Town eliminating its last bridge

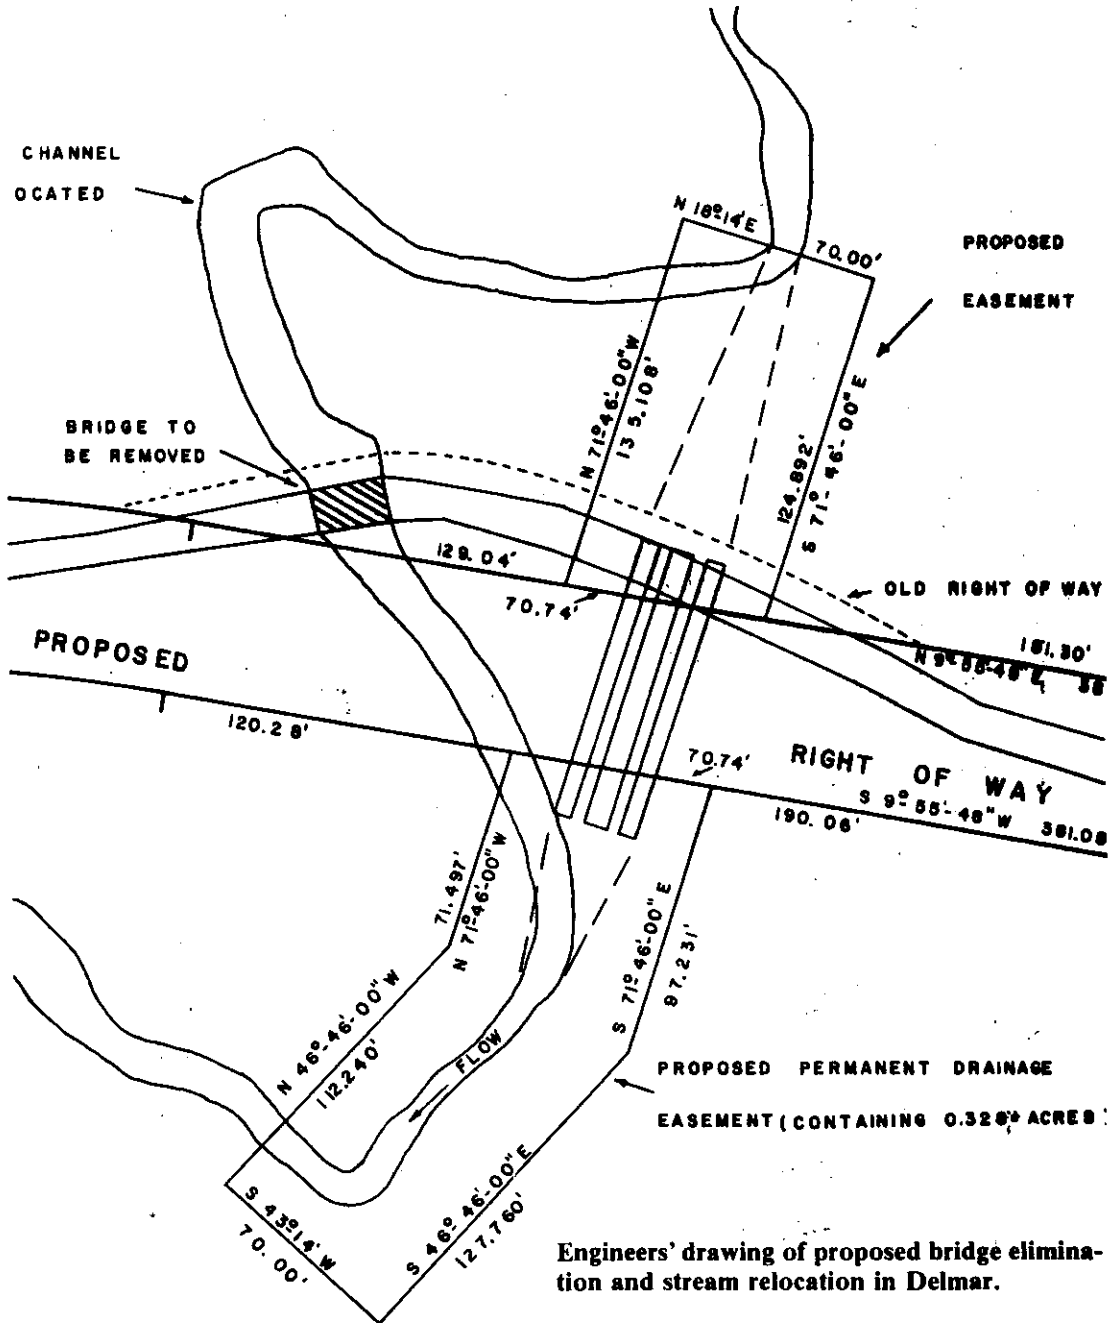

The only highway bridge owned and maintained by the town of Bethlehem is slated for oblivion this fall.

