WHAT'S THIS . . .

5.50%

interest in a passbook account?

Right. Our investment passbook account pays a nifty 5.50% interest compounded quarterly! And, if you leave the interest on deposit for a full year, it yields 5.61%.

Here's how it works: Make an initial deposit of $500. Leave the money in the account for at least one full calendar quarter. You can withdraw without penalty anytime during the first 10 days of each quarter. Or, you can get interest to day of withdrawal by giving us a 90 day notice of your intention to withdraw. You can add to your account at any time with deposits of $25.00 or more.

You can earn higher interest in our bank. All it takes is a little more planning on your part.

Remember. 5.50% interest in our investment passbook account. Or, to put it another way — a "nifty-five-fifty."

BETHLEHEM

Town maps legal moves to block Job Corps

If the U.S. Dept. of Labor decides to go ahead with plans to establish a Job Corps training center in the vacant Our Lady of Angels seminary in Glenmont, it will face almost certain court action brought by the town of Bethlehem and a citizens' group.

Town officials and concerned residents of the Hudson River communities along Rt. 144 have been awaiting word from Washington, expected this week or next, as to whether the Labor Dept. will go ahead with the project or abandon it in the face of stubborn and concerted local opposition. The decision was expected to come from U.S. Undersecretary of Labor William Kolberg, who has said repeatedly the Job Corps would not come into a community if it is not welcome.

Bethlehem Supervisor Harry H. Sheaffer said this week that if Kolberg decides to push ahead with the project, the town board would seek a federal court injunction to prevent the government move until an environmental impact study had been completed. A similar but separate action will be filed by a Glenmont neighborhood group.

Meanwhile several other developments underscored the community tension in the continuing controversy over the prospective tenants of the beautiful 240-acre riverfront seminary recently leased by the Vincentian Fathers to the Labor Dept. at an annual rental of $250,000. In separate actions last week:

- Glenmont citizens organized a public quest for signatures to add to the 1,000 already on petitions opposing the Job Corps move to the seminary, and distributed an informational questionnaire at two local shopping centers.

- A panel of priests and clergymen assembled by the Christian United Missions met for two hours in Delmar to discuss the Job Corps situation, but took no stand.

- Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, who last month abandoned his efforts to act as a mediator between the Labor Dept. and local citizens, got back in the act with a statement proposing a one-year trial run, but the suggestion was ignored by both sides.

- The Albany Knickerbocker News, the only area newspaper that has taken an editorial stand on the issue, for the second time ran an editorial opposing the citizens' stand and favoring the project.

Volunteers from the Glenmont neighborhood association formed to oppose the center, handed out a two-page information sheet in the form of a questionnaire at the Glenmont shopping plaza and at Delaware Plaza Friday and Saturday. The handout pointed to the Job Corps' high cost, poor record in achieving placement goals and program objectives, high dropout and AWOL rates, increase in crime statistics near Job Corps Centers, administrative laxity and a high ratio of counselors to trainees (1-91 at Fort Totten at Queens, 1-69 proposed for Glenmont).

The task force formed by CUM, an ecumenical group of clergymen headquartered at 40

