TO THE CITIZENS OF THE TOWN OF NEW SCOTLAND:

We proudly present these candidates for your action on Election Day. Incumbents are indicated by a star next to their photographs. More information on each candidate may be obtained from The Town of New Scotland Republican Committee.

★ Stephen P. Wallace for SUPERVISOR

Three terms as Supervisor and a total of 20 years of service to the Town of New Scotland qualify Steve to continue at the helm of Town government. His abilities and judgment have led important outside agencies to seek him out, such as the Capital District Regional Planning Commission, where he acts as one of the commissioners; the Albany County Planning Board, of which he is a member, and the Health Systems Agency of Northeastern New York, where he is a director.

Kenneth J. Connolly for TOWN JUSTICE

Since August, we have had a distinguished member of the bar acting as a Town of New Scotland justice. Consider why he was selected: 10 years as Principal Attorney in the Attorney General's office; now engaged in private practice in Albany; not only a degree from a prestigious New York State law school but a degree in business administration as well; a former president of the Salem Hills Association and a trustee of the Village of Voorheesville.

Keeping Ken Connolly in the post of Town Justice makes good sense. Please vote for him.

★ Wyman Osterhout for COUNCILMAN

Last September 29th, Wyman Osterhout was chosen Citizen of the Year by the Town of New Scotland. Among the civic services that won him this honor were being a charter member of the New Salem Fire Department, eight years as president of the Voorheesville School Board and the last two years as our councilman. Certainly, his recognition as Citizen of the Year, plus his service on the Council, make him again the logical choice in 1979.

★ Corinne Cossac for TOWN CLERK

The Town Hall is where the action is! Supervisor Steve Wallace has kept the machinery of government running smoothly largely because he depends heavily on his efficient office force, headed by Town Clerk Corinne Cossac. A native of Voorheesville, Corinne is widely known for her social and civic contributions as well as for the magnificent job she does for the Town. She has earned her third term in office.

William J. Wenzel for COUNCILMAN

The outstanding Mayor of the Village of Voorheesville for the past 10 years now wishes to extend his services to the entire Town. He is vice president of our biggest industry (the Walter Motor Truck Company) and brings a great deal of expertise to the post he seeks. Vote him in!

★ Edita Probst for TAX COLLECTOR

With one successful term behind her, Edie Probst is asking that you return her to the position she has been filling so capably. Voting for her should be your stamp of approval. She has many personal friends throughout the Town and is a member of a large number of organizations. But she also needs you to agree that she has been doing a difficult job in a very efficient manner!

★ Peter W. Van Zetten for SUPERINTENDENT OF HIGHWAYS

Remember the 15 inches of snow that crippled the Town last Christmas? From 4:30 that morning till 9 in the evening, our entire road crew, with Pete directing them, battled the drifts. And there were many additional storms that this team got us through by their dedication. The weekly trash pickup is another vital service that Pete and his boys perform so efficiently. But Pete's most obvious contribution to the well-being of the Town of New Scotland is the "motopaving" of five more miles of our roads, for a total of more than half our mileage. Pete introduced this speedy, efficient method.

How can you say "Thanks, Pete"? Vote him back in as our Superintendent of Highways.

★ Michael A. Ricci for COUNTY LEGISLATOR

In the County Legislature, Mike Ricci has been an incisive voice for the minority in the past 12 years. One of many instances was his successful opposition to the widening of Route 85, which would have hurt the character of our Town. But there are many other occasions on the record that show how Mike has been fighting for the best interests of the Town of New Scotland.

Centrally located, day and night, in the heart of Voorheesville, Mike Ricci is at all times available to his constituents. Prove "I Like Mike" by returning him to the County Legislature on Election Day.

POLITICS

Campaign windup: a chance for some upsets

This weekend is the home stretch for footsore candidates in the 1979 local election drives, the time when frontrunners start getting nervous and underdogs get more hopeful.

In Bethlehem and New Scotland, two of only four towns where Republicans cling to control of local government among the 10 town halls in Albany County, GOP candidates are doing the nail-biting while Democrats are crossing their fingers.

With bona-fide issues scarce, most of the races have become a contest in personal popularity of opposing candidates.