The rusting single-lane, steel-beam wooden deck span that carries Van Dyke Rd. over the Phillipinkill will be removed by the town highway department as part of a major road improvement project. Town engineer Bruce Secor said the plans call for straightening and widening Van Dyke Rd. for several hundred feet on each side of the stream, installing three culverts to carry the stream under the road, and adding guide rails on the roadsides.

The stream bed itself will be straightened and realigned for a distance of about 200 feet. Three corrugated metal culverts will be laid parallel in the new stream bed, Secor said, two seven-foot pipes and one eight-foot pipe, each approximately 100 feet long.

The road itself will be widened from the present 18 feet to 24 feet, plus four-foot shoulders on each side. Secor also said the top of a small hill on the north side of the stream would be shaved to provide better sight lines for drivers.

At its regular meeting last week, the town board approved an offer of $3,500 to Irving (Pop) Leonard, who owns the property on both sides of Van Dyke Rd., for the purchase of land necessary to widen the right-of-way from the present 33 feet to 60 feet and to buy the piece needed for the relocation project. The town also is seeking a permanent easement for access to the relocated stream bed.

Engineers' drawing of proposed bridge elimination and stream relocation in Delmar.

The town's original application was submitted to the Safer-Off System of the federal highway program in 1976. According to town hall, the current estimate on the cost of the project is $80,000, to be covered by 70 percent federal funding, 24 percent state funds and six percent town money. The application was processed by the State Dept. of Transportation through Albany County engineers.

Supt. of Highways Martin Cross, Jr. said the section of Van Dyke Rd. affected by the bridge elimination would be closed for several months, starting some time in September.

Board okays sewer plans

The New Scotland town board has given the go-ahead to formation of a Heldervale sewer district, which would be tied in to the town of Bethlehem system in Slingerlands.

A public hearing on the $287,000 proposal last week drew some 15 residents to the New Scotland town hall. With Supervisor Steve Wallace on vacation and board member George Hotaling also absent, Wyman Osterhout, Kenneth Tice and Herbert Reilly supplied the "ayes."

James K. Fraser of the engineering firm of J. Kenneth Fraser and Associates outlined the plan for the district, which is eligible, he said, for as much as 85 percent federal funding of initial costs. The annual charge per household served would be about $265, Fraser said, including a flat rate charge and a water meter surcharge.

The plan calls for installation of holding tanks with grinder pumps in each of the 34 homes in the district. Wastewater would be pumped through small, plastic lines to a larger main which would connect with the Bethlehem system on Rt. 85. The pumps would be owned and maintained by the sewer district, Fraser said.

In urging adoption of the proposal, Richard Svenson of the Albany County Health Dept. said: "This is the ultimate solution—not repairs (to present septic systems)."

In response to concern expressed about possible future development in contiguous areas. Town Attorney Fred Riester observed that new residents could petition the town board to extend the Heldervale sewer district or could undertake formation of a new district.

Reilly asked why the engineers who drew the boundaries for the planned district did not include a trio of nearby homes. Fraser replied: "We weren't asked to." Acknowledging that the boundaries are "more or less arbitrary," he observed that among requirements for inclusion in a federally funded sewer district is a "demonstration of need."

With an Aug. 1 deadline for the funding application looming, Reilly opted not to delay the project in order to redraw its boundaries.

The application for federal funding is to accompany Bethlehem's bid for federal aid on its planned multi-million-dollar sewer district expansion.

BETHLEHEM Residents press for fluoridation

Bethlehem town board members have received a growing number of requests to take action on fluoridization of the town's water system, most of them from professionals.

The matter came up, along with presentation of additional information and support, at last Wednesday's regular board session. Among those who have appeared during the last two meetings are two dentists, a biochemist and a pediatrician.

There are indications—but nothing official—that the board will give residents of the water district an opportunity to vote on the issue, which some 15 years ago caused a major controversy in which emotions ran high.

