New supervisor sets course

By Tom McPheeters

Robert Hendrick, Bethlehem's new town supervisor, says his priorities include a strengthening of the town's efforts to attract new industry, some further refinements of the budget process and long-range planning in the areas of recreation, senior citizen services and parking along Delaware Ave.

Hendrick, a three-year councilman who was formally appointed to his new post by his fellow town board members Saturday, has been getting some on-the-job training from outgoing Supervisor Tom Corrigan for the past several weeks.

There have been no surprises, he said in an interview Friday. "You do have a handle as a councilman on these problems," Hendrick said. "You may not have the detail, but you're familiar with them. And Tom has been very helpful. I appreciate the opportunity to sit in for the last several weeks."

Hendrick's comments emphasize continuity — the priorities he outlined Friday are for the most part extensions of work begun by Corrigan, who is retiring after seven years as an active, popular supervisor, but one whose spending policies reflected his fiscally conservative Republican constituency.

His own philosophy, Hendrick said, is that local government "must be responsive to the needs of its citizens and at the same time be mindful not to overburden the taxpayers, and must make absolutely certain that each tax dollar be spent prudently."

He said his background as a former state budget official will mean a continued emphasis on "economy and efficiency" in town government.

One of the first areas where Hendrick's background will make itself known is in the town budget, which had until last year been criticized for being generally uninformative. At Corrigan's invitation, Hendrick last year designed a new format and added written narrative to the document.

This year, he said, he plans to add more narrative plus a department-by-department discussion of accomplishments and goals. And, he said, he'll start earlier so citizens can have more input earlier in the process. What makes all this possible, Hendrick said, is the town's new computer system, which is now in its second year of operation.

The only immediate change announced by

Hendrick, Ritchko selected by board

By Tom McPheeters

It was a meeting that seemed to say, "nothing is changing."

Before a full house Saturday morning, the Bethlehem Town Board appointed Robert Hendrick town supervisor and Sue Ann Ritchko town councilwoman. Both appointments were made quickly and without dissent by the all-Republican board.

Afterwards, the winners were congratulated by the two people who had also sought the positions. But it will be several more months before the Bethlehem GOP, which prides itself on its winning tradition and its sense of unity, knows whether this is another smooth transition or the beginning of a struggle for power.

Hendrick's appointment had been widely expected since former Supervisor Tom Corrigan announced a month ago that he was retiring. He had been working with Corrigan for the past several weeks for a smooth transition. Nevertheless, the retired former

It's a problem for everybody A new awareness, and new firmness, on substance abuse

By Theresa Bobear

Eighty-three percent of all students in the northeastern region of New York State in grades seven through 12 have used alcohol. Thirteen percent of those students report being heavy drinkers and 11 percent report they are dependent on alcohol.

Sixty-four percent of high school students in New York State say they have used marijuana. Twenty-two percent of all students in the state in grades seven through 12 are either users, substantial users or extensive users of illicit drugs.

Those statistics were collected by the state Division of Substance Abuse Services and the state Division of Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse in a 1983 survey. They confirm what many people had been saying for years — drug and alcohol abuse is not confined to the big cities, but is a part of life in suburban and rural school districts as well.

Parents and school administrators are on alert that virtually all adolescents will have to deal with the issues of drug and alcohol use and abuse by the time they graduate from high school.

As the facts of the abuse situation have become more widely known — and accepted — so have the responses become more open and consistent. Local police agencies and school administrators have developed firm policies for dealing with abusers; no longer is youth an automatic shield against prosecution. And every community in this area has developed new approaches aimed at preventing substance abuse and providing alternatives.

Yet with all this new help, professionals in the field acknowledge that the parents still have the toughest job, and that they have no easy answers to give.

Dan Lucy of Project Hope describes adolescence as a time when students are under stress because of rapid physical and emotional changes. He explains that adolescents are experimenting and "learning what adult things they do and do not feel comfortable with." He believes that parents have a responsibility to help their teenage children get their bearings in the adult world. Lucy tries to teach students to say no to peer pressure by giving them "a better sense of alliances." He helps families to improve their communication skill so that family ties become more apparent. He explains that simply issuing an order regarding drugs will most likely have the opposite of the desired effect. He advises parents to listen and respond honestly about "age appropriate choices and age appropriate responsibilities," considering the family background.

While recognizing that children do not live in a vacuum, Lucy still believes that parents can be a strong influence on children if they are willing to talk and be there when a problem or new situation arises. He believes awareness and education are important because he is "convinced that not one high school student couldn't get drugs if he

On the right track

By Nat Boynton

Anne Marie Carey is a teenager who plays the flute and would be singing another year in the choir if she weren't so busy being one of the fastest middle-distance runners in New York State.

In this part of the state there isn't anyone who can even give her a close race in her specialties.

And she's only a sophomore, this lithe 15-year-old from Glenmont who is probably the best incumbent athlete, male or female, in Bethlehem Central High School. Besides all this talent, she is blessed with bright blue eyes, windblown close-cut brown hair and a ready smile, and when she puts that slender 5-foot-10 frame into gear, it is grace in motion.

A year ago as a freshman Anne Carey was fourth in the 600-meter finals in the state championship meet at Carrier Dome in Syracuse when her chief protagonist, Rhonda Phillips of Mont Pleasant High, Schenectady, set a new state record. Anne's time was 1:37.9, just a stride off the 1:37.3 she had done in the Sectional qualifiers at RPI the previous week.

It's still early this year, comparatively speaking, but Anne Marie Carey has already been under 1:40 three times, the latest a 1:38.7 for first place in last Saturday's Dutchmen Games in Schenectady. Two weeks earlier in a meet at RPI she was clocked in 1:37.8, only five-tenths of a second off her best time.

The Schenectady assemblage, which drew 22 teams to Union College statewide from Buffalo to Long Island, provided the BC speedster with her first genuine competition of the season in the 600. Trailing in the next three places were runners from two Rochester area schools and a Binghamton suburban school.

She missed being the meet's only double winner by a fluke. In

Hendrick is an expansion of the town's Industrial Development Authority, which currently consists of three town officials (including the supervisor). Hendrick said he plans to appoint several local business people whose task will be to recruit new industry to the town.

The group will be looking for high-technology and service-type industries "that are not going to cause us any problems," Hendrick said. "We need a balance to protect our tax base."

Despite the fact that there is a considerable amount of industrially-zoned land along Rt. 9W and in the southern part of the town there has been no new industrial development in Bethlehem in recent years, and very little organized effort either by town officials or the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce to attract new industry.

Hendrick's other initiatives are all in the nature of long-range planning. Chief among them, he said, is the need to review the recreation needs of Bethlehem residents, gauge the needs of the town's growing senior citizen population and to consider future municipal parking needs.

The town is in the process of developing new parks in both North Bethlehem and South Bethlehem, but the main recreation emphasis is expected to continue to be at the Elm Ave. Park complex.

For seniors, Hendrick said, the immediate question to be addressed by the town is whether it is time to consider developing a recreation center. Currently, most senior citizen programs are held at Town Hall, but the programming has been expanding in the last several years. Hendrick said he will also be looking at the housing needs of local seniors, specifically at whether there are enough apartment units available to allow elderly residents to continue living in Bethlehem if they chose to give up their houses.

Municipal parking is, of course, tied to the town's continuing study of Delaware Ave. and the Four Corners shopping area. The town is currently attempting to establish two new park and ride lots, one in Elsmere and the other in Slingerlands, as recommended by the task force. The task force also discussed eliminating some on-street parking in the Four Corners area and restricting the number of curb cuts on Delaware Ave.

Last year, the task force was the major issue before the town board and Hendrick, who was a member of the task force, has pledged to see the group's recommendations through to fruition — a process that has gone slower than many citizens and town officials would like.

The town board two weeks ago began considering a proposed buffer zone for schools, and Hendrick said the parking situation and a review of commercial zoning along Delaware Ave. are the next areas to be taken up.

The task force was considered by many a breakthrough for public participation in government in Bethlehem, and recently neighborhood groups have become more active than ever in issues having to do with zoning and land-use planning. Hendrick said he intends to encourage more public participation, but also to make sure that "both sides" of issues are aired before the town board makes its decisions. In some cases, he said, that will mean "trying to generate more input" from people or groups who have no immediate interest in an issue, but whose long-term interests would be affected.

Other items on the new superintendent's agenda include:

- Implementation of a new emergency management and disaster preparation program, following up on a federal emergency planning program he and other town officials attended last year.
- Explore ways to obtain more state and federal funds for the town. Currently, Hendrick acknowledged, the town is faced with the prospect of losing funds, with Gov. Cuomo proposing to phase out aid to more affluent localities, ($23,784, to be halved next year and eliminated the year after) and President Reagan proposing to eliminate federal revenue sharing ($280,000 projected for this year).

- Consult with department heads and encourage suggestions for changes and economies in town government.

"If you do all that," joked Corrigan as he finished cleaning out his desk Friday, "you'll be here longer than I was."

Weekend tally

The snowy weekend weather contributed to a number of accidents on roads in the Town of Bethlehem, according to police reports. Six fender-benders were investigated by police from Friday night through Sunday.

Crash injures two

Two persons were taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital Sunday morning after the car they were in went off county Rt. 102 in South Bethlehem and hit an embankment, according to Bethlehem police. Rhonda J. Wood, 19, of Selkirk, the driver, and Larry Wilburn, 6, were treated and released, a spokesman for the hospital said. They were taken to the hospital by the Bethlehem Ambulance crew.

Plates said stolen

An Albany man, 30, faces a charge of possession of stolen property in the third degree after the license plates on his vehicle were found to have been stolen, according to Bethlehem police reports. He was arrested Sunday afternoon in Slingerlands after police were called because his car was blocking a private roadway, according to the report.

state budget official appeared nervous as he thanked his fellow board members "for the trust and honor you have just given me."

"Our town — as we all know — has a long tradition of solid leadership and I would like to continue that tradition," Hendrick said.

Mrs. Ritchko fills the town board seat vacated by Hendrick and her appointment had also been expected, despite the fact that the Bethlehem Republican Committee had been unable to choose between her and Delmar businessman Peter Merrill. Her credentials include wide recognition as spokesperson for Price Chopper (she is vice president of consumer services for Golub Corporation) and a one-term county legislator.

"I'm really looking forward to being a part of this group," she said as she took her seat at the board table. "There's a lot going on in this community and it's going to be a real challenge."

Both Hendrick and Ritchko fill unexpired terms that end Dec. 31, and both expect to run for full terms this fall — Hendrick for two years and Mrs. Ritchko for four. But both have challengers waiting in the wings, and despite the tenor of the meeting Saturday they will have to wait at least a few months to find out whether they have clear sailing to November.

Hendrick's challenger is W. Gordon Morris, the Albany County legislator from Elsmere, who tried and failed to get the town Republican committee endorsement. He has said he will enter a primary against Hendrick this fall if he finds there is enough support among town Republicans.

Hendrick jokingly singled out Morris during Saturday's meeting, saying he hoped he would be forgiven any "procedural error" as he began his new job, "particularly by you, Gordon, because I know you're the expert on Roberts' Rules of Order."

Morris explained later that he had pointed out that Hendrick's appointment may not have been legal because Corrigan's resignation had been made to Deputy Town Clerk Carolyn Lyons (who was filling in for vacationing Clerk Marion Camp prior to her retirement).

But, Morris said, he didn't pursue the point. "This is supposed to be a friendly confrontation," he said. "I hope to see him (Hendrick) a little more relaxed in the future... I just hope he doesn't get too good a grip."

Morris said he probably won't make any decisions on a primary challenge until the end of March. One factor may have already changed for him, however, when Republican Anne Rose resigned her county legislature seat to take an empty spot on the Guiderland town board. That means the Republicans in the legislature led by Morris no longer have the 16 votes that give them veto power — if they act together — on bond issues. By March it should be known if the Republicans will be in a position to influence the financing of the proposed Albany County Civic Center, and whether Morris, as minority leader, will play a major role in that.