In Bethlehem, where voters have yet to elect a Democratic candidate dating back to the town's first charter, a young Delmar attorney is given an outside chance of making history by achieving the first breakthrough. He is Michael Breslin, running for town justice against another popular Delmar attorney, Peter Wenger.

A strong Republican edge in party enrollment is expected to sweep the other GOP candidates into office, most of them incumbents, despite a steady gain in Democratic registrations attributed to young couples and voters moving into the suburbs from Albany and other cities.

Political observers see John Terence Mitchell, also a Delmar attorney, as having an outside chance of defeating Sue Ann Ritchko in the contest for Albany County legislator from the 34th District in Bethlehem, but a tireless doorbell-ringing campaign by Ritchko may be saving the seat now occupied by Earl Robinson, who is retiring, for the GOP. Republicans are outnumbered in the county lawmaking body, 49-11, with three of the 11 and part of a fourth centered in Bethlehem and another in New Scotland.

Most of the local excitement is centered on New Scotland, where a long-entrenched Republican administration is under pressure from an ambitious Democratic ticket. Supervisor Steve Wallace appears in no danger, but the complexion of the four-member town board could change.

J. W. Campbell

With four candidates running for two seats, the Republicans must elect at least one to protect their slender margin. They are pinning their faith on Wyman Osterhout, a 12-year veteran of the town council, and William J. Wenzel, Voorheesville's popular mayor, a proven vote-getter. Kenneth Tice, seeking a second term as councilman, is expected to lead the Democratic ticket.

Candidates in both towns have had difficulty making capital on issues, which has reduced the races to contests of personalities and party enrollments. Bethlehem Democrats, experimenting with several issues like water and the Chief Fish controversy, have concentrated on pushing for a youth bureau.

In New Scotland the issues are even more scarce. Sharon Boehlke, running with Tice for the town council, brought up the only two on the Democratic side. She contends that Wenzel changed his mind about holding seats on both the town board and the village board, and that the supervisor fails to circulate monthly financial reports to board members.

New Scotland Republicans have countered by pointing to their record in office, primarily keeping taxes to a minimum. GOP leaders also have cautioned their constituents about what they term "the risk of letting our town hall fall into the power of the (Erastus) Corning Albany County Democratic machine."

The following summary of local candidates has been compiled by the Albany League of Women Voters as a public service.

Town Supervisor

Thomas Corrigan, Rep.-Cons.

Address: 7 Village Dr., Delmar

Occupation: Supervisor, Town of Bethlehem.

Education: Christian Brothers Academy; Evening Division, Siena and College of St. Rose.

Experience: Retired as New York Telephone Co. district manager, with 25 years management training and experience; sewer district commissioner, three years; councilman, 11 years; town supervisor, 2 years.

Question: What will be your primary objective during your term of office?

Answer: I feel government's primary responsibility is to hold expenses to a minimum while maintaining reasonable services. Each new program must be examined on a cost-effective basis.

Town ponders youth funding

Bethlehem town board members are trying to decide whether to make a cash contribution to Albany's Big Brothers and Big Sisters program, and if so, how much.

James Snyder, agency director for the program, made a strong pitch to the board at last week's regular meeting. Any funds given by the town will be matched by the state through the Division of Youth.

The program addresses the needs of children of one-parent households.

Noting that delinquency is six times higher in children from single-parent homes than from two-parent surroundings, Snyder stressed the need for the program for Bethlehem single parents.

"The funds we presently get from Albany cannot help Bethlehem. In order to expand services to this area, we must be funded by the town," Snyder said.

Snyder proposed working with the local high school in obtaining volunteers. He hopes to utilize high school seniors, since he feels both parties involved—the seniors and the children—will spark a positive learning and sharing experience.

Although volunteers are not asked to become parental surrogates, the program can prepare one for parenthood by experiencing and handling the problems and the multifaceted aspects of growing up. Snyder explained.

"Above all, our volunteers are guiding friends to these children, not parent substitutes," said Snyder.

At one point, Joe Feller, Democratic candidate for councilman, asked Snyder what the funds would specifically be used for.