"It has been scientifically proven that there are 60 percent fewer cavities when water is fluoridated," Dr. Joseph Hart told the board. "I would like to see Bethlehem added to the list of those towns with fluoridation," he said.

Fluoridation treatments cost money, he pointed out, and so do pills. And people just don't go to have treatments or to take the pills. It is better to have it right in the water supply, Dr. Hart said.

Dr. Edwin Pesnell, head of pediatrics at St. Peter's Hospital, urged community-wide fluoridation, claiming that fluoride pills are not practical. They are costly, people forget to take them, and they are especially difficult to administer to children, he said. It is very important, he emphasized, that children have fluoride during the first few formative years, when their system is growing and developing.

Dr. Gary Nelson, a Delmar dentist, added that there is no longer anything controversial in the fluoride issue. He contended that it has been proven to be non-harmful and beneficial in cavity prevention. Walter Mastropaolo, a biochemist, agreed.

In other action, the board set Aug. 13 at 8 p.m. as a date for a public hearing on the request of Ralph Tipple, public safety commissioner, for changes in traffic conditions in several places.

Tipple requested a stop sign and designation of a through street at the intersection of

It was agreed that Phil Mahar, director of parks and recreation, would be asked to attend the next meeting to discuss the request of the Little League for ball fields at the town park.

The meeting was chaired by Ruth Bickel, deputy supervisor, in the absence of Supervisor Tom Corrigan, who was ill.

Cadets promoted

Two students from Delmar received military promotions in the Norwich University Corps of Cadets for the academic year 1980-81. Randy J. Grenier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grenier, 106A Cherry Ave., was promoted to first lieutenant, and William J. Gray, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, 21 Heather Lane, was promoted to corporal. Grenier was also on the Dean's List.

Robert G. Conway, 9 Kensington Ct., Delmar, a former assistant attorney general for the State of New York, is returning to private law practice as an associate of Daniel H. Mahoney with offices at 8 Elk St., Albany. For the past 10 years Conway has served the state as a trial lawyer in the Claims and Litigation Bureau. He previously was in private practice with his father, the late John J. Conway, and uncle, Edward S. Conway, a State Supreme Court judge, at 50 State St., Albany. Robert Conway's brother, John J. Conway, Jr., is a State Supreme Court judge in Rochester. Attorney Conway said he plans to open an office in Delmar in the near future.

VOORHEESVILLE

Village denies plea for water

Approximately 20 families living along Swift Rd., Voorheesville, have apparently lost their last chance for a hookup to a public water system.

A request by New Scotland town Supervisor Steve Wallace to extend the village water district was unanimously turned down by the village board last week. Wallace submitted the request after the town board had tossed cold water on the petition of residents who live just outside the village district seeking to "alleviate hardship" from their dependence on their own wells. Earlier, a petition to the New Scotland town board to set up a new water district to hook into the Bethlehem trunk line on Rt. 85 was doused.

The two boards, however, had different reasons for rejecting the residents' efforts to get public water. New Scotland, which last week unanimously approved a new water district for the Helder-vale section of Slingerlands, noted that the water pressure is zero at the proposed Swift Rd. tap-in on Rt. 85 because the southern end of Swift Rd. and the Bethlehem "holding pool" next to the Shelley farm were identical, thus saddling the proposed users with pumping costs Supervisor Steve Wallace calls prohibitive.

The Voorheesville board rejected the proposal on the basis of conservation. The board was unwilling to extend the present boundaries of the water district.

"I am totally opposed to selling water outside the village," declared Mayor Milton Bates. "We have an adequate supply for the village of Voorheesville, and I don't favor taxing it anymore."

Bates made the statement at last week's board session, attended by village officials, four residents and two newspaper reporters. His sentiments were supported by trustees William F. Gray III and Richard Langford and by village attorney Donald Meacham.

Said Gray: "I think people have a legitimate problem, but I've always said there's a lot of undeveloped land in the village, and there could be a land boom." Added Langford: "I'm with Bill. Right now we're all right, but that doesn't mean we'll be all right in the future."

In an unrelated action, the board tabled a request by a non-profit Albany organization to conduct a door-to-door canvass of the village. The New York Public Interest Research Group, Inc., describing itself as a non-partisan unit organized in 1973, said its concerns center on consumer problems, political reform and environmental quality. It is seeking to distribute information to local householders, solicit small contributions and recruit support for its efforts to gain legislative action in the public interest.