Mrs. Ritchko had found a surprise opponent in Merrill, whose telephone campaign had deadlocked the Republican committee. Merrill said Saturday he has no intention of primarying Mrs. Ritchko, but could again seek the town committee endorsement for the November election.

"If I find she's doing a good job, then I won't," he said.

At the meeting Saturday, the town board also passed a resolution commending Corrigan for his years of service to the town with "highest respect and heartfelt thanks." Also, Mrs. Lyons was formally appointed town clerk and registrar of vital statistics to replace Mrs. Camp, and Ruth Heere was appointed her deputy. Mrs. Lyons is expected to run this fall for a full two-year term.

Driver, 89, injured

An 89-year-old Elsmere man was taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital Sunday afternoon after the car he was driving went off Oakwood Place in Delmar and struck a utility pole, according to Bethlehem police reports. Gilbert C. Sager was treated for a head injury and released, a spokesman for the hospital reported. Sager was taken to the hospital by the Delmar Fire Department Rescue Squad.

Burglary reported

Bethlehem police were called to investigate a burglary last Tuesday at Hamilton News Company, Inc. on Hannay Lane in Glenmont, according to police reports. The night foreman found a window had been broken and signs of entry, but there was no immediate report of anything missing, the police report noted.

$1,600 in checks found

A leather case containing personal papers and two checks totaling $1,600 was turned in to Bethlehem police last Monday by a Borthwick Ave. youth who had found the case while on his paper route, according to police reports. Police are attempting to contact a New York City man believed to be the owner. The case was found at Winne Pl. and Pinedale Ave., the report said.

Bloodmobile at Post

A bloodmobile, sponsored by the Bethlehem Volunteer Fire Departments, the Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Legion Post 1040 and the American Red Cross will be held at the Legion post, Poplar Dr., Elsmere, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 9.

Between 1974 and 1978, the legion provided more than 100 units of blood to the American Red Cross.

Area Legion members and fire department members are urging town residents to "give the gift of life." They urge persons who unable to be a donor to encourage a friend of family members to donate.

Challenge report ready

By Caroline Terenzini

A report from the Bethlehem Central School District's Challenge Review Committee is scheduled to be presented to the school board tonight (Wednesday). The nine-member committee, headed by John Kaplan of Glenmont, has been meeting since October to review the district's program for "gifted" children and to make recommendations for any changes. The board meeting is to begin at 8 p.m. at the Educational Services Center, Adams Pl. in Delmar.

In other business, the board, reduced to six members by the death last Wednesday of John Clyne of Delmar, has yet to make a decision on whether to seek voter approval for a bond issue of about $4 million to finance capital projects.

Last week district administrators suggested some deletions from a list of projects identified as necessary by an architect hired by the district. If the administration's cuts stick, the projects for which financing may be sought would total $3.7 million. Another $100,000 would be needed to cover such costs as legal counsel, insurance, an investment rating and the fee for a clerk of the works.

That brings the total to $3.8 million, which, if borrowed at an estimated 9 percent interest rate for a term of 20 years, would cost Bethlehem Central taxpayers $1.48 per $1,000 assessed more than the amount currently needed to cover debt service, according to Franz Zwicklbauer, assistant superintendent for business. That is, the owner of a property assessed at $10,000 would pay an additional $14.80 in the first year the district would have to make payment — 1987-88. The annual payments would decline gradually after that. In making his calculations, Zwicklbauer said he assumed annual growth in the district's tax base of 1½ percent, a conservative figure. He also figured in state building aid at 25 percent — a rate, Zwicklbauer emphasized, that may be changed by the state.

If the board decides to meet the district's capital needs by means of a bond issue, then other questions arise, such as how much to bond for and for how long a term. When board member Robert Ruslander asked about the proposed 20-year term, Zwicklbauer made it perfectly clear: "No way is a 20-year bond issue going to take care of the needs of this school district for 20 years! The (capital needs) projection is for five years."

Big projects on the maybe list include major improvement to the high school's pool and installation of an elevator at the high school for use by handicapped students and staff, at a cost of $113,000. The administrators did leave $204,000 on the list for major repairs to the tennis courts at the high school and middle school.

The board also heard from Bruce Houghton, building and grounds supervisor, on proposed expenditures under the operations and maintenance portion of the draft budget for 1985-86. Discussion was put off until this week or, possibly, later.

While no decision has been announced, it is understood that Clyne's seat on the board will remain vacant until district residents vote on the proposed budget and board positions in May. Whoever is elected to the seat then will take office immediately instead of on July 1, when the new term for that seat begins.

Activities at Elsmere

The Elsmere Parent-Teacher Association invites parents and children of Bethlehem to a children's activity day at Elsmere Elementary School from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 20. During the day children with their parents craft activities, a Disney film, The Hobbit, a puppet show and games.

Admission is $1.50 per child, and children must be accompanied by an adult. The snow date is Feb. 21.

Local Programming

The Bethlehem Channel will be cablecasting on Thursday evenings beginning Feb. 14, at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday afternoons and evenings will be given over to readings for the visually impaired.

On Feb. 14 the Channel will present Liberty Love Day and "Conversations" featuring Don Bessette, director of the theater department at Junior College of Albany.

Charged after crash

An Albany man, 23, was charged with misdemeanor driving while intoxicated Friday after the vehicle he was driving went off Beaver Dam Rd. in the Town of New Scotland shortly after 7 a.m., a spokesman for the sheriff's department reported. The vehicle hit a utility pole, flipped and landed upright, it was reported. The driver suffered minor injuries and a passenger reported no injuries.

More than DWI

A Hannacroix man, 30, who was stopped about 4 a.m. Monday on Rt. 9W, faces several charges in addition to a misdemeanor count of driving while intoxicated, according to Bethlehem police reports. The man was ticketed for speeding, driving while his license was revoked and having unsafe tires, the report noted. A charge of obstructing governmental administration also was filed.

Elevator too high . . . in price

By Theresa Bobear
 After hearing a report from Marie Muller, board member and chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, the RCS Board of Education decided last week to remove $50,000 for a senior high school elevator from the 1985-86 draft budget. The board voted to authorize the expenditure of $25,000 from the 1984-85 budget for structural repairs at the district bus garage.

The board also learned that the water line from the Village of Ravena to RCS Junior-Senior High School will cost $70,000 instead of $60,000.

Muller said district architect Benjamin Mendel estimated the cost of installing an elevator for the handicapped in the senior high school building at $88,000. Previously the board voted to include funds for an elevator in next year's budget with the understanding that the item would be reconsidered if the cost exceeded $50,000.

The board agreed to include funds for two handicapped-accessible portable labs.

The board authorized the issuance of a $25,000 note for repairs at the bus garage after learning that the building needs structural repairs.

Superintendent Milton Chodack said the district would be eligible for state aid for the building project. He estimated that the work would be completed by May.

District Clerk Charles Emery said funds for the project were available in this year's budget because of lower than normal fuel consumption.

At an earlier meeting the board learned from Clough, Harbor and Associates that plans for a water line connecting the high school with the Village of Ravena water main would not provide adequate pressure for proper fire protection.

Chodack said the district will connect to the village main and retain use of the water line from Atlantic Cement for fire protection. The cost of the project will total $70,000 instead of $60,000.

The board also approved the expenditure of $650 for a district fire inspection by Mendel and $400 for a six-month measure of a crack in the front wall of the junior high building. The study will determine whether the crack is widening.

Muller announced that Mendel will present his final report on the proposed solar project on Feb. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the board offices. The $500,000 solar heating plant will be constructed next to the junior high building only if voters approve the special proposition.

Muller said that no funds for playgrounds will be included in the 1985-86 buildings and grounds budget. She said the committee plans to review the condition of all district athletic fields and playgrounds and include funds for their repair in the 1986-87 budget. Muller said $6,000 will be included in next year's buildings and grounds budget for the construction of a formal meeting room at the Thatcher St. building.

The board also considered the possibility of establishing a system for keeping track of district books on loan to approximately 140 private school students who live within the district.

"The children don't feel responsible," said Muller, noting that the district currently spends about $70 annually per private school student for book replacements. "It's a clerical nightmare," said assistant clerk James Hughes.

About three-quarters of the books are returned, he said.

A system holding students responsible for the books could be established, Hughes said, but he could not guarantee that the system would be cost-effective.

Anthony Williams, board president, asked for a written proposal for review by the board.

Once again, the board approved a group of leave requests — some for the days immediately preceding or following school vacations. With board member Susan Gottesman opposing and board member Wayne Fuhrman absent, the board approved all the requests.

Gottesman expressed concern about whether or not the schools would be properly staffed near vacation times. "I just hope there aren't any classes in the auditorium," she said. "There will be," replied Chodack. "I don't consider that covered," Gottesman said.

Williams scheduled a personnel committee for Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. to consider ways to prevent the over-scheduling of leaves before and after school vacations.

In other business, the board:

- Approved the purchase of a microcomputer with state funds received for diagnostic screening. Dominic Nunciforo, principal of Ravena Elementary School, will write a diagnostic screening program for the IBM PC Jr.

- Learned that the district plans to start its life skills project next September, Chodack said the district also plans to go ahead with the child abuse prevention program with assistance and a grant from Albany County.

RCS sets open meeting

Parents and residents of the RCS school district who have questions or concerns about the district's educational programs, computer programs, transportation system or budget are invited to an open meeting on Monday, Feb. 11, at the A.W. Becker Elementary School, beginning at 8 p.m.

Tonight (Feb. 6) the board will meet at 7 p.m. in the district offices for a special budget meeting. Tomorrow night (Feb. 7) at 7:30 p.m. the board will meet at the district offices to hear Benjamin Mendel's final report on the district's proposed solar project.

News from Selkirk and South Bethlehem

Barbara Pickup 767-9225

Honors for students

The Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Senior High School has announced that Christina Watson and Stephen Oliver are teenagers of the month.

Oliver, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Oliver of Selkirk, is a member of the National Honor Society, Model Congress, Debate Club, Principal's Advisory Committee, yearbook staff, intermural volleyball team, Pep Band and jazz ensemble. He was recently awarded a four-year Air Force ROTC scholarship. Stephen enjoys playing the trumpet, tennis, football and bowling. He also enjoys working with computers.

Church breakfast planned

A pre-Lenten communion breakfast is planned for Sunday, Feb. 17, at the South Bethlehem United Methodist Church. The breakfast will begin at 7 a.m. at the church on Willowbrook Ave. in South Bethlehem. Reservations must be made by Thursday, Feb. 14, with Rose Mayo, 767-3006, or June Todd, 767-9927. Guest speaker will be Eugene Mills from the Mariners' House (a seaman's home away from home). All members of the RCS Association of Churches are invited to attend.

Focus on nation's past

February designated as American History Month, the Hannacrois Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is planning a meeting on Saturday, Feb. 9, at 2 p.m. at the Bethlehem Historical Association, Rt. 144 in Cedar Hill. Following the meeting, a program will be presented by Rhonda Newton, a member of Tenuis Slingerland Society. The program will be entitled "The Statue of Liberty, True Honor and Glory."

DAR chapters will be observing Feb. 14 as "I Love Liberty Day," and will be contacting friends and neighbors for contributions to the Statue of Liberty Fund.

In recognition of American History Month, the DAR will have exhibits in several schools and libraries in the Bethlehem area. Mary E. Van Ostenbrugge of Selkirk is chairman for these activities.

Breakfast with the Elks

The Bethlehem Elks Lodge has scheduled another of their "all you can eat" pancake breakfasts for this weekend, with all net proceeds going to charity. The menu will feature pancakes, eggs, sausage, bacon, toast, juice coffee and waffles with sausage gravy. The breakfast will be served from 9 a.m. until noon at the lodge, Rt. 144 and Winnie Rd. in Selkirk, this Sunday, Feb. 10. Tickets are available at the door. The cost is $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

Librarian to be speaker

Mrs. Eells, an elementary school librarian, will be this month's speaker for the Becker

Parent-Teacher Organization. The meeting, scheduled for Wednesday evening, Feb. 13, will begin at 7 p.m. in the library of the A.W. Becker School. All interested persons are invited.

