BETHLEHEM

These companies top town's assessment rolls

You could call them Bethlehem's most prominent corporate citizens — the companies which top the town tax rolls and pay a lot of the bills.

Bethlehem is, of course, still primarily a residential community, and the high-assessment companies listed here provide only about a quarter of all the town's tax revenue.

And assessments are complicated by a number of special exceptions. Two of the top 13 firms are exempt because of their status as federally-supported agencies. Assessments for utilities are set by the state Board of Equalization and Assessment, rather than by town assessor Gilbert Houk. And a number of special deals have been imposed on localities by state legislation designed to either encourage new business or bail out firms in trouble.

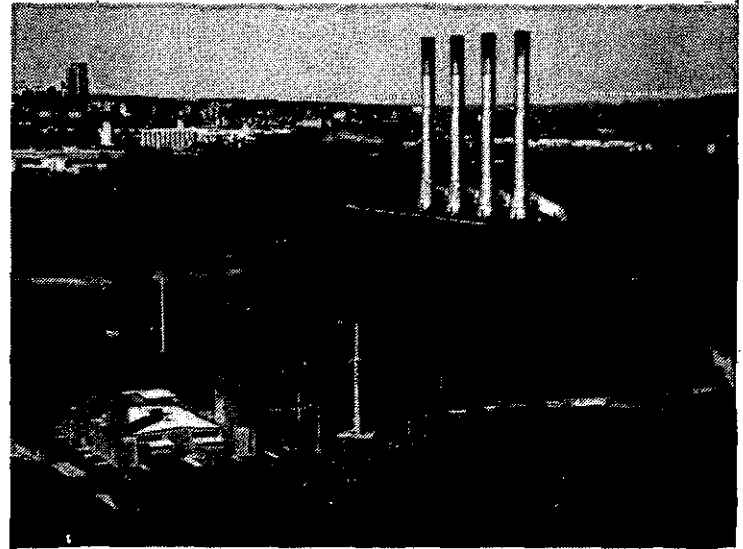

Here is Houk's list of the top assessed companies in Bethlehem. Bear in mind that the assessed values are only a small fraction (13 percent, based on current state figures) of the true market value of the properties.

• Topping the list is Niagara Mohawk, assessed this year at $17,146,029, up $49,000 from last year. That assessment is set not by Houk but by the state (which also allows utilities to pass through the taxes they pay to their customers.) Niagara Mohawk has announced plans to spend $6 million this year at the Glenmont plant to convert boilers from oil to gas; that will mean "a sizeable increase next year" for Bethlehem, says Houk.

• General Electric's Noryl plant in Selkirk is next, assessed at $2,772,000.

• Then comes Conrail, whose sprawling yards in Selkirk pose all sorts of complications for the assessor. By Houk's calculations the public rail corporation should be assessed $3,289,000 for its Bethlehem holdings. But because of a state-imposed ceiling, designed to protect the fragile railroad industry in its near bankruptcy days, the actual assessment on the railroad properties is only $1,576,470, plus $49,200 for property not protected by the ceiling because it is not used for transportation purposes.

• New York Telephone is assessed at $1,465,498, and again the bulk of that assessment is set by the state. Houk this year added $35,900 to the utility's assessment for its new Delmar switching office.

• Owens-Corning is assessed at $1,202,800.

• The City of Albany is Bethlehem's sixth largest taxpayer because its water supply system runs through the town. For the water filtration plant, settling tanks and the conduit which runs through the town, Albany is assessed at $1,154,800.

• The Job Corps property on Rt. 144 in Glenmont is assessed at $600,000, but since the former monastery is owned by the Federal Government the town gets income only for water and fire protection.

• Sears Petroleum in Glenmont is assessed at $581,000.

• Delaware Plaza, owned by Albany Attorney and State Sen. Howard Nolan and Slingerlands builder Norris MacFarland, is assessed at $579,472.

• The Blue-Cross-Blue-Shield building off the Slingerlands Bypass is assessed at $522,600, but is also exempt from property taxes.

• The Exxon facility in Glenmont is assessed at $516,000.

• Bethlehem Terrace Associates, owner of the town's largest apartment complex, pay taxes on $514,900 in assessed valuation.

• And Texaco, which is reported to be planning to close its facility in Glenmont, is assessed at $410,000.

