NEW SCOTLAND

7-man park commission quits in budget pinch

New Scotland's seven-member town recreation commission resigned en masse last week, accusing the town board of apathy and a "lack of response" toward the fledgling town park on Swift Rd.

In a 600-word statement submitted at the regular monthly meeting of the town board Wednesday, the commissioners declared that "everywhere we turn, we are stymied by the further curtailment of our work," and added:

"We are now down to the day-to-day operation of the park. This does not require a recreation commission, but the future of recreation in the town of New Scotland does."

Accompanying the statement of resignation was a list of more than 15 items on which the commissioners said they had requested action by the board, but which "still need action."

The board accepted the mass resignation and gave no indication as to whether it would appoint a new commission.

"I feel bad about it," Supervisor Steve Wallace told a reporter after the session. "They did a great job. We've had two meetings with them (the commission) over the past two months, but we've had to cut their funds. It's something that can't be helped within the confines of a tight budget."

Wallace said New Scotland's entire $53,000 share of federal revenue-sharing funds had been assigned to development of the park and the recreation program last year, but this year the park allotment was cut to approximately $15,000. "We had to take the revenue-sharing money and put it all in the landfill," he said.

Pressure from state and county agencies have forced New Scotland to shut down its landfill operation on Upper Flat Rock Rd. and construct a transfer station for garbage and trash disposal as part of Albany's ANSWERS project in 1981. The total cost is expected to run into six figures.

The commission was headed by David W. Briscoe of Clarksville. J. Michael Brennan of New Scotland was vice chairman, Waldo R. Greene of Voorheesville was secretary, and members were Robert Panthen and Karl W. Scharl of New Scotland, Robert Smith of Feura Bush and William L. (Leo) Burgoon of Voorheesville. The group was formed in 1973 to develop a recreation program for the town, and was formally installed as a town recreation commission in 1976. Members have volunteered their services and are not paid for their services.

"After the park opened two years ago," the commission statement read, "the commission has noted a decline in action towards its work at the Swift Rd. facilities, as well as other areas in the town. We keep preparing lists of items to be acted on by the board, and we seldom receive a reply. This list keeps growing, as does a lack of response by the board."

The statement declared that the commission "is fully aware of the financial problems" faced by the town board, and was given the impression that any tax increase requested in support of a recreational program "would be met with a negative reaction" on the part of townspeople.

"Even with this overall attitude, we would be willing to assist the board with (preparing) the 1981 budget, and try to defend it with the townspeople if we thought it would be appreciated," the commissioners' statement said.

Undaunted by Saturday's drizzle, Fred Howell, president of the Kenholm Pool Assn., officiated at the 17th annual opening ceremony at the pool on Dumbarton Dr., Elsmere. He was cheered by a cadre of soggy but appreciative members as he snipped the ribbon. Mark Collien

Among the items the commission said had not been acted on were posting of speed limit signs for Swift Rd., rest room facilities, a study for federal funds for a sewer system, aerial photos of the park, drafting of rules and regulations for the park, all requested in 1978, and a picnic pavilion, paving of the parking lot, an activity bulletin board, cleanup of rubbish on Swift Rd., hiring help for security and safety on the ice skating rink, and two more requests for action on rules and regulations, all submitted in 1979.

In a separate action at last week's meeting, the board appointed Jack Adams of New Scotland as park coordinator. Adams, a former standout basketball player at Albany State who has been teaching and coaching varsity basketball at Guilderland Central High School, was the town's first park coordinator, but resigned after six months to take another position.

Adams succeeds Richard Ellis, who has served for the past two years. In appointing Adams, the board also cut the salary for the seasonal job from $6,000 to $4,000. The post entails supervision of the park maintenance crew and scheduling of park programs.

Riester named
town attorney

A 37-year-old Albany trial lawyer has been appointed town attorney for the town of New Scotland, replacing a counsel forced out of the job by a state judicial group.

The New Scotland town board last week named Frederick C. Riester (pronounced Ree-ster) of Feura Bush to the part-time $5,048 post vacated May 31 by Michael E. Stafford, 29, of Cedar Grove. Stafford relinquished the job after Judge Aaron Kline of State Supreme Court denied his appeal of a ruling by the state's Office of Court Administration. The ruling specified that Stafford, recently named special assistant to Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Kahn in Albany, could not hold the part-time job in New Scotland as well.