Cold doesn't stop scouts

The Boy Scouts of Troop 81 recently enjoyed a weekend at Camp Rotary in Postenkill, N.Y. Despite cold weather, the scouts enjoyed hiking, sledding and successful ice fishing. Attending the campout with Scoutmaster John Hudspath and committeeman Dave Austin were Bill Cornell, Alex Austin, Ralph Carhart, Bob Burns, Joe Crosscup, Johnny Hudspath, Cameron Smith and Kevin Demarest.

Showing love

The Sunday school of the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem has designated February as LOVE Month. In recognition of this, the children are to bring in canned goods to help re-stock the food pantry at the church. Contributions from others also will be appreciated.

Faces larceny count

A Selkirk man faces a felony charge of third degree grand larceny in connection with the theft of a variety of items from cars parked at the Shady Grove trailer Park in Selkirk, according to Bethlehem police reports. Arthur Nole Bernard, 21, of Selkirk was sent to the Albany County Jail in lieu of bail after his arrest Saturday, according to the report.

Open house at school

The Doane Stuart School, Rt. 9W, Albany, will hold an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. on Feb. 10 for prospective applicants, parents and friends. For information, call 465-5222.

Winners of the Vanguard Young People's Concert costume contest, including, from left, Lara Patrick of Schenectady, Katy Bloniarz of Albany, Hadley Fitzpatrick of Delmar and Maria Simone of Albany, visit with Victoria Bond, conductor of the Vanguard Young People's Concerts.

The death of Nancy Skala last month touched many people in Voorheesville, especially the children at the elementary school, where she and her guide dog Argo were a familiar sight. Nancy, a former first grade teacher, retired some 10 years ago when blindness struck.

A short time later the courageous young mother began visiting classes at the school, educating children in the ways blind people overcome their handicap. She eventually returned as a volunteer in the science lab, where she instructed small groups of children in topics of interest, topics they reported on after returning to their classrooms.

To honor the memory of this special woman a committee has been formed to dedicate a memorial in her name. The group hopes to attain a portable Interest

Drug talk aimed at parents

By Lyn Stapf

"Someone will tell your children about drugs, shouldn't it be you?"

That question is not only the title of the first of two programs sponsored by the New Scotland Substance Abuse Task Force, but could well be the philosophy of the group, which since their conception a little over a year ago have worked hard to educate area residents on the topics of drug and alcohol abuse.

The group's Community Education Committee is sponsoring the program Wednesday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall.

According to Leslie King, who chairs the committee, the group most in need of education is the parents. "Most people believe this is something that happens elsewhere," she says. "They do not believe that it is happening right here, but it is."

New Scotland Town Justice Cynthia LaFave attests to that. "As town justice I see many cases involving drugs and young people, as well as three to four DWI cases most nights, many involving those in the 19 to 21-year-old age group. And although she feels that it is not as prevalent as in other areas, it is a problem to be reckoned with."

It is the thought of most of the task force that the key to dealing with the problem — and hopefully preventing its spread — lies in education, and the ones who know the least about drugs are the parents. "Children know much more about drugs and alcohol than their parents. They learn about it in health, science and gym," said King.

This is why the first program, although open to everyone, is geared primarily to parents.

On hand to help will be several experts who deal with drugs, including a representative from the Albany County Sheriff's Department who will display samples of drugs that were confiscated from the Voorheesville area.

King said that although many parents have heard the names of certain drugs few would recognize them if they saw them.

Also taking part in the program will be Art Rivers for Hope House, who will discuss the physical and psychological effects of drug use, including the signs and symptoms of those taking various drugs.

The final segment will feature Cathy Provencher of the Albany County Prevention Center, who will address the topic of better communication between parents and their children. The hope is that if parents know their children's normal behavior patterns they will recognize subtle changes that may take place due to drug use.

Provencher, who is the county's advisor to the task force, will touch upon the many reasons youngsters turn to drugs and alcohol. A question and answer session will follow.

The second program, scheduled to take place March 13, will deal with the many new laws on the books dealing with the misuse of drugs and alcohol. Co-sponsored by the PTSA, the program will also deal with vandalism.

Judge LaFave points out that it is surprising what many people don't know, especially about laws which carry with them stiff penalties. "One such deals with those who drive while their license has been suspended due to an alcohol related condition. Those who are caught and convicted face a minimum sentence upon conviction of 7 days in jail."

Also addressed will be parent's liability for damages, which in many cases can be considerable. On the program with LaFave will be Richard LaChappelle, a local law enforcement officer. A video tape on the consequences of drinking and driving will also be shown.

This is not the first educational program offered by the task force, which hosted an alcohol awareness program featuring Justine Caldes last spring. The group also backed a free drug awareness course taught by health coordinator Dick Leach during the fall continuing education program, and a similar course is being offered this spring.

Other programs in the works by the Task Force include the student peer support group, "Natural Helpers," headed by Leach and a parent support group under the direction of Sue Nachbar. A new program chaired by Bill Hotaling is the Safe Spring Program which will offer safe, non-alcoholic activities for after the prom and graduation.

Unrelated to the task force but in the vein, students at Clayton A. Bouton are looking into the formation of a SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving Program) with several attending an information meeting at Guilderland featuring SADD members from Shaker.

According to task force coordinator Phil Joyce, "We are fortunate to have such programs here. Hopefully people will take advantage of the resources we have in our small community."

Felony charges filed

A 20-year-old Albany woman faces charges of grand larceny in the third degree and forgery in the second degree, both felonies, in connection with an incident Jan. 12 at an Elsmere savings bank, according to Bethlehem police reports. Denise Walker, who also faces a misdemeanor charge of second degree criminal impersonation, was arrested last Tuesday at her home and, after arraignment, was sent to the Albany County Jail pending County Court action, the report noted. She is accused in the fraudulent withdrawal of $770 from the bank.

Agriculture and history

The Albany Institute of History and Art will present a noontime lecture series on the eight Thursdays in February and March beginning Feb. 7. The free programs, entitled "Preserving Barns," "Tools for Building," "Shaker Architecture," "Current Issues in Agriculture," "The Evolution of Farming in the Nineteenth Century," "Agricultural Implements in the New York State Museum's Collection," "Nineteenth Century Rural Life" and "Music and Dance That Originated in Barns," will be presented at the institute, 125 Washington Ave., Albany.

'Go west,' planners told

By Theresa Bobear

Members of the Slingerlands Homeowners Association say they are opposed to extending the Delmar Bypass via Fisher Blvd.

Town planning consultant Edward Kleinke met with the group last week to discuss the town's plans to extend both the Delmar Bypass and the Slingerlands Bypass. The homeowners agreed to oppose the connection of the Delmar Bypass and New Scotland Rd. via Fisher Blvd. with the recommendation that a route further to the west be found.

Kleinke said the town hopes to persuade the state to extend the Slingerlands Bypass (Rt. 85) parallel to New Scotland Rd. as far as the Cherry Ave. Extension. By connecting the bypass to the Cherry Ave. Ext. (Rt. 140) with a signalized intersection, Kleinke said, the high volume of traffic on New Scotland Rd. between the Blue Cross building and Rt. 140 would be reduced.

"That's at least five years away," Kleinke said, noting that the project would have to be added to the Capital District Transportation Improvement Program.

Kleinke said the Slingerlands Bypass might one day "swing out to New Scotland and link with Rt. 85A."

Kleinke said the concept of linking the Delmar Bypass with New Scotland Rd. was proposed to accommodate traffic, growth and development in the area — particularly residential development to the south of the Delmar Bypass.

Kleinke pointed out that a high volume of traffic passes through Delmar on its way to Albany. He explained that the highways don't converge, but go to Albany by separate routes. The highway linkages would benefit the entire town by allowing the traffic to flow more freely, he said.

Kleinke said the connection of the Delmar Bypass and New Scotland Ave. would be made up of three links. He estimated that the first link, connecting the Delmar Bypass and Van Dyke Rd., could probably be completed during the next five years. The second link would connect Van Dyke Rd. and Delaware Ave., and the third link would connect Delaware Ave. and New Scotland Rd.

One resident said the plan appeared to be more than just a concept, with one piece of property in the corridor being considered for rezoning and another parcel already rezoned with plans for a through road included in the proposal.

A resident asserted that a route too close to Slingerlands might attract traffic from New Scotland Rd. and Cherry Ave. to Slingerlands. When asked whether or not the town had considered any other corridors west of Fisher Blvd., Kleinke said the town engineering department was not definitely set on Fisher Blvd.

Regarding the proposed connection of Delaware Ave. and Orchard St., one resident said, "I don't think you could expect Fisher Blvd. in its present condition to carry many vehicles."

"To ruin that beautiful hamlet

Bethlehem town planning consultant Edward Kleinke discusses possible highway connections with members of the Slingerlands Homeowners Association. Tom Howes of Slingerlands," said another resident, "just doesn't make sense to me."

"As soon as you have access from Delaware Ave. to Orchard, you're going to make Fisher a major highway," another resident added. Several members of the audience agreed that the intersection of Fisher Blvd. and New Scotland has a poor sight distance.

The Slingerlands residents proposed that officials from Bethlehem and New Scotland agree on a route to the west. One suggested that the proposed road between Delaware Ave. and Orchard St. be routed toward New Scotland and not be connected to Orchard until a route between Orchard and New Scotland was established.

News From Around BETHLEHEM CENTRAL

Clarksville — The PTA will meet on Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 7 p.m. . . . Diane Lyndaker's 4-5 class are applying their math skills by operating a school store. The store is open during lunchtime and sells pencils, paper and softcover books . . . Third graders Becki Rice and Katy Wing and fourth grader Kerry Cross were winners in the "Smoke-Out" poster contest sponsored by the American Cancer Society. Their posters were displayed at the Empire State Plaza.

Elsmere — Children's Activity Day is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 20 (snow date is Feb. 21), from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. School-age children accompanied by an adult are invited to come and watch movies, do arts and crafts, see a puppet show, or have their faces painted. The cost is $1.50 per child . . . School board member Marjory O'Brien answered questions about the district's draft budget at a recent evening meeting of ESCO/PTA.

Glenmont — Brochures on the after-school enrichment program will be distributed on Thursday and sign-up will be Wednesday, Feb. 13, from 6 to 7 p.m. . . . Glenmont pupils are participating in a Statue of Liberty Awareness Program. They will be making monetary donations on four consecutive Thursdays and they are collecting Kellogg's box tops

(not UPC labels). They hope to collect 5,000 box tops for which Kellogg's will donate a penny apiece. Send tops by April 1 to Glenmont Elementary School, Rt. 9W, Glenmont, 12077.

Hamagrael — Janet Cunningham, first grade teacher, and Cheryl Brown, third grade teacher, are looking for volunteers to help their students with the Logo computers program. They will train the volunteers. Call 439-4905 . . . "Gettinh to Know Hamagrael" is an album of pictures of every teacher and staff member, the first day of school, the Halloween parade and playground, cafeteria and other Hamagrael happenings. The album is on display at the school and is the work of fifth graders Carolyn Crary, Corey Farbstein, Sarah Clash and Madly Kadish.

Slingerlands — The PTA will meet on Monday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. . . . Susan Cunningham and Lynne Lenhardt are parent organizers for the school carnival in May. They will be contacting others to work on carnival committees . . . A work session on the transportation section of the district's draft budget will be held at the Slingerlands school on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at 7 p.m. All district residents are invited to attend.

Middle School — Parenting Perspectives, a program for parents of sixth graders, will be held on Thursday, Feb. 7, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Room 64. All parents of sixth graders are invited to attend and participate in a discussion on relationships.

High School — Valentine Cabaret, an evening of entertainment and dancing, with BCHS Choraliers' soloists and the Dance Band, will be Saturday, Feb. 9, from 8 to 11 p.m. Admission is $2 and snacks will be sold . . . Feb. 14 has been set aside as Africa Day for ninth grade classes. Staff members and guest speakers will present learning activities on Africa . . . The "Shadow" program has been reinstated at the high school. Juniors will be able to get career insights by spending several hours "shadowing" someone on the job. Persons in the community who would be willing to have a student spend a few hours with them on the job can call Marylou Stracke; 459-2406, or the school guidance office, 439-4921.

