BEAT RISING COSTS

Act now...SAVE MORE MONEY DURING OUR 18th ANNUAL AUTHORIZED OPPORTUNITY DAYS SALE. Most products sold today will be higher priced tomorrow, how much higher is unpredictable. One way to protect your future is to buy with investment in mind. For example: a $4,000 kitchen remodeling job done five years ago, would now cost over $6,500. Therefore, that home might be worth $6,500 more today. (And remember, one of the most important considerations to a prospective home buyer is the kitchen). No one can say for sure what future prices will be, but it's safe to assume that money spent on your home may be one of the best investments possible. To enhance this investment, it is also an outstanding tax shelter. When you sell your home and take the appreciation of your kitchen, you do not pay income tax on the profits, assuming they do not exceed $100,000. This is one of the few ways for you to have inflation on your side...for a change.

PROFESSIONAL DESIGN STAFF

Our professional WOOD-MODE designers will prepare accurate perspective drawings, blueprints, tasteful color schemes of your kitchen. They are adept at incorporating space age appliances, plus the latest design ideas into your kitchen. Our expert, skilled craftsmen will do the entire kitchen installation; or we will provide through your builder, contractor, or architect, the design and equipment for your new home or remodeled kitchen.

BETHLEHEM

Democrats regroup under new leadership

Bethlehem Democrats will choose a new leader this week and lay the groundwork for a fresh assault on the town's dominant Republican fortress. Committee members from Bethlehem's 22 voting districts will gather in an upstairs meeting room at the Center Inn in Glenmont tonight (Thursday) to elect a new town chairman, the local party's first change of leadership in 12 years.

Kenelm R. Thacher, a genial Delmar insurance executive who has twice run for town supervisor, has been telling friends and associates he will step down after a dozen years of guiding the town's minority party organization.

When the more than 35 committee members begin their allotting, the chances are they will be choosing between Michael Breslin, the forthright young lawyer who has made two strong but unsuccessful bids to crack the GOP stronghold on town offices, and William E. Burkhard, a tireless party worker who has been serving as vice chairman and Thacher's chief deputy. Both have substantial support on the committee and among the rank-and-file membership.

A possible "dark horse" choice would be George W. Harder, also a Delmar attorney practicing in Albany, who has made two strong runs for town supervisor under Thacher's leadership. Harder, however, is not expected to push for the chairmanship.

Breslin, a West Point graduate and commander of an infantry company in the Vietnam fighting, has emerged as the local party's brightest hope to make a breakthrough in the GOP's unblemished 150-year grip on Bethlehem's elective offices. He is a strong campaigner and a personable candidate who projects his strong qualifications to independent voters, as attested by his ballot totals in the past two November elections. In 1978 he barely lost to incumbent Harry B. Rezzimini in a special election to fill an unexpired term as town justice, and in 1979 he led his party's ticket in the face of the devastating Corrigan avalanche.

If Democratic strategists choose Breslin over Burkhard, the workhorse No. 2 man in the local party, they will do so only with some assurance that he will make himself available as a candidate in the 1981 town

Glitch delays tax mailings

Tax bills will be late this year reaching Bethlehem and New Scotland property owners—but only by a few days.

Bethlehem tax bills are scheduled to go into the mails Friday. New Scotland taxpayers should have their invoices by the time they read this.

The bills, computerized for the first time a year ago, were delayed several days by a programming problem at the data center in Albany, according to tax collectors in both town halls. The delay, however, does not affect the due dates: deadline for paying taxes without penalty is Jan. 31.

Thacher's administration can be characterized as a so-near-and-yet-so-far reign. In the 1971, 1973 and 1975 local campaigns, his party made steady gains against the entrenched Republican bastion headed by Bertram E. Kohinke, coming within 360 votes of winning the supervisor's seat in 1975. In those campaigns Bethlehem Democrats captured 47 to 49.5 percent of the vote despite an enrollment deficit of more than 2 to 1.