At the same time, the board denied permission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons) to conduct missionary visitations to homes in the village.

Big stereo haul

A Glenmont businessman who moved to Virginia two weeks ago leaving a garage full of new stereo equipment to be sold to a Cobleskill dealer told police over the weekend that thieves had cleaned out the garage. Bethlehem detectives said the door latch to the garage in Colonial Acres had been pried with a knife. Missing are $10,440 worth of stereo systems, tuners, receivers, turntables, a color TV set, cassettes and 500 tapes, police said.

Fresh Air visitors 'family' now

Andrea and Mignon Callender admit that they felt homesick the first summer or two, but after six years with the Saroff family on Spruce Ct. in Delmar, they feel right at home.

Linda and Elliot Saroff and their 8-year-old daughter, Brooke, are part of the Fresh Air program, a program that enables city children to spend two weeks with a host family in the suburbs or in the country.

Andrea, 13, and Mignon, 11, arrived July 15 from their home on West 112th St. in Manhattan, where they live with their mother. For two weeks the sisters, along with Brooke and a neighbor or two, swam, rode bikes and ate ice cream in Delmar. Andrea claims she likes "everything" about her yearly visit. "It's nice and quiet here; the air is fresher and the people are friendlier."

Mignon enjoys swimming and amusement park rides, like the ones they both rode at Hoffman's Playland and Riverside Park.

"We took them to a farm one year," Linda Saroff recalled as she watched the girls at the Woodgate poolside. "They were enthralled with the cows and chickens. they had never seen a cow up close before." The Saroffs also took Andrea and Mignon camping, but the girls didn't like that as much. "It's too buggy!" Mignon exclaimed.

Linda Saroff heard about the Fresh Air program from her sister, who heads the program in Boston. Their own daughter, Brooke, was 2½ years old when they decided to take in another child for two weeks. Since Andrea and Mignon understandably did not want to be separated, Linda and Elliot invited them both.

Linda and the girls claim that nothing much has changed in six years. "We've grown closer," Linda mentioned. "We write and call back and forth, especially Brooke. They're like family to us." And as she tells Mignon to fix her hair, Linda Saroff laughs. "You see, I'm just like a mother."

WALL ST. REPORT

by Timothy M. McGinn
Account Vice President

THE TAX CUT — THE RHETORIC RISES

The collapse in economic activity has made enactment of a tax cut during 1980 not merely possible, but probable. In election year jockeying, the Carter Administration is put in an awkward position of doing another policy flip-flop by jettisoning a commitment to a balanced budget in favor of a tax cut to stem the recession. Ronald Reagan has upstaged the President by calling for an immediate tax cut to take effect January 1, 1981. Reagan wants a 10% across-the-board reduction in individual income tax rates. The Reagan plan also calls for an acceleration in business writeoffs of plant and equipment expenditures, and ultimately the introduction of indexing to the tax system. The complete Reagan package would cost more than $30 billion in 1981. In the Senate, Republicans have already tried unsuccessfully to attach a tax cut rider to the debt ceiling bill that would have adopted about two-thirds of the tax reductions in the Reagan plan.

The likely timing of the Administration's unveiling of its own tax package is mid-July, coinciding with or immediately following the Republican convention, thereby diluting some of the media attention the COP would be getting. The political value of a tax cut is clear, but the immediate economic impact is less obvious. There is only a small prospect that the tax cut will have a significant influence on 1981 economic results. The voting public's 60-70% portion of the expected $25 billion tax cut, when divided by the number of households, will provide only modest benefits to the consumer. Inflation has gone a long way in reducing the real purchasing power generated by the typical postwar tax cut of $20-25 billion. We are cynical enough to believe that Administration officials see more political advantage in the publicity surrounding the debate leading up to passage of the tax bill than in the actual dollars and cents taxpayers will save.

Lyndhurst plans hit a roadblock

Final plans for the 34-lot Lyndhurst subdivision are still on the table before the Bethlehem planning board.

Board members, functioning under the temporary chairmanship of John T. LaForte, have declined to give final approval to the proposed residential development north of Surrey Mall and Middlesex in Slingerlands. The board tabled the request by Rosen-Michaels, a leading local developer, until conditions specified in the preliminary approval have been met.