Because of Niagara Mohawk's plans, the town can look forward to a major boost in assessed value next year. But other developments could level that increase out.

Elsmere jogger flashes by Working with an understandably skimpy description, Bethlehem police have their eye out for a young man who apparently likes to jog in the nude on the path which runs along the Albany water line in Elsmere.

Three people told police they spotted the man last Tuesday around 11:30 a.m. The first report came from two Poplar Dr. residents, who said the man — described as about six feet tall, 160 pounds, with brown hair and a good tan — ran past them carrying a pair of blue satin shorts.

At about the same time, a woman walking a dog near Linda Ct. also saw the man, who ran past her before putting on the shorts. The woman told police she had also seen the man July 9, at about the same time of day, on the path. That time, she said, the man was jogging and also exercising a dog. After he jogged a short distance, he put his shorts on and ran off.

Visitor revived at poolside

A 75-year-old New York City man who came to Delmar to visit his son was in serious condition at Albany Medical Center Hospital this week after suffering a severe heart attack while swimming in the Elm Ave. Park pool. Thomas Green, father of Denis J. Green, 26 Montrose Dr., was seized with cardiac arrest at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Pool personnel who pulled the stricken man from the water and immediately applied cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) said the victim "had no pulse and was not breathing" for the first two minutes. "Medically, he was dead," said Ray Linstruth, a Bethlehem police officer who was one of the paramedics at the scene with the Delmar Rescue Squad. "When we got there, he had a slow pulse rate. It soon went up and he began to breathe on his own."

Linstruth credited pool attendants for saving the man's life. "They brought him around," he said. Commented Green's son: "I can't say enough for the lifeguards and paramedics. They did a superb job, and there's no question they saved his life. They knew what they were doing. It was very impressive."

The attendants at the pool were John Nyilis, a Bethlehem Central High School varsity swimmer who was the lifeguard on duty and who blew the whistle sounding the emergency procedure; Kirk Harmon, assistant supervisor; Mike FitzPatrick, a lifeguard, and Bob Hedderman, a former pool supervisor. Harmon and FitzPatrick lifted the stricken man from the pool, where he was floating face down, and Harmon and Hedderman began CPR awaiting the arrival of the ambulance. When his pulse and breathing returned, Green was put under oxygen and rushed to the hospital.

Harmon is a student at Albany Medical College and Hedderman at Cornell University Medical School.

Paramedics said Green was "coherent and conversant" during the trip to the emergency room. On Monday his condition was reported as serious in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Green, a retired merchant seaman, had come to Delmar with his wife a week earlier to visit their son's family. He had gone to the pool with his son and two grandsons, Ryan, 6, and Michael, 3.

Church group back from 'vacation'

"It was a long, hard week — a lot of physical and emotional stress. But I don't think anybody would hesitate to do it again."

That's how Jeannie Peterson, minister for Christian education at First United Methodist Church, describes the challenging "vacation" she, another counselor and eight Delmar youths shared in the mountains of Tennessee. The group returned home last week after a week spent building porches, out houses, pump houses and walls, fixing roofs, cutting weeds and generally helping out where needed. They were working for the Mountain TOP (Tennessee Outreach Program), which draws several hundred Methodist youths from all over the country each summer.

"I think everybody got a lot of satisfaction in going out and doing the jobs that needed doing," Ms. Peterson said. The Delmar group was at a camp with 120 other youths, and each day they split up in different work parties to go to "all kinds of small towns and mountain valleys." Mostly, she said, the people being helped by the program are elderly or quite poor, and the chance to interact with people from a different walks of life and different parts of the country was one of the great benefits of the trip.

The youths and the church raised $2,200 to pay for the trip.

On the cover:

Home from the hills of Tennessee and a week of helping are Andy Hall, Brad Tate, John Budzyna, Ellen Yacobian, Sue Budzyna, Lynda Stoke and Reed McEwan. Also making the trip was Elin Swanson.

Planners: leave Delaware Ave. alone

At a long and lively meeting of the Bethlehem Planning Board last week the board retracted an earlier recommendation for the creation of a new AB zone along Delaware Ave. Area residents waited nearly an hour and a half to have their say regarding the proposed change and it was all Chairman Edward Sargent could do to keep things moving under the weight of the agenda.