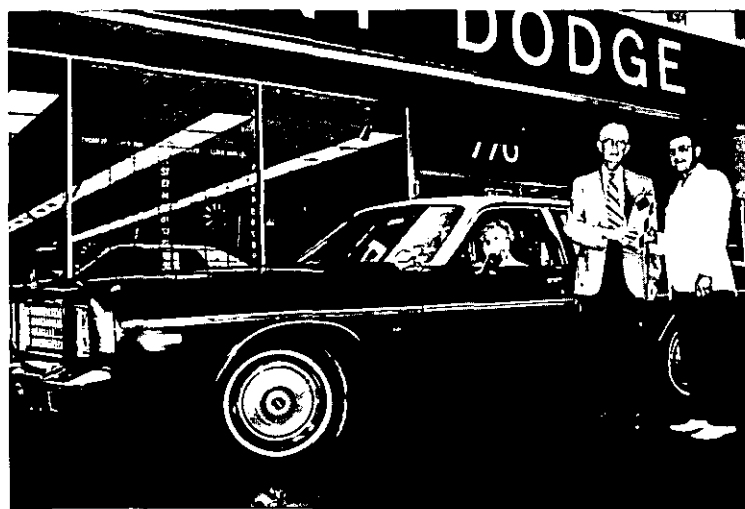

N. Main St., Albany, met Tuesday at St. Thomas Church. Rev. Leon Adkins of the First United Methodist Church of Delmar, co-chairman, said the group had "a deep concern" for both the town and the Job Corps, but until the decision is made in Washington, the clerics felt they did not have "the knowledge and background to make a statement." At the Stratton committee meeting in Delmar last month, two churchmen strongly criticized the stand of the Glenmont residents.

Stratton made the news briefly Wednesday when he repeated publicly the suggestion he had made privately to citizens and Labor Dept. representatives at a "mediation" meeting in Delmar Aug. 11. He said that at the end of a one-year trial period at the seminary, "if the Job Corps hasn't clearly demonstrated to all concerned that the worst fears of area residents have not materialized, then the Job Corps would cancel its lease and move out."

At the same time, the popular Amsterdam congressman conceded that "so far the Dept. of Labor has not taken kindly to my suggestion."

At Bethlehem town hall Sheaffer blasted Stratton for communicating with the press instead of town officials. "This is nothing but showboating," he said. "He hasn't offered the statement to us and if he had, it is probable the town wouldn't have taken kindly to it, either."

Town officials oppose the project because of its prospective impact on water and sewage systems and police facilities.

A bottle of champagne went with the new car purchased last month by Mr. and Mrs. G. Frank Ackerman, 91 Delmar Pl. James J. Morrell, right, president of Albany Dodge, made the presentation. The Ackermans bought the first car ever sold by Albany Dodge exactly 25 years ago, and christened the new 1976 Coronet four-door with an extended vacation trip.

ties. They have said they would "pursue every legal recourse" to block the establishment of the center here, and would insist on a full environmental impact study. The town board also received last week a letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Van Oostenbrugge, representing the Glenmont residents opposing the center, formally requesting such a study.

Orchestra seeks members

Delmar Community Orchestra has started regular Monday night rehearsals at the First United Methodist Church of Delmar and welcomes all area men and women wishing to join. Robert McGowan of Voorheesville will again conduct the orchestra. Dr. Clifford Casey is president. For information call 439-4263.

DELMAR

Parade highlights 'muster'

It has been 367 years to the day since Henry Hudson made camp near Van Wies Pt. Sept. 18, 1609. If the skipper of the Half Moon were to make a return visit this weekend he and his crew would find the town and its population of 24,000 jumping in celebration of several things, including the U.S. bicentennial.

Townpeople and an expected 2,000 visitors from nearby communities will be treated to a parade of 14 fife and drum corps from four states, a colorful reenactment of a 1776 "skirmish," a sizeable craft fair-antique show, all on Saturday, and commemorative church services Sunday.

The parade route from the Middle School on Kenwood Ave. and following Adams Pl. and Adams St. before turning south on Delaware Ave. opposite the town hall and continuing to the high school, is an appropriate one. Delmar was first named Adamsville in honor of its original settlers. Saturday, as the colorful marchers parade on Adams Pl., they will pass the door of a descendant of that original Adams family, Mrs. Jeanne Adams VanHoesen. The march will start at noon.

Among the corps participating will be the town's own 20-year-old Village Volunteer Fife and Drum Corps (first called the Village Fire Fifers). Also marching will be the widely traveled Old Guard Fife and Drum Corps, 3rd Infantry, part of the celebrated Army ceremonial unit. This corps is styled in exact replica of those of the Revolutionary Era. Not only are their uniforms authentic but the drill they use was set down by Baron Freidereck Wilhelm VonSteuben, Prussian General who trained Gen. Washington's soldiers. This impressive group is being transported to Delmar from its home base in Fort Myer, Va. through a contribution of Price Chopper discount foods.

At the BCHS playing fields beginning at 1:30, the participating corps will perform a Grand Musical Review in unison, there will be a skirmish between the Village Volunteer Militiamen and the Royal Welsh Fusiliers and 12 fife and drum corps will perform.