CHP opening Tuesday

The Capital Area Community Health Plan Center, on Delaware Ave., in Delmar, expects to open its doors on Tuesday, Feb. 12, following the required inspection by the state Health Department on Monday. Lynch, restoration coordinator for the State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation, will present a program entitled "A Cut Above — The Stonecutters' Art in Albany Architecture."

More news on Ch 16

The Bethlehem Channel is adding to its program of readings for the visually impaired with Bill Lowenberg and the "Not Really Page One News." Lowenberg will gather bits and pieces of interesting news items throughout the week from various newspapers and magazines and present them on Channel 16 on Wednesdays.

On Wednesday, Feb. 13, Jan Clark will begin reading Strong Poison by Dorothy Sayers, a mystery story in the Lord Peter Wimsey series. The readings will begin at 3 p.m. and will run continuously to 9 p.m.

Reruns

Due to unidentified technical problems which took Channel 16 off the air on Monday, Jan. 21, Vienna Then, New York Now, presented by the Capitol Chamber Artists on The Bethlehem Cable College was not seen. Therefore, the Chamber Artists have prepared a program for the Bethlehem channel which will combine a discussion of Vienna Then, New York Now and a preview concert of A Handel Spectacular. That program will be cablecast on Monday, Feb. 11. The concert celebrating the 300th anniversary of the composer's birth will be held on Feb. 15-16.

Schedules for the concerts are available at the Bethlehem Public Library or by calling the Capitol Chamber Artists at 489-0507.

Three among winners

Three local residents are among 712 statewide awarded state Regents Empire State Mathematics and science teacher scholarships and fellowships. They are Sheri A. Matthews and Christine Berte of Delmar, and Susan M. Heckman of Feura Bush. The scholarships are awarded to attract academically able students to mathematics and science teaching.

Gallery, frame shop growing

On opening day in October of 1983, the workshop and gallery of the South Street Framers and Gallery occupied two rooms at 231 Delaware Ave., Delmar. During the summer of 1984 Sharon and Michael Fernandes expanded their business to include three large areas for display and a larger workshop for assembling frames, cutting molds and dry mounting.

In addition to expanding space occupied, the Fernandeses have expanded the variety of artwork they purchase, frame, exhibit and sell. They now show work by contemporary artists and modern art in addition to traditional art.

In the gallery, Sharon Fernandes said, "We try to create an environment where people can come in and relax." The home-like atmosphere of the gallery allows people to view the artwork as they would in their own living room, she said.

Many people from the Delmar area and from throughout the Northeastern United States have enjoyed the pleasant atmosphere of the gallery while viewing the work of nationally and internationally known artists.

An exhibit of lithographs and oils by Edna Hibel, an internationally recognized artist, just closed at the gallery. A new exhibit, including etchings by Kathleen Cantin and Carole Collette, silk screens by Helen Dillon and Tod Rowland, embossing by Kevin Dyer, wood cuts by Sabra Field, and lithographs by Edna Hibel and Michael Delaeroux will open soon.

Fernandes said she hopes to present an exhibit of oils, lithographs and watercolors by Michael Delaeroux during spring or summer.

Restaurant planned

A new Italian-American restaurant may soon be opening in the area. Frank Maiorano and Carmela Mitchell hope to complete the purchase of Private Benny's, 1360 New Scotland Rd., Slingerslands, by March. Mitchell said the restaurant should open by late April or early May after renovations. Mitchell said the restaurant will include a bar.

The Bethlehem Board of Appeals will hold a public hearing on rather than reaction oriented by delegating management responsibilities, a spokesman said.

The committees and chairmen are as follows: programs, activities and awards, Dan Formica; town government, Ken Ringler; communications and public relations, Timothy Barrett; budget and finance, George Gibson, and membership, Peter Merrill. The executive committee will be made up of the officers and past president of the organization.

Insurers adding to HQ

Professional Insurance Agents of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut plans an expansion of its headquarters building on Rt. 9W in Glenmont. Plans call for a two-story addition on the south end of the PIA building, with groundbreaking scheduled for early spring.

The present building was erected in 1971, and more than 100 people are now employed there. The company said it represents more than 25,000 independent insurance agents and brokers. Departments experiencing especially rapid growth include communications and governmental operations, group insurance (which processes more than 35,000 claims annually), and printing and mailing, according to the company. The addition will allow space for their expansion.

The addition will provide a 1,500-square-foot meeting room on the first floor, with kitchen facilities. The second floor will have offices for company executives, the PIA Management Services Corp. and the research and industry affairs department, the company reported. The addition will total 10,000 square feet.

FOCUS ON FAITH

Rev. Robert EnTin

Glenmont Community Church

Recently the United States and Russia completed what we hope to be the first of many nuclear arms peace negotiations. Groups and individuals throughout God's creation are calling for complete disarmament of both nuclear and conventional weapons. In the United States, protesters demonstrate frequently against the building and operation of nuclear power plants. Prayers for peace are being offered up to God in an increasing number every hour.

Donations are sought toward various peacemaking efforts on large corporate scales. As individuals, some of us feel that we would like to become more involved in peacemaking ministry. We want to do more than donate money, but we also are not comfortable with large groups. What can we do?

The Apostle Paul calls us to a ministry of reconciliation and peacemaking. In his Second letter to the Corinthians, (5:18) Paul tells us how Christ reconciled humanity to God and passed on this ministry of reconciliation to us, calling us to be peacemakers. The answer to the question, How?, is dispute mediation.

The doctrine of reconciliation needs to be proclaimed and practiced. Our world is overrun with alienation, chaos, meaninglessness, conflict and materialism between human beings. Not only do we see this in such places as Cambodia, Afghanistan, Poland, South Africa, but also in Albany, Troy, Schenectady and in the Town of Bethlehem. Through dispute mediation, we as individuals can become involved in the ministry of reconciliation and peacemaking here in our home towns. We can help others improve their relationships. We all know that the Christian faith and life is based on relationships. Through Christ God has broken down barriers between himself and his people. God has reconciled us to himself and to each other.

Becoming involved in dispute mediation is one significant way in which God's children may participate in the ministry Paul calls us all to. Mediation is a proven process for healing relationships. When we as Christians participate in mediation projects within our communities, we are witness to Christ's call to peace and justice.

The mediation process can, perhaps, be understood by comparing it to the usual process of our courts, many of which now refer cases to mediation programs as an alternative to the adversarial process. Mediation offers the parties in conflict an opportunity "to be heard" . . . and valued. Crowded courts and attorney-dominated proceedings rarely allow adequate interaction between those involved in interpersonal disputes. For the parties in conflict, mediation provides a process of controlled "ventilation."

The goal of reconciliation is not the mere reduction of tension, for when tension-reduction becomes an end in itself, or an avoidance of underlying issues, justice may be denied and true reconciliation does not occur. When we seek tension-reduction per se (a tactic often subtly employed in many situations) power imbalances may be hardened.

Mediation deals with the relationships and conflicts underlying the present problem, while the court system usually can only deal with the specific neighborhood or family dispute which has erupted into that moment.

Volunteer mediators are trained to help the conflicting parties "hear" each other and to reveal the real, often-unspoken reasons for their complaints or conflicts. The mediation process looks towards the future, whereas the judicial process usually can assess the lawfulness or wrongness of past behavior alone. Volunteer mediators are trained to help disputants "brainstorm" and evaluate possible solutions, and after a mediation session lasting from one to three hours, the parties phrase and sign their agreement, taking responsibility for future communications and interactions. So instead of a decision handed down by someone, where one side is a winner and the other side a loser, reconciliation through mediation helps people come to a mutual awareness of the other's vulnerability and value.

Individuals can participate in this peacemaking, reconciling ministry by becoming a volunteer mediator in a Community Dispute Settlement Center program in their county. In 1981 New York State became the first state to help fund these non-profit programs and organize a statewide program.

The New York State Community Dispute Resolution Centers Program is administered by Tom Christian of Delmar through the Office of Court Administration. There are now 43 counties in the state that have operational dispute mediation centers operated by non-profit organizations. There are local programs in Albany, Rensselaer and Schenectady Counties. Volunteer mediators are used in all three of these counties.

For more information contact Mr. Christian, at 473-4160 or Rev. Robert Testino EnTin at the Glenmont Community Church, 436-7710.

Rev. Robert Testino EnTin, pastor of the Glenmont Community Church (Reformed), prior to being ordained practiced law in New Jersey for 12 years. He is also director of the Community Dispute Settlement Program of Rensselaer County, which is operated by United Urban Ministry of Troy.

Rev. Adkins to leave

The Rev. Dr. Leon Adkins, Jr., senior pastor of First United Methodist Church in Delmar, will be leaving the Delmar Church of July 1 to serve as Albany district superintendent of the United Methodist Church Troy Conference.

Rev. Adkins will reside in Guilderland and will be responsible for 79 Methodist churches in the Albany, Schenectady, Glensville, Amsterdam and Cobleskill area. He will work with 6 ministers and guide in pastoral appointments of ministers. Adkins will work on the Troy Annual Conference with the bishop and three other superintendents.

A graduate of Middlebury College in Vermont and Boston University, he was awarded the doctor of ministry degree from Drew University. An ordained deacon and elder in the Troy Conference, he has served Troy Conference pastorates in Fort Johnson, Newtonville and Scott. He has served as senior minister of the First United Methodist Church of Delmar for the past nine years.

Rev. Adkins served as board member and board chairman of the Troy Conference Geriatric Foundation, Inc. He was a member of the Troy Conference council on finance and administration and chairman of the Troy Conference board of ordained ministry and the board of pensions.

He is currently a member of the Troy Conference board of trustees and board of ministry. He is chairman of the Troy Conference joint committee on disability.

Adkins and his wife, Mollie Hemeon Adkins, reside in Delmar. They are the parents of Mark Adkins of Scotia, Grant Adkins of Saratoga Springs, Rachel Jacques of Lanesboro, Mass. and David Adkins of Delmar. They have three grandchildren.

Methodists on mission

Hammers, saws and screwdrivers will be included in the luggage of members of the First United Methodist Church, Delmar, when they visit the island of St. Croix as short-term volunteers in mission at the Community Methodist Church in Frederiksted.

Under the leadership of Rev. Leon Adkins, Jr., senior pastor in Delmar, and Rev. L. Kenneth Bennett, pastor in Frederiksted, the project extends from Feb. 7 through Feb. 17 and includes helping in the local church with painting, carpentry, electrical work, community visitation and a pre-school program. During the 11 days, Delmar members will be guests in homes of the church community.

The opportunity to be a short-term volunteer is a new experience offered by the General Board of Global Ministries of the United Methodist Church. These volunteers in mission are lay and clergy persons who donate their time and services without remuneration for a certain period of time. The Delmar volunteers will pay their own transportation and expect to donate some of the tools they take for the Frederiksted project.

"This is touching base with another part of worldwide Methodism in a project similar to an exchange of church members in 1981 and 1984 between Haxby, England and Delmar, New York," said Rev. Adkins.

Linda Winterhoff, standing, instructs a group participating in Bethlehem Lutheran Church's February Sonshine Program. This year's program is scheduled for Feb. 19 through Feb. 21 from 1 to 3 p.m. For information call 439-4328.

Youngsters get invitation

Bethlehem Lutheran Church's seventh annual mid-winter vacation Bible school, "February Sonshine" will be held this year on Feb. 19, 20 and 21 from 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the church, 85 Elm Ave. in Delmar. All youngsters 4 years of age through sixth grade are invited to participate in the fun and fellowship. Craft groups, Bible stories, singing, games and refreshments are on the agenda for the three-day program.