The zoning change, one of the original board proposals for creating the new AB zones, was sent back by the town board for reconsideration. The area in question, the north side of Delaware Ave. from the Christian Science Church northeast to Borthwick Ave., is currently composed of two zones, one A and the other B. Of all the proposed zoning changes thus far recommended by the board, this was the only one which involved a "downgrading"—changing a zone from a lower to a higher density. The A portion of the proposed site limits development to single- or double-unit dwellings, while the AB designation would permit development of up to four-unit dwellings. The B zone permits larger apartment buildings.

About 20 area residents sat quietly through a heavy agenda but became very vocal when Sargent threw open discussion of the proposed change to board members.

"Please," Sargent said more than once, "I understand that you would all like to be heard, but I must emphasize that this discussion is for the benefit of the board members. We are not presently conducting a public hearing."

Nevertheless the residents had their say, led by Board of Education member Marjory O'Brien, and the planning board ultimately voted unanimously to rescind its earlier proposal and recommend the site be left in the current A and B designations.

Earlier the board conducted its first site plan review under the new review powers granted it by the town board. Formerly, the Bethlehem Board of Appeals dealt with most site matters. Peggy and Carl Barkman requested permission to convert their existing two-family house on Rt. 9W into a three-family residence. The board unanimously granted approval.

The board also received a request for a zoning change from David Siegel, who owns 60 acres on Elm Ave., currently zoned AA, which he would like rezoned to B-Residential. The board forwarded the request to planning consultant Edward Kleinke for an evaluation and recommendation.

A public hearing held early in the evening concerning Harry Gochee's proposed development of two four-unit apartments on Kenaware Ave. and Dawson Rd. drew no response from those in attendance. The hearing was a formality since Gochee had already been granted a special exception for the site.

Hits tree, ticketed

A Larchmont man was ticketed by Albany County sheriff's deputies after his car hit a tree and rolled over Thursday on Crow Ridge Rd. in New Scotland. Bradford Utz was cited for failing to keep right, imprudent speeding and driving with a restricted license. He was taken to St. Peter's Hospital, but left before he could be treated, deputies said.

Vandals strike at church, schools

Vandalism took a heavy toll in Delmar last week, with a fire at Delmar Presbyterian Church Wednesday and destruction of property at two schools over the weekend. The fire, which destroyed valuable church records, is unsolved, but Bethlehem police made four arrests at the schools.

Thieves apparently entered the church at 585 Delaware Ave. some time after choir practice Tuesday night, police said. They opened the safe in the pastor's office, but found nothing but papers in it, and they also ransacked the church secretary's office but took nothing except the church seal.

When custodian Mrs. Anna Brisk entered the church Wednesday morning she found it full of smoke. The bottom drawer of the safe and the rug under it had been set on fire and left to burn.

The fire destroyed some historical records of the church's founding, but did not damage the session records, which are the records of the church governing body. In addition, the fire-proof safe is a total loss, the carpet must be replaced and "there is a light black ash clinging to everything," said Rev. Larry Deyss, pastor. Cleaning crews will be spending the week at the church, and an insurance estimate of the damage is pending, he said.

On Thursday at about 10:30 a.m. Officers Keith Becker and Paul Roberts spotted a group of youths in the bushes at the rear of Bethlehem Central Middle School. They gave chase and caught one 17-year old who later led them to another 17-year-old. Both were charged with trespassing.

Sunday, however, vandals threw a piece of blacktop through a cafeteria window at the middle school, and spray painted various messages on the walls. Also, the baseball scoreboard was knocked down and broken, and a snow fence was damaged.

Sunday evening, Officers Becker and Roberts spotted an open window at the Hamagrael School; hearing footsteps they checked the roof and caught two juveniles, ages 13 and 15. The boys admitted to breaking the window and writing obscenities on the school's windows and walls, police said.

On the cover:

DAR chapter installs

Mrs. James R. Stratton of Delmar, a director, was one of four officers of the Gansevoort chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution installed at the chapter's June meeting at the University Club, Albany. Guest speaker was Mrs. Martin Kelly of the American Rose Society. Mrs. Stratton also presented the regent's pin and insignia to Mrs. Lester O'Neil of Colonie in the absence of the outgoing regent, Mrs. Roy A. Klages of Gunderland.