Snyder said that the majority of the money goes to help formulate, train and pay a professional staff, trained to evaluate children and help screen potential volunteers. High school seniors interested in becoming a Big Brother or Sister must obtain three personal references relating to character and responsibility.

New Scotland Town Republicans outspending each other with our money!

Did you know that the Republican Town Clerk overspent her budget

in 1977 by $ 999.87*

in 1978 by $1059.99*

and they decry a Justice of the Peace's legitimate expenditures?

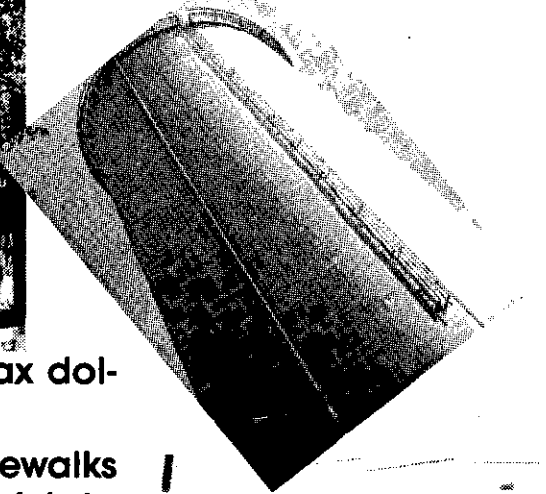

The current Republican administration paid part time summer help in our town park, an hourly wage of $7.52 in 1978 while full time highway laborers received an hourly wage of only $4.06 in 1978.

Is this the kind of fiscal management you want? Of course not. It's time for a change.

*Based on figures provided by the N.Y. State Dept. of Audit and Control annual reports for 1977 & 1978. 1979 figures will not be available until March 1979.

- How many more wasted tax dollars will we tolerate?
- What about the lack of sidewalks so that our kids can walk safely to high school?
- What happened to the 1976 proposed Youth Bureau?
- What about a viable two-party system?
- Don't we need stricter commercial zoning? And a contemporary Town development plan?
- What about a transportation program for our retired residents?
- What about our future water needs?

Ground broken for new bank

A ceremonial ground-breaking Friday under blustery skies officially launched one of Bethlehem's major business projects, a new bank building for the Elsmere office of the City and County Savings Bank.

The new building, which marks the latest and largest in a series of expansion programs for the local branch, is designed as an energy-efficient structure. It is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1980.

Edward S. Berry, president of the Albany-based bank and a Delmar resident, officiated at the ground-breaking ceremony and also tried his hand at the controls of a grading machine at the site. Others on hand were Bethlehem Supervisor Tom Corrigan, Steven Einhorn of Einhorn, Yaffee, Prescott, PC, architects; M.J. Szomjassy, executive vice president, Bel-tone Construction Co., Inc.; J. Delaine Jones of the New York State energy office; W. Gordon Morris, president of the Bethlehem chamber of commerce, and Joseph E. Kiel, assistant vice president of City and County Savings Bank and manager of the Bethlehem office.

The move to new quarters adjacent to the present site will provide the Bethlehem branch with more efficient facilities as well as energy efficiency, a bank spokesman said. The building has been designed with special attention to energy conservation. A passive solar energy system will provide a large part of the building's energy needs, and in turn, will reduce traditional operating costs as compared to a conventional design. Additional energy conserving aspects are minimum wall and glass exposure to the north, east, and west, landscaping arranged to deflect the wind, a sheltered entry, and heavy insulation around the entire building exterior.

"The customer lobby area will be larger, and an increased number of safe deposit boxes will be made available. The branch will also have more convenient parking and drive-up facilities," Berry stated.

Originally opened in April, 1961, the Bethlehem office now serves more than 14,000 depositors with total deposits of $70 million.

In Glenmont, The Spotlight is sold at the 5-A Superette, Heath's Dairy and Van Allen Farms.

Shop Talk

by Judi James

If you are young and trying to furnish a new home... if you are "older" and moving to an apartment... if you are interested in good things... and good buys... read on!