Among those conditions is approval by Bethlehem's consulting engineer of the drainage plan for the development, without which the Albany County Dept. of Health will not give its blessing. Also needed are final plans for the installation of electric power, gas and telephone systems from Niagara Mohawk and New York Telephone Co.

The subdivision is in a Residential Double-AA zone, which permits some duplex dwellings under certain restrictions.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lang got a personal note from President Carter on their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday in Elsmere. Spotlight

Note 50th anniversary

One of Bethlehem's most popular and best known town employees celebrated a major milestone Saturday when William L. and Marie Lang observed their 50th wedding anniversary. Relatives and friends gathered in their manicured yard at 20 Snowden Ave., Elsmere, to toast the couple, wed at Gallupville July 26, 1930 by Rev. D.C. Abbott. President Carter sent a personal card, Main Care sent a colorful bouquet, everybody in town hall signed a card, and there were many gifts.

Hundreds of Bethlehem

residents know Bill Lang as the efficiency expert at Bethlehem's recycling facility at 127 Adams St. In the gathering Saturday were the couple's three children, Mrs. John (Helene) Van Nosedall, Mrs. Kenneth (Marcia) Burt and Mrs. William (Janice) Drozd, all of Delmar, seven grandchildren, and their great-grandson, Lucas Willey, son of Patricia Burt Willey and her husband, David.

As the group assembled for the celebration, Bill Lang noted that July 26, 1930 "was also a Saturday." The couple has lived in Delmar for 64 years.

We'd tell you enthusiastically about The Craftworks Gallery, about Checkmate (where they have fantastic dollhouse miniatures and lovely oriental china) and about A Chip Off the Old Block, where butcher block and contemporary lifestyle furniture, kitchen gadgetry, and customized woodworking is available. We'd rave about the plants and antiques and flower arrangements to be found at Gully's of Robinson Square. But...we hone in on two or three especially meaningful to Tri-Village residents because our fellow citizens are involved.

We found Carol Voorhees, daughter of the James Voorhees of Clarkson Rd., Delmar, and a graduate of fabric design from Syracuse University, at Suzanne Roquet, Ltd., a truly delightful place. Carol has been with Suzanne for over a year, and her specialty is custom wall hangings and custom-colored decorative pillows. Ms. Roquet is a native of the Troy area and a graduate of Moore Institute of Art in Philadelphia.

The shop features Mari-mekko fabrics, beddings, and towels, and contemporary furniture, which is only found in New York show rooms and is imported from Europe. They do custom work in upholstery, slipcovers, draperies and vertical blinds and work cleverly with their decorative print fabrics. This is a creative shop where the unusual in home decor is achieved by very personal and skilled service.

With summertime demanding many little gifts for hostesses and special events, we refer you to two shops owned by Glen and Cynthia Horstman, who formerly lived on Wellington Rd., Delmar. Their first shop is Crab-tree and Evelyn, located at 299 Hamilton St., with a charming handpainted sign decreeing "Purveyors of fine, imported soaps, toiletries and comestibles based on natural ingredients for gentlemen and gentlewomen."

If you're looking for the perfect gift for a hostess or host, stop in there and pick up one of their very inexpensive but charming baskets (they range from a tiny one of some 3 inches to large 12- and 15-inch baskets). Then, make a selection from the wonderful soaps or from foodstuffs such as chutney, jams, jellies, etc...and fill the basket. Voila! A very personal and very wonderful gift. (The tiny baskets are lovely, too, filled with an aromatic pot pourri!) This shop will mail gift items, too, and if there's a man in your life who likes a good old-fashioned shaving brush and mug and soap, you'll find a tremendously attractive selection of all three!

Right next door is the Horstman's other shop, called Le Chocolatier. Diet be darned when you venture into its wonders! We were lured to sample the liqueur chocolates...a melt-in-the-mouth creamy blend which the enthusiastic salesperson declared to be the "hottest piece of candy in the shop!" We found other marvels...lovely bonbons from France...hard little candies with fruit centers, decorated marzipan, fruit slices and wondrous specialties such as tiny little chocolate dessert shells which are so hard to find.

We were told that there is a family in New England that makes the hand-dipped chocolates (a true adventure in eating!) and that others are made by Godwin. We couldn't resist buying one of the may large lollipops (the ones saying "I love New York" are the tourists' treasures) and we went home with a package of their teenie, beanies...(jelly beans in miniature which come in 24—count them and eat them—flavors!) Oh, yes, and here at the Chocolatier is a nice assortment of tinware and lucite containers. Customers choose one...have it filled...and presto—a lasting holder for edibles which keep the sweet tooth's memory mellow!