Benefit car wash

Youth groups from several churches will participate in a car wash and bake sale at the Key Bank parking lot in Delmar Saturday, Aug. 1 for the benefit of the Eleanor Roosevelt Developmental Services community home at 360 Kenwood Ave., Delmar. Proceeds will be used for recreational equipment for the facility.

Robert Degroff instructs a group of young Colonials — in real life members of the Village Volunteer Fife and Drum Corps — in their duties as soldiers during the Revolutionary War. The show was part of the corps' demonstration last week at the Bethlehem Public Library. Saturday they will participate in a muster at the Bethlehem Central Middle School.

Muster parade route

The public part of the Village Volunteer Fife and Drum Corps' 25th anniversary celebration begins at noon Saturday at Bethlehem Central Middle School. The corps will have plenty of help in the celebration—more than 15 corps, including the President's Fife and Drum Corps from Washington, D.C., will perform for dignitaries and citizens.

The parade which begins the afternoon's activities will proceed at noon down Kenwood Ave. to Elsmere Ave., then to Delaware Ave. and the Four Corners. From there, the units will march on Kenwood back to the Middle School and the reviewing stand.

Shortly after 1 p.m., the volunteers and their visitors will perform behind the middle school. There will be a mock battle by the Village Volunteer Militiamen and several other militia units in the middle of the performance.

Refreshments will be on sale at the performance.

The volunteers, who expect more than 800 marchers to help celebrate their anniversary, will have an alumni dinner Friday.

Sue Ann Ritchko reports:

Albany County Legislature

The Town of Bethlehem will receive an additional $284,234 in revenues from the county sales tax as a result of the July action of the Albany County Legislature. The legislature raised the share distributed to cities and towns from one third of the sales tax revenue to 40 percent. The Republican proposal would have provided 45 percent to towns and cities and 55 percent to the county. Under the Republican plan, the Town of Bethlehem would have received an additional $213,176.

The Democratic leadership opposed the Republican proposal on the grounds that it has not been shown that the county could afford the amounts proposed.

Minority Leader Gordon Morris argued that the county will again have an excess of $6 million from sales tax revenue next year if history repeats itself. In May, 1979, the county had collected $9 million and ended the year with $29 million in the sales tax account. 1980 brought $10 million by May and $30.3 million in total taxes collected. This year, $12.5 million is reported for May which brings the total projection to around $37 million rather than the conservative budget figure of $31.5 million. The surplus was $8 million in 1979 and $12.8 million in 1980.

This is why I have trouble with Majority Leader Richard Myer's reaction. Myers said, "I hope we have another surplus year."

I believe almost every citizen would rather put away his or her own little surplus to meet the inevitable emergencies — such as illness, plumbing, roofing, etc. — rather than have a governmental body pile up an unnecessary amount of their money, returning some of it, some time at its whim and pleasure.

An example of the give it and then take it away idea is that the new distribution will remain in effect only until January 31, 1982, when the county can reconsider its decision based on the sales tax collection during this period. This arrangement was made under an agreement between the county and the cities of Albany, Cohoes and Watervliet.

I am also concerned about how the surplus is being invested. In none of the legislative sessions I have attended have I heard any discussion of just how and where the county invests its millions of dollars in surplus, or what interest the county earns on the money.

I am writing to County Executive James Coyne to see if I can get a satisfactory answer to these questions. On another matter, I believe most area residents will approve the legislature's decision to increase to $15,000 the amount the county annually gives to WMHT-TV (Channel 17) for support of public broadcasting. Legislator Edward Sargent of Bethlehem was the initiator some years ago of this annual cultural contribution.

Taken in driveway scam

An elderly Delmar resident lost $790 Thursday to three con artists who claimed to represent a local paving company, according to Bethlehem police.

The Kenwood Ave. resident had had his driveway resurfaced last May. When the con artists showed up Thursday they told him they were representing the same company, which had sent them back to put down a second coat of sealer. But, said police, they refused to tell him beforehand how much the job would cost, and when they were finished charged him $790; the original job had cost $175. Police said the victim's check was cashed within 10 minutes after it was issued.

The three men were in a light blue pick-up truck with a white panel on the side.

Delmar gas a bargain—temporarily

Gasoline prices at Delaware Ave. pumps in Delmar were generally lower or unchanged in comparison to prices two months ago, according to a Spotlight survey.

