Call us first. It'll keep you from digging yourself into a hole.

Telephone cables are often where you least expect to find them. So are gas and power lines.

So before you do any digging for your farm, well or building site, check with the Capital Area Underground Utilities Locating Service. The number to call is 374-9908.

If you hit a cable, you won't only cause yourself trouble. But a lot of other people who desperately need phones, gas and electricity. Such as hospitals, fire and police departments. And you could end up paying for the damage to the cable.

In the Capital District Area, call 374-9908. If it's a toll call, call collect.

YAMAHA SCHOOL TO HOST DEMONSTRATIONS

The Yamaha School of Music has recently announced that it will be hosting several free family demonstrations this September, in both their Albany and Schenectady locations. At the demonstrations, parents will be acquainted with the school's revolutionary concept of successfully introducing young children ages four through eight to music, by watching their children participate in an actual class session. This will be followed by an explanation of the Yamaha Music School's program: its aims, purposes, and goals.

The Yamaha Music Foundation was developed in Japan in the early 1950's, and since that time has spread internationally. Locally, the program began in Albany in 1967, and has now expanded to two locations and an annual enrollment of 200.

The Yamaha Music School staff is made up of professional musicians who are carefully screened, tested, and trained to help young children develop this "feeling for music."

Carolyn Mayer, both the director of the school and a teacher, has a bachelor's degree in music from the Crane School of Music, New York State University at Potsdam. She has sung with 4-8 YRS.

Now is the time for your child to begin to pursue music, while his ear is so receptive to the sounds which make up music. Creative teachers, using the guidelines and techniques developed over the years by Yamaha, can give your child the right start in music.

Mary Shea also holds a bachelor of music degree from the Crane School of Music, New York State University at Potsdam. A Yamaha teacher for two years, she has taught both privately and in the public schools. In addition, she has taught music appreciation at Hudson Valley Community College.

Lisa Angle, teacher, received her bachelor's degree in music from Mount Holyoke College, and studied music education at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York, and at the Kodaly Institute, Wellesley, Massachusetts. She has taught music privately, and in the public schools.

Pat Rein, teacher, holds a bachelor of music degree from the Crane School of Music, New York State University at Potsdam. She has taught in the public schools, and recently spent a week in special Yamaha creativity training in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Noel Ottery, teacher, received her bachelor of music degree from the DePauw University School of Music, Greencastle, Indiana. She is presently organist and choir director for the Third Presbyterian Church in Troy, and accompanist for the Schenectady Community Chorus.

Jessica Brodsky, teacher, has a bachelor's degree in music from the Crane School of Music, New York State University at Potsdam, and has also taught both privately and in the public schools.

The goal of the Yamaha Music School is to give children the tools with which to enjoy a lifetime of musical involvement, and consequently the school does not endeavor to turn every child into a professional musician. Some will undoubtedly become just that, but by providing what has been proven to be an excellent initial exposure to music, Yamaha attempts to give all of its students the opportunity to cultivate their abilities to express themselves through music and to experience its joy.

Further information about the Yamaha Music School's program and its free family demonstrations can be obtained by calling the school at 459-6221.

Voorheesville also will often have a chance to help buy a breath of life for children suffering from lung-damaging diseases.

"We hope people will make this valuable and special purchase by dropping a few coins, or even better, a few dollars, in one of the many C/F canisters that campaign volunteers have distributed across town," said Mrs. Joseph (Trudy) Fernandez campaign chairman for the Capital District Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Voorheesville Chapter.

The canisters, located at stores, restaurants, banks and other businesses are part of the Chapter's 1975 Breath of Life Campaign to raise funds for research, care and education programs on children's lung-damaging diseases.

HAVE YOUR BIKE REGISTERED

Harry H. Sheaffer, Town Supervisor, urges all citizens, both young and young at heart, to observe, practice and teach the bicycle safety rules of the road and to promote the use of the bicycle as a practical and enjoyable form of transportation, recreation and exercise.