The craft fair and refreshment stand will be open at the school from 11 a.m. until 5 under the auspices of the Bethlehem Junior Woman's Club. Bethlehem Historical Society will have a display of some of its artifacts on the south side of the school along with their antique show and sale. Both local and out of town dealers will display from 11-5.

On Sunday area churches will hold bicentennial worship services. From 2-5:30 p.m. the community is invited to an open house at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, 85 Elm Ave. A number of local churches and religious organizations will exhibit historic artifacts and tennis coaches whose BCHS teams have dominated Suburban Council and Sectional competition for more than 15 years.

 Lisa Karam's formal education began Thursday in Slingerlands as Mrs. Cheryl Karam tied her name tag for the first day of kindergarten. Left, David Orvis, 6, who has never been on a bus because he lived next door to the school in Lake Orion, Mich., apprehensively awaits the Blue Bird that will take him to a strange new school. On the cover: John Burda begins a new career.

Walencik's first order of business comes today on the opening day of school when he puts out an intercom call for candidates for the girls' varsity. Under a new setup this year, Suburban Council schools will compete in girls' tennis in the fall and varsity tennis in the spring. The Bethlehem girls' team has been coached by Marcie Stafford, whose 1976 team was undefeated and who also has compiled a topheavy winning record at the Delaware Ave. facility.

At least one and perhaps two girls are expected to play on the BC varsity next spring. Last season Angie Schiavo, who will be a junior this year, played regularly on the school varsity.

"I haven't met anyone on the team yet and have no plans this early," the new coach said this week.

LaSalette observance

A commemorative observance for Our Lady of LaSalette will be held at the shrine in Altamont on Sunday. Rev. Joseph J. Horgan, director of the shrine and moderator of the LaSalette Seminary Aid Society, will conduct the mass at 3 p.m. Public is invited.

Methodist women resume

United Methodist Women of the First United Methodist Church of Delmar will open their fall activities Sunday with a meeting at 7 p.m. at Fellowship Hall in the church. Speaker will be Mrs. Alice Trost of Saratoga Springs, who will present "Glimpses of Africa" based on a recent trip. Devotions will be by Mrs. Vincent Gazetta. Mrs. Raymond Vanderlinde is president and Mrs. Philip Moore and Mrs. Edward Boutelle co-chairmen of the refreshment committee.

Business Women ready

Bethlehem Business Women's Club got a new season started Wednesday with the first meeting of the fall at 6:30 p.m. at Schrafft's, Glenmont. Mrs. Alice Porter gave a slide lecture on "An Armchair Tour of Bethlehem."

The club's main project is an annual award of two $350 scholarships to senior high school girls and a $100 bond to a girl commercial student. The club is open to women in business or the professions. Interested women should contact Mrs. Robert (Nellie) Evans, membership chairman, or Mrs. Dorothy Brown, president.

Builders to meet

A large contingent of Bethlehem and New Scotland members will attend the Albany Area Builders Assn. meeting next Wednesday at Thruway Hyatt House. Speaker will be State EnCon Commissioner A. A. Berle Jr. Reservations 785-0559.

VOORHEESVILLE 25th anniversary for 'super-sale'

More than 20 booths will offer everything from baked goods to clothing at the 25th annual auction-bazaar of the Voorheesville First United Methodist Church on Oct. 2, the closest thing to a "super garage sale" in the area.

Home furnishings and antiques will go on the auction block at 11 a.m. under the direction of James Dunn of Clarksville. There will be pony rides, movies and other attractions for youngsters of all ages. A snack bar and hamburger stand will be open until 3 p.m.

The evening will feature a Youth Fellowship dance. Leslie Bramhall, general chairman, says resaleable articles are needed for the auction-bazaar and points out that the revenue from such sales are used to support a number of community programs. The items may be left at the church on Maple Ave. up to the evening of Oct. 1. If pickup is needed, she asks donors to call 765-2895 or 765-4157.