But they may not stay at the current levels once the confusion over the new state surtax is cleared up. In the muddy picture that has emerged from last week's publicity over the state's program of an added tax to bail out New York City's transit system, Mobil has occupied center stage, and Delmar's only Mobil station is the only one of 10 Delaware Ave. stations to post a price hike for regular.

That boost, however, was only two cents, and it is the same station that has shaved a surprising six cents from its unleaded pumps over the two-month span. Mobil regular was selling Monday at $1.34.9 for self-serve, down from $1.36.9 on May 18, while unleaded gas was selling for $1.39.9, off from $1.45.9 two months ago.

Of the 10 stations between BCHS and the Normanskill viaduct, four were pumping regular gas at lower prices than in mid-May and five others were unchanged. For unleaded fuel, seven were lower and three were unchanged.

Sunoco's five-cent drop showed the largest spread among the prices for regular. For unleaded, in addition to Mobil's six-cent cut, one station (Stop-N-Go) was four cents lower, three were three cents lower and two were down two cents.

Whether current prices are a bargain is a matter of opinion, but two things are certain: there has been little or no inflation in retail gasoline so far in 1981, and the "big oil" companies abandoned one of their favorite traditional procedures—hiking gas prices at the end of June to shake more dollars out of vacationers taking to the road.

Aerobics resume after court ban

Classes in aerobic dancing exercises will resume in Voorheesville next week after a lawsuit settlement that imposed a six-month embargo on the activity.

Judy Arbour, one of the area's best-known aerobic dance instructors, will lead a five-week summer session at the Voorheesville American Legion hall starting Monday. Morning classes will be held Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, evening classes Monday and Thursday.

Classes started last week at Guilderland Central High School under the direction of Karen Mohan, a former village resident, and at the Parsons Child and Family Center in Albany with Sue Panthen of Voorheesville as leader. The sessions at all three locations are affiliated with Aerobic Dance Patterns, Inc., based in Westwood, Mass.

Arbour and Mohan formerly instructors with Aerobic Dancing, Inc., of California, resigned from that organization last summer to join Aerobic Patterns. The California firm went to court for an injunction and monetary damages. The two local defendants and a third instructor, Ann Lawton of Westwood, Mass., eventually agreed to an out-of-court settlement stipulating that they could not teach classes for six months. The embargo expired on June 30.

Fiberglas earnings up

Owens-Corning net earnings for the quarter ended June 30 were $15.7 million or 51 cents per share, compared to a loss of 2.1 million or 7 cents per share for the same quarter the previous year. Second quarter earnings include a 22-cent translation gain in subsidiary and affiliate income resulting from strengthening of the U.S. dollar in relation to foreign currencies, compared to a loss of 2 cents a share for the same quarter in 1980.

Strike continues

The strike at Owens-Corning continues into its ninth week with no end in sight. Employees are asking for parity with workers at other Owens-Corning plants, while the company has offered pay increases which it says come to 16.9 percent the first year and 35 percent over three years.

3 are Injured in head-on crash

Three Feura Bush residents were injured when the two cars in which they were riding met head-on at 12:50 p.m. Tuesday on Elsmere Ave., Elsmere.

Bethlehem police said Mrs. Florence Cook, Box 278, Feura Bush, told them she lost control of her car when a mouse, apparently inside the car, ran across the field of her vision, causing her to veer the vehicle into the oncoming lane.

LeRoy Vanderbilt, 86, Tarrytown Rd., Feura Bush, driver of the southbound vehicle, and his wife, Waldine, 74, were taken by ambulance to Albany Medical Center Hospital. The couple's grandson, Sgt. Richard Vanderbilt of Elsmere, is a member of the Bethlehem police department, but was not on traffic duty at the time.

Hospital attendants said the elder Vanderbilt complained of head injuries and his wife of chest injuries. Their conditions were being evaluated as this newspaper went to press.

A spokesman at St. Peter's Hospital said at presstime Mrs. Cook's injuries had not been determined.

BASEBALL

Blue Jays lose on circus catch

Larcenous fielding by the Milford Macks, one of the state's leading amateur baseball teams, victimized the Delmar Blue Jays in two contests of last weekend's four-game series in Otsego County.

In the opener of Saturday's doubleheader at Doubleday Field, the Cooperstown shrine, Milford infielders came up with miraculous plays on four occasions that cut off Delmar rallies in a 6-2 loss before the Blue Jays turned the tables in a 6-3 triumph in the second game.