Riester is a partner in the Albany law firm of DeGraff, Foy, Conway, Holt-Harris and Mealey. He joined the firm after graduating from Albany Law School in 1968, and became a partner in 1975. His primary focus is litigation and real property transactions. He earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Rochester in 1965 in business administration. He and his wife, the former Kathleen Jean Trantum of Ridgewood, N.J., have three sons ranging in age from 11 to 5 and live on Rowe Rd. Riester is a former member of the board of the Albany Symphony Orchestra and currently is president of the board of Family and Children's Service of Albany.

Cash turned in

Two Bethlehem Middle School girls found a large-denomination bill last Tuesday at Magee Park during a Little League baseball game and turned the currency over to Marylou Stracke, league treasurer, in the park's refreshment stand. Mrs. Stracke returned the money over to Bethlehem's police.

A bicycle found in bushes near the Delmar Reformed Church has been tagged in the absence of a registration number, according to Bethlehem police. The bike had not been reported stolen, police said. The owner of a bicycle abandoned on Murray Ave., Delmar, last Tuesday has been identified through its registration, police said.

A resident of Village Drive Apartments, Delmar, reported last week that three items of jewelry valued at $230 were missing. Bethlehem police said there was no sign of forced entry.

BETHLEHEM

Typing restored to school budget

A bevy of parents with strong feelings prompted the Bethlehem Central board of education to reverse an earlier cost-cutting decision and reinstate a typing course for eighth graders.

The discussion was lengthy and lively, and the vote was close, 4-3. The discussion lasted more than an hour, with parents citing loss of valuable skill training, and some board members countering with predictions of "very serious financial problems ahead" for the district.

Board President Bernard Harvith noted the typing course was eliminated to trim $17,000 to $20,000 from the district's $12.9 million 1980-81 budget, which won public approval May 14 by only 112 votes.

Robert L. Guarino, speaking for the Middle School Parent-Faculty Organization, launched the appeal to the board at its session last Wednesday. He also objected to the "enrichment" courses proposed to fill the time that had been allotted to the typing course. J. Briggs McAndrews, assistant superintendent for educational programs and instruction, outlined the proposed replacement courses.

Harvith characterized these proposals as "program alternatives that don't cost any money" because they would have drawn on the unscheduled time of current staff members.

Board member Sheila Fuller scoffed at the substitute curriculum, however, saying, "I didn't run for this board to fill the curriculum with busy work!" She added that, given these alternatives, she now would change her decision and vote to reinstate the typing course.

Marcia Rosenfield, president of the Middle School PFO, urging the board to reverse itself, said the PFO could have stirred opposition to the budget before the May 14 vote, but didn't, presumably due to the risk of jeopardizing the entire budget.

Other parents came out strongly in favor of the typing program, saying it was "a small amount of money for the skill to be acquired." They contended that typing was an especially valuable skill for pupils who had difficulties with cursive writing.

Harvith pointed out that the board, in its annual budgeting process, is "running out of things it will be tolerable to cut."

The issue of the board's "credibility" in the community was raised by member Robert Ruslander: "We owe it to the community to stay within the (budget) guidelines we gave them." His colleague, John Clyne, echoed the sentiment, saying "the voters would remember for the rest of time" if the board raised the budget total after its public approval.

Board member Bertold Weinberg, noting that the $7.85 tax rate increase necessitated by the 1980-81 budget was the largest in his nine years on the board, also said he was "very concerned about the turnout we are getting at the polls." Weinberg gravely predicted "very serious financial problems ahead" with rapidly falling interest rates and even more rapidly rising fuel costs threatening to unbalance the budget.

Robert Zick's motion to table the issue because of "emotionalism" pervading the discussion failed, and Harvith countered with a motion to reinstate the typing course within the approved budget figure. Voting with Harvith were Mrs. Fuller, Marjory O'Brien and Ruslander. Clyne, Weinberg and Zick remained opposed.

Harvith observed that one possible source of funds within the budget derived from a greater than expected number of staff retirements, permitting the district to hire replacements lower on the salary scale.

He also observed, with a smile at the relieved parents: "One source of income is gifts!"

In other action, the board set May 12 and 13, 1981, as the dates for the annual meeting and general election, and accepted the retirement resignation of Therese Archer, Hamagrael fourth grade teacher and a district staff member for 16 years.

A therapeutic ride for Becky

Gentle hands lifted the little girl onto the horse's broad back. For Becky, it was a new and frightening experience.

With a therapist on each side and a riding instructor leading the horse, Becky began her ride slowly around the pen, clinging to the reins. After two turns around the pen, she began to relax, and the third time around, with a happy smile, she cried out to her mount: "Walk, Sam!"

Becky Freeh is a 4-year-old (her birthday is today, June 12) who has the verbal ability of a child of 7. She also has cerebral palsy.