There will be a special closing program on Thursday, Feb. 21 at 7:30 p.m. with The King's Clown and Rag Tag Army. The King's Clown is Pastor Schwartz and the Rag Tag Army is a group made up of Senior High Youth, both from the Rensselaer County Lutheran Parish. They will be presenting a program of mime and clowning. The community is invited to attend the performance.

Class sizes are limited so interested parents may call the church office at 439-4328 for registration forms. Registration fees are $3.50 per child and $7 maximum per family. The deadline for registration is Friday, Feb. 15.

Love lives in the heart

The following letter was written by a fictitious widow in her mid-seventies to her distraught, disturbed 35-year-old son who, embittered by a failing marriage, had called the night before to launch an attack against his parents whom he blames for "having lived a lie with each other" and "misrepresenting what marriage is all about."

"My Dear Son,

Your call last night was very upsetting to me. I hardly slept at all. I never heard you talk like that to me, or to your father when he was alive. God rest his soul. I didn't have any idea you felt that way about us. If I had known, we would have had a long talk when you were still living here with us.

Shame on you. Shame on you for trying to blame your father and me for your problems. We gave you the best home we could, and we gave you all the love any parent can give their child, and we sacrificed more than you know to make you feel secure and comfortable. You were the most important thing to your father and me. You were our pride and joy. You were all we had, because of my female problems, we couldn't have any other children. So you got everything we could give.

We didn't raise you to be ungrateful. You have always been a kind, considerate boy, and the phone call last night just wasn't like you. I have to believe you're not yourself with the trouble you're having in your marriage. But there are some things you should know about your father and me that you obviously missed somewhere along the way.

You said that you never saw your father hug me or kiss me,

I would have liked a hug or a kiss now and then, but that wasn't the most important thing between us. What was important to me was that your father was a good man devoted to his family. He was always a good provider and whenever I needed him, he was there to do whatever needed to be done. That's so much more important than a hug or a kiss.

Your father didn't express himself very well, but his thoughts and his feelings ran deep, deeper than you know. Once, before you were even born, when he was trying to start his own business with his brother, your Uncle Joe, he came that he didn't love me, because he never showed it. Well, my son, you don't know what real love is if you think that. I know your father wasn't an affectionate person, at least outwardly. He had a very difficult childhood himself, and never received much love from his parents. They were too busy making ends meet to think about love. Besides, people from the old country didn't make it a habit to display their feelings toward one another. They just worked hard and did what they had to do to stay together.

to me and held me for a long time. When I stepped back, I saw that he was crying. Your wonderful uncle had sold out of the business without telling your father, leaving him with all the debts and the merchandise. It took us a long time to get back on our feet, but we did it, because we loved each other.

There was only one other time I ever saw your father cry. That was the time you had blood poisoning and your neck was swollen so bad you couldn't lift your head off the pillow. Thank God for aureomycin, or you would have died. Your father was so afraid of losing you that he wept in my arms nearly that entire night. In the morning when you passed the crisis, he cried again when the doctor told us you would be all right. He loved you very much.

Marion Jewell, manager of the Tawasentha Chapter NSDAR antique show, reviews antiques for sale with Gladys O'Brien, left, of O'Brien Antiques and Ruth Sherman of Fire House Antiques. The antique show and sale will be held at Bethlehem Central High School on Feb. 16 and 17.

And, my son, my flesh and blood, your father loved me. He loved me more than anything on this earth. I know it now, even if I didn't know it before. Life without him has been empty. The void I feel without him is sometimes more than I can bear. I know he wasn't affectionate with me, or with anyone. I just wasn't him.

But he was loving in so many other ways. He was a kind man, a generous man, someone who would never turn his back on a friend in need, someone you could turn to anytime, anywhere and he'd always be there to do whatever he could to ease your pain. I could talk his ear off, and he'd listen. I could complain about the neighbors, the repairman, the butcher, and he would do whatever I asked him to do. He was always ready to serve me or anyone he truly cared about. I miss him so much.

You see, my son, love doesn't always have to be shown in front of others; it just has to be felt and shared inside the heart where it counts. Your father and I had that kind of love. We didn't go out dancing, and we didn't put on a public display of how we felt about each other. We just did what we had to do, and knew that it was because we cared deeply about each other.

Your father didn't have to bring me flowers or drape me in furs or take me to Tahiti to show he loved me. He simply accepted me the way I am, and loved you with all his might, and made our home as comfortable as it was, and was strong when hard times came upon us. He love wasn't showy. It wasn't demonstrative. But it was there, and it was deep, and it was forever. If you can love your wife half as much as your father loved me, you won't lose your family. Don't ever again question the man who fathered you. Don't ever wonder how your father felt toward me. He was not Casanova. He was not Valentino. He was just a simple, hard-working man who never asked much out of life, and he loved me.

Your loving mother

wanted to."

Area school administrators don't disagree but they are taking action to eliminate drug abuse during school hours. In the Bethlehem, RCS and Voorheesville School Districts, the smoking areas, rest rooms and other out-of-the-way spots are monitored. Students found selling, using or in possession of any substance are dealt with severely. A student found with or under the influence of drugs in any of the districts looks forward to suspension and a parent-teacher conference. If the substance is illegal, the authorities are contacted immediately. If the problem is chronic, the student may be scheduled for a five-day suspension followed by a superintendent's hearing and, possibly, expulsion.

Bethlehem students found in possession of an illegal substance are referred to Bethlehem Police Youth Bureau. There, Officer James Corbett says he may either refer the youth to family court or criminal court. He explains that adolescents who are 16 years or older are treated as adults in criminal court. Persons 15 and younger are usually referred to family court but may be referred to criminal court for a serious crime.

In cases where the child is abusing alcohol or is only suspected of drug abuse, Corbett will refer the family to a social service agency. "Most parents recognize counseling as best for the child," he explains. When a child has been using alcohol, the department attempts to locate the clerk who sold alcohol to the minor.

Bethlehem Town Justice Peter C. Wenger estimates that 50 cases of substance abuse and between 30 and 40 cases of alcohol abuse involving minors have come before the town justices in the past year.

Wenger explained that marijuana was decriminalized during the 1970's. He said a person found in possession of a mixture containing marijuana of an aggregate weight of 25 grams may be arrested. If he is found guilty of the class B misdemeanor, he may be required to serve up to six months in jail and pay a fine of not more than $500. He said the court has the discretionary power to order probation with participation in a counseling program to be monitored by a probation officer.

Wenger explained that persons found in possession of other controlled substances may be indicted on felony charges and referred to Albany County Court.

Mary Giusti, supervisor of the Albany County Probation Department, explains that there are no set sentences for Family Court, where most offenders under 16 years are considered. In cases of substance abuse, Giusti notes, the judge may order a minimum of counseling for the family and a maximum of placement in a drug or alcohol residential rehabilitation facility. The judge reviews evaluations for each case made by the Youthful Drug Abuse Clinic

Where to find a helping hand

Sometimes the problems of life are overwhelming, and for many people that is when the escape of alcohol or drugs is most tempting. But there are other answers, and a growing network of professionals and volunteers ready to help steer both children and their parents through difficult times.

The following is a list of local agencies and volunteer groups ready to help:

- Equinox Inc., 214 Lark St., Albany, provides confidential individual, family and group counseling anyone of any age seeking help with drug abuse problem; offers educational information, referral services and other services; 434-6134. Equinox provides counseling services at Bethlehem Town Hall by appointment and has two counselors at RCS High School.

- Project Hope, Guilderland/New Scotland Unit; St. Mark's Community Center, Box 207, Guilderland Center; Bethlehem/Coeymans Unit: First Reformed Church of Bethlehem, R.D. 1, Box 186, Selkirk; confidential non-residential program for adolescents aged 13 through 15 encountering problems at home, in school or in the community; aims to prevent juvenile involvement through early intervention; referral services provided; Guilderland, 861-5175; Selkirk, 767-2445.

- Parents Against Chemical Abuse (PACA), community organization serving the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk area; offers support, referral services and prevention information; members organize activities and parties as alternatives to alcohol and substance abuse; chaired by Joan Nunziato and Diane Nicholson, 756-6951.

- Bethlehem Youth Opportunities (BYOU), community organization serving the Bethlehem area; members organize, referral services and prevention information; members organize activities and parties as alternatives to alcohol and substance abuse under direction of Mrs. Judy Feldman, president; 439-7460.

- New Scotland Substance Abuse Task Force (NSSATF), community organization serving the New Scotland area; offers support, referral services and prevention information; members organize activities and parties as alternatives to alcohol and substance abuse; chaired by Phil Joyce; 765-4336.

- Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD), under the direction of school administrators in Voorheesville, RCS and Bethlehem Central School Districts will improve safety by discouraging alcohol abuse among peers; Bethlehem coordinators Joanne Smith, Michelle O'Brien and Rose Burda, 439-4921; RCS coordinator Karen Sack, 756-2155; Voorheesville coordinator Richard Leach, 765-3314.

- Alcohol Education for Youth Inc., 1500 Western Ave., Albany, private non-profit organization to prevent alcohol abuse/Alcoholism by increasing awareness; offers seminars in alcohol awareness to adolescents, parents, professionals and multi-denominational church groups; also offers special retreats to help teens aged 13 through 18 take control of their lives in a constructive way; adolescent improvisational theatre troupe will perform prevention program at area schools beginning in April, 456-3800.

- Alcoholics Anonymous, PO Box 6042, Albany, provides confidential support and counseling to alcoholics; 489-6779.

- St. Peter's Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center (SPARC), offers outpatient group counseling for adolescents; presents information at local schools; offers referral services, 454-1356.

- Edward F. Kennell Center, 70 North Swan St., Albany; provides confidential individual and family counseling on an outpatient basis for alcohol and substance abusers; program contains educational component and vocational unit; population of a high risk nature; 462-4320.

- Hospitality House, 271 Central Ave., Albany; primarily a residential facility; residents relate their experience with alcohol or drugs at area schools; 434-6468.

- Family Alcoholism Counseling, Slingerlands, Robert Burda, certified social worker and Credentialed Alcoholism Counselor, provides confidential family-oriented therapy to wet and dry alcoholics; individual counseling also offered; all ages; 439-9014.

- REFER, a component of Equinox Inc. 214 Lark St., Albany, provides free, confidential and immediate referral services, 434-1200.

in Albany in order to make an appropriate recommendation.

Fortunately, parents and students interested in preventing or remedying a drug abuse problem can rely on information, support and guidance offered by a variety of groups.

Bethlehem, RCS and Voorheesville High Schools support community, student and private help organizations. Each school makes an effort to educate students through health classes in eighth and eleventh grades and on-going programs. Each school has counselors available to offer advice or refer students to an appropriate agency. The RCS School District has contracted with Equinox, Inc. to provide in-school counseling and crisis intervention for students. Bethlehem and RCS have organized Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) and Voorheesville is in the process of organizing a SADD group.

In each district, officials support community-based volunteer groups such as Bethlehem Youth Opportunities Unlimited (BYOU), Parents Against Chemical Abuse (PACA) in Ravena and the New Scotland Substance Abuse Task Force (NSSATF). Each one of these groups works to educate students and parents, provide support when needed, refer students and parents to appropriate agencies when a problem is developing and offer non-alcoholic parties and events as an alternative to parties where drugs are the main course.

"It's not solely a school problem. It's a family problem," said Superintendent Werner Berglas of Voorheesville. "It's a problem for society." Peter Griffen, principal of Voorheesville High, said students see characters on TV pour themselves a drink whenever they have a problem. He said society is giving students the wrong message.

"Adolescence is a time of experimentation and a struggling for freedom," said Principal Charles Gunner of Bethlehem. He explained that people cannot have freedom without responsibility.

Nature for kids

A program for parents and children, entitled "Sharing Nature with Your Children," will held at Five Rivers Environmental Education Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar, on Saturday, Feb. 9, at 10 a.m. For information call 457-6092.

Film at Time Out

"Shaping the Will Without Breaking the Spirit" is the title of the James Dobson film on parenting to be shown at the Feb. 11 meeting of Mother's Time Out.

The Christian support group for mothers of pre-schoolers will meet from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the Delmar Reformed Church.