Presbyterians win

There was excitement for everyone in the Church Softball League playoffs. Delmar Presbyterian scored six runs in the last of the seventh to edge Bethlehem Community Church, 9-8, for the championship. Bethlehem Community came from behind in extra innings to defeat the Cluster Churches, 7-4, in the semi-final while the Presbyterians were edging Delmar Methodist, 5-4.

Blackbird boot outlook brighter

"Optimistic" is the word used by Coach David Cady when referring to the upcoming soccer season at Voorheesville Central School. In his fourth year of coaching at the school, Cady has had an improvement in his record each season. Last year's squad compiled a 9-6 won-lost mark, and Cady sees his team as being contenders right to the end of the year in the Central Hudson Valley Conference.

Although losing some of his key defenders through graduation, he feels that Bill Tesh at fullback can anchor the defense well enough to get the job done. Two underclassmen, either Matt Childs, a sophomore or Jack Carmody, a junior, will step into the goal, while the front line sizes up as a strong unit with Mark Michael, Art Casey, Mike Gleason and Jeff Fisher. Senior captain Steve Burgoon will handle the midfield chores and will lead both the offensive and defensive strategy.

The Blackbirds will open their season against Heatley on Monday at the Voorheesville field.

atterns at Bethlehem Central High School and the safety aspects of traffic flow on Van Dyke Rd. between the Delaware Ave. intersection and two school parking lots off Van Dyke Rd. School officials feel the development will put unsafe pressure on school buses and cars of students and staff using the road and intersection during peak hours.

In the precarious procedure through the planning board over the last several months, the developer, Wolf Krahmer of Slingerlands, has changed the site configuration several times, and last week gave the board three alternative plans, all designed to minimize the impact on Van Dyke Rd. The planners eventually chose a configuration that calls for one access to Van Dyke Rd. instead of two, and includes a cul de sac.

The revisions did little to placate the school board. School Supt. Lawrence A. Zinn told the planners he felt the developers had "made a sincere effort to lessen the danger of additional traffic flow," but described the single accessway plan revisions as "the least dangerous plan."

Zinn, representing the school board, said the planning board should consider "total planning for the ultimate development" of the Van Dyke Rd. area while there is still time to provide for control of potential traffic hazards. "To approve one development before the total plan is known," he said, "could compound future problems."

Zinn and school officials again rejected planning board suggestions to consider providing a new access road on school property leading to Elm Ave. to alleviate rush-hour congestion. "There is no budget for that," he said.

Members of the planning board have been split in their views on the Apledoorn problem. When the motion came to a vote it passed by only 4-0. Alvin Greenwood and Warren Kullman abstained and William Mulholland was absent.

NEW SALEM

Church preservation auction is planned

New Salem Reformed Church and yard will be the scene of another flea market and auction this year, to be held Saturday, Sept. 25.

A similar event organized last year to raise funds for exterior face-lift of the old church was so successful the sponsors have made it an annual event. Proceeds from the 1975 occasion covered the cost of aluminum siding and painting some of the trim. This year's goal is to finish storm windows to reduce heating costs and protect stained glass windows from breakage.

Yvonne Reis is chairman of the event. For space reservations call her at 765-4188. Ed Reis is in charge of pickup and storage of auction items.

Out of gratitude for a most successful year, we are adding to your selection at —

BETHLEHEM

Subdivisions given board go-ahead

Bethlehem's planning board has given a preliminary green light to two residential subdivision applications. On a crowded agenda last week, the seven-member panel unanimously approved a request by Arthur L. Zautner & Son to change the plans for the undeveloped portion of Oakwood Estates in Delmar from five duplex dwellings to seven single-family houses, and granted preliminary approval to a 55-lot subdivision in Glenmont called Crossroads.

The original plans for Oakwood Estates, which are on Oakwood Rd. off Kenwood Ave. east of Four Corners, called for eight duplexes arranged around a cul-de-sac entering from Oakwood. Of the eight lots, duplex dwellings have been built on two, a third is large enough under Residential A zoning to accommodate a duplex, and the remaining five are undeveloped. The new proposal is to switch to single houses instead of two-family units to meet changing market conditions. There were no dissenting votes to the board motion.