We read recently that today's citizens in their 20s and 30s are just as interested in having leisure time and enjoying their jobs as they are with earning money. In fact, they put the priorities in that order. It was somewhat that way when the Johnsons opened Lou and Bill's Exchange in the mini-mall behind Delaware Shopping Plaza. He had been in construction work, she had been a waitress.

"I didn't know beans about antiques," Bill told us, "but, believe me, I'm learning!" Lou nodded in agreement and added, "And, we're having fun doing it, too. But... we don't just deal in antiques, we really are a furniture exchange. People who are dismantling homes telephone us and we buy the furnishings they want to shed. We have a warehouse. Then... young marrieds, looking for their first furniture, come in here and see what's on the floor. If they don't find what they want... we take them to the warehouse."

"You'd be surprised at the bargains," said Bill. "We put a small mark-up on things and they move!"

For instance: they have, right now, a marvelous buy on a davenport in practically new condition, it's barely over $100! There's a good coffee table for about $70. They have some small area rugs starting at $10 and they have some very fine orientals valued in the thousands. There are fine choices in dishes and silver, and we poked around a bit in that department, rather marveling at the low cost of some of the things. A pair of silver candlesticks which are low and could use a hurricane lamp... priced at $8... a handsome gravy ladle at $6. Why these prices?

"This generation doesn't like to polish silver," Bill said in his chatty way. "That stuff's mostly silver-plate and it isn't moving!"

I saw enough table silver there to adequately get a young couple started. There were two oil paintings with deep gold frames priced at $75 a pair. Tiffany shades, crystal punch bowls, lamps, hat racks... you name it, they have it.

There have been many interesting and somewhat humor-

Bethlehem Town Council

FISCAL ACCOUNTABILITY DEMANDS TWO PARTY GOVERNMENT

- Why has the Town Budget increased over 200% in less than 10 years?
- Why is the Town Board actively considering the purchase of a piece of landlocked property at a cost of $60,000 simply to facilitate a sale of adjoining land?
- Why do Bethlehem residents pay more for interest on bonds than for police protection?

ous incidents for this young couple, who exude joy in their work. "If I have something priced too low, I can usually tell by the smile on the customer's face," Bill said. He noted that often people will tell him that he hasn't priced correctly. "But . . . I'm learning."

He told us that one day he had a new item on the floor, a love seat. When the store opened a woman came in and really wanted that piece of furniture . . . but, she said she would let him know by noon. Half an hour later a man came in and insisted on having it. "No, I have to wait until noon as I promised," Bill told him. He picked up the phone to call the first woman and just at that moment a third woman came in. "Oh, I just love that love seat," she told Bill, "I'll take it." Explaining that he was about to call the woman he had first promised it to, and that the man there also wanted it, Bill completed his call. The first party wanted it. The second party was crestfallen. The third party, the woman who arrived last, literally beamed. She was glad that the man didn't get it!"

The chuckles that followed that sequence kept them going that day. Their philosophy is to mark up at a low profit and to turn things over fast. They have fun doing it. I was especially convinced of this when I walked out the door and noticed the front window. They have there a Hallowe'en scene typical of their trade: an old haunted house (it lights up and has ghosts hanging out the window!), some ceramic figures . . . little people and pumpkins. "I had to do this window this way," Lou told us. "It's such fun."

You'll have fun just talking with these entrepreneurs!

Walter C. Laut, center, was installed as president of the Kiwanis Club of Delmar at a recent meeting at LaCasa Restaurant, Selkirk. Other officers are, on left, C.V. Waggoner, secretary; C.A. ### Puppets focus on handicapped

All third-graders in the Bethlehem School District will see a puppet presentation called "Meet the Kids on the Block" in their schools next week. The presentation is designed to teach children what it is like to be handicapped and to stimulate discussion of disabilities.

The puppet show has been made available to schools by the State Office of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities. It was developed two years ago by Barbara Aiello, a special education teacher, and she has shown and described its purpose on the "Good Morning, America" television program.

Two Bethlehem staff members, a third grade teacher and a special education teacher, previewed the puppet presentation and recommended it for Bethlehem pupils. Since mainstreaming of handicapped children into regular classrooms is now common, this effort is being made to help non-handicapped children understand, adjust to, and welcome those who have handicaps.