'Birds' 'deserved to win'

By Dan Tidd

Playing their finest basketball of the season, Voorheesville's Blackbirds gave league-leading Albany Academy all they could handle and more before falling, 61-60, in overtime.

The Cadets' 6-foot-6 Dimitri Yavis hit the game-winning free throw with 4 seconds left in OT.

Yavis might never have gotten a chance to win this one if Voorheesville's last-second shot in regulation had dropped in. The Blackbirds' Dan Vunk had a chance to win it in regulation after his follow of a John Paradise jumper rattled in and out at the buzzer. "From the bench it looked like it would fall through and we could all go home," said Voorheesville Coach Bob Crandall. "It was a painful conclusion to a game in which we played so darned well. The kids played their hearts out and they really deserved to win this one."

Crandall's team came out sizzling against the favored Cadets. Seniors Brett Hotaling and Brian Rubin took it right to the Academy defense in the first quarter and sparked the Blackbirds to a 14-9 lead. "I told my front line to go right at Yavis," said Crandall. "We had to get the ball down low early if we expected to put pressure on them." The plan worked as Rubin hit for 8 first-quarter points and the Blackbird full-court press bothered the Cadets.

In the second quarter Rubin picked up two quick fouls and forced Crandall to change his strategy. Then Yavis hit six for seven from the field and quickly the Cadets regained the lead. But the Blackbirds' Joe Rissberger hit a 12-foot jumper at the buzzer just before halftime to give Voorheesville the lead at 28-27.

The lead changed a dozen times in the second half as both teams shot well. With 6:15 left Voorheesville's Gerald Borg fouled out and with his team down by five, Crandall came out with another full-court press and forced a couple of Academy turnovers. Rissberger scored to give the Birds a one-point lead. With 1:28 left Hotaling fouled out, but John Paradise hit one of two free-throws to put the Birds up two. Then it was Yavis's turn to hit two to tie it back up at 58-58. Voorheesville held the ball until the clock showed 10 seconds and Crandall called for time.

The Birds set up a play designed for Rubin to get the ball down low in the post, but he spotted Paradise in the corner for a 15-foot jumper with 4 seconds left. After it bounced off the back iron, Vunk rebounded the ball off-balance and lofted one that rattled around the rim and out.

After Yavis hit two free throws to put the Cadets on top in overtime, Rubin came back with a fantastic banker off the glass to tie it. With 1:40 left the Birds again ran the clock down to 10 seconds. Again, after another timeout, the Birds tried to go low to Rubin, but this time the ball was stolen and Academy called time with 5 seconds left. With the ball under their own basket the Cadets were able to get a pass to Yavis at half court. Rubin fouled him with 4 ticks left on the clock. Yavis hit one of two and a last second shot by the Birds was on line but fell short.

Overall it was a good week for Voorheesville. They played a solid game earlier in the week to defeat Schalmont, 64-56. Hotaling scored 18 of his game-high 24 points in the second half as the Birds battled back from an eight-point halftime deficit. It was also a good week for Rubin, who had 14 against Schalmont and topped all scorers with 24 against Academy. Voorheesville stands at 3-11 in Colonial Council play with a date at Ravena last night (Tuesday).

Indoor tennis set

Indoor tennis for adults will be offered at the Bethlehem Central High School Tuesday nights Feb. 26 through April 16. Court time will be available to groups of four players in one hour segments, from 8 to 10 p.m.

This program, offered by the Bethlehem Parks and Recreation Department, is open to residents of the town and the Bethlehem Central School District, and preregistration is required at the park office, Elm Ave. Park, Delmar. Telephone registration can be made by calling 439-4131, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. The fee is $12 per player for the entire program.

Deer hit on Rt. 140

Bethlehem police reported one car-deer accident last week. The accident occurred about 10 p.m. last Monday on Cherry Ave. Extension near McCormack Rd. The driver reported no injury.

Indians get revenge

By Dan Tidd

For over a month the RCS Indians have been thinking about their rematch with Cohoes. Back on Dec. 21 the Indians were ambushed by the Tigers in a game that sent Coach Jim Gorham's team on a three-game losing streak.

This time Gorham had to take his club into Cohoes, a place many visiting teams have been decimated. Gorham's club used a stubborn defense and crafty offensive game plan to knock off the Tigers, 55-47.

The first quarter was full of emotion as the teams battled to a 3-3 score. "I wondered if anybody was ever going to score," said Gorham. "Both teams were so pumped up that they forgot to put the ball in the hoop."

Ravena got going in the second quarter as Dekovan Bowie used his size and strength to clear both boards. "We knew we had to rebound them if we expected to win the game," said Gorham. "Numerous times we scored by keeping the ball alive on the offensive end. It was definitely our best offensive quarter of the year."

The Indians used a tough diamond and one defense in the third quarter that forced some crucial Tiger turnovers. Ravena's Mike Mizener also helped by doing a superb defensive job on the Tiger's Mike Polaro. Polaro finished the night with 18 points, but it was Mizener who shut him down when the game was on the line.

With Bowie scoring from inside and Mizener from outside, Ravena built up a 10-point lead with 3:25 left. The Tigers refused to die and suddenly scored seven points in 35 seconds. The Indian lead had dwindled to just three points, but once again it was Mizener with a long jumper and two free-throws. Bowie ended any Tiger comeback with two driving layups and a free throw.

Ravena improved their league record to 4-9 with Voorheesville due in last night (Tuesday). Bowie finished Friday's game with 23 points and Mizener chipped in with 14.

For young gymnasts

Gymnastics classes for children in grades 2 through 12 are being offered by the Town of Bethlehem Parks and Recreation Department, beginning Tuesday, March 5, in the middle school gym. Classes will continue through April 30.

Beginners will meet from 6:30 to 8 p.m., and intermediate and advanced gymnasts will meet from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Preregistration is required and can be made at the Elm Ave. Park office, by telephone (439-4131) or in person, between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays. The fee is $12.

A cabaret

A valentine cabaret, an evening of dance and entertainment, will be held in the cafeteria of Bethlehem Central High School on Saturday, Feb. 9, from 8 to 11 p.m.

Admission is $2. For information call Joseph Farrell at 439-4921.

DWI sentence due

Jeffrey A. Schraa, 27, of Meilikas Trailer court in Selkirk faces sentencing Feb. 15 on a felony charge of driving while intoxicated. He pleaded guilty to the count last Tuesday in County Court. According to a spokesman for the district attorney, Schraa was stopped on Rt. 9W by state police on Dec. 19 after he was seen driving erratically.

BC bench holds stars

Players who normally don't get their names in the papers in the course of Bethlehem Central's dismal basketball season had their moments on center stage last week.

The Eagles absorbed another drubbing 67-54, at Saratoga Friday with Coach Gary Pryzbylo again starting three juniors as an investment in a brighter future. "They got a little rattled," BC's third-year coach remarked over the weekend. "We were down 12-2 at the start, but we cut it to 3 points at the half. In the second half we shot poorly."

But it wasn't the starters who got the plaudits. It was the bench crew, like Pat Cahill and Tom Vandemark. Said Pryzbylo: "Cahill came off the bench and did a good job on Rodney Brown (Saratoga's big gun) and held him to nine points. That's way below his average. And Vandemark hustled all over the place, and made several good steals for baskets, and had a nice tap-in on the offensive board."

Vandemark, who had been out the last two games, was high man with 16, a new experience for him.

Earlier in the week the Eagles, happy to find a team with more troubles than they have, coasted to an easy 74-50 win over hapless Niskayuna, now 0-16. Mike Gibbons and Geoff Mackey, two of the starting juniors, had 15 of Bethlehem's 17 points in the first quarter. Gibbons wound up with 16 and Mackey had 11.

As of this week, BC had three games left before the Sectionals, Burnt Hills away last night (Tuesday), Columbia home on Friday and Mohonasen home next Tuesday. Going in they were 4-8 in the league and 4-12 in toto.

Co-op meets

The Adamsville Vegetable and Fruit Co-op will hold an informational meeting on Monday, Feb. 11, at Bethlehem Public Library. The meeting will begin at 7:30

Full steam ahead for Eagle spikers

By Tania Stasiuk

Bethlehem Central's volleyball team now stands second in the Gold Division of the Suburban Council with a record of 3-1 and is getting better all the time.

The Eagles started this year with little experience at playing together, but Coach Ray Sliter feels they are gaining confidence and are now working together. Game scheduling allows the team to compete at least three times each week, which Sliter feels is the best training possible.

Last week BC defeated Mohonasen in three games, 15-2, 14-16, 15-5. In the second game Sliter replaced his starters, but put them back in the third to win easily. Last Wednesday, BC lost 15-8, 15-6 to powerhouse Shenendehowa, whose strengths are five Empire State Games players and excellent height. Against Colonie on Friday, Bethlehem's starters bounced back after a 10-15 loss in the first game to take the next two, 15-10, 15-12.

Sliter noted that rookie player Chris Oberheim and senior captains Rick and Dave Jones are playing well, but stresses that those individuals would not be as effective without the depth and support of the rest of the team.

Monday a non-league scrimmage was scheduled against Germantown, a team BC had previously defeated.

The team travels to Shaker today (Wednesday) and Niskayuna Friday for what are expected to be close matches. Next Tuesday's match against Scotia at home may determine the winner of the Council's Gold Division. All games except today's will begin with JV at 3:45 p.m.

Soccer registration

Bethlehem residents from 6 to 19 years may register for the Bethlehem Soccer Club on Saturday, Feb. 9, from noon to 4 p.m. in the Elm Ave. Park offices or on Thursday, Feb. 14, from 6 to 9 p.m. at Bethlehem Town Hall, room 106.

Registrants must bring a copy of their birth certificate. A parent or guardian must sign the application form. For information call Marylou Stracke at 439-2406.

Car leaves Rt. 85

A Loudonville man was charged with driving while intoxicated as a misdemeanor after his car went off Rt. 85 on New Salem Hill in the Town of New Scotland Friday night, a Sheriff's department spokesman reported. The driver reported no injuries.

Sectionals coming, Eagle mats need Rx

Bethlehem Central wrestlers are heading for the Class A Sectional tournament at Shenendehowa this weekend with a medical list and high hopes.

The Eagles finished 8th of 17 teams in the Suburban Council Invitational, but were third of the Suburban Council teams on hand. Burnt Hills finished third behind Canastota, the state's No. 2 ranked team, and Roundout Valley, a power from the lower Hudson area. Niskayuna was fourth overall. Shenendehowa, also a council power, passed up the event to enter a tournament at West Point.

With two varsity wrestlers abed with illness and the coach ailing, Bethlehem's standout freshman Chris Saba remained undefeated by bringing home the 91-pound championship trophy. Saba, who checked in with a temperature of 102 after his final bout Saturday and stayed home Monday, is 23-0-2 for the season. He was wrestling "down" from his season-long activity at 98 pounds, and the narrow victory (4-3 on points) in the championship bout was the 50th in his two-year varsity career.

BC's Brett Zick, a senior, was runnerup at 167 after being pinned in the final by Jason Morris of Burnt Hills, a state champion. Mark Hoffman earned Bethlehem's other points with a fourth-place finish.

BC Coach Rick Poplaski entered the hospital Sunday with a high temperature and an infected knee.

A day for volleyball

The Easter Seal Society is planning a volleyball benefit on Saturday, March 9, from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. at the Colonie Athletic Club, Albany-Shaker Rd., Colonie. Men's, women's or mixed teams of six, seven or nine players will play against three teams of similar ability within a two-hour period.

RCS wrestlers riding high

By Bart Gottesman

The RCS wrestling team closed its best dual-meet season in 10 years with a record of 10-3-1 and placed a surprising second in the Colonial Council tournament ahead of perennial favorites Albany Academy and Voorheesville and the league's dual-meet champions, Schalmont.

In the tournament Saturday at Cohoes Luther Legg, Ravena's 119-pound standout, won his weight division and was named the outstanding wrestler of the tournament. Matt Rodd won the 138-pound title and Brian Perry (105) and Jerry Baranska (177) placed second at their weights. Scott Lewis (145) also wrestled well as he earned third place.