OVER 50?
 Over weight? Over fat? Over tired? Over the hill? You needn't be, you know! As WOMEN age, they develop osteoporosis — weakening of the bones, causing excessive breakage. As MEN age, they develop cardiovascular disease, causing debility and death.

BOTH PROBLEMS CAN BE CONTROLLED. "The Best Routine," according to Dr. Everett Smith (Director - Bio Gerontology Lab, Univ. of Wisconsin) is a n exercise that works all the main muscles and bones. Jogging is not enough. Arm stress exercises including weights are in order; Aerobic dancing gets everything moving. As long as your back, arms and legs get plenty of stress, osteoporosis and heart problems can be help to a minimum. A schedule of 30 minutes of exercise a day, 3 times a week, ought to do the trick."

That's the TFC schedule — with both WEIGHT TRAINING and AEROBIC DANCING, for BOTH MEN and WOMEN — regardless of age. Come on down and find out how exercise can help you stay healthy!

Scouts on cruise

Scouts of Delmar Troop 58 BSA, enjoyed 10 days of sailing July 13-22 as their "long term" summer trip this year. The troop was on board the 60-foot brigantine, "St. Lawrence II" at Kingston, Ont. to gain experience as members of the crew before traveling northeast on the St. Lawrence River to Prescott, Ont. where they will participate in the re-enactment of the Battle of Fort Wellington across the river from Ogdensburg. Both Canadian and American units took part on Saturday and Sunday, complete with uniforms of the period, for this restaging of a battle in the War of 1812.

Under the leadership of Scoutmaster Ken Bauer, Elsmere, the troop raised money for this adventure. Brian Gallagher and Jan Van Hosen provided transportation and assistance for the 400-mile trek. Others on the trip were Assistant Scoutmaster Jim Ross, Craig Gallagher, Jim Ross, Jeff Ross, Tom Denham, John Zucker, Rob Leslie, Andy Tomlinson, Anton Corman, Eric Burt, Paul Miles and Joe O'Brien. Harold Tomlinson of Delmar helped make arrangements for seamanship training aboard the steel-hulled sailing vessel, which was built in 1953 expressly for youth training. She represented Canada at Operation Sail in 1964 and at Expo '67, and was at the USA's Bicentennial in New York Harbor in 1976.

Spotlight

VOORHEESVILLE

The carnival was a big success

Colleen Taylor got the idea from a cousin in Rotterdam to put on a carnival to benefit muscular dystrophy. Paige Hotaling thought it was a great idea, especially as something for kids to do in the summer time.

They sent for the kit Jerry Lewis has for just such a thing, and last Thursday drew more than 100 kids to Colleen's yard at 35 Scotch Pine, Voorheesville. The nickels, dimes and quarters poured in from little hands as everybody took turns at games, including foul shooting, knock-the-milk-cartons, ring toss, marble shoot, sponge throw and a miniature golf game Colleen set up with a croquet set. The penny pitch onto dishes was a big money-maker, the girls said.

Kid brothers Chad Hotaling, 6, and Kevin Taylor, 7, along with neighbor Scott Burby, 7, were clowns adding to the carnival atmosphere, and there were plenty of cookies, pop corn and cool-aid.

The girls also raffled hot fudge sundaes, donuts and a slew of other prizes donated by commercial sponsors they went to in advance, sponsors like the Railroad Junction ice cream shop, Dunkin' Donuts, New Scotland Pharmacy, Radio Shack, Crannell Lumber, Ricci's Market, Bagel Magic, Kimline Pet Shop, Price Chopper, Greulich's Market, Home Savings Bank and Voorheesville Liquor. The latter establishment refrained from donating its regular merchandise, and contributed a display sign.

When Paige and Colleen counted the small bills and a mountain of change, they found they had $93.70.

Ex-resident wed

Elaine P. Holbrook of Albany, formerly of Delmar, and John L. Hallock of Rochester were married July 1 at the First Presbyterian Church, Albany, Rev. Robert Lamar performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallock were attended by their children, Gwen, Jeffrey and Jennifer Holbrook and Tracy and John Hallock.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eaton of Glenmont. The couple took a wedding trip to Bermuda.

Dolphins shatter 2 meet records

Four young freestylers from the Delmar Dolphins shaved five full seconds off an Adirondack regional AAU meet record Sunday.