The Crossroads action involves 55 lots of a proposed 133-lot subdivision planned for an unzoned tract south of Beacon Rd. and east of Wemple Rd. in Glenmont. The first section of the project calls for single-family houses.

Coincidentally, in a separate action, the planning board recommended the town board classify that tract and two adjacent unzoned tracts as a Residential Single-A zone. The plan as filed by the developers, Frank A. Tate Jr. and John Cerone Jr., would not be affected by the zoning ordinance if adopted, since the project's specifications comply with the requirements for that zone.

Glenmont zoning gap classified

Three parcels of land between Beacon Rd. and Meyers Corners in Glenmont have been approved for Residential Single-A zoning by the Bethlehem planning board. The tracts comprise one of the last remaining unzoned areas in the vicinity.

The Bethlehem town board is expected to set an early date for a public hearing on the planning board recommendation. The three parcels lie roughly north of Beacon Rd. east of Wemple Rd., the entire area between Beacon and Wemple, and the tract south of Wemple Rd. adjacent to the Dowerskill Village development. Excepted from the recommendation is an 800-foot-wide strip of land on the west side of Rt. 9W between Wemple Rd. and the Dowerskill Village property. The strip is zoned for commercial development.

Blood pressure clinics resume

Free blood pressure clinics, a monthly service sponsored by the town of Bethlehem and the American Heart Assn., will resume Tuesday at the Adams Street Coffeehouse in Delmar. They will be held on the third Tuesday of each month from 11 a.m., 1-3 and 7-9 p.m.

Town Councilman Ruth Bickel said that more than 20 volunteers helped staff the clinics since they started last November. In the eight clinics held last year approximately 1,800 blood pressures were taken involving approximately 100 residents.

A clinic will be held in the Elkirk area next month in addition to the regular October clinics, Mrs. Bickel said.

Ritchko sees BC attack stronger

Bethlehem Central football may be another year away from regaining the kingpin position in the Suburban Council, but Coach Art Ritchko predicts the opposition is in for a real old-fashioned cat-fight every Saturday in 1976.

The dean of Council tutors, starting his 19th campaign in the suburban conference, counts on the speed, guile and strong arm of quarterback Randy Grenier to give the Eagles a consistent scoring punch this year. "Randy runs the option type of football very well," summarized Ritchko, "and his throwing is improving all the time."

On the other end of Grenier's spirals will be receivers Ed

Rohrbacker, tight end, John Russum, split end, and John Treadgold, a pint-sized junior split end at 5-8 and 135 pounds who Ritchko says is "coming along fine." The other two are holdovers from last year's 4-5 team, only the second losing combo in Ritchko's Bethlehem tenure.

There should be more balance in the attack, too, with returning lettermen Scott Boice and Mickey Farrell, both juniors, as running backs. The coaches are bringing along Mike DeAngelis, a 200-pound sophomore, to give the attack some heft. He probably will alternate at fullback with junior Mike Tagliarani. Another backfield prospect is Greg Manion.

Larry Doyle, a 6-3, 220-pound senior, and junior Andy Beers anchor the offensive line.

Two brothers, Brian and Bruce Bourque, look good in the front wall, along with Tom Cullen, Layne McMillen and Steve Herzog.

The defense is untested. Chris Reagan, outside linebacker, was hurt early in the year last season. Beers and Tagliarani will be the middle linebackers with John Cannizzaro and Don Marr alternating in the fourth spot. Dole, McMillen, Bruce Bourque and Herzog will be the front four, with Manion, Gary Fish and Mickey Farrell in the deep secondary.

Ritchko is spending this week ironing out the chinks exposed in last Saturday's scrimmage at CBA. From now on everything counts, starting with the opener this Saturday at Niskayuna, perennially one of the toughest on the schedule.

Tennis balls are flying all over the place: new pro at Southwood, blue courts at Capitaland, high-grade tennis watching at Schenectady, new leagues at Tri-City, new coach at BCHS, a king-sized tournament in Guilderland and our own Bethlehem finals coming up.