Becky has been in therapy in various programs for three years, but she is bored. Her mother, Mrs. Alice Freeh of Scotia, trying to find a riding program for handicapped children, called 16 stables in a 50-mile radius before the physical therapy office at Russell Sage College told her about Chris Lehman in Voorheesville.

Now Becky is riding for half an hour each week at Sunrise Stables on Martin Rd., where Chris conducts the only therapeutic riding center in the Albany area along with her regular programs of riding instruction.

"Riding is a good way to do exercises with children because of the natural movement of the horse," says Mary Rourke, a licensed physical therapist with the Rensselaer-Columbia-Greene County BOCES who lives in Voorheesville. "After Becky had surgery on her hips last January, the doctor recommended riding as a means of maintaining the gains from the surgery and to improve her sitting balance. It helps her to use her right leg more, and it has improved her self-confidence."

For Becky's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Freeh, the discovery of Chris's program is a Godsend. Says Alice Freeh: "We had been looking for a swimming program or recreation program for normal children we could adapt to. This has been wonderful for Becky."

The Freehs have a son, Brian, 16 months, who obviously enjoys the trips to the stables and seeing Chris's petting zoo, which includes a llama named Petey and a new foal.

Becky's affliction has been diagnosed as a spastic diplegia type of cerebral palsy, which affects her legs and has relatively little impact on her upper body. She can walk in leg braces and a walker.

She has therapy four times a week at the Scotia facility of Schenectady United Way CP center, and goes to school at the Villa Fusco, a Montessori school in Niskayuna. She is a gifted child with an IQ of 160. "She understands adult conversation and number concepts, but her handicap is more pronounced on the right side, so for a right-handed child she is impeded in her printing ability," her mother says.

Christine Lehman has been around horses for 20 years and has been teaching riding and horsemanship for 10 years. She has an associate degree from SUNY-Delhi in animal care technology and holds a certificate from SUNY-Cobleskill in riding school instruction and management. She is a biology technician at Columbia-Greene Community College.

"Horseback riding has been recognized as a therapeutic tool since 1969," says Chris. "With professional counsel, students with a wide variety of handicaps can enjoy an outdoor activity."

Assisting her in the local program are Mary Rourke and Terri Johnson, who daughters, 9 and 11, ride with her. Her husband, Robert, works for LaDuke Construction.

Terri is a physical therapist assistant with three years of riding experience in both English and Western styles. She has an associate degree in physical therapy from Maria College and six years in the field.

As Becky's response to the Voorheesville program continues to increase, Alice Freeh continues her relentless campaign to improve counseling and respite for the handicapped. "There's a major shortage of qualified care for a handicapped child to relieve parents for short periods of time—just an afternoon to get some shopping or housework done, or a weekend to spend some time with one's husband. It's very much needed. There is respite at the O.D. Heck center, but they have a staffing problem that is compounded by the recent budget cuts."

Mrs. Freeh, 27, also points to the need for parents with a newly diagnosed handicapped child to have someone to turn to for counsel and support. She is currently in the process of forming a support group for parents of handicapped children that will be sponsored by the Family Life office of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Albany.

Meanwhile, Becky Freeh counts the days for her next date with Sam, the grey mare who is part Arabian, and her ride with Chris, Mary and Terri in the sun-splashed, dusty pen at the end of Martin Rd., where Petey the llama and the others in the Lehman's stable population are always glad to see her.

Town, firemen agree on parcel

The Bethlehem town board and commissioners of the Delmar Fire Dept. have agreed on the price and dimensions for the sale of a section of the parking lot at the former town hall.

At a special meeting Friday, the town board authorized the sale of an L-shaped parcel for $4,200. The price was based on a joint appraisal made after previous appraisals made by the respective public bodies had differed.

The fire department is purchasing a 65-by-30-foot strip of land running east-west abutting the present firehouse and the former town hall, now unoccupied since the move to 445 Delaware Ave., and a 120-by-25-foot access lane running north-south abutting the former town hall "annex" at 397 Delaware Ave. The department plans to erect a structure on the 65-by-30 strip to house its rescue squad ambulance.

The transaction is subject to a permissive referendum on behalf of both the town and the fire department. The 30-day waiting period starts today (Thursday).

In an unrelated real estate matter, town board members last week made an on-site inspection of three parcels of land adjacent to the Hudson River town park at Cedar Hill. The parcels, offered by Howard Vagele of Glenmont, total 15 acres, and are being considered as a possible addition to the park. One of the two parcels on the north side of the present park property has 400 feet of river frontage and includes the former Calnan dock.