These near-misses, especially the squeaker in 1975, caused a severe shakeup in the enemy camp. Kohinke retired as town chairman in favor of a younger Bernard Kaplowitz. Kaplowitz shifted the party's basic approach to a secret-ballot procedure in candidate selection that caused temporary discomfort among the old-liners and resulted in by-passing established incumbents Harry H. Sheaffer and Rezzimini. To counteract a potent Democratic threat in the candidacy of Edward B. Stringham, a highly capable engineer and millionaire, Kaplowitz won a long struggle to persuade Councilman Thomas V. Corrigan to run for supervisor.

On the brink of cracking the GOP stronghold, Thacher's pivotal 1977 campaign came to grief on two elements, a well-meaning political tactic that backfired and a Republican enrollment that became reunited behind Corrigan. Last fall, with two highly qualified council candidates running with Thacher, the GOP registration rolls remained in the fold and scored a historic sweep.

With new leadership, Bethlehem Democrats can be expected to put the accent on capitalizing on small but steady gains in party enrollment culled from newcomers settling in the town, and on strengthening its ties to the Albany County Democratic organization, which insiders say has shown signs of losing patience with the local leadership.

For his part, Thacher has pledged no let-up in his own personal commitment. He is a "regular" at budget hearings and other important town board sessions, and can be expected to keep as much heat on the Corrigan administration as possible in hopes of reversing the momentum the next time the electorate goes to the voting booths.

Carnival people hope for snow

Bethlehem's Elm Ave. Park is ready for the Winter Carnival Jan. 19—at least, as ready as it can be without snow. And, with no major snowfall in sight, plans have already been prepared to postpone the carnival until Jan. 26 if necessary.

Whenever it takes place, the carnival will include the traditional naming of the Snow Queen from among five entrants, ice skating shows by the Achilles Figure Skating Club and Hudson Mohawk Figure Skating Club, speed skating races, cross-country skiing demonstrations and snowmobile rides. Later in the day, beginning at 2:45, there will be snowshoe races and, to end the day's festivities, the moonlight skating party begins at 6:30.

Tax workers added

The Bethlehem town board has approved a request by Kenneth Hahn, receiver of taxes, to hire nine temporary employees to assist in the preparation of 9,200 property tax bills at hourly wages of $3.30. Named to the temporary positions were Ruth Barker, Anne Hulme, Mabel Farrow, Allison Bennett, Florence Manges, Frances Shutter, Jean Dugan, Helen Scoons and Blache Babbitt. Four alternates also were named.

Neighbors fight bid for variance

John and Peter Borst of Albany, owners of Delmar Auto Body at 325 Delaware Ave., met with unexpected opposition in their bid to move their shop to the former Bethlehem Sewer District garage at 9 Hudson Ave., Delmar.

The opposition came in the form of a petition signed by 58 area residents, plus several letters and personal appearances by three citizens at the Bethlehem board of appeals public hearing Wednesday.

Opponents charged that a variance permitting the operation of the auto body shop should not be allowed because of possible noise, unsightly parked cars, additional traffic, explosion and fire hazards, devaluation of property and the lack of demonstrable hard-ship on the parts of the Borst brothers in applying for the variance.

The Borsts defended their application strongly, however. Their low bid of $26,507 was accepted by the town board last Nov. 26 on condition the variance is granted. They contend that the "hardship" facing them is the prohibitively high price of a similar location in the appropriately zoned area. This, according to Peter Borst, could run close to $100,000.

Bill Zack of Salisbury Rd., Elsmere, and an Elm Ave. resident both testified to the clean, quiet character of the present Delmar Auto Body, and the Borsts pointed out a smoke heater to be installed that would eliminate odors and dust.

In addition, they said, their insurance regulations insist on proper safeguards against fire and explosion.

Other sensitive items included possible night work by the brothers and possible overnight storage of "up to three cars" in the parking lot.

The garage is located next door to National Insulation and 75 feet from the property of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coleman, who spoke in opposition.