Mr. Sheaffer advises that the Bethlehem Police Youth Bureau, under the direction of Sgt. Leo E. Dorsey, is sponsoring and directing a bicycle safety program throughout the Town. Sgt. Dorsey reports that the initial phase of the program is an outstanding success and a major contribution to greater safety for cyclists. "We have made a fine start," Mr. Sheaffer adds, "but we must carry on with the follow-up from year to year to make sure the program will have a lasting effect."

According to information on file with the Bethlehem Police Department, there have been approximately 100 bicycles reported having been stolen or lost from January, 1975, to date. Only fourteen (14) of this number have been returned and only two (2) were registered with the Town. Sgt. Dorsey explains that a stolen or lost bike is often recovered but, when it is not registered with the Town, it is almost impossible to locate its owner. He urges that ALL cyclists within the Town have their bicycles inspected and registered.

When an application for registration is submitted, the bicycle must be inspected by the Police, at which time the wheels, brakes, spokes and handle bars are checked. There must be a red reflector on the rear, a light on the front sufficient to provide visibility for 500 feet ahead, also a horn or bell. If a defect is discovered, the Police Officer will explain how it should be corrected.

Supervisor Sheaffer points out that youngsters and adults can have their bicycles inspected at any time at the Bethlehem Police Department, 118 Adams St., Delmar. If the bike passes inspection, it can then be registered at the Town Clerk's office, 393 Delaware Avenue, Delmar. Registration fee is twenty-five cents (25¢).

COVER STORY

SLINGERLANDS COMMUNITY PLAYERS ANNOUNCE SEASON

THE SLINGERLANDS COMMUNITY PLAYERS, long-time and only resident community theater in the Delmar-Slingerlands area, is being featured this week in the window of Mullen's Pharmacy at the corner of Elsmere and Delaware Avenues. The Pharmacy is cooperating with the Players in publicizing the group's outstanding contributions to its community through its history of well-produced and well-received theatrical presentations. The display is coordinated with the Players' annual subscription promotion and announcement of its new season's playbill.

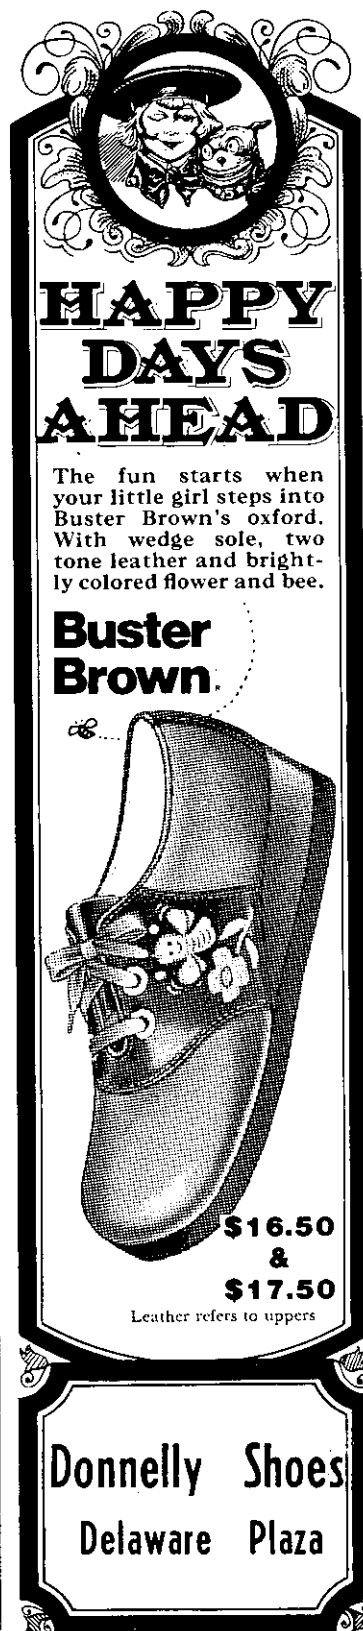

In addition to three small-scale "showcase" performances which have not yet been scheduled, the Slingerlands Players have begun production plans for four major plays, each directed by a well-known area community theater director. In contrast to previous years, all performances will take place in the renovated Slingerlands Playhouse on Delaware Turnpike.