Twenty-nine members of the local swim club brought home 37 medals, including six first places, in the Adirondack District long-course age group Junior Olympic championships at Clifton Park over the weekend. There were 379 swimmers from 18 club teams, plus unattached swimmers, competing in 88 events.

The Delmar foursome of Doug Schulz, Scott Apicelli, Matt Holland and Dave Young set a new meet record of 4:24.45 in the boys' 13-14 400-meter relay, retiring the old mark of 4:29.69 held by the SUNYA Swim Club.

Janet Shaffer of the Dolphins lowered the girls' 13-14 record for the 50-meter freestyle, clipping more than half a second from the previous mark of :29.30 seconds. Janet's time was :28.95.

Other first places went to Jay Henahan in the boys' 15-18 200- and 400-meter individual medley, and Donna Schulz in the 200-meter backstroke and 100-meter breaststroke. Henahan also had seconds in the 200 free and 200 breast and a fifth in the 100 back. Schulz placed fourth in the 200 and 400 IM.

Doug Schulz had seconds in boys' 13-14 200 IM and breaststroke, and Kim Meindert, swimming in girls' 15-18 division, took second in the 200-meter backstroke. Matt Holland had six individual medals from third to sixth place, Dave Young four and Scott Apicelli three in boys' 13-14. Kathleen Henahan and Becky Friedlander each had a medal for placing in girls' 13-14 events and Lynn Apicelli had two in the girls' 11-12 class.

Blue Jays face loop champions

Schenectady's R&R Pools and Schuylerville's Capital District League champions, perhaps the two strongest teams in the area, pay visits to the Delmar Blue Jays this week in banner attractions for local baseball fans.

Lefty Rick Lombardo will face the widely travelled Pools, whose 32-3 record includes a loss to the Blue Jays at Schenectady, in a clash tonight (Thursday) at 6 p.m. at BCHS field. On Sunday Schuylerville will be here for a makeup double-header, starting at 12:30. The two teams, who met in a playoff last year, have not seen each other this year due to three rained out dates, and the postponements have set up a "must" situation for both clubs.

The urgency comes from the fact that the two Delmar games will count belatedly in the first-half standings and the Blue Jays, 5-1 in the early going, must sweep to gain the league playoffs. The rained-out twin bill at Schuylerville will count in the second-half standings, and the Jays, with three defeats, cannot make the playoffs by that route.

Over the weekend the Blue Jays swept a double bill with Colonie Shamrocks in Delmar, 4-3 and 12-1, and suffered a letdown Sunday in a 7-1 setback at Rotterdam. The three contests left the Blue Jays 18 and 9.

On Saturday the Blue Jays pulled the first game out with two outs in the final frame when Mike Usher scored on a fielder's choice. Ken White doubled home two runs in the first inning, only to have Colonie take a 3-2 lead in the sixth. The Blue Jays tied it in the bottom half on Usher's single and a triple by Harry Lennon. John MacDonald had his stuff working and rationed six hits with only one troublesome inning.

Mike Ruslander, a hometown product who jumped from Bethlehem Central to the RPI varsity, slugged a triple to spark a two-run second inning in the nightcap. The Blue Jays exploded for eight in the fourth, climaxed by Ken Gall, who rocketed a home run that dropped in the middle of the youth league soccer field in left with two aboard. (With no soccer game in progress, no one was struck by the plummeting baseball.)

At Rotterdam, the Jays were taken out of a rally when Mickey Brantley's 350-foot smash with two on was hauled down against the fence in left center.

In Slingerlands, the Spotlight is sold at Convenient Food Mart, the Toll Gate and New Scotland Pharmacy.

BASEBALL
V'ville Legion
nine hopeful

Voorheesville's young American Legion baseball team is scheduling pick-up games in preparation for a tournament after finishing the league season with hard-luck 6-15 mark. The team lost nine games by a total of 14 runs.

The loss of Rick Flagler, last year's bating champion, early in the year was costly. Flagler, a Berne-Knox High School star, had a 2.85 ERA as a pitcher when he was sidelined with a leg injury, but is expected back next year.

Jim Woods of Middleburgh High, who went 3-0 on the rubber with a 2.50 ERA, and Rick Countryman, a home-grown Voorheesville High product who led the offense with a .416 average and a .580 slugging percentage, took up the slack.