Father, son arrested

A Schenectady man, 37, and his 14-year-old son were arrested by Officer Cynthia Reed of Bethlehem police on burglary and trespass charges at the Big M truckstop in Glenmont at 4:30 a.m. on New Year's Day. Police didn't buy their story of seeking to hitchhike a ride to Florida in one of the trucks; instead the father was accused of being a lookout while the boy went through the trucks parked at the site. The elder man was also charged with endangering the morals of a child at his arraignment before Justice Roger Fitts in Bethlehem town court, and was sent to Albany County jail pending a hearing. The juvenile was turned over to Det. Conrad Martin of the Bethlehem youth bureau. Police declined to release the father's name.

New house for Anna Mae White nears completion in Elsmere.

ELSMERE

Anna Mae's house nearly ready

It was five days before Christmas, 1978, that Anna Mae White, longtime Delmar resident and benefactor, lost her home in a fire. The community immediately came to her aid, as she had so often come to the aid of others, donating clothing, money, a place to live and the means to rebuild her bungalow at 104 Elsmere Ave.

Now, a little more than a year later, the efforts to rebuild her house are coming to fruition. "We expect to be completed within 30 days," said Gordon Morris, chairman of the emergency committee set up to help Anna Mae. "The siding is on, the heating system is in, the sheetrock is up. We're down to finishing off the taping and painting and getting rug on the floor."

Almost miraculously, the rebuilding has been accomplished with the money that was contributed by the community, which Morris estimated at "about $14,000." He explained, "Many supplies were donated, and many others were given at cost. Plus, a labor except for the sheetrock was donated."

Already those who have contributed time, money and effort to the project are too numerous to name, but members of the local fire companies, the Legion and the Lion's Club, to mention but a few who benefitted from Anna Mae's fine catering efforts have been a major force.

Organizing the effort were Gordon Morris, chairman; Frank Futia, vice chairman; Maynard (Red) Goyer, treasurer, and Kevin M. Shear, secretary. On the "board" are Carol Cummings, Ann Kleinke, Sid Kaplan, Roland Whitney and Sharon White Martinez, Anna Mae's daughter.

The only thing remaining to find furniture for the nearly completed house. "I think we got two pieces of furniture so far," said Morris. "Now we would be interested in donations. We want any furniture in good condition, of course. Also, we will take donations of money. People can send it to Banker's Trust in Elsmere."

Morris plans to have a small celebration when the keys to the house are handed over to Anna Mae, with all those who helped on hand. Then she can take up residence once more at the address she has lived for 50 years.

Developers plan apartment complex

A Long Island bank with extensive land holdings in the Bethlehem area has disclosed preliminary plans for 17 four-family apartment houses near Bethlehem Center in Glenside.

A revised layout that includes one duplex house and one single-family dwelling has been filed with the Bethlehem Planning Board, along with routine environmental information. The board's immediate function is to decide whether a full-scale environmental impact review is necessary under New York's SEQRA procedures. Once that step has been completed, the developers must go to the zoning board of appeals for approval of the apartment complex as a land use before filing with the Planning Board for subdivision approval.

Preliminary data for the subdivision, to be called Wood-hill, show the 17 apartment buildings, one duplex and one single residence on approximately nine acres off Rt. 32, Feura Bush Rd., between Rt. 9W and Murray Dr. The area straddles three zoning classifications, Double-C Commercial, Residential A and Residential B.

Planning board files list the developer as North Shore Equities, Inc., a subsidiary of the Guardian Federal Savings and Loan of Douglaston, L.I. The corporation, which owns approximately 35 acres in the area behind the Center Inn and the Bethlehem Pre-School facility, has stated its ultimate goals include an additional 86 single-family dwellings in the development.

Doll collector here

"Antique and Collectible Dolls" will be the topic of a talk by Ursula Mertz at the Jan. 17 meeting of the Bethlehem Historical Assn. at the Cedar Hill Schoolhouse Museum at 2 p.m. Mrs. Mertz, a collector, dealer and restorer of dolls, will display her own dolls and answer questions following the program.