At the tournament Jerry Baranska and Chip Cowles reached the 20-win mark. Baranska, 20-1 and only in his sophomore season, ended with one of the best Indian records in years.

In the final dual meet on the schedule, the Indians were aided by forfeits as they beat the Lansingburgh Knights by 42-20. RCS had forfeits at 91, 98 and 112. Chip Cowles (105) put on a high-scoring performance with an 18-3 victory. Corey Thiele (119) gave another impressive performance as he pinned his opponent. Lewis (155) and Tim Baranska (167) won by points, 4-1 and 19-2 respectively. In the most exciting match of the day, sophomore Rich Losse (215) gave away both weight and experience, but scored a pin.

The Indians will take the first step to the States next week as they take part in the Sectionals Friday and Saturday at Queensbury.

V'ville: 'It just wasn't our day'

By Peter J. Fisch

Things didn't seem to work out as well as some people would've liked them to Saturday as Voorheesville placed fourth at the Colonial Council wrestling tournament.

"It just wasn't our day," noted VCHS mat mentor Dick Leach. "You obviously want to win every tournament you're in. If everything had gone right, we could've won. I wasn't disappointed with fourth place, but I wasn't pleased either."

Co-captain Jeff Genovesi helped brighten the day as he breezed through his league opponents en route to the 132-pound title. With the wins, the senior upped his personal mark to a perfect 25-0 on the season. Top-seeded 167 pounder Bill Kelly captured his first varsity championship while raising his slate to 17-5-2 on the year.

Lightweight freshman Matt Cillis placed second in the 98-pound class after coming from behind and recording a pin in the semifinals. Schalmont senior Bob Van Hoesen proved to be too much for VC junior Rich Kane as he captured the heavyweight crown with a 5-2 championship win. Freshman John Traudt placed third at 119 while junior co-captain Mark Gillenwalters placed fourth at 126.

Surprisingly, Mechanicville grabbed the team crown over Ravena and Schalmont. A controversial disqualification of Schalmont's 126-pounder Dave DeLuke in his championship match with Mechanicville's Chris Izzo proved decisive in the final team standings. On his team's placing, Leach theorized, "We just about finished where we were expected to finish based on the seeds."

Earlier in the week, the Birds used two non-league matches and a lone league contest as tuneups for the annual tourney. With victories over Cobleskill (51-9), Schoharie (48-21), and Watervliet (47-23), the local grapplers extended their winning streak to seven straight. On the year, the Birds are 10-6 overall with a 5-2 league mark. By winning today's (Wednesday) hook-up at Waterford, VC could finish the season tied for second place with Albany Academy in the Colonial Council.

Only the Class C sectionals at Mechanicville Friday and Saturday remain on the Blackbirds' schedule. In traditional style, Hoosic Falls and Corinth are expected to be the dominating schools in Class C.

Leach doesn't see any miracles for his squad this weekend, but feels there could be a few fine individual performances. "We've got to use this week as a chance to finish our season strong. I don't see us winning it. We've got some people who could be champions. If everybody takes care of themselves, the team score will take care of itself."

the 50-meter hurdles another runner got a jump at the starting gun as Carey was moving into the blocks, but even in such a short race both girls were clocked in 7.8 seconds with Anne Marie second by inches.

The victory in the 600 left her undefeated in six meets this season, even without Rhonda, who has gone to college.

"I never expected to be so close to my best time this early," she said last week. "The big meets (qualifiers and the state meet) don't come 'til March, but the Dutchmen Games are the biggest before the qualifiers."

Anne Marie is also hoping to make the state meet in the hurdles, another event in which she pushed Rhonda Phillips to new heights last year. But there isn't much time to practice. She can run over highway, hill and dale in the winter cold, and in the hallways at school when the wind chill gets really biting, but you can't set up hurdles in the snow.

Last year Carey won the 400-meter hurdles in most of the outdoor dual meets, once losing to Rhonda by only one-tenth of a second. As a freshman last spring she tried the long jump, 400 hurdles and 100 hurdles in the Sectional qualifiers, but a technicality deprived her of a trip to the state meet.

"I qualified for the finals in the hurdles," she related, "but I forgot to sign in for the long jump. It was a bad gaffe, because that automatically disqualified me from everything."

"You mean you never had a chance to run your specialties?" her questioner asked. "That's right," said Carey. "And it was very disappointing, because it was my last chance to run against Rhonda."

Even so, that was a fine outdoor season for this gifted athlete. At the prestigious Eddy Meet in Schenectady she was unseeded and unheralded in a large field in the only event for girls, the 800-meter (half-mile) run. She ran it in her best time ever, 2:16.29, which displaced some seeded people and gave her sixth overall.

Anne started her school career at St. Thomas School in Delmar and her track career at Bethlehem since 1981. She was the captain of the BC varsity who also did the pentathlon. Evelyn is now a junior on the Hartwick College track team.

"I enjoyed running, and I knew how happy my sister was, but I couldn't compete until eighth grade," Anne said. "Now the rules are changed and seventh graders can compete. In the eighth grade outdoor season I did the 100-meter hurdles, the 400 hurdles and ran anchor on the mile relay. I got some thirds in the hurdles in the area, and fifth in the heavy competition."

That Bethlehem mile relay team included Jen Warren, still a teammate as a BC senior today, and Laura Koban, who graduated in 1983.

Last year Anne Marie was second to Rhonda in the Sectionals, which qualifies two in each event for the state meet, but she turned the trip down. At the state championships Rhonda set a new state record in the 400-meter hurdles, 59 seconds. Carey's best time was 64.5, which she expects to lower this spring.

This is her second indoor season, and she misses the strong competition she got last year from Rhonda and Margaret Osterlin of Columbia, both of whom have graduated. That's why Anne Marie is practically alone at the collins who understood the need for top athletes to be mentally as well as physically prepared for superior performance. "He got me ready by getting me to relax, not only relax my body, but my mind," Carey said. "You have to have confidence in yourself, convince yourself you can really do it. I think of the race in my mind. I go through it in my head, when to make a move."

This week, with Ron Cameron, a champion hurdler himself, as the new Bethlehem track coach, Anne Marie will be doing more relaxation in body and mind as she prepares for the state qualifiers. "She's got a lot going for her," says Cameron. "She has great potential, she's amazing."

These adjectives refer to her versatility as well as her ability to relax one moment and go all-out in competition the next. Half-mile, quarter-mile, long and short hurdles, relay sprints, plus the long jump and, as she showed in a recent meet, the triple jump, not to mention her brilliance as a cross-country runner on BC's championship girls' team.

That's why she isn't in the choir any more, and why she had to put aside the fife she played in the Village Volunteers, and why she doesn't play her flute as much as she'd like to.

Bethlehem girls garner a third in 41-school meet

By David DeCecco

The Bethlehem girls indoor track team finished third in the Dutchman Games last Saturday at Union College. In this prestigious event, attracting 41 schools from all parts of the state, the girls trailed only powerhouses Bayshore (Long Island) and Brighton (suburban Rochester).

Highlighting the meet for Bethlehem was versatile sophomore Anne Carey. In the semi-finals of the 50-meter hurdles she earned a personal record in a clocking of 7.7 seconds. After being jumped at the start in the finals, she came back to finish second in 7.8 seconds.

Carey also anchored the 2-mile relay, joining Chris Ainsworth, Jen Warren and Tania Stasiuk to place fourth against the fastest teams in the state. Carey finished up with the 600-meter run, in which she holds the best clocking in the state for a high school runner. She blew away the field in this event while coasting to the tape in a respectable 1:38.7.

In the high jump, BC freshman Kelly Ross hit 5 feet 2 inches to earn second place and tie her personal record. Ainsworth ran 10:48 in the 3,000, her best of the season, good enough for fifth place.

Senior Pete Nelson ignored the rough competition in the boys' events and won his heat of the 1,000 in 2:50, his personal best. Earlier in the day, he anchored Bethlehem's 2-mile relay team with a split of 2:11. Lanky senior Dave Ashe broke the 40-foot barrier in the triple jump with a leap of 40 foot 9", but it was not enough to score in this highly competitive meet.

Powerhouses stalk BC

For Bethlehem Central's varsity swimmers the moment of truth is at hand. The Eagles, possessors of New York State's record for the longest winning streak of a scholastic varsity team — 129 straight dual meets — host Rome Free Academy at 6 p.m. Friday in the first of two meets with Central New York pool powers.

Rome comes to Delmar with one of the state's standout freestylers in Ed Gundrum, a top-flight diver in Dave Blackburn and an excellent utility man in John Finn, who has done 2:09 in the 200 IM and 1:04 in the breast-stroke.

But it is Gundrum who is expected to do most of the damage, and BC Coach Buzz Jones is planning his lineup moves with seconds and thirds in mind. He is forced to concede, reluctantly, that he has no one who can beat the RFA star in his specialties. That could boil down to a test of coaching strategies, with Jones in the position of having to outguess his opposing coach on which three events Gundrum is sent to the starting blocks, and where Finn is assigned.

Jones's spies have reported that the Rome speedster has been 1:44 in the 200, 48.1 in the 100 free and 54.2 in the butterfly. The latter is four seconds under the clocking last Thursday of Dave Purrington of Guilderville, one of Section 2's premier swimmers, in winning the fly against Bethlehem in 58.4.

Rome reportedly has turned in a 3:30 in the freestyle relay, the final event in the meet format, but BC's first-string quartet churned up a 3:30.7 themselves last week in the Guilderville meet. "We don't know how much depth Rome has," Jones observed this week as he looked for ways to spur his athletes to new heights. "We aren't going to beat Gundrum, and perhaps a couple of others, so we'll have to go 2-3 in most of the events. And a lot depends on where the individual swimmers are spotted."

If the Eagles can get by RFA with their streak intact, it will be out of the frying pan into the fire. The following Friday they travel to New Hartford for a confrontation with an undefeated team that has already beaten Rome.

These two strong teams from swim-happy Section 3 (Syracuse-Utica-Binghamton area) have appeared on BC's schedule annually since 1975, when Jack Whipple, Bethlehem's legendary stroke tutor, went out of his own sectional neighborhood to give his talent-laden teams a taste of top-level competition. The Eagles lost to Rome in 1975, and were beaten by one point in New Hartford in February, 1977. That was the last time Bethlehem lost a dual meet, and it has been 16 years since they have lost an Adirondack Swim Conference meet.

Meanwhile both Rome and New Hartford are itching for Bethlehem's scalp. RFA has lost to the Eagles nine years in a row, and New Hartford has not beaten BC in seven years.

Knute Hvalsmarken

Jones, who became varsity coach when Whipple took an administrative job in the Guilderville school system last summer, tuned his charges up in two easy victories last week. The Eagles had no problem with a more-than-respectable Albany High team last Tuesday, and they submerged an undermanned Guilderville contingent, 62-19, Thursday. That ran the incredible win streak to 129, with Shenendehowa coming in last night (Tuesday) for the final league meet.

Knute Hvalsmarken, a BC co-captain and Section 2 champion, set a new conference record with a 1:48.8 in the 200 against Albany High, but even that is four seconds above Gundrum's best. The former conference mark had been held by Ned Monthie of Shaker.

Also in the Albany High meet the Eagles' medley quartet of Jim Krajeck, Damon Woo, Peter Greenwalt and Eric Patrick won the opening relay in 1:48.9, and Pierre LaBarge had a 2:09 in the IM, his best time this year. Bernie Culligan won the diving with 212 points.

In the exercise against Guilderville, the merged team from Guilderville and Voorheesville that has only nine members, Bob Keens won the diving with 190 points. Jones is counting on Culligan and Keens to produce a minimum of 2-3 on the springboard Friday.

Guilderville: all upstream

The Guilderville boys swim team has been struggling against superior manpower and experience in meeting their Adirondack Swim Conference schedule. Lacking team depth in a six-lane pool, they lost to Glens Falls, 101-51, and were overcome by Bethlehem's undefeated powerhouse, 59-19.