Cub Scout picnic

Cub Scout Pack 73, Voorheesville, will hold a picnic Wednesday, June 18, at 6 p.m. at the Punkintown Fair pavilion of the New Salem Fire Dept. Hot dogs and soda will be provided. Families are asked to bring their own silverware, plates, a dish to share and lawn chairs. A mini-Olympics also is planned. For information, call Jack Rasmussen, 765-3188, or Paul Jeffers, 439-5555.

VOORHEESVILLE

School board race: 4 for 2

Voorheesville school district voters will choose two new board of education members from among four candidates when they go to the polls in a special election on July 9.

The special balloting will fill the two additional seats created when district voters approved a proposal to expand the board from five members to seven.

Running for the two seats are Richard F. Decker of Swift Rd., Joseph A. Fernandez of 7 Oak Ct., both state employees; James H. Hogan of 20 Swift Rd., a corporate account manager, and John R. Zongrone of 36 Scotch Pine Dr., an insurance executive.

The candidate with the highest number of votes will be elected to a five-year term, the runner-up to a four-year term.

Richard F. Decker, 44, is deputy director of planning and federal programming for the New York State Dept. of State. He was formerly principal budget examiner for state and local government for the Division of the Budget. He has served as executive director of the temporary state commission on state and local finances, director of finance for the state's Narcotic Addiction Control Commission and teaches public administration part-time at Russell Sage College.

A native of Chatham, Decker graduated from Chatham High School and is a 1957 graduate of Fordham University. He has some 50 credits toward graduate degrees in public administration and economics at the State University at Albany. He and his wife, the former Clare Rooney of Albany, are parents of children in the first and third grades at Voorheesville Elementary School.

Decker is a past president of the Kiwanis Club of New Scotland and is currently president of the Montessori School. He was named 1979 "man of the year" by Hope House of Albany, a counseling and rehabilitation facility.

Joseph A. Fernandez has been with the State Division of the Budget for the past 14 years. A native of Manhattan, he graduated from Fredonia State Teachers College in 1964 and earned a master's degree from the School of Public Affairs at the State University at Albany. He spent a year as an intern with the State Dept. of Social Services before joining the budget division.

Fernandez has lived in Voorheesville since 1969 and has been active in St. Matthew's Church. He and his wife, the former Trudy Wilkins of Scio, Allegheny County, have three children ranging in age from 13 to 7.

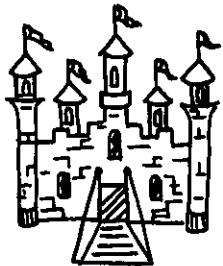

James H. Hogan, 37, was born in Troy, graduated from Christian Brothers Academy and earned a bachelor's degree from St. Ambrose College, Davenport, Iowa, in 1964. He worked for General Electric's consumer credit operation in Albany for three years and joined International Business Machines

It was a sentimental occasion when Boy Scout Troop 75, Delmar, celebrated its 50th anniversary with a dinner at the First Methodist Church. Among those on hand from left, were Dr. Leon Adkins, Sr., pastor of the church in 1930 when it sponsored the troop and father of the present pastor; Millerd Larkin past chairman of the troop committee who wore his Silver Beaver Award around his neck; Vincent Hummel, member of the original troop committee (1930), and Jack VanDusen and Bill Laremore, two of the original members of the troop. In front is Mark McKinney, who received his Star Scout award at the court of honor following the dinner.

Twenty-four Voorheesville Central High School students exhibited projects at the 12th annual Capital District industrial arts exhibit held recently at Colonie Center. Twenty area schools participated in the display, which was coordinated this year by the Voorheesville industrial arts staff, Frank Faber, Robert Muller and James Hladun.

Students displayed projects in such curriculum areas as ceramics, photography, electricity, printing, metalwork-king, woodworking, graphics, plastics and drafting. Wood projects ranged from a full-size Boston rocker and an eight-inch goblet to a sewing cabinet and a five-sided end table.

Exhibits were evaluated by the Industrial Arts Assn. on an individual non-competitive basis. This year, more than half of the Voorheesville Central High School projects received special merit recognition.

A new course entitled Energy Technology developed by Muller will be offered at Voorheesville High School next January. The course will cover alternative as well as conventional energy sources.

Public service awards

Two Delmar residents are among six winners of annual public service awards to be presented Friday, June 13, at the awards dinner of the Capital District chapter of the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA) at the Americana Inn, Colonie.