Tom Dobert has been re-elected president of the Tri-Village Little League, which will be conducting registration sessions Jan. 19 and 26 at Bethlehem Library and Clarksville School. Also reelected at a meeting last week were Dick Everleth, vice president of player activities, Ron Orbach, vice president of uniforms and equipment, and Kitty Cooke, secretary. Tom Bruno and Doug Pratt were elected vice presidents of building and grounds, and Mary Lou Stracke was named treasurer.

VOORHEESVILLE
Trustees okay
a bagel shop

The Voorheesville village board has given the operator of an Altamont pizza parlor green light to establish a bagel shop and deli in Voorheesville.

Board members voiced opposition to a request by Vincent Lombardi, proprietor of Paesano's in Altamont, to serve sandwiches, subs, bagels and soft drinks on an eat-in or take-out basis in the former card shop at the Grand Union shopping plaza on Maple Ave. Lombardi's application states the business would be "100 percent family operated" and an indicated draft beer may be added at a later date.

When the shopping plaza was opened in 1970, the village board reserved the right to approve the type and operation of incoming businesses. The board has notified Lombardi that he will need approval of the sign he proposes to erect, and he was cautioned to take steps to control paper and litter thrown in the area.

DORHEESVILLE Court trial ends
for Salem Hills

Courtroom attorneys in the declaratory judgment trial to establish a monthly rate for the privately owned sewerage system for the Salem Hills residential subdivision in Voorheesville do not expect a decision before mid-February. Judge DeForest Pitts has reserved decision after taking testimony for six days in Albany County Supreme Court, and has set Jan. 18 for submission of new briefs.

The action was brought by the Salem Hills Sewage Disposal Corp., a subsidiary of Rosen-Michaels, Inc. against the village of Voorheesville over the village board, sitting as a municipal public service commission, denied the utility's request to raise the sewer fee from $10 to $21.85 per month per household, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1979. After a six-month study that included consultation with a commercial accounting firm, the board set the monthly fee at $14.

At the outset of the Albany trial, Michael Costello, trial counsel for the utility, asked for a temporary increase to the $21.85 level pending the judge's decision, but Pitts denied the request.

Kenneth J. Connolly, 6 Albany Ct., Voorheesville, is serving as special counsel to the village board in the case.

BETHLEHEM

Board may hike school lunch fee

The Bethlehem Central school district may soon have to raise the price of meals in response to shrinking federal aid. School officials told board of education members at last Wednesday's meeting that the gap between the 45 to 55 cents students pay for their lunches and the actual cost of $1.13 per meal no longer is covered by federal aid, and is widening.

Supt. Lawrence A. Zinn said it is too soon to determine how much of a raise will be necessary in the coming year.

An otherwise routine meeting of the board was interrupted last week when Alan Levensohn of 39 Pineview Ave., Delmar, alleged that the board's proceedings were "in violation of the law." In the ensuing discussion between Levensohn and board president Bernard E. Harvith, Levensohn intimated that "executive sessions" had been held without proper public notice.

The law specifies that such sessions, which preclude public admission, must be announced along with the topic of the session, during the regular board meeting. It was Harvith's contention that the board occasionally held "workshops" that were not open to the public, but that counsel Roger Fritts had advised the board that this was acceptable.

In fact, any "bending" of the rules was done only for the board's convenience, since declaring an executive session would normally entail adjournment to the closed session, re-adjournment back at the public meeting following the session, and then adjournment of that meeting, he declared. Fritts indicated later that the board would be in compliance with the letter of the law in future meetings.

In other board action, Robert Zick was the only member to oppose an increase in tuition fees from $6 to $8 per hour. Proponents indicated that the pay was more in line with that paid in other districts.

Winter hike planned

Weather permitting, there will be a cross-country ski and snowshoe recreational tour of Five Rivers Environmental Education Center on Garm Farm Rd., Delmar, on Saturday, Jan. 12 at 2 p.m. Participants will explore the fields and woods of the Center grounds. The hike will be rescheduled if there is no snow. A limited number of snowshoes are available to rent, and the program requires pre-registration. For information call 457-6092.

SLINGERLANDS are charged June holdup

A knifing incident at a New Year's Eve party has led Bethlehem police to clearing up a one-month-old armed robbery at a Slingerlands market.