Manger Jerry Gordinier was encouraged by the team's last two games. His boys pushed Fort Orange five extra innings, under the lights at Bleecker Stadium before yeilding, 6-2, in the 12th, and came back to edge Amsterdam, 7-6, in nine innings at New Scotland town park.

Returning next year besides Flagler and Countryman are Chris Clark, Bob Flynn and John Franklin from Voorheesville and Bill

Van Dyke of Berne-Knox. Players interested in trying out for next year's team should call Gordinier at 765-4815.

Practice starts for Pop Warner

Three Bethlehem Pop Warner football teams instead of two will start practice for the 1980 season Monday, Aug. 4, at the Hamagrael School field. Frank Kelly, president of the local organization, says there are still openings for boys 12-14 weighing 100 to 130 pounds, and a need for experienced coaches for the 9-12 age level.

An extra registration will be held at the field all next week, Aug. 4-8, for players. Residents willing to volunteer as coaches may call Kelly at 439-2446.

Girls interested in joining one of the three cheerleading squads may register Monday, Aug. 4, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Bethlehem will again field teams in the Capital District Pop Warner Federation leagues in the Pee Wee (9-12) and Junior Midget (10-13) divisions, and will enter the Midget (11-14) division for the first time.

Another innovation: home games will be played this year at Hamagrael instead of the Middle School field. The season opens Sept. 7, but the schedules aren't out yet.

The Impact of External Appeal

The external appearance of your home has an important impact on potential buyers. You will never get a prospect interested unless he stops to look. Don't rely on the inside of your home "selling" it. Your prospect may be "turned off" before he reaches the front door. So look at the exterior with a critical eye.

Give the house a fresh coat of paint if needed. Replace any broken or cracked windows. Replace loose shingles. Fix the fence. Keep the lawn mowed and the shrubs trimmed to give your house that "well-cared-for" look. Make sure your screen or storm door is in top shape and your wooden door is inviting with a fresh coat of paint or varnish. It is not uncommon to see a hundred dollars worth of improvements and some elbow grease increase the value of a house over a thousand dollars.

Put yourself in the buyer's shoes. He is looking for charm, comfort, location and a bargain. Give him the best show for the money.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of Real Estate, please phone or drop in at Century 21 - Betty Lent Real Estate, 208 Delaware Ave., Delmar. Phone 439-9336.

WE'RE THE NEIGHBORHOOD PROFESSIONALS FOR YOU.

A Delmar couple, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dorr, pose next to the old-fashioned carriage serving as the symbol of the Chadwick Square town house development being built by Rosen-Michaels off Wemple Rd., Glenmont, after becoming the first purchaser of a "carriage home" in the subdivision.

Black mark for town

Editor, The Spotlight:

Since mainly bicycle thefts are reported in The Spotlight, I would like to bring to the attention of Bethlehem town residents that my daughter's "Strolee Wee-Care Car Seat" was stolen from my car on July 10 at the Elm Ave. Park while my son was taking his swimming lesson.

While it was difficult to believe anyone would steal a child's car seat, especially between 12 noon and 2 p.m. when there is a constant flow of people in and out of the parking lot, I simply want to encourage everyone to lock their cars to prevent a similar incident.

Oil tax repeal

Editor, The Spotlight:

It's almost impossible for an editor to prevent all errors in publications, but one made in the July 24 Spotlight, quoting me on the county sales tax on home heating fuel, is so important I must correct it.

A few words dropped from the second paragraph of the story made it appear that I said the Democrats in the County Legislature supported the repeal of the 3 percent county tax on home heating fuel.

The record shows the Democrat-controlled Legislature for years blocked the Republican efforts to repeal this burdensome tax. Only after the July 14 meeting of the Legislature, did the Democrat leadership give any indication that action to relieve our citizens of this tax might be possible. Bethlehem voters understand, I'm sure, that since the Democrats have a two-thirds majority in the County Legislature, they can block all Republican efforts.

Republican representatives are doing their utmost to get rid of this tax. Support us by letters, petitions and attendance at meetings of the County Legislature.

Five words inadvertently were dropped in our typesetting process and the error got past the editor reading proof. The statement attributed to Mrs. Ritchko should have appeared thus: "Although the Democrat-controlled County Legislature has delayed Republican efforts to remove the county tax on home heating fuel for months, our persistent efforts to get action appear to have made an impression on the majority party." The Spotlight regrets the omission. Ed.