Eric Leighton, 53 Lansing Dr., director of the office of accounting and utility finance of the State Public Service Dept., is the 1980 recipient of the Charles Evans Hughes Award for long-term excellence in public service. The chapter also will present a special award to Samuel H. Hays, 15 Pineview Ave., for "outstanding contributions over the years in the areas of staff development, organizational planning, and research pertaining to public administration." Hays served as the first director of the Public Executive Project, a training institute for public executives in Albany, in 1970. He helped in the founding of the State Academy for Public Administration in 1973 and served as its executive director until 1979. His citation states that Hays "has had a great deal to do with moving New York State government away from politically oriented operation to one of professional competence."

One graduate—two graduations

The scarred old editor did a double take, wondering if the pressure was affecting his mind or his eyesight.

In a heavy pile of incoming mail one morning last week, swelled by news releases from colleges listing their new graduates, two envelopes gave him cause for thinking he was cracking up.

Compiling the "Class of 1980" feature for this week's Spotlight, he checked over the lists of a dozen or more colleges. When he found one name on the lists of two separate colleges, he blinked.

St. Lawrence University was announcing a BS degree in mathematics for Kim C. Tornquist, a Bethlehem Central graduate whose family moved last year from Delmar to North Andover, Mass.

Clarkson College was announcing that Kim C. Tornquist, a senior, had been cited as a presidential scholar for achieving better than 3.80 on a scale of 4.00 in the spring semester, majoring in industrial distribution.

Both Kims were the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Charles Tornquist. That drove the editor into a walk around the block, hoping some fresh air would clear his addled cranium.

A call to North Andover got Kim on the phone. Yes, she was only one person. Yes, she received a degree from each college. Yes, she wore her cap and gown at both commencements, in Potsdam on May 18, in Canton on June 1. The two campuses are 10 miles apart.

How'd she do this? Simple, said Kim. She enrolled in a five-year program after finishing BCHS. The program, called the 3-2 engineering program, specifies three years at St. Lawrence, then two years at Clarkson. Each gives a degree.

The two diplomas only add to Kim's collection. She's starting after another degree in September, when it's back to Clarkson for graduate school in electrical engineering.

Back in Delmar, the Spotlight editor has his confidence back. He hopes he has another year or so left before he cracks up totally.

Spotlight opens 'satellite' office

Newsgraphics, Inc., publishers of the Spotlight, has opened a temporary office in the Clarksville postoffice building on Delaware Tpk.

The office will handle the newspaper's commercial printing operation pending the planned move to the Bethlehem "coffeehouse" building in Delmar. An Article 78 court proceeding filed by George C. Cochran, Delmar attorney who owns the building next door to the "coffeehouse" building, has delayed the sale by the town of Bethlehem pending a ruling by Judge Harold J. Hughes in State Supreme Court.

George A. Bloodgood, Jr., a local printer associated with the Newsgraphics commercial printing operation, has installed an offset press, plate-making equipment, paper-cutting, folding and mailing facilities at the new location.

Although the temporary office will have a one-man staff, and no regular office hours, it will be open part-time to accept classified and display advertising and subscriptions for the Spotlight.

The Bethlehem Public Library has developed a consumer information center to help you, the consumer, make better informed decisions. The center has current materials on such diverse topics as how to purchase an automobile and how to choose a financial or professional service such as a dentist, auto mechanic or stockbroker.

Consumer Reports and Consumer Research are two monthly magazines which evaluate a wide variety of name-brand products from frozen pizza and yogurt to electric blankets, coffee machines and refrigerators. In addition to evaluating specific brands, they often include articles which provide general guidelines on how to buy a particular product. Special features include the annual "new automobile" issue in the April Consumer Reports and the monthly movie ratings in both magazines. Each magazine publishes an annual buying guide which summarizes the information in the monthly issue. Even with the wide variety of products evaluated in Consumer Reports and Consumer Research, many products are infrequently, if ever, evaluated. However, many other magazines run consumer-type articles from time to time. These articles are indexed in Consumer Index. Other magazines in the Consumer Information Center that offer interesting and useful consumer articles are Changing Times and the FDA Consumer, which is published by the Food and Drug Administration.

If you are looking for a bargain or a substantial discount, the Factory Outlet Shopping Guides contain a wealth of information. They cover New York, New Jersey, New England, Pennsylvania, Washington, D.C., Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and North and South Carolina. The guides provide information on the type of merchandise sold, the discounts offered, hours open and directions to each outlet. A similar book, the Save on Shopping Directory by Iris Ellis, is a directory of over 7,000 stores nationwide where you can buy quality merchandise at large discounts.

Special guides are available for particular products. For example, Consumer Guide has published The Best of Photographic Equipment and The Complete Guide to Stereo Equipment. A Consumer's Guide to Personal Computing and Microcomputers by Stephen Freiberger and Paul Chew, Jr. is a useful guide to this brand-new field.