The Slingerlands' season will begin on November 5 with two one-act comedies by Tom Stoppard (author of Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead), entitled "The Real Inspector Hound" and "After Magritte." Graham Zeh, the director of these companion pieces, has scheduled auditions for September 8 and 9 at the Playhouse. (See "Community Corner") This first production will run November 5-9 and 12-15.

The complete Slingerlands season includes Macbeth, directed by Phillip Rice and scheduled for January 28 - February 1 and February 4-7; an American melodrama, Love Rides the Rails, or Will the Mailtrain Run Tonight?, directed by Christopher Dammer, March 17-21 and 24-27; and two one-acts by William Hanley, "Mrs. Dally Has A Lover" and "Today Is Independence Day," directed by William A. Frankonis, May 12-16 and 19-22.

Membership in the Slingerlands Community Players is open to all interested persons. Information is available from Richard McGrath, 7 Robbins Avenue, Troy.

CHILDREN'S THEATRE

The Bethlehem Children's Theater Committee will again provide in-school performances for children in grades K-5 during the 1975-76 school year.

This program gives Bethlehem elementary pupils the opportunity to see live theater productions, some featuring fantasy and others true-to-life drama. As has been customary in past yrs. one pupil from each class is allowed to go backstage following each performance and interview the actors. These children then report back to their classmates on the experience. The theater performances are selected so they can be closely coordinated with the school curriculum in both Language Arts and Social Studies.

The first performance will be on Tuesday, September 30, when the National Theater Company will present "Celebration USA," a colorful, multi-media approach to American history. Grades 1 and 2 will see it in the morning and grades 3, 4 and 5 in the afternoon.

On Thursday, Dec. 4, gr. 1 and 2 will see "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" presented by the Gingerbread Players and Jack. Grades 3, 4 and 5 will see "Tom Sawyer" next May 11.

Final arrangements for other performances during this school year are now being made by Mrs. Raymond Graf, primary chairman; and Mrs. Robert Zick, intermediate chairman.

The season ticket price is still $2.50 per child, with a special rate of $8 for four or more children in one family. Kindergarten children will have a special performance, yet to be arranged, at a cost of $1 per child.

Representatives of the Children's Theater Committee will be at all six district elementary schools, to collect ticket money, on Sept. 16, 17 and 18. The Committee urges parents to support this program, and to encourage at-home discussions of the theater experiences.

ON DEAN'S LIST

Alison Voorhees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Voorhees of 49 Union Ave., Slingerlands, was named to the Dean's List at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., for both semesters of the 1974-75 academic year. She was one of 14 students in the School of Music to achieve this honor. Miss Voorhees will resume her studies this fall at the College of St. Rose in Albany.

YEARBOOKS TO ARRIVE

Copies of the 1974-75 edition of The Oriole, Bethlehem Central High School's yearbook, will arrive at the High School for distribution early in September. Pupils who have ordered them will receive them in school on a date to be announced during the first week of classes. Seniors who graduated in June will have their yearbooks delivered or mailed to their local addresses.

Final production of the yearbook was delayed due to failure on the part of the staff to meet some deadlines and problems experienced by the printing company.

Students Getting Social Security Checks Should Report Changes in Earnings

Students 18-22 getting social security checks should report changes in their earnings, school enrollment, and marital status to social security, according to social security officials here.

Over 680,000 students 18 and over get monthly social security payments because a parent gets disability or retirement benefits or has died. Students can continue to get payments to age 22—or slightly beyond for undergraduates—as long as they remain full-time students and unmarried.

"Students getting checks should notify social security immediately if they marry, leave school, or start attending on a part-time basis so we can stop their monthly payments as required by law," a spokesman said.

Changes in total yearly earnings from part-time or temporary jobs can also affect social security payments to students, he said.

"If you're a student getting payments and expect your earnings for 1975 will be over $2,520, you should report that to social security," he said. "Otherwise, you might get benefits you'll have to pay back later."

Social security payments are reduced by $1 for every $2 earned over $2,520 in a year. No matter how much they earn for the year, people can get their full social security payment for any month in which they neither earn $210 nor do substantial work in their own business.

