revealed that much of the area was growing up into thick, old forest with few shrubs or undergrowth necessary to provide food or cover for birds and mammals. The trees were of such poor quality they would never produce much useful lumber. So Club volunteers went to work again liberating over-topped and dying apple, hawthorne, black cherry, and serviceberry trees and opening up small areas to encourage ground plants, shrubs and small trees that provide the food and shelter for most wildlife — songbirds as well as game species. The project received an award as the best conservation project of the year by an organization in New York State Conservation Council and was awarded national recognition in the same vein from the National Wildlife Federation, headquartered in Washington (see cover illustration).

The Club has also organized a symposium on Conservation ethics — hunting, at the Bethlehem Central High School at 1 p.m. April 17. Movies of ecology will be shown continuously between 8 and 12 in the morning and the symposium will feature one speaker representing the Friends and Animals, another the wildlife biologists point of view, the whole being moderated by the Director of the Five Rivers Environmental Project. Students will be encouraged to ask questions.

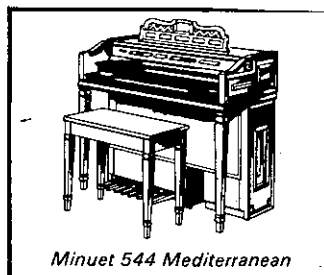

The President of the United States signed a proclamation in 1972 in which he stated "I urge all our citizens to join with outdoor sportsmen in the wise use of our natural resources and in insuring their proper management for the benefit of future generations." This proclamation created National Hunting and Fishing Day, an annual observance held on a Saturday late in September. The Bethlehem Sportsmen's Club is one of many thousand similar organizations nation-wide which encourages the general public to visit its facilities and participate in a special program designed to show what the activities are all about. Bethlehem's program, besides including a wide variety of demonstrations and exhibits, has included such relevant things as a Symposium — What is Conservation? Participants included representatives of the Audubon Club, Sierra Club, Five Rivers Environmental Center, Trout Unlimited, the Department of Environmental Conservation and sportsmen's clubs. A lively discussion developed in which opposing points of view were brought together, with the result that people's total perspective on conservation was expanded, and a greater understanding evolved regarding the other guy's views.

Other programs offered on National Hunting and Fishing Day include talks and discussions led by experts on such topics as photography and art in conservation; wildlife research in conservation; conservation as a life work; fish and game conservation; and game wardens — why, how, experiences.

While efforts in promoting conservation certainly maintain a high priority in the Bethlehem Sportsmen's Club, other activities similarly have strong appeal for members as well as residents of nearby communities. The more popular offerings include trap shooting, archery, rifle and pistol shooting, cross-country skiing, hunting, fishing, hiking, picnicking and swimming. The facilities located on the Club's lands are all ideally suited for and carefully maintained for maximum enjoyment of these activities.

The trap shooting range tests the shotgunning ability of novice and expert alike. Under close supervision of experienced shooters, the Club invites and encourages the general public to participate during the regularly scheduled hours of the trap's operation. Trap shooting will be held every Sunday afternoon between 1:00 and 3:30 p.m. from April 20 through October 19. In addition, trap shooting under the lights will be available Wednesday nights during the months of June through September.

A challenging 28 target archery range, of varying distances, winds its way up and down and through some of the most picturesque of the Club's woodlands. The range is used not only by serious archers competing with one another during special league shoots or tournaments, but also is widely used by bow hunters hoping to sharpen their skills for hunting season. Many archers, who neither wish to compete nor hunt, find the range ideally suited for their enjoying the sport for what it is, simply hoping to strike the target with their arrows and maybe do better than last time.

The rifle range also appeals to different kinds of shooters. Hunters practicing for the fall season find as much enjoyment using the range as do others trying to score a perfect round using powerful target scopes. Specially designed sub-ranges are offered, including 25 and 50 feet distances, 100 yards, 200 yards and 300 yards. A most any Saturday and Sunday will find the rifle range to be one of the more popularly used facilities.

The most highly valued resource of the Club are the 230 acres of carefully managed woodlands. A hilly area sprinkled with brooks and springs, it is abundant in game and other wildlife, including deer, grouse, woodcock, rabbit, squirrel and an occasional duck or Canada goose on the pond. Within the past year, a black bear was even reported in the area, not very far from the Club. The value of the lands and wildlife goes far beyond the hunting resource served. Hikers, picnickers and photographers derive much enjoyment roaming the hills and trails. Several Boy Scout groups have spent many weekends camping, hiking and learning first hand about nature, environment and conservation on the Club lands. The good neighbor policy has also been extended to a local snowmobile club and horse club who have received approval to use Club property in furtherance of their programs. A challenging cross-country ski course is being cut through the woods, and preliminary response points towards quick acceptance of this as a popular activity.

The pond located close to the Clubhouse and the hub of activity, exemplifies the environment bent of the Club, its water tested recently to be virtually pure enough to drink, a rarity in this day and age. It serves as a popular swimming spot in the hot summer months, and further has the distinction of yielding the first fish a youngster has thrilled in catching. A dad and his son or daughter may often be seen collecting a fresh fish dinner while at the same time cultivating in the youngster a life-long interest in and appreciation of the outdoors and its resources.