Police charged John E. Perillat, 19, of Gansevoort, Rensselaer County, a former Slingerlands resident, and an 18-year-old Slingerlands youth with first-degree armed robbery in connection with the June 21 holdup of the Convent Food Mart on Kenwood Ave. The police report said the two robbers got $174 from the cash drawer while one of them held a gun on the clerk.

The events leading to the arrests unfolded this way:

On New Year's Day, police issued a warrant signed by Justice Roger Fritts accusing Perillat of slashing a 15-year-old Selkirk girl with a knife at 2:30 a.m. at a party. The girl, whose name was withheld, underwent surgery at Albany Medical Center for cuts on the right hand.

At 1:20 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 6, Perillat called police headquarters from an Elsmere telephone, gave his location and said he would turn himself in. He was arrested by Officer Stephen Demarest on the bench warrant.

After questioning by Det. Charles Rudolph, Perillat was linked to the Slingerlands holdup. Police then picked up the 18-year-old youth and arraigned both on the robbery charge. They were committed to Albany County jail pending action by Albany County court.

Perillat also was charged with first-degree assault in the knifing incident. Police said the girl was injured when she attempted to prevent Perillat from slashing another girl at the party.

Driver, 20, sentenced

Gary E. Van Alstyne, 20, of Cedar Grove Rd., Feura Bush, has lost his license for three years after entering a guilty plea to a second charge of drunken driving. Van Alstyne was also fined $100 for driving without insurance. The sentence was imposed by New Scotland Justice Kenneth J. Connolly, who set the three-year probationary period on condition Van Alstyne submit to a psychiatric examination and attend an alcoholic rehabilitation program conducted by the Dept. of Motor Vehicles. He must have justice court approval before reapplying for a driver's license.

Van Alstyne, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated in Albany police court a year ago, was arrested on Rt. 85 in the town of New Scotland by an Albany County sheriff's patrol last Sept. 30. He was charged with several traffic infractions including the insurance and DWI charges.

Signups slated for Little League

Registration for the Village Little League's 1972 season gets under way next month with sessions slated for Jan. 19 and 26 at two locations. Boys and girls 8-12 may sign up at Bethlehem Library or Clarksville Elementary School between 10:15 and 2 on the above dates.

First-time registrants must bring birth certificates. The league is open to any child born between Aug. 1, 1967 and Jan. 31, 1972. The registration contribution is $15 for each child in a family, $20 total for a household with more than one player. A child must be accompanied by a parent to register.

The league, now starting its 27th year, has uniformed teams in three playing levels, minor, intermediate and major. Tryouts will be held in April, with opening games tentatively scheduled for May 3. The league is open to residents of the town of Bethlehem and the Bethlehem Central school district.

Registration for the Tri-Village Senior League for boys and girls 13 to 16 will be held at the same time. Richard Evlert is vice president of play activities, and will handle call for information at 439-1450.

The league has an urgent need for managers, coaches, field helpers and other volunteer assistants. Call Tom D'Amico, 439-9418.

Fitness program offered

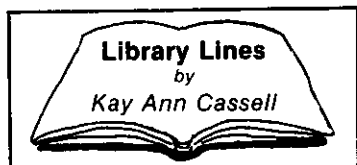

The town of Bethlehem is offering a physical fitness program for adults who are residents of the town or Bethlehem Central school district. Classes will be held at the Bethlehem Middle School girls' gym. Two sessions are available: Mondays 7 to 9 p.m. Jan. 14 through March 24, and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. Jan. 17 through April 3. There is a $10 fee, which can be paid at the first two sessions, and participants may sign up for both Monday and Thursday sessions. For information, call 439-4131 weekdays.

Video workshop class to start

Get in on the fun of do-it-yourself television. The people's station, public access cable channel 16 in Bethlehem, has evenings in the February video workshop which any resident of the town over 13 years of age may attend. The workshop consists of three classes scheduled for Tuesdays, Feb. 5, 12 and 19, from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

Instruction includes basic operation of portable and studio video, audio and lighting equipment, and enables participants to produce programs for Channel 16. Workshop fees are $5 for adults, $2.50 for students under 18.