Students getting social security payments should also report transfers from one school to another, according to the spokesman.

"If you have questions about social security payments to students 18 and over, you can get answers by calling, writing, or visiting any social security office," he said.

questions and answers

Q. My mother was very ill recently, and the doctor had to come to the house to treat her. Will her Medicare pay for his visit, or does it only cover office visits to the doctor?

A. Medicare's medical insurance helps pay for covered services your mother receives from her doctor no matter where she receives them—in her home, in his office, in a hospital or skilled nursing facility, or in any other location in the U.S. Your Medicare Handbook explains what doctors' services are covered, and how medical insurance helps pay for them. If your mother doesn't have a copy of the handbook, she can get one at any social security office.

Q. I've just sold my house and will be moving into an apartment on the first of next month. Should I notify social security now, or wait until I'm living at my new address?

A. You should notify social security now. Prompt notice helps assure delivery of your check to your new address without delay or interruption. You can report your move on the change-of-address form which is printed on the back of the envelope your check is delivered in. Be sure to give both your old and new address—including ZIP codes—and the social security claim number which appears on your social security check.

The Albany Jewish Community Center announces that registration for its Fall classes and activities will begin on Sunday, September 14th, 11 A.M.-2 P.M. and will continue through Sunday October 5th. All adults and children's activities will begin the week of October 5th.

More than 300 classes and activities are being offered for all age groups from pre-schoolers to senior adults.

SPICY LUNCHEON FARE

When you want something a little different for your next luncheon, consider corn bread. It has a flavor all its own that your guests will welcome. Combined with a spicy beef sauce, it makes a tasty entree.

A fresh fruit salad is the perfect partner for color, texture and taste. Everything can be prepared in advance; arrange fruit on lettuce leaves and place corn bread on a broiler pan to toast all together while the beef sauce is reheating. Your hostess duties are few for this menu so you can enjoy your guests.

SPICY BEEF SQUARES

Makes 6 servings

- | | |
|---|---|
| Corn Bread: | $\frac{1}{2}$ cup butter or margarine |
| 1 cup enriched corn meal | 1 teaspoon paprika |
| 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour | $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon pepper |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar | $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sifted all-purpose flour |
| 4 teaspoons baking powder | 3 cups milk |
| $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt | $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce |
| 1 egg | One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained |
| 1 cup milk | 1 cup cooked green beans |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ cup butter or margarine, melted | One 5-oz. jar dried beef, torn into bite-sized pieces |
| Sauce: | |
| $\frac{1}{3}$ cup chopped celery | |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped onion | |

For corn bread heat oven to hot (425°F.). Sift together corn meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into bowl. Add egg, milk and melted butter; mix until smooth. Bake in greased 8-inch square baking pan in preheated oven (425°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Cut into 6 pieces. Split each piece in half horizontally. Toast corn bread pieces until golden brown.

For sauce, saute celery and onion in butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and blend in paprika, pepper and flour. Return to heat; gradually add milk, stirring to combine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Stir in Worcestershire sauce. Add mushrooms, green beans and dried beef; stir to distribute ingredients evenly. Warm over low heat.

To serve, place 1 piece of toasted corn bread on each plate. Spoon sauce over corn bread. Top with second piece of corn bread and more sauce. Serve immediately.

The first stamps served as evidence that postage charges had been prepaid and thus the receiver was exempted from further charge. That's why the word philately, stamp collecting, was coined from the Greek words for love of tax exemptions.

Design Defines Space for Dining

Dining at home may well be the trend of the times in entertaining. Making space for a dining area is another matter altogether. Today's do-it-yourself decorators rely on visual tricks to define dining space in general living areas. Newst approach calls for the use of pre-pasted wallcovering murals that are easy to hang, large enough to make a strong and definite design statement, and far less costly than other artworks. Most varied of the new mural collections is Imperial's E-Z-Du under-$60 group—all in washable acrylic, a must in dining areas, where spots and splashes are inevitable. Designs include this striking super-graphic geared to a contemporary setting. The theme of dazzling elegance is carried out in sleek chrome and glass furniture, with Collins & Aikman's velvet-cut white carpeting underfoot. White for dining? Carpet consultants feel it stands up under use as well as dark solids, without sacrificing the visual impression of space.