But the cruelest blow came on the last play of the first game in Sunday's doubleheader when the teams moved over to the Macks' home field in Milford. Trailing 5-2, the Blue Jays had the bases loaded with two out in the final frame when Ward Phalen, representing the go-ahead run, missed a grand slam by inches. His shot to deepest left was caught high against the wall to end the game.

The Blue Jays had a more distasteful frustration in the final frame of the nightcap when a disputed call took Delmar out of a big inning that might have won the game. Trailing 6-0, the Jays struck for four runs and had their best hitter at the plate with runners aboard when the umpires upheld an appeal on a third-base call.

Tom Lorenzo hurled for the Blue Jays in their Saturday victory, distributing five hits, one of them a home run. He fell behind, 2-0, in the second, but in the third Phalen slammed a three-run double off the left field wall in Cooperstown, and Mickey Brantley, touted by local observers as a sure-fire major league prospect, smote a two-run homer over the wall in the sixth. Lorenzo had a double and three singles in the first game.

The night before, the Blue Jays got an artistic three-hit shutout from outfielder Neil Stickles to edge the R.G. Villas, 2-0, in Schenectady Twilight League action. Phalen drove in the first run on a sacrifice fly in the third and scored the insurance run when he doubled to left and crossed on Lorenzo's single.

The Jays, in second place at 6-3 in the league, face the Sons of Italy under the lights at Central Park, Schenectady, at 7:30 Tuesday.

In Feura Bush, The Spotlight is sold at Houghtaling's Market.

SWIMMING
Dolphins a splash
at Lake Placid

The Delmar Dolphins traveled to Lake Placid last weekend and showed why they are one of the Capital District's most highly regarded swim clubs, with three firsts for the girls and a boy's relay victory.

The Lake Placid Invitational Long Course meet was held Friday through Sunday on a 50-meter course in Mirror Lake, in the Village of Lake Placid.

Janet Shaffer scored two firsts in the senior girls division in the 100 and 200 freestyle. She also placed fourth in the 100-meter breast stroke, fourth in the 200 IM and fourth in the 100 fly.

Becky Friedlander took a first in the 100-meter fly in the 13-14 girls division.

For the boys, Matt Holland, swimming in the 13-14 year old division, had a second in the 100-meter freestyle, as well as two fourths and a sixth.

Holland, Pierre LaBarge, Eric Patrick and Scott Apicelli took first place in the 200-meter freestyle relay, and, with Jim Krateck replacing LaBarge, a second in the 200-meter medley. The senior girls had two fourths in the relays.

Bethlehem's Elm Avenue Park pool will be a site for the Leukemia Super Swim Classic Aug. 1, an opportunity for children and adults of any ability to have fun while they raise money for the Leukemia Society. Here Dr. Peter Burkart of Delmar and Doris Hoyer, executive director of the upstate chapter of the society, count laps for Kim Burkart, 13, and Amy Rowland, 10. To pre-register for the swim, call 438-3583.

In Voorheesville, The Spotlight is sold at the Grand Union and Voorheesville Pharmacy.

If any Partner shall, in excess of his agreed contribution to the capital of the Partnership, advance any monies to the Partnership, the amount of any such advance shall not be an increase of his capital contribution or entitle him to any increase in his share of the distributions of the Partnership, but the amount of any such advance shall be an obligation of the Partnership to such Partner and, unless otherwise provided and agreed, shall be repaid to him with interest at the maximum legal rate, except that interest shall not be paid on money advanced or expended prior to the formation of the Partnership.

The time when the contribution of each limited partner to be returned has not been agreed to.

(2) During subsequent twelve month periods the value of the Limited Partnership share shall be the value of the Limited Partner's original contribution or 10% of the net worth of the Partnership, whichever is greater.

(3) The purchase price shall be paid entirely in cash or by certified check.

(4) In the case of the assignment of a Limited Partner's Partnership interest at any time other than the end of the accounting period of the Partnership, the distribution shares of the various items of Partnership income, in respect of the Partnership interest so assigned, as computed for Federal Income Tax purposes, shall be divided between the assignor and assignee in the ratio of the number of days in the taxable year before and after the assignment.