Legion dinner set

The Voorheesville American Legion Post will hold Recognition Day for their 1978-79 officers at the post on Nov. 3. The roast beef dinner will be preceded by cocktails at 6:30. Following the program there will be music by George Donaldson, "The Metropolitans." For tickets, call 765-9387.

Coins are heisted

Bethlehem police have issued a teletype description of a black male and female 25-30 years old who stole $37.50 in rolled coins from the Scott's Hallmark store at the Town Squire shopping center in Glenmont at 2:45 p.m. Friday. Police said the man took a bank deposit bag containing the coins while his female companion occupied the clerk.

DELMAR Business is sold at Four Corners

"Changing things around in here, eh?" Regular customers of Delmar Wines and Liquors at Delmar Four Corners are quick to notice even small changes that have taken place since Bill Turner of Altamont took over late in October.

"Yeah," Turner smiles. "We're fixing things up." Behind the small cash register he plans to replace are cases of wines he has yet to inventory, new racks are on order, and he plans to repaint much of the small shop. But the work that lies ahead doesn't bother him.

The Vietnam veteran, who was discharged from the U.S. Navy in 1973, worked with Executone of Albany for three years before starting his own telephone sub-contracting firm, Turner Communications. But, when inflation made trucks increasingly expensive to run and his health began to suffer, Turner's thoughts returned to the retailing training he received at Hudson Valley Community College before he was drafted. Quietly, he and his wife, Nancy, began casting about for a business close to Altamont that they could buy.

When Damien (Tom) Schnurr, former owner, died, he left the store to his daughter, Lois Ribley of Loudonville, and her husband. They tried to keep it going, but both had full-time jobs, she with the state and he with Gulf Oil, and they were increasingly eager to sell.

Now, Bill and Nancy Turner are working together in the store. Mrs. Turner, a graduate of Albany Business College, takes care of the books and business management, although she may relinquish that duty soon. A baby is due at Christmas.

Bill is hoping to double the volume of wine sales in the store. He sees that as the biggest source of revenue in a town like Delmar. He plans to attend a few wine courses at State University of New York at Albany before stocking his shelves, however.

Whatever might lie ahead for the Turners, they have managed to hold onto their home in the Helderbergs. Far from minding the 20-minute drive, Bill sighed. "We live on top of a mountain, almost as high as Thacher Park, with glass all around. It's really beautiful." And having a place like that to come home to has to make working just a little bit easier.

Blackbirds hoping to salvage pride

This has been a strange season for Coach Tom Buckley's Voorheesville High School football team. They have yet to play a really bad game, but their record is 2-5. It's a familiar story, a bad break here, a turnover there, and a good break here could just as well stand the Blackbirds at 5-2.

Back in the friendly shadow of the Helderbergs last Saturday after some bumpy times on the road, the Blackbirds lost to Chatham, 20-12. The win kept Chatham in second place in the Southern Conference at 4-1, tied with Rensselaer one game behind Hudson. Voorheesville has a Nov. 10 date with Rensselaer at home, which will give the Blackbirds a great opportunity to salvage their pride.

"We played another good game," said the irrepressible Buckley. "We were in it and we could have won it. Chatham is a real good team, and two of their kids put on a super effort against us."

He was referring to Rusty Gauthier, who ran for two touchdowns and took a pass for the other, and Todd Neven, who hit on 10 of 18 in the air. Gauthier's TD catch was an eye-ful.

The Blackbirds scored first on an option in the second period. Greg Picard turned inside to the right, got a jarring block from Steve Preston, and went 42 yards untouched.

Gauthier's incredible catch came in the third period with the Blackbirds down only by 14-6. The last score came when Voorheesville put together a fine 75-yard drive featured by a 20-yard reception by Steve Stow and a 32-yard sprint by Jim Becker on a pitchout from a fullback fake. Becker was caught on the 1-yard line, and Sean O'Connor bulled into the end zone.

Senior Mark Crisafulli, playing offense for the first time, had a good game at slot back, carrying the ball and catching several passes. John Kiernozek was a stalwart in the front trenches, and Harris Crawford and Preston were strong in the linebacking department.