Upon completion of all three classes, graduates may borrow Bethlehem Video equipment or use the studio for program production without charge. For information and to register, call Len DeClue at 439-8111. Classes are limited to six participants and are held at the Bethlehem Video offices, 159 Delaware Ave., Elsmere.

New teaching pro at Southwood

Southwood Tennis Club has hired a new teaching pro of considerable experience in Marilyn Shapiro Reese. The UCLA graduate, who led No. 2 singles for the university, was runnerup in the National Intercollegiate Championships, and her list of tournament crowns includes Canadian National championships, Maine State championships, Central New York championships and the Syracuse Women's and Men's Park championships. She has been ranked No. 13 in Southern California women and hopes to earn a ranking in the East.

Marilyn Reese

Beyond her playing credits, she is a certified physical education teacher in California in New York. She taught tennis in the Los Angeles city schools for 12 years and was the teaching staff at a John Edinger's Tennis Ranch in Del Mar, Calif.

In Syracuse, she continued coaching high school boys and girls as well as teaching at Southwood Tennis Club. Now she has her sights set on developing "an outstanding junior program at Southwood."

She has plenty of interests outside of tennis. "I love the outdoors—skating, skiing and horseback riding—and I've taken ballet and jazz since the age of 4." She taught dance herself at San Carlos High School and is still fond of the discipline involved. "I really enjoy a good ballet lesson for a workout," she commented. She also raises Yorkshire terriers and Komondors (rare Hungarian sheepdogs.)

TRACK

Eagles finding the going tough

After nearly a month of competition, the Bethlehem Central High School indoor track team has posted some impressive wins, only to suffer defeats and injuries later in the season. But, consistent performances by several standouts have been the story for the Eagles thus far.

In the Dec. 15 opener at RPI, the boys dominated seven teams, defeating the nearest challenger, Albany, 57-37. The girls placed third behind Gloversville and Columbia, while the freshman team placed fourth.

In action again Dec. 19 at Union College, the BC boys extended their record to 12-0, besting the field of six and defeating second place Mont Pleasant, 59-53. The girls placed second, losing to Gloversville once more, and the freshmen won, leaving both with records of 9-3.

On Dec. 22, stronger opposition began to take its toll as the boys finished third behind Shenendehowa and Colonie, dropping their record to 15-2. The girls lost out once more to Gloversville and the freshmen placed third, their records to respectively, 13-4 and 12-5.

Despite a growing number of high marks, the boys' team placed no better than sixth at their next two meets and the girls finished fourth in Dutchmen games before rebounding to second at the Engineer games. Distance runner Judy Parker remained unbeaten and posted a time of 5:11.5 in the mile that Coach Joel Melnikoff said "has to be one of the best times in the school for the mile." Deb Schaub and Sue Marr finished 1-2 in both the Engineer and Dutchman games in the one-mile walk. Walt Waidelich in shot put bettered the school record with an effort of 49 feet, and Dave Elfeldt continued to be a consistent scorer in the 300-yard event.

The Eagles' distance three Pat Higgins and Bill Street however, may be lost for the stretch run. Street was lost the year after a recent appendectomy, and Higgins is seen as a specialist for recurring problems with his knee.

So, it will be an unmanned squad that appears to CBA tonight (Jan. 10) for the boys, at least. And the girls should have Gloversville to contend with.

double trouble with fouls:

charity throws in addition getting charged with too y misdemeanors themes.

o add to the woes, the 'birds last week ran into nights of poor officiating, O'Brien refuses to blame men in striped shirts for es at Cairo-Durham and nesburg.

The officiating was very questionable." O'Brien said er the Cairo-Durham chup. "I don't want to say thing stronger. We should e won the game in regula-time. You can't blame the cials when you miss eight shots in the last quarter."
he Blackbirds, now 0-4 in Central Hudson Valley gue and 2-7 overall, had a e-point lead with 1:30 to which forced Cairo-Durh to commit intentional s to get possession. But rheesville missed five one-
-one shots in the final three utes, any one of which uld have given the shooter a us shot. The home team ed even at 49-all to send the game into overtime, and outscored the Blackbirds 9-3 in overtime for a 58-54 league triumph. Joe Probst had 16 points and brother Paul 13 to lead the scoring.