Sometimes consumers need help getting a replacement or refund when a product is defective or doesn't work well. For those with a complaint, try Joseph Rosenbloom's Consumer Complaint Guide. This book describes the consumer's rights under the law and provides information on state, federal and local consumer agencies. The second part of the guide is a list of companies with the addresses, phone numbers and the name of the president of the company for those who wish to complain in writing or by phone. A similar book is John Dorfman's A Consumer Arsenal which is a tactics manual on where to go to complain about everything from appliances to vocational schools. Consumer protection agencies in each state are listed.

There are many free or inexpensive pamphlets on consumer information available from the federal government. When you visit the library's Consumer Information Center, pick up a copy of the Consumer Information Catalog so you can order pamphlets on home repairs, health, nutrition and a wide variety of other subjects.

Don't forget that if you don't find the information you need, ask for assistance from the librarian at the reference desk.

Bylsma benefit planned

Two neighbors of the John Bylsma family whose home on Cass Hill, Clarksville, was levelled by fire on May 3, are sponsoring a benefit dance and fund drive at the Hi-Chaporal, Rt. 85, New Salem, on Sunday, June 22, from 2 to 10 p.m. A donation of $5 is being requested for all persons over 12 years of age. Included will be a hot buffet, entertainment and dancing. Sponsors are Dorothy Percival of Ravenna and Florence Furman of Clarksville.

Sharing in the entertainment and music will be James S. Staats of South Bethlehem and his band, "Annie and The American Gentlemen," and Bob Sweet and his band, "The Sweet Country Wine" with their vocalist, Jean Marie. Mirinda Lynn, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Staats, will sing and dance, and 11-year-old twin brothers David and Danny Schissler will appear as "Double Vision." Contributions to the John Bylsma Fund may be sent to Mrs. Percival, Ravenna 12143.

Bomb incident probed

A 16-year-old Slingerlands youth has been ticketed for an appearance in Bethlehem justice court on a charge of unlawfully dealing in fireworks. The youth, whose name was withheld, was arrested at 2 p.m. Thursday by Officer James Corbett after police confiscated six M-80 explosive devices said to be in the youth's possession. A police spokesman described the device as "about four times the size of a cherry bomb and potentially dangerous."

Bethlehem police also are continuing an investigation into an accident at Bethlehem Central High School in which an explosion ripped apart a fire alarm device near the boys' gym. No one was injured in the blast, police said.

Blue Jays face 9-0 Pools here

Balked by rain that washed out two weekend doubleheaders, the Delmar Blue Jays will take on the area's most powerful baseball team, the White Sox-subsidized R&R Pools of Schenectady, in a 6 o'clock contest at the BCHS diamond tonight (Thursday).

The Pools are 9-0 on the year, have a team batting average of .408 and a cumulative ERA of 2.23.

The Blue Jays have rescheduled Youth Baseball Day in Delmar for Sunday, June 22, after Sunday's wash-out. On that date the Jays will play a nine-inning non-league game against the Dalton, Mass., Collegians, and will hold a drawing in the seventh inning for two box seats to a

New York Yankees game and for four major league baseballs.

The Blue Jays have acquired two new players, Neil Stickles, a 19-year-old short-stop who hit over .400 for Cobleskill Aggies, and Mike Hetman, a catcher who has returned to baseball after three seasons. Hetman spent three years in the Boston Red Sox minor league organization and played in the NY-Penn League, Florida State League, Western Carolina League and later with Louisville in Triple A.

This weekend, the Blue Jays play a Capital District League doubleheader against the Halfmoon Tigers at Harris Stadium, Halfmoon, and on Sunday travel to Dalton, Mass. for a non-league doubleheader at Pine Grove Park.

Pop Warner signups

Registration for Bethlehem Pop Warner Football players and cheerleaders will be held Sunday, June 22, from 1 to 4 at the Tri-Village Little League park, Kenwood Ave., Delmar. There will be three football teams this year for players 9 to 13 weighing 65 to 130 pounds, and three cheerleading squads for ages 9-13.

Rain fails to halt BTA net tourney

The Bethlehem Tennis Assn. spring tournament, harassed by rain, wind and lightening, is alive and moving.

Most of the tourney's first-round matches have been completed by players who pitched in with brooms, old towels, squeegees and rollers to clean and dry the courts at Bethlehem Middle School and Bethlehem town park.

Tournament co-chairman Stephanie Ragone and Cissy Stasiuk said a number of second-round matches are being played during the week, and have asked the Spotlight to publish this schedule for the coming weekend:

Men's and women's "B" singles entries should report to the Middle School courts at 8 a.m. Saturday. Men's and women's "A" singles should report at 1 a.m., mixed "B" doubles at 11 a.m., mixed "A" doubles at 12:30 and all remaining doubles at 1:30.