This week the Blackbirds play at Coxsackie, with Don Kinisky out for the season with an ankle injury and Joe Traudt doubtful. Crawford got a few bumps from Chatham, but should be ready for duty.

Eagles set for spoilers role

Buoyed by their first offensive touchdown of the Suburban Council season, Bethlehem Central's football forces are primed for the spoiler's role in their windup game a week from Saturday.

On that date Shaker comes to Van Dyke Rd. with a shot at the conference title. But first BC has some non-league combat with Ravena this Saturday looking for victory No. 2 against a team that has a similar 1-6 record.

The Eagles got a tremendous lift from the Guilderland game last week, yielding to the powerful Dutchmen by a slim 12-7 margin. Guilderland, a physical giant of a team, had their hands full with the eager Eagles in a well-played, hard-hitting match.

"We dominated for three quarters," observed assistant coach Terry Ulion. "Our kids knew they had to play football and they did. Guilderland came at us and just wore us down."

Bethlehem lost its best ball carrier when Mike Lawrence was hurt in the third period. Guilderland got the winning TD through the defensive position he has played so well all year.

The big moment came when Jay Lovelace connected with Bill McHugh on a 35-yard touchdown play in the second period. The Eagles had been making yards on the outside with Lovelace on the option. On the picture play, McHugh went across the middle, split the defense as he took the throw and scored without a hand laid on him. Butch Waidelech kicked the point for a 7-0 lead at the half.

Except for the late stages when the boys got weary, Bethlehem shut down Guilderland's offense. The Dutchmen had only one drive in the first half, reaching the BC 9, but the Eagles threw them back and launched an 85-yard drive of their own.

"We rattled their cages a little," Ulion said. "We played a very good game."

Mark Dean (12) takes to the air as he challenges the Colonie goalie in Saturday's Suburban Council soccer action in Delmar.

SOCCKER BC awaits word on tourney draw

Bethlehem Central's in-and-out soccer varsity, winding up their regular season today (Thursday) at Burnt Hills, were waiting for a Sectional tournament assignment. As the week began, the Eagles were 10-5-1, good for third place in the Suburban Council, with two games remaining. They have a 2 p.m. date Saturday in the Sectionals, but up to presstime they didn't know whom they were to play or where.

The tournament committee was scheduled to meet tonight (Thursday) to make the pairings, and Coach Dale Walts was hoping BC's record "gives us a chance for a home site."

Regardless of whether the first tourney test is in Delmar or elsewhere, Walts is confident. "We feel we have a good chance," he said over the weekend. "I don't feel we've played our best soccer yet. We've got to get more scoring from some of the other players because teams are collapsing three and four men on Mark Dean. We have to show we have other guys who can score, too."

Dean went into the final week leading the league in scoring with 14 goals. He was shut out last week as the Eagles lost to Columbia, 2-0, on the road but came home to whip Colonie, 3-1.

At East Greenbush, Bethlehem outshot Columbia, 36-14, had nine corner kicks to the enemy's three, and had only seven saves to 18 for the Columbia keeper.

Things went a lot better Saturday when Danny Whitney dented the twine with the game only 1:11 old on a rebound from a corner kick. At 4:14 of the third, Wayne Allen took a 25-yard shot that squirted through the goalie's legs, and with 6:30 left, Mike Fasulo came up from the fullback slot on a corner kick and drilled a 30-yard bullet low and hard into the cords. It was only the 11th goal Colonie has allowed all season, six of them by Bethlehem.

The Eagles had a late scare after Mike Blabooer netted a direct kick for 3-1 and two minutes later launched a penalty kick that hit the crossbar. When the rebound came back to him, he booted it home, but the goal was nullified by the rule that says a penalty kicker cannot play the ball before it has been touched by another player.

Last year Bethlehem played its best soccer in the Sectionals, upsetting Guilderland in sudden death and losing to champion Burnt Hills, 1-0, in sudden death. Those two teams continue to be the powers; with two games left, Guilderland was 14-1-1 and Burnt Hills 12-3-1.