At Duaneburg Saturday, officials called 11 fouls on Voorheesville in the first quarter to two whistles for the home team. "They were in a one-on-one situation before we even had a shot," said O'Brien. "The officiating actually hurt both clubs, and took the game away from the boys."

The Blackbirds lost, 72-66, but O'Brien blamed the loss on careless shooting. "We missed a lot of easy shots," he said. Joe Probst had 24 points, his high production of the year, Jeff Picard contributed 12 and Harris Crawford 10.

This week the Blackbirds weré booked for a non-league game with St. Patrick's at Catskill Tuesday, then home for a league game with Maple Hill.

Voorheesville has lost Marty McTague, the tall center who has another year of eligibility.
McTague played the first game of the holiday tournament with his chronic knee injury, but could not finish the next night, and has been forced to give up the game.

In Voorheesville, the Spotlight is sold at the Grand Union and Voorheesville Pharmacy.

BASKETBALL

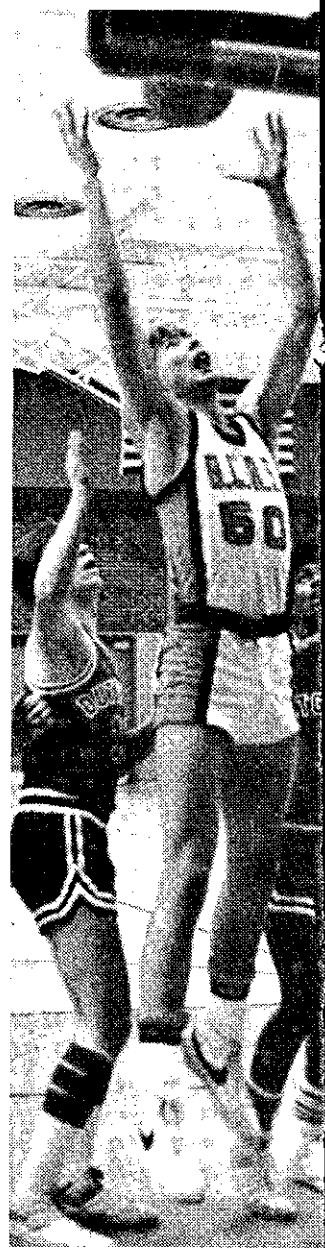

Turnover woes plague Eagles

Coach Jim Tedisco remains confident that the first victory will do wonders for his Bethlehem Central basketball team, but the Eagles are straining this optimism.

BC entertains Shenendehowa Friday night after a Tuesday date at Niskayuna. The 0-7 Eagles missed perhaps the season's best opportunity to crack the win column when they dropped a 16-point decision at home last Friday to a Guilderland team that had not won a league game. Bethlehem, playing without its injured leader, Mark Lawrence, committed more than 20 turnovers and had difficulty finding the hoop. The result, a 58-42 setback in a ragged game matching the Suburban Council's two cellar dwellers.

Tedisco found encouragement in the team's defensive work and in the play of young Tom Dexter, a sophomore guard who scored 12 points against Guilderland and showed signs of becoming a playmaker. The coach has moved Joe Fox, a junior, into Lawrence's post at center, with Steve Gillespie, a sophomore, and Rick Wassenaar, the only senior starter, at the forwards. That gives him a combination of two sophomores, two juniors and one senior, with senior Chet Boehlke seeing spot duty under the backboards.

"We're not concentrating," analyzed Tedisco. "We're making too many turnovers, we're not fabricating our shots and we're not shooting that well, but we're a young team, we're trying to improve. We're pleased with the defense we've been holding most teams except Shaker, to scores in the 50s."

Chet Boehlke goes up for rebound against Guilderland.