"We're trying to advance all matches to the same round," Ragone explained, "so that all players will have the same advantage as we enter the second weekend of this tournament."

Wildflower walk

An exploration of local wildflowers, their uses and origins will take place at Five Rivers Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar, on Tuesday, June 24, at 7 p.m. The 1½-hour outdoor walk will concentrate on "alien" plants and flowers that have been introduced to North America from Europe. Current status of protected plants in New York State will also be discussed.

Spring soccer starts

Bethlehem Soccer Club has opened its Capital District Soccer League season with nine teams and the second largest enrollment among 19 clubs in the league. On opening day, June 1, Bethlehem teams won six of eight matches and took five of eight last Sunday. The under-8 program has 72 players on six teams playing Saturday mornings at 11 at the BCHS field.

Track, jogging programs

Those who love to run or jog can participate in formalized programs in Bethlehem, thanks to the town's Parks and Recreation Dept.

programs for young people and adults. Young people in grades 4-12 can participate in track and field events and adults can participate in a jogging program, which includes weekly road races and "fun runs." The program will be held Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays at the Bethlehem Central High School track between 5 and 8 p.m. This program will begin June 24.

New grange club

A new youth group called the Bethlehem Young Patrons has been formed at Bethlehem Grange, Beckers Corners. Members will meet next week to plan future activities.

Records tumble in village race

Chilly temperatures and a steady drizzle failed to dampen the growing enthusiasm and reputation of Voorheesville's annual long distance race.

The fifth running of the event Saturday drew 170 entries, largest on record, for the 15-kilometer, (nine miles) Adirondack AAU championships, and 113 for the special 3.2 kilometer race, where the number of women entries doubled.

Last year's totals were 151 in the long distance and 57 in the special.

The competition also got a lot tougher. Carlo Cherubino, the Albany running machine, won the big event for the fifth straight time, shaving 3½ minutes off his 1979 pace for a new course record, but he had to share the lead for the first eight miles with Chris Sommo, 19, of Glens Falls. Cherubino won in 48:04, Sommo was second at 48:18 and Dennis Northrup of Selkirk, who won the Troy Marathon last month, was third at 50:41. Cherubino's winning time a year ago was 51:40 under a warm sun.

Last year's second-place finisher, Mike Geiss ran 14 seconds faster than in 1979, yet finished 18th.

Charlie Casey was the first Voorheesville runner to cross the line for the second year in a row. Casey repeated as the winner of the high school division in 52:34, a minute ahead of Tom Rissberger of Voorheesville. Bill Street of Delmar was third.

Voorheesville youngsters got a first and three seconds over the shorter course. Melanie Sembrat and Wendy Albert, both of Voorheesville, finished 1-2 in the under-18 women's event, Mike Deeley was second in the grade-school competition and John Rielly was second in the junior high division.

The results:

Open division - Carlo Cherubino, Albany, 48:04; Chris Sommo, Glens Falls, 48:18; Dennis Northrup, Selkirk, 50:41.

Masters (40-49) Don Wilkin, Delmar, 53:44; Herb Reilly, Voorheesville, 58:08; John Hurley, Oneonta, 60:03.

Sub-masters (30-39) - Gust Svanson, Boston, 51:22; Paul Murray, Albany, 52:31; Dennis Coletta, Scotia, 52:49.

Seniors (50 plus) - Bill Cooney, Colonie, 57:26; Charles Christian, Schenectady, 62:52; Robert Gill, Oneonta, 70:34.

High School - Charlie Casey, Voorheesville, 52:34; Tom Russberger, 53:33; Bill Street, Delmar, 55:33.

Short course - Charles Beach, 1049; Douglas Irons, 11:00.

Grade school boys - Tim McFarland, Schenectady, 14:06; Mike Deeley, Voorheesville, 14:29.

Held in car theft

A 16-year-old Clifton Park girl who was stopped by Bethlehem police for driving on the left on Lyons Rd, Cedar Hill, near the Hudson River town park at 8 a.m. Sunday was charged with criminal possession of stolen property and unlawful possession of marijuana. A police check showed the car had been stolen, and the young driver had no operator's license, police said. She was arraigned before Justice Roger Fritts in Bethlehem town court and remanded to Albany County Jail pending an appearance in town court tonight (Thursday). Police withheld her name under the youthful offender statute.

Invested as cantor

Jeffrey Klepper of Delmar has been invested as a cantor by Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion at graduation exercises in Temple Emanu-El, Manhattan.