Historic Flight

Not many of us know that an airplane which helped to keep us safe during World War II is still operational today. The plane was called the Lancaster and the last complete one in flying trim set off May 16th on a 5,539 mile 5-day flight from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada to Scotland. Once there, it made its way to Sir William Roberts' air museum near Perth, where it sits now.

"Spirit of Caledonia," as the plane was named to commemorate the British Caledonian Airways flight executives who flew it, took five times as long as a modern airliner—34 hours spread over five days. The plane was without heating, soundproofing or de-icing equipment, so the crew had to prepare in advance for rugged conditions.

This last Lancaster, a Mark 10, remained operational in the Royal Canadian Air Force after World War II, but in 1964 it was converted into a water bomber for putting out forest fires. Today the plane, in perfectly restored condition, is a museum piece, but it's a museum piece that made a last historic transatlantic flight.

GOOD HORSE SENSE can

During the six straight-shootin' shows, saddle bronc riding (pictured above), bare-back bronco riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, Brahma bull riding, cowgirls' barrel racing and a whole corral of other action acts will also be presented. Flourish Into Off-Camera Flash

Turn a group of little girls loose with a batch of grown-up clothes and the results are sure to be delightful. And so are the pictures you take of them. Indoor shots do require flash sometimes, of course, but this can be very simple, particularly when you are using one of the new Kodak Trimplite Instamatic cameras with flipflash.

You still have to remember that flash is most effective from four to ten feet and that, to avoid harsh shadows, you should keep your subjects away from the wall. And for even lighting in a group picture, try to have each person reasonably equidistant from the camera.

When the dress-up hat suddenly slides down to cover the wearer's face completely, you have to be alert to catch the instant with your camera. When you have flipflash on your camera, you're ready for eight in a row.

With the flipflash, you have a choice of a series of light flashes on or off the camera, with a single flip after the first four. For off-camera flash you need a Kodak flip-flash extender, which connects the flash and camera by means of an 18-inch cord.

While you're taking pictures, and the kids are in a relaxed and happy mood, why not do a shot with enlargement-for-the-grandparents in mind? For the best effect, shoot at the kids' level.

This arrangement gives you the freedom to direct the light at your subject from the side, or above, or as needed. You can even bounce the light from a white ceiling if you wish.

The Trimplite Instamatic cameras retain all the advantages of the popular pocket cameras. They are small, light, easy to operate, and use film in the same tiny 110 cartridges.

Moving your picture-taking indoors does not change the basic rules for good pictures. You still need to hold your camera steady and level.

Watch the background as you shoot, to avoid distracting clutter.

Shoot from your subjects' level and, to keep them relaxed, give them something to do. The dress-up situation mentioned above has great potential because the clothes serve as props as well as an inspiration for funny, elaborate posing.

The final, and perhaps most important, piece of advice is to stay alert and ready. Expressions and poses are fleeting, at best; and to save them, you have to be equally fast with your shutter finger.

A LOST ART?

The America of yesterday lives today, and the Bicentennial is the time to appreciate it. On the east bank of the James River in Virginia, costumed men in a temporary shelter make glass bottles in the painstaking fashion of their colonial forefathers. Working with an iron furnace, 17th century tools, and raw materials such as sand, lime, and wood ashes these 20th century craftsmen laboriously produce works of art reminiscent of the early 1600s.

Watching the craftsmen at work reminds one of the problems faced by the early Jamestown settlers. Like any new venture, glass making was experimental at best, and accomplished under arduous conditions. In fact, the first effort lasted less than a year. A second attempt on the same site was launched in 1621 and lasted until 1624 before it, too, was overcome by the elements. In tribute to the tremendous fortitude displayed by the early colonists, and recognizing the significance of America's first industrial effort, the National Park Service with the assistance of the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute are rebuilding the original structure.