The right of the partners to admit additional limited partners is as follows:

The General Partner(s) shall not add additional Limited Partners to the Partnership without the express written consent of the Limited Partner.

The right of the remaining general partner or partners to continue the business on the death, retirement, or insanity of a general partner is as follows:

In the event of retirement, death or adjudication of insanity, incompetency or bankruptcy of a General Partner, any remaining General Partner or, if such remaining General Partner declines to do so, the Limited Partner shall have the right, but not the obligation, to elect to form a new Partnership to continue without interruption the business of the Partnership. In the event that such election is exercised by any remaining General Partner, any remaining General Partner shall promptly give notice to the Limited Partner stating in substance that the remaining General Partner has elected to continue the business of the Partnership. In the event that such election is exercised by the Limited Partner, then the Limited Partner shall, as speedily as possible, proceed to select an individual who shall agree to be the Substitute General Partner or Substitute General partners, as the case may be, and shall make proper arrangement and provision for the liabilities of the Partnership. Questions from a patriot

Editor, The Spotlight:

When a state such as ours has given so much to her people I am loyal to her. When our flag flies in the wind or lies still against the mast I will above all be true to her. In times of trouble and uncertainty our Lady Liberty still stands tall and proud — and so am I.

On Feb. 5, a transformer in the 20 story Broome County Office Building Complex exploded and burned, spreading PCB-laden soot throughout the building.

When I first walked into the building to clean it I knew it was bad, but after I examined each of the floors and found the black PCB soot to be in, under, and over everything in the building, I knew it was much worse than I had first thought. Only after I had been home a few weeks did I learn of the other chemicals also found in the building. I am referring to dibenzo furan and dibenzodioxin, which are highly dangerous chemicals.

The State of New York never informed me that I was exposed to such dangerous chemicals and even denied that I had been sent to clean up the building in Binghamton. If it had not been for the hard work and long hours that Ellen Miller and Channel 13 News put in I and my family would still be in the dark concerning what was going on.

My two children were born with birth defects which may have been caused by my exposure to Agent Orange while serving in the Marine Corps in Vietnam. The dioxin chemical found in the Binghamton building is the same thing. We felt that I should have special exams and blood work done because of this. I went to Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City for the tests and was told the results would be sent to me in 4 to 6 weeks. To date I have not received the test results despite numerous phone calls at my own expense. Although they informed me they could not test for the dioxins and furans I am anxious for the results. Since I paid for them at the time I feel they are being grossly negligent in not forwarding the results to me. There has been more than ample time.

CSEA Union President McGowan said "It was a freak accident and fortunately no serious injury to anyone." He also stated, "Thanks to the sincerity of the state in trying to resolve the problem quickly...."

I feel we are getting a snow job from everyone concerned instead of the help we need.

Can anyone tell me how being exposed to dioxins and furans will affect any future children born to people exposed to these chemicals? Can anyone tell me what it will do to us in ten or fifteen years? It is said to cause cancer — will I be one to get the dreaded disease? Some of the workers who cleaned the Binghamton building are in the hospital. Can anyone tell me why? Will I be next? How many lives have to be affected before the state is going to do something?

Loyal. True. Proud. I still am all of these. I think it is about time the State of New York stands up and helps the people who love her.

Questions ticketing policy
Editor, The Spotlight:

I am not a protestor but feel in this case I must.

My car was ticketed with a $5 ticket near St. Thomas Church on Sunday, July 5. I know it was illegal parking but why wasn't it ticketed during the past seven years? Couldn't they have just given a warning ticket and then, if parked there again, a fine?

There was a gentleman at the police station when I was there and he also said where were the police officers for the past three years as he always parked there.

Also, I am sure if the priest had known they could have announced it in church and all cars would have been moved. Also, why only at one mass and not at others? People at different masses did not get tickets because I inquired around.

If the Police Department wants to give out tickets let them check on the speeders on Kenwood Ave. near Mason Rd. But, like the officer I talked to said, "That is a different matter."

We're Lucky to Have a Muster

We congratulate the Village Volunteer Fife and Drum Corps on their 25th anniversary and sponsoring an old-fashioned muster in Delmar this weekend. If you are a newcomer or if you've never seen a muster, you'll find it a highly entertaining insight to history.

For details, see page 13 of this issue, and then make your family plans to see the parade and the mock battle at the Bethlehem Middle School. See you there!