In the course of his five years of study at the School of Sacred Music of Hebrew Union College leading to the degree of bachelor of sacred music, Cantor Klepper served as a student cantor at various times at congregations in New Brunswick, N.J., Ridgefield, Conn., and Chappaqua, N.Y. He also has been the music director of the Joseph Eisner Camp and was the founder of "Kol B'Seder," a Hebrew folkrock group. He is the composer of several liturgical melodies that have acquired popularity in camps of the National Federation of Temple Youth. He has been included in five NFTY record albums, singing many original songs.

Cantor Klepper is a member of Congregation Beth Emeth of Albany. At Bethlehem Central High School in Delmar, from which he was graduated in 1971, he participated in music, drama and journalism. He attended Clark University from 1971 to 1973, and was active there as a Hillel board member, in drama and as a religious school teacher for a synagogue in Worcester.

Honor The Coming Of Spring

Inspired by the first warm weather signaling the coming of spring, Sunny Day Pork Chops are colorful, tasty and a treat for the whole family. Seasoned coating mix for pork and ribs—barbecue style keeps the pork chops moist and flavorful, and the addition of orange and grapefruit sections to pan drippings provides a colorful, fruity sauce that's a welcome change of pace.

SUNNY DAY PORK CHOPS

- 8 pork chops, about 3/4 inch thick
- 1 envelope Shake 'n Bake seasoned coating mix for pork and ribs—barbecue style
- 1 can (11 oz.) mandarin orange sections
- 2 grapefruit, sectioned

Trim excess fat from chops; dip in water and gently pat dry, leaving chops slightly moist. Empty seasoned coating mix into shaker bag. Shake 1 or 2 chops at a time until evenly coated. Place on rack in 15x10-inch baking pan. Sprinkle any remaining mix evenly over chops. Bake at 350° for about 45 minutes. Always cook pork thoroughly. Place chops on serving platter. Add orange sections with syrup and grapefruit sections to drippings in pan. Stir over direct heat to blend and heat thoroughly. Serve with chops. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PREPAYMENT PENALTIES

You've sold your home. Your buyer obtained new financing with a new mortgage. Therefore, your old mortgage was, undoubtedly, paid in full with part of your proceeds from the sale. Paying off a mortgage in advance of its original loan length is known in the trade as "prepayment".

Many lenders today require a prepayment penalty if a mortgage is paid off prior to its original due date, and you'll find this can amount to several hundred dollars.

If you paid this penalty, don't forget that the Internal Revenue Service treats the prepayment penalty the same as interest—which can be a valuable deduction from your income tax.

But, in spite of the tax break, always try to bargain for the smallest prepayment penalty or no penalty at all. In fact, in many states, consumer-oriented laws have been passed which prohibit any prepayment penalties after the home loan has been in effect from three to five years.

Kudo for 'Nanette'

Editor, The Spotlight:

To say that the cast and crew (Stage 700 Club) of "No, No Nannette" put on a good show recently at the BCHS auditorium would be a gross understatement. It was outstanding. It was first class. I extend my congratulations and appreciation to everyone who contributed their time and talents to what was for me four enjoyable evenings. (When you see something good, you keep going back.)

Anyone who has participated in community theater can confirm that staging a major musical production requires a great deal of talent, time, dedication, and hard work. These attributes were in evidence in everyone's efforts, it would have to be Richard Feldman, who gathered together basically inexperienced (but willing) people and produced and directed a show so good that the audience, had it not known otherwise, might have suspected that "ringers" disguised as BCHS students were imported from Broadway to handle the musical and dance routines, in other words, the whole show.

The other day, my wife was brooding about not having a new outfit for a wedding she planned to attend. I told her, "I want to be happy, but I can't be happy, 'til I make you happy, too." So she took all my money and went out and bought a complete spring wardrobe. (She had seen the show, enjoyed it, and obviously learned something from it.) The moral of this story is: If you saw the BCHS production of "No, No Nannette," you were fortunate; if you missed the show, you no doubt heard how good it was and learned not to miss another. Nobody knows yet what Mr. Feldman and his Stage 700 Club plan for next year, but you can bet it will be a "gem."

Warm Weather Reminder

Residents of Bethlehem Water District No. 1 are reminded that the town's water conservation plan is in effect. Under the plan, public water can be used for sprinkling of lawns and ornamental shrubs only between 6 and 8 a.m. and 6 and 8 p.m. on an odd-even schedule.

Occupants of even-numbered houses may water only on even-numbered days of the month, odd numbers on the alternate days. Where there are no house numbers, it's the north or east on even days, south and west on the odd.