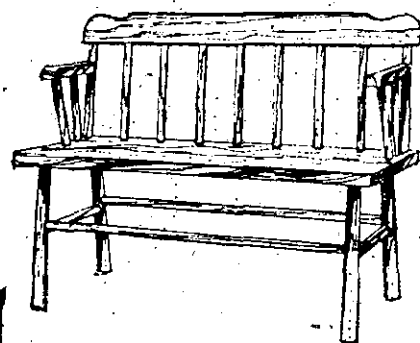

Yet everything is not all fun and games at the Bethlehem Sportsmen's Club. A fire, believed set by vandals, totally destroyed the former clubhouse in February of 1973. Members opted to construct the replacement clubhouse from materials taken from their own land. A log building, it was felt, would be the ideal choice in matching with the surrounding environment. Gil Zable, a local man contracted to complete logging operations and to construct the basic building. The members, concerned with the potential damage to their land which could result from logging, were both highly surprised and pleased when it was found that not only did damage fail to materialize, but it was difficult to see where trees were cut. A massive fireplace and chimney was built by members with stone salvaged from the old clubhouse. Member-workers also built the basement and completed other construction tasks, as electrical, plumbing and interior work. This beautiful clubhouse, now almost totally complete, serves as the focal point for varied activities at the club.

The Bethlehem Sportsmen's Club is one of the few in the area which is primarily concerned with providing and maintaining an environment that encourages a sympathetic and understanding cooperation between man and nature without which our quality of life would certainly be much poorer. The activities described above serve to support this concern, although additional efforts are continually being made in adding to it. An active and involved membership is the key to this organization's success. Gary VanDerLinden, Club President, has indicated that membership is still open to nearby residents. Anyone wishing information about the Club should contact Gary at 439-4273 or Hal Brink at 439-6256.

The membership meets the first Tuesday of each month, at 8 p.m. at the Clubhouse on Dunbar Hollow Road out of Clarksville.

Guest speaker will be Mr. James Howard of the Garden Shoppe, Feura Bush Rd., Glenmont.

New Officers

The Albany Senior Citizens Center at 25 Delaware Avenue has installed its new membership officers. Presiding at the installation was Reverend Howard J. Hubbard. Father Hubbard is Secretary of the Board of Directors of the Senior Service Centers of the Albany Area, Inc.

According to Morton R. Adell, Executive Director of the agency, the following officers were installed:

Francis R. O'Neill, President, Genevieve Ristau, 2nd Vice President, Myrtle Richards, Recording Secretary, Angie Pommer, Financial Secretary, Irene Kelly, Treasurer.

Many new committees have been formed by the new President for the closer unity and benefit of the members, and President Francis O'Neill anticipates that the coming year will see many new activities added to the existing programs at the Albany Senior Citizens Center, which is one of a group of eight Senior Citizen Centers throughout the Albany area.

AN "ALL YOU CAN EAT" MENU

What: 1975 Pancake and Sausage Breakfast sponsored by the Bethlehem Lions Club.

When: Sunday, April 6 from 8 A.M. to 1 P.M.

Where: Dining Hall, Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Legion Building on Poplar Drive.

If you love pancakes and sausage with syrup, orange juice, milk or coffee — you'll find this "all-you-can-eat" breakfast a completely painless way to help those out-of-the-world sight and hearing preservation projects for which the Lions are justly famous. The cost: $2 for adults; $1.50, children under 12, pre-school aged children FREE. As an added attraction, "Leo the Lion," the silent clown, will direct traffic during the breakfast hours.

WELCOME WAGON VISION SCREENING

What: Vision Screening to detect amblyopia (lazy eye) and other sight defects in 3, 4 and 5 year old preschoolers sponsored by the Tri-Village Welcome Wagon Club for Newcomers.

When: April 8, 9 and 10, 9:30 A.M. to 12:30 P.M.

Where: First United Methodist Church, 428 Kenwood Ave., Delmar.

The five minute test will be conducted by volunteers trained under the supervision of Dr. Stephen J. Sills, ophthalmologist, and Mrs. Elaine Hoyt, coordinator of pre-school vision screening for the Albany Association of the Blind. Amblyopia, or "lazy eye blindness" is a disorder in which an eye appears healthy but actually has low or poor vision. If not treated early in life, amblyopia can lead to blindness.

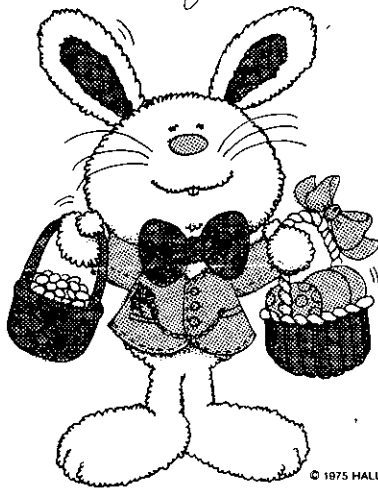

For further information contact Mrs. David Dax, 439-7049, or Mrs. Charles Scholes, 439-7759.

Community Corner, a public service column of important community events, is sponsored by the people of the