The new glasshouse should be ready early in 1976. In the meantime glass making demonstrations of America's first industry are given daily at the Jamestown Glasshouse from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For more free information on the glasshouse, write GCMI News Bureau, 866 Third Avenue, Suite 2000, New York, New York 10022.

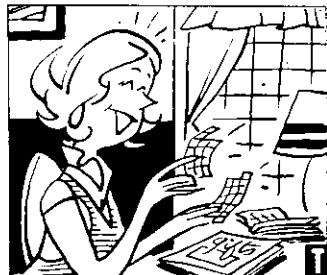

A visit to the Jamestown Glasshouse during our Bicentennial celebration will certainly prove to be a fascinating educational experience for the whole family.

NEWS OF STAMPS

As inflation keeps nibbling away at paychecks, one way of "biting back" refuses to go out of style.

Consumers still appreciate the familiar trading stamp's dollar stretching virtues. Or so a national survey by Benson & Benson Inc., of Princeton, New Jersey implies: although stamps are harder to come by these days, 67 per cent of all Americans view them favorably; only 33 per cent, unfavorably.

About six stamp savers in 10 would "go a little out of my way" to get their stamps; a solid 67 per cent would be disappointed to see their stamp-giving supermarket drop stamps.

"Consumers want stamps as much as ever," says Norbert V. Osterland, president of S&H Green Stamps, oldest and largest trading stamp firm in the nation.

In the 1960's, when stamps became available in about 65 per cent of all supermarkets, they lost some of their pulling power.

Then came the wave of inflation and "discounting" with promotions of many kinds cancelled, followed by the gasoline shortage of late 1973, which hurt service station stamp sales — the industry's second biggest market.

Now that stamp companies are regaining sales, "never have people felt a stronger urge to wring the last bit of value out of every dollar spent," Osterland states.

Easy-to-Build Family Message Center

NEW YORK (ED)—The telephone has become an important part of just about every American household.

Whether you talk on a Princess, a Trimline or a standard desk model, whether you use push buttons or rotary dial, the phone is basic to communication today. It's the family's all-important message center. It's the tool to help you shop, plan a party, organize a committee meeting or just keep in touch with friends and relatives.

Here's a way do-it-yourselfers can turn the phone into an efficient and comfortable Family Communications Center. Pictured above is a wall-mounted phone booth, created by industrial designer Gary Gerber, IDSA, and suited to a variety of household locations, including both kitchen and family room.

The easy-to-build Communications Center provides plenty of space for a wall phone and note-pad. There's a shelf to help you prepare a shopping list or take a message. Cork panels, mounted on the unit's sides, make it easy to leave notes or family reminders.

In addition, designer Gerber has built in a special feature: a tray designed to hold the telephone directory. Here's a chance to get the phone book out of the closet or off the shelf and put it near the telephone where it's most useful. The tray slides out to make access to the phone book easy whether you're looking up a number in the White Pages or letting your fingers walk through the Yellow Pages.

tioner and furnace, stop the leakage of air around and through doors and windows. The money you invest in these new features is wasted unless you plug up the holes and cracks.

Now think about your furnace. If it is 10 or more years old, you might consider replacing it. Chances are that it is operating at somewhere below 50% efficiency. A new quality furnace should burn with an efficiency of 70%.

When you build, or add storm windows or doors to your house, don't be talked out of screens just because you will or do have air conditioning.

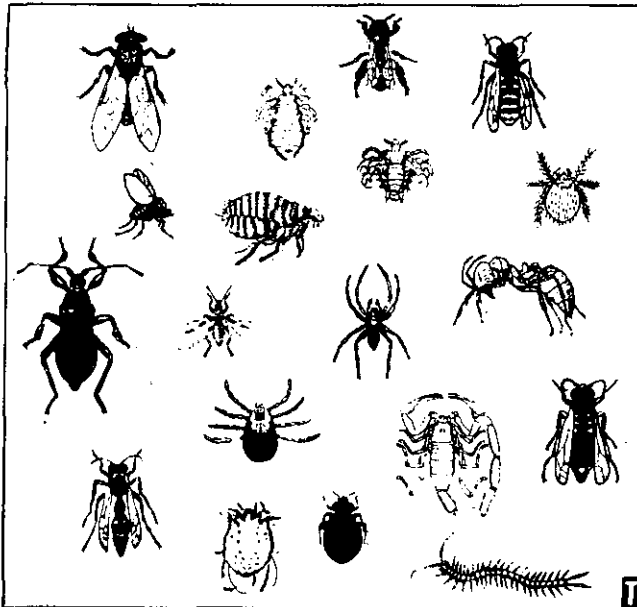

There are many days when cool weather will enable you to turn off the air conditioning, enjoy fresh air and save money—but only if you planned ahead by including screens in your purchase.