At Glens Falls Kevin Tyrell won the 200-yard freestyle and Dave Purrington took the 200-yard individual medley in the time of 2:16.9. Against Bethlehem Purrington proved to be the team's only scorer, winning both the 50 free and 100 fly in times of 23.5 and 58.44.

As the season progresses, Coach Dave Graves strives for improvement. "The team is young with only one senior, so I'm looking forward to brighter days," he says.

Graves noted that the team does not have a diver and as much as 10 points must be given away. He feels the relay team has a strong future as their record is 5-1.

Paul Nichols

Dolphins busy

The Schenectady Swim Club's 17th annual Midwinter Swim Meet at Burnt Hills-Ballston Lake High School drew 21 members of the Delmar Dolphins age-group team. High scorers for the Dolphins were Tracie Mull, who had a first, second and fifth in girls 10-and-under events, and Jennie Mosley, who had a first, second, third and sixth in girls 11-12 events.

Others placing in the first six in various events and relays were Meg Teresi, Zack McNabb, Paul Engel, Drew Patrick, Lisa Ogawa, Justin Baird, Keith Dix, Sandi Blendell, Emily Church, Melissa Mann, Nina Teresi, Chris O'Connor, Patrick Fish and Brian Manning.

BC's quintet close second

By Tania Stasiuk

The Bethlehem girls basketball team has upped its record to 7-1, winning all three games last week despite the illnesses of Megan Bursey and Peg Jeram. The team is now in first place in the weaker Gold Division of the Suburban Council, and is close behind Saratoga for second place overall.

Last Monday at Mohonasen the girls played an indifferent first half but slowly took the lead in the second, eventually winning 31-23. Coach Eugene Lewis said that his team did not play well either from the field or the foul line, but that good defense kept the opponents at bay.

Wednesday's game against Guilderland was better but was also much closer. With Bursey and Jeram out due to illness Tricia Weber came off the bench and Wendy Vogel moved up from JV to turn in some impressive scores and help BC win. Kim Zornow, who had been absent due to mononucleosis, roared back into the season with 31 points, proving that she is as strong as ever and is hoping to break the varsity career level of 1,000 points.

With 2:07 to go, Bethlehem trailed by six points, but still had four fouls before Guilderland would move into the bonus zone. The game became more aggressive and with 28 seconds to go, Zornow tied the score by making two free throws. The tie held and sent the game into overtime, where Bethlehem's foul shooting contributed to a period total of 12-4. The final score was 57-49 Bethlehem.

The game against Scotia last Friday was more lethargic, according to Lewis. Jeram was back on the floor though Bursey remained out and BC won easily, outscoring Scotia in the third quarter alone by 20-2. Julie Liddle's stealing in the second quarter helped boost the team by six points and Zornow threw in 23 points.

Any of the seven games scheduled for the next two weeks could affect the team's chance of winning — or even going to Sectionals. The girls were scheduled to play Shenendehowa on Monday, and will play Niskayuna today (Wednesday) at home. Saturday the girls take on Saratoga.

Gymnasts in the groove

By Nina Barringer

"The dark days of BC's gymnastics are over," said judge Marion Grimes at a meet recently.

Consistently closing the gap between Suburban Council powerhouses Shaker, Shenendehowa, Niskayuna and Guilderland, BC's gymnastics team "has come a long way," says Coach Megan Hickey.

At a home meet against Guilderland Thursday, BC achieved their all-time high team totals of 113.2. The Eagles took the lead in vaulting, but Guilderland compensated on the uneven bars, insuring their win. "We have a lot of depth on floor and especially vault, but we're weaker on bars," Hickey observed. "The big teams are able to more than make up for lost points in this event."

Elizabeth Bartoletti placed second in the all-around with a 32.5, but was edged by Guilderland's Stephanie Sholtes, 33.55.

Against Shaker, Bethlehem was winning until the uneven bars and lost by a close 112-108. Bartoletti placed first on floor and second on beam, bars and vault. Sue Powell was second on floor and third on beam and vault.

The team also has four all-arounds, Bartoletti, Powell, Robin Taft and Shelley Miller.

Last week, BC claimed a landslide victory over Scotia, 103.75-63.65. Last season, recalled Hickey, the two teams were closely matched. "That's quite an improvement," she remarked. "We've achieved a level of much greater consistency and now it's time to work on gaining endurance."

Last Saturday Bartoletti, Powell and Taft competed at the Taconic Hills All-Around Invitationals, a meet of the top 25 all-arounds in the area. Taft, an alternate, placed 19th. Bartoletti came in third with a 31.00 followed by Powell in fourth place with a 30.65. BC will compete against Shenendehowa this week.

RCS, V'ville on the court

Ravena and Voorheesville girls basketball teams collide in a neighborhood rivalry tonight (Wednesday) at Voorheesville, the Indians driving toward a Colonial Council championship and the Blackbirds in a spoiler role with their best team in recent years.

Coach Betty Faxon's RCS sharpshooters, 8-1 in the league and 11-1 overall, have made a habit of blistering their opponents with a furious first-period attack, then playing conservative hoop the rest of the way. Last Tuesday Sheila Seery led the opening salvo with a 10-burst as the Indians raced to a 20-2 lead in the first quarter and rocked Holy Names, 59-36. On Friday they led by 17-0 before Cohoes meshed a free throw. The Tigresses put on a rally in the second half, but RCS won by 38-29.

The Blackbirds, playing at Holy Names on Friday, had a 12-7 lead in the first period, fell behind briefly, rallied to go ahead by 36-27 after three periods, then succumbed to a 16-2 surge by the host team and lost by 43-38. Christy Tarullo had 14 points for Voorheesville, which fell to 5-4 in the Council.

Seery finished with 16 points for Ravena against Holy Names and Terri Baker had 14. Against Cohoes Gina Ferriero was high with 10 points and 10 rebounds in a balanced attack.

The tip-off in tonight's varsity game will follow the JV contest at 6 p.m.

Loss to the community

Editor, The Spotlight:

The death of John H. Clyne, brought to an end the career of a man who gave so freely to his community. His counsel was always tempered by a very quiet, shy in wisdom which he was never shy in sharing. All of his endeavors, be they the Bethlehem Central School Board or the Parish Council of St. Thomas the Apostle Parish, profited from his experience. Mr. Clyne approached issues of community concern with a vigor which belied chronological years.

So many of us will miss you, John.

Thomas F. Flynn, Jr.

Politics vs Pets

Editor, The Spotlight:

The Bethlehem Board of Appeals admitted that the pet dogs belonging to Donna Lee were "kept in a clean and responsible manner" but decided "that it would be detrimental to adjacent property development and would impair the value of the property," thus denying her permission to keep her St. Bernard show dogs.

The land upon which Donna Lee resides is commercially zoned, bounded on two sides by trees and ravines, on one side by a defunct bar and restaurant and at the front by Delaware Ave. To the west, across the ravine, Sen. Howard Nolan and his partners are proposing to build apartments and 57 single-family dwellings.

If half of the owners of those 57 homes have dogs that bark and are allowed to run free after dark, will that detract from Donna Lee's property? Her dogs have elaborate dog runs and are trained not to bark. How many dog shows that are shown on TV are beset by howls and barks?

When justice and politics don't mix, I'll vote for justice every time.

Benefit a success

Editor, The Spotlight:

On Friday, Jan. 11, the Bethlehem Students for Peace and Survival held a concert at the high school to raise money for the starving people of Ethiopia. With the support of Price Chopper, Albany Public Markets and our chaperones, we raised $600. The concert was a huge success because of the talent Pura Cocast provided.

We would like to extend our appreciation to the following band members who volunteered their time: Pat Cabral, Adrian Cohen, John Purcell, Eric Radzyski and Randy Staats. Thanks again to all who supported the concert.

Dear friends

Editor, The Spotlight:

To my friends at Bethlehem Lutheran Church —

While convalescing from a stroke during the past 18 months, I have thought of you often. I wrote this for you and included it in my book, Exalting Jesus.

*My life is but a weaving
Between the Lord and me.
He chooses all the colors
And works on endlessly.*

At times He weaves with sorrow

*And I in blinded pride Forget He sees the upper
And I the lower side.*

*Not 'til the loom is silent
And the shuttle cease to fly
Shall God unveil the fabric
And show the unknown why.*

*The dark threads are as needful.
In the weaver's skillful hand
As threads of gold and silver
In the pattern He has planned.*

Thou shalt not come to service late.

Nor for the "Amen" refuse to wait.

*Thou shalt not make the pew
a place*

*To vainly decorate thy face.
The endmost seat thou shall leave free*

For more to share the pew with thee.

Thou shalt not shun the offering plate

Nor let the ushers stand and wait.

Be gracious at the church's door

So will the stranger love thee more.

John H. Clyne

OBITUARIES

The death of John H. Clyne, 86, of Elsmere, a 20-year member of the Bethlehem Central school board, has stilled a strong voice. Mr. Clyne, widely known in the community, oftenspoke up forcefully over his more than 20 years on the school board, particularly in his role as a champion of the taxpayer.

Board President Sheila Fuller, referring to Mr. Clyne's long service, termed him "an exceptional public servant." With a record of faithful attendance at board meetings, Mr. Clyne was characterized by district Superintendent Lawrence A. Zinn as "devoted and dedicated."

Bernard Harvith, a member of the board for 13 years said, "I feel we've lost someone who was practically a member of the family."

Mr. Clyne was known for his willingness to speak forthrightly and to maintain his stance despite opposition. Several times in recent years he had voted against budget proposals endorsed by his colleagues on the school board, and he was credited by many with being the catalyst for two successive rejections of budget plans by district voters last spring.

Mr. Clyne was honored last fall by the Nathaniel Adams Blanchard Post of the American Legion for his service to education and to youth in the community.

Mr. Clyne died Jan. 30 at home following a brief illness. Born in New Haven, Conn., he was a newspaper advertising salesman before being hired by Phoenix Mutual Insurance Co. in 1936. He moved to the Albany area in 1940 and served as office manager of the Albany branch of Phoenix Mutual Insurance Co. until 1964. He continued to serve the insurance firm as a consultant until the time of his death.

A past president of the State Life Underwriters Association, the Albany Life Underwriters Association, the Estate Planning Committee of Eastern New York and the Eastern New York Chapter of Chartered Life Underwriters, he taught with the Certified Life Underwriters Program.

He was a past president of the Delmar Kiwanis Club and a member of the Nathaniel Adams Blanchard American Legion Post 1040 in Elsmere. A veteran of World War I, he served on a Navy destroyer in the North Atlantic. A communicant of St. Thomas the Apostle Church, he was a member of the St. Thomas Parish Council and the St. Vincent De Paul Society.

He leaves two sons, former Albany County Court Judge John J. Clyne and James W. Clyne, of Delmar; a daughter, Helen Potter of Delmar; three sisters, Madelyn Carr of New Haven, Conn., Dorothy Sullivan of Waterbury, Conn. and Eleanor Bristol of Branford, Conn., 13 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Arrangements were by Applebee Funeral Home, Delmar. Burial was in St. Agnes Cemetery, Menands.

Fund over half way

Deborah Mero, the daughter of Jackie Valentine, and others associated with the Jackie Valentine fund have expressed thanks to all area residents who have made donations.

Valentine, a former resident of Delmar, suffers from multiple sclerosis and now is confined to a nursing home. The fund has raised $1,955 toward the $3,745 cost of a transmitter that modifies the violent tremors caused by the disease. Last November doctors at Westchester County Medical Center implanted electrodes that, with an implanted receiver and a transmitter carried at all times, control the tremors. The cost of the transmitter was not covered by medical insurance, and Valentine has exhausted her personal savings, Mero said.

Mary Keeley, a registered nurse at Eden Park Nursing Home, started the fund-raising.

Persons wishing to help may send a check to the Jackie Valentine Fund, care of Deborah Mero, 62 Seaman Ave., Castleton, N.Y. 12033.