Paper drive set

Here's a chance to get rid of those old newspapers—and help a worthy cause. There will be a dumpster in the lower parking lot at the Bethlehem Middle School, Delmar, where people may deposit newspapers the weekend of Nov. 16-18. Only newspapers, not magazines, catalogs, or telephone books, are acceptable. A group of Middle School pupils is sponsoring the fund-raising activity. The proceeds will be used to help finance field trips.

SWIMMING

BC girls cling to third place

Three outstanding swimmers and a Sectional diving champion are keeping the Bethlehem Central girls' swimming team in third place in the Adirondack League behind Glens Falls and Shenendehowa.

Sophomores Andrea Orietas in the freestyle, Sarah Van-Hoeven in the breaststroke and Donna Schulz, an all-around performer, each have turned in record-breaking performances in their specialties, and Jessica Follett is undefeated in two seasons on the team.

But Bethlehem, under the guidance of first-year coach Bonnie Gillham, lacks depth on the 15-member squad. Coach Gillham feels that the school can't have a top team unless the sport is practiced all year. She states that the better swimmers such as Laura Briggs, Schulz and Orietas are members of Delmar Dolphins or other swim clubs. She added that a longer season would be profitable to the members.

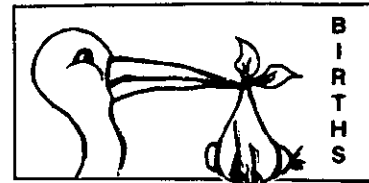

Practices are held every day after school from 3 to 5:30. During this time, the swimmers complete two to four miles to increase their endurance. Practices also are held at 8 Saturday mornings.

TENNIS

BC girl takes Sectional title

Somebody forgot to tell Delmar's Ann Weber that seeded tennis players aren't supposed to last more than a couple of rounds in the big tournaments. More likely, somebody forgot to tell the committee setting up the Section 2 individual championship tournament that this steady-stroking Bethlehem Central sophomore had only lost one match all season while playing No. 3 singles for the BC girls' varsity.

Bethlehem's two top-ranked players, Molly Treadway and Debbi DiClementi, got automatic placings while less respected players had to play a preliminary round to qualify. But it was Weber, methodically outplaying opponents from Linton, Glens Falls and other schools, who found herself meeting the No. 1 seed, Saroja Preamsager of Scotia, in the quarterfinals at Central Park, Schenectady with darkness coming on.

Weber took the first set, 6-3, and was leading, 4-3, in the second when the match was interrupted by nightfall. The next day, Ann finished off the favorite in two straight games. Then she outlasted the fourth seed, Eileen Hughes of Burnt Hills, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, in the semifinals, and took Chris Nee of Johnstown, seeded third, 6-4, 6-3 for the championship.

That achievement earned Weber a trip to Syracuse for the intersectionals this weekend, along with two other Bethlehem 10th graders, Kathy Bragaw and Judy VanWoert, who were runners-up in the Sectional doubles shootout. Kathy and Judy, who play the fourth and fifth singles on Coach Tom Walencik's team, reached the Sectional finals but lost to Val Vullo and Sue Johnson of Burnt Hills, 1-6, 6-4, 6-1. Another Bethlehem team, Beth Netter and Randi Frank, reached the semis but lost to Bragaw-VanWoert in three sets and then succumbed to a

Ann Weber

Hudson team in the playoff for the third spot in Syracuse. Section 2 is sending three singles players and three doubles teams to the state eliminations.

Ann Weber's feat of six straight wins in the Sectional tournament gave her a record of 21-1 for the fall interscholastic season. Her only loss was to Saroja Preamsager, the Scotia eighth grader considered the area's top tennis prospect, in the Suburban Council championships three weeks ago, and she avenged that in the Sectionals.

Retiring from school

Mrs. Ruth Trobridge, who is retiring from her post as secretary to the principal at Bethlehem Central High School after 18 years, was recently featured in a half-page article in the NYEA Advocate, publication of the New York Education Assn., one of the state's two teachers' unions.

Mrs. Trobridge is a founding member of the Bethlehem Central United Employees Assn., and was one of the prime movers in organizing the BCUEA and pushing its affiliation with the NYEA last year, the article stated.