form, the new fabrics assure one thing: her workday will really be over when she leaves the floor because the new knits are so easy to care for!

TIPS TO HELP PROTECT YOUR HEALTH

AVOIDING INSECT STINGS

To most people, an insect sting is a painful experience, but one that's forgotten overnight. But for one person in a hundred the sting of an insect may be fatal. Here are a few tips on how to avoid and treat insect stings, provided by CIBA-GEIGY Corporation as a public service, in their booklet Insects That Sting.

1. Keep lawns free of clover and dandelions, which attract honeybees to the yard.

2. Avoid close contact with flowering trees and shrubs when bees and wasps are collecting nectar.

3. Honeybees are generally most aggressive on dark, overcast days, and in the early spring. Avoid working with flowering plants at these times if bees are present.

4. If a stinging insect lands on your body brush it away—don't slap it against you. Slapping the insect will trap it and cause it to sting. In most cases, if you stand still and stay quiet, the insect will fly away.

5. If you spot an insect nest, you may want to use a high-pressure aerosol spray against it. The aerosol should contain pyrethrin, an instant knockdown insecticide, and should shoot a high volume spray 10 to 15 feet.

6. Vines may conceal nests and should be removed from the house.

CIBA-GEIGY, a leading U.S. chemical company, creates and manufactures a wide variety of products that make life healthier and more pleasant, including pharmaceuticals, agricultural products, dyestuffs, pigments, plastics and additives and consumer products.

If you would like to obtain the booklet Insects That Sting, write to CIBA-GEIGY Corporation, c/o Corporate Relations Dept., Ardsley, N.Y. 10502.

NEWS OF FASHION

NURSES IN STYLE

What's your image of a good nurse?

Many people would probably say that she looks well scrubbed and efficient in crisp white clothes like this White Swan style.

But this image isn't necessarily true. Printed and pastel fabrics are showing signs of good fashion health among pediatrics nurses, dental hygienists and practical nurses. One reason is the ability of new polyester fabrics to stay bright after repeated washings and wearings.

For most hospital nurses, however, white is better than ever. White warp knit fabrics of Avlin polyester, just like all the new colored fabrics, can be washed by machine and dried in a flash, says Virginia Borland, fashion director of FMC Fibers.

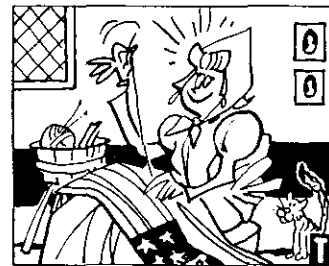

The new easy-care fabrics combine practicality with the prettiness of today's fashion look. Their softness is fashion-right and allows the nurse freedom to lift, bend and stretch without the restrictions of a starched uniform.

Whatever color or pattern a nurse chooses for her uni-

OUR FLAG

Historical Highlights

Betsy Ross Or Accident?

Many Americans still believe that Betsy Ross made the first flag, although historians dispute this story. Another disputed story, according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, is that the first Stars and Stripes displayed in the face of an armed enemy was at Fort Schuyler, August 3, 1777. The flag was improvised. The white part came from a soldier's shirt; a captain's cloak supplied the blue of the union; and the red stripes came from the flannel petticoat of a soldier's wife, who gladly donated it for the purpose.

Cotton Fact

Because cotton is a natural living fiber, it takes dyes and prints like no other textile, as shown here in the pretty poppies blossoming forth on pure fabric from the Schwartz-Liebman division of Cranston Print Works.