Stratton picks 9 academies' list

Local students have been nominated by Rep. Sam Stratton for vacancies at West Point, the Naval Academy, the Air Force Academy, and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point.

Competing for the first vacancy at West Point will be Glenn Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Er Swanson, 28 Carstead Slingerlands, and Gary W. Barkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barkman, Rt. 9W, Glen...

Competing for the second vacancy will be Walter C. Waidelich, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Waidelich, Sr., 6 Cousin Ave., Delmar; Wil D. Kavanaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kavanaugh, Arhesville, and Edward J. Huth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Huth, 16 East Rd., Arhesville.

Chester D. Boehlke, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Boehlke, Sr., Unionville, will be in competition for the single vacancy at the Air Force Academy, and Elizabeth A. Walsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walsh, 33 Center St., Delmar, will be up for competition for the lone vacancy at the Naval Academy.

Applicants competing for admission to the Merchant Marine Academy are Victoria Graf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Graf, 58 Old Ox Road, Delmar and Brian L. Tashman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tashman, 31 Salem St., Delmar.

The area group is among 29 men and eight women selected in the 28th Congressional District by a local academy advisory committee, based on school records, college entrance scores, extracurricular activities and a personal interview.

PRINTED FORM FOLLY

In any real estate transaction, you'll normally find printed forms used in the area of sales contracts, deeds, mortgages, and leases. Ever wonder why any layman can't use printed forms himself and save the fees of an attorney, Realtor, or lending institution?

A typical legal stationary store will have dozens of varieties of leases, deeds, and mortgage forms, but which is the right one for your situation? These printed forms are only a starting point. It's what goes into the blanks, what is crossed out, and what is added that gives you the value, security, and protection that you are paying the experts for.

Believe me, some of the largest financial losses and legal hassles have resulted from printed forms being incorrectly used. About the only safe one an amateur can depend on is a marriage license.

UNIONVILLE

Parishioners fete 10-year minister

Rev. Johannes J. Meester, minister of the Unionville Reformed Church, was given a surprise anniversary party Friday when he arrived for church supper to find a crowded with parishioners well wishers. The event arranged by a committee headed by William Miller, Barbara Johnson to celebrate Rev. Meester's 10th anniversary in the local pulpit.

Irving Mosher presided at a special service following supper. Rev. Meester, his wife Peggy, and three children were presented with a purse and grandfather's clock assembled by the men of the church. Rev. Meester also received a set of liturgical robes from the Youth Fellowship.

Serving on the committee were Martha Slingerland, Berta Nisselbeck, Kathy Anderson, James Slingerland, Andy Johnson, Gladys Shultz, Chris Histed, Dona Mosher, Ruth Mosher, and K.J. Ries.

Recreational volleyball

The Bethlehem Parks and Recreation Dept. plans a volleyball program for adults beginning Wednesday, Jan. 17. The program runs through March 26 at the Bethlehem Central Middle School gym. Residents of the town of Bethlehem Central school district may participate. There is a $6 fee.

Community Corner

The Cookies are Coming!

Among the most beneficial of our community's many youth programs is the Girl Scout movement, which depends on the dedication of volunteer leaders and the support of local residents.

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale comes up this month. When a uniformed Girl Scout or Brownie comes to your door between Jan. 11 and Jan. 27, give her an order—the seven varieties of cookies should delight every sweet tooth in the house!

Community Corner, a public service column of important community events, is sponsored by

*The yield (dividend rate) shown is an annualization (365 days) of one day's income less expenses, adjusted for any changes in the Fund's net asset value caused by realized or unrealized appreciation or depreciation in the value of portfolio securities. The yield fluctuates, and the yield on any one day is not an indication as to future yields, which are not guaranteed.

Yield information is useful in reviewing the Fund's performance in seeking to meet its investment objective, but because yield fluctuates such information cannot necessarily be used to compare an investment in Fund shares with bank deposits, savings accounts and similar investment alternatives which often provide an agreed to or guaranteed fixed yield for a stated period of time. Also, the Fund's yield cannot always be compared with yields of similar funds which may compute yields by different methods.