While she claims "I'm going to miss it after all this time," Mrs. Trobridge looks forward to an active retirement away from the school, the paper said. She plans to spend the winters with her husband, Rex, in Florida, and hopes to do some volunteer work for hospitals or the Red Cross.

INGREDIENTS FOR INVESTMENT

Housing prices have gone up steeply since the mid-60's for two basic reasons. First, the shortage of new savings made it difficult to finance private housing, and the number of new housing units built each year was far below that what it should have been. Since there is a steady growth in population, this puts pressure on our housing reserves and prices rise.

Second, there have been inflationary increases in the labor and materials costs that go into building a house. In most urban areas, land values continue to go up each year, too. Historically, real estate values have always increased faster than the cost of living. Thus, it is an excellent inflation hedge.

So here are the ready-made ingredients for a good investment. We all need housing of some kind, and according to the experts, the price of housing will continue to go even higher, though perhaps, not as dramatically as in the past few years.

Respectable vandalism

Editor, The Spotlight:

This past summer many of us in the Kenaware section of Delmar were made aware of the level of quality provided by Bethlehem's police department. Others will remember its highly successful program for registering the town's young people for legal beverage sales.

Not to be outdone by these triumphs in police-community relations, we now have both candidates for town justice proposing work programs for youthful offenders. As stated by "Name submitted" in last week's issue of the Spotlight, these will be, in the majority, the respectable sons and daughters of respectable citizens forced to roam the streets looking for something to do after consuming respectable quantities of brew at respectable homes . . . ad nauseam.

Supervisor Corrigan finds that the cost of supervision would outweigh the benefits of the sale of convict labor to the town. Corrigan goes on to cite other reasons for his concern in the Spotlight's Oct. 18 Vox Pop, forgetting all the while that Messrs. Breslin and Wenger would only be sending him respectable vandals.

Considering the tenure of the law experience of each candidate and their poorly defined mechanisms for the protection of the rights of the accused, his or her accuser and the public, I worry about their special programs. Who, how and why would one youthful offender qualify as a convict for sale over another? And what of the youth who was not from a respectable family?

A short time back, a man alleged to have provided special considerations in the administration of justice was removed from his position in the town. On Nov. 6 it would appear we get a chance to give that idea some credibility again, this time in the justice court of either Breslin or Wenger. A plague on both your houses!

Home for retarded

Editor, The Spotlight:

I am writing on behalf of the establishment of two residential facilities for the retarded in Delmar.

I was enrolled in the exceptional education program at the State University College at Buffalo, and I am therefore aware of the retarded when it comes to community awareness of what a residential facility for the retarded is all about.

There is also a problem when it comes to describing what kind of people will live there. I have worked in these settings in Buffalo. Basically, they are run like any household with the addition of trained staff to help the residents with problems that might arise from living in the community. The people chosen to live in these facilities have been chosen because they are considered capable of learning to adjust to non-institutional living. They are in no way a threat or hindrance to the community, and, in fact, the town of Bethlehem should be proud of the fact that two facilities are planned for location there.

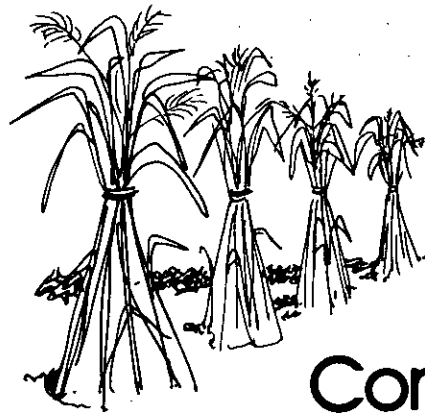

To be fully aware of this project will, I'm sure, lead to the creation and future success of the two facilities for retarded adults, who deserve to live in a setting like you and I do.

Election Day Goodies

One of the more delightful of our local traditions is the Election Day Bake Sale. If you vote early on Tuesday, you should be lucky enough to get a delicious selection of home-baked breads, cakes, pies and cookies.

Look for the bake sales at Slingerlands School, the Middle School in Delmar, the Clarksville Fire Hall and several other sites. Even if your polling place is elsewhere, swing around to one of these locations and take home something yummy.

And don't forget to vote!