Too much to go into details and color, but there are highlights worth some lines, such as:

Two and possibly three players with national rankings will be joining a bevy of hotshots with Eastern rankings in the $1,000 prize-money Fox & Murphy Invitational tournament this weekend at Schenectady Racquet Club. Star of the show is 15-year-old Carolyn Stoll of Livingston, N.J., one of the top 10 in the U.S. in her age group. This diminutive pixie with the whirring top spin won last weekend's ETA sanctioned Tri-County title at Ridgefield without a close set a week after taking a love set from the celebrated Dr. Rene Richards. Carolyn is worth a trip to the Curry Rd. enclosure off Thruway Exit 25 Saturday or Sunday, and if her double partner Betty Newfield of Jackson Heights comes too, it becomes an absolute must. Betty and Carolyn are ranked in the top 10 in the U.S. in girls' 16 doubles. I remember seeing Betty at age 11 and 76 pounds hit a backhand down the left sideline at Central Park three years ago that took the racquet out of the hand of Sue Allen, a 25-year-old gym teacher.

The talented Butch Seewagen, who will rank No. 1 or 2 in the East this year, will also be back and will play the mixed with his smooth sister, Bobbie Steger of Elsmere. If he goes in the singles (he has a slight injury) he may encounter Adrian Clarke en route. Clarke is the 19-year-old power-pack from Manhattan who last spring so impressed Seewagen in a Schenectady

Those blue courts are the ight new ones Frank Romeo s opening this week in his big shed on Rt. 155 in the Pine Bush. The color, he says, has proven (allegedly scientifically) 15 percent brighter than the more conventional green, making the fuzzy yellow spheroid easier to see as well as raising all kinds of hob with ladies' tennis fashions — green dresses, that is.

Frank pulled off a master coup when he persuaded Channel Ten to go in on an inaugural tournament for intermediate players. Since intermediates comprise 94.2 percent of the tennis-playing population of this planet, it should not be a surprise that the men's singles attracted 178 entries, the women's singles 48 and the mixed doubles 49. All of which makes this brouhaha about twice as large as any tennis tournament ever perpetrated within 100

It also made the intrepid Mike Hendricks, Capitaland's pro and now tourney director, the busiest citizen around. Mike, confronted with the staggering entry list and a delay in getting the new courts laid down, has decreed that all matches will be no-ad, which is to say that the first player to score four points wins that game. At 6-all there's a nine-point tiebreaker.

Mike hopes to finish up this weekend but with the crowded draw it may be January.

Not so in Delmar, where Tony Fusco is guiding 12 separate tournaments to the trophy level this weekend in the annual Bethlehem Open at the middle school.

Susan Lemieux bride

Susan Marie Lemieux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doris J. Lemieux, 127 Marlboro Rd., Delmar, and Martin A. Richter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Richter, Center Moriches, L.I., exchanged marriage vows July 31 in the chapel of Holy Names. Rev. Edward Sipperly officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Judy Lougheed of Elba, maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Christine Sheaffer and

Mrs. Martin A. Richter

Judy Lemieux, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Carol Callender. Chris Richter of Center Moriches was best man for his brother. James Huey, Mike Huey and Joseph Carrado served as ushers. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Heavenly Inn.

The bride attended Bethlehem schools and graduated from Shenendehowa High School and the State University of New York at Cortland. The bridegroom graduated from Center Moriches High School and the State University of New York at Cortland.

The couple are at home in Center Moriches.

SPOTLIGHT on community corner

Muster Weekend

... is one of the year's highlights in Bethlehem, a "must" for all ages. What is more American than a parade? (Be on the line of March by noon Saturday.)

Have you ever seen a colonial skirmish? (Be at the high school field at 1:30.)

Muster weekend, closing the year-long Bicentennial observance in Bethlehem, is sponsored by the Village Volunteers Fife & Drum Corps. It's a community-wide occasion, coming to a solemn close with commemorative services in four churches Sunday and an Open House from 2-5 at Bethlehem Lutheran Church.

The Community Corner congratulates the Village Volunteers committee and everyone who has worked so hard to make this a truly memorable occasion.

Community Corner, a public service column of important community events, is sponsored by
