Candidates sharpen images

By Caroline Terenzini

The eight candidates for the Bethlehem Central school board had a chance last Tuesday to sharpen their messages to the electorate with more differences in style than substance emerging from the dialogue.

The campaign, which has been enlivened not only by the abundance of candidates, but also by the paid advertisements that have been published on the behalf of several, comes to a head today (Wednesday). Voting on the board hopefuls, a budget proposal for 1985-86 and two propositions related to transportation will continue until 9 p.m. at the middle school, on Kenwood Ave. in Delmar. All U.S. citizens 18 or older who have lived in the district at least 30 days may vote.

The audience of about 80 at the forum at the high school, sponsored by middle school and high school parent groups, was treated to some plain-speaking and a little waffling. But the evening was notable for its burden of misguided assumptions and misinformation, such as the presumption of "hidden" thousands in the budget drawn from a typographical error on one line.

While Bethlehem Central's

BC, RCS voting today

For residents of the Bethlehem Central and Voorheesville school districts, today (Wednesday) is voting day.

In Bethlehem, balloting will take place between 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. at Bethlehem Central Middle School on the district's $17.5 million budget, two transportation propositions and the election of two new board members.

Residents of the RCS School District will go to the polls between 1 and 9 p.m. at the RCS Senior High School cafeteria to decide the fate of the district's $10.7 million budget and three propositions and elect five board members.

budget was the No. 1 topic, questions from the audience touched on other topics such as additional revenue sources, redistricting, and the quality of education in Bethlehem.

Two of the candidates left no doubt where they stood on the district's proposed $17.5 million budget for 1985-86. Robert Rightmyer of Delmar, who at age 20 could well be the youngest candidate ever for the Bethlehem board, urged voters to turn thumbs down on the spending plan, while Joseph Constantino of Elsmere said he himself would not vote for it.

Robert Ruslander, who is seeking his third term on the board and is the only incumbent among the eight, said he supports the proposed budget "in total." William Tinney of Delmar, who along with Rightmyer is challenging Ruslander, skipped a yes or no on the 1985-86 spending plan. "I don't have a quick fix," he said, "but we do have to do something to stem these continual increases. You can't do it with a broad ax. You do it from the inside, in the process of making a budget. It's a very complicated proposition."

Charles Reeves, also of Delmar and one of the five candidates for the vacant seat that was held by the late John H. Clyne, declared, "We should be looking at what

Too busy for Mother's Day

Sunday lots of mothers will be having breakfast in bed and opening cute cards from the kids. But for one Delmar mother Sunday will be a day to "just crash." Mary E. Longabaugh of Haskell Pl. isn't expecting bouquets — she's expecting to be cleaning up after a party for somewhere in the neighborhood of 100 guests.

For Mrs. Longabaugh, Mother's Day this year is being eclipsed by a combined late New Year's Day gala and a party to celebrate her graduation from The College of Saint Rose with a bachelor's degree in business, magna cum laude. Assistant to the dean of students at Saint Rose, Mrs. Longabaugh also is on the committee that concocted the events for senior week, this week. Monday the Longabaughs went white-water rafting on North Creek in the Adirondacks. This was to be followed by camping and a cruise at Lake George and dinner and dancing Friday evening. "It's fun to be married to a college senior," her husband Robert said Monday.

Mrs. Longabaugh's college education, however, started some 34 years ago when she entered Colby Junior College in New Hampshire. After that, armed with an associate's degree, Mrs. Longabaugh worked while Robert got his master's degree. Then their two children were born and there were the years as chief cook and bottle washer, as an assistant Girl Scout troop leader and as treasurer of the Heldeberg Workshop, along with service that earned Mrs. Longabaugh a lifetime honorary membership in the now-closed Delmar School PTA. Then Mrs. Longabaugh worked while the children went to college.

Now their daughter, Aldebran (who is named

Voorheesville plans 'safe spring' for kids

By Lyn Stapf

Since its entry into the high school experience, the prom has always been a night for fun and revelry, but unfortunately sometimes followed by tragedy. This year, however, in Voorheesville those who want to "dance all night" will get a chance to do so in safety and hopefully will find a brighter morning-after, due to the year-long planning of the New Scotland Substance Abuse Task Force.

Begun as an offshoot of a series of non-alcoholic house parties hosted last year by parents who encouraged their children to return to their neighborhoods after the prom, this year's Safe Spring Program will attempt to draw a larger crowd to a fun-filled evening of food and entertainment to be held at the fire house after the prom at the Turf Inn on May 11. Beginning at 12:30 a.m., area teens will be treated to hours of music coordinated by disc jockey Tom O'Brien from station WFLY, who will spin records between 1 and 4 a.m. while students socialize and munch on snacks. Those who crave heartier fare may enjoy a pancake breakfast served by the Kiwanis Club of New Scotland from 2 a.m. on — all "for free."

According to task force chairman Phil Joyce, the program was begun in hopes of keeping late-night celebrations close to home. "Not that we're so much afraid of what our kids might do, as what might happen to them because of others," Joyce said, referring to the number of accidents caused by others which claimed the lives of or seriously injured several area teens in the last decade.

Although other similar, successful programs have been run in the area, the task force did not pattern their project after any others.

"We started with what we had available in our area," said project chairman Bill Hotaling. "We worked from there — getting a good amount of input from the junior class prom committee as to what they did and didn't want."

For the most part the students were pleased with what was offered. They had only one request — keep parents to a minimum. The task force agreed, feeling the program might not get off the ground if students anticipated their parents looking over their shoulders, so the skeleton chaperone crew will consist mainly of firemen, Kiwanians and other volunteers who have no prom-age children.

Not to exclude those parents who are eager to assist with this

She also was elected to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, and received a certificate of recognition for outstanding scholarship in the business and economics division at the college. Longabaugh regards his wife's years of study with good humor. "Weekends we had to have peace and quiet around here," he said. To help out, too, he would sometimes dish up 60-Minute Gourmet recipes from The New York Times on Saturday nights — though they always took more than 60 minutes.

Longabaugh's recipe file better be up-to-date: Mrs. Longabaugh is thinking about a master's degree, her husband revealed.

5 candidates vie for Voorheesville board

Voters in the Voorheesville School District will elect two of five candidates to five-year terms on the Voorheesville Board of Education next Wednesday, May 15.

The terms of board members Joseph A. Fernandez and Ann Balk are expiring. Fernandez is seeking reelection, and he will run at-large against one present and one former PTSA president, a dairy farmer and a former teacher.

Edward A. Donohue of Voorheesville, a member of the Voorheesville Village Board of Trustees, is running unopposed for the seat on the Voorheesville Public Library Board. He has four children and is employed as a district technical manager for the Burroughs Corp.

Edward Lukomski

A former teacher with the State Association for Retarded Children, he said he believes that his expertise in budget and finance, combined with his experience in establishing and implementing educational programs at the association, would make him a valuable addition to the board. He said he supports the budget drafted by the board.

Lukomski hold a bachelor's degree in psychology and statistics from Syracuse University and a master's degree in education from the College of Saint Rose. He is permanently certified in elementary education, special education and nursery school and kindergarten education. He has published several articles about behavior research and therapy.

Lukomski's older daughter is attending Voorheesville Elementary School.

Harriet Fryer

Harriet Fryer is the mother of two children who graduated from Clayton A. Bouton Senior High School. She has lived in the Voorheesville area for 67 years.

Fryer is a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School and has attended Union College and Russell Sage College. She is a dairy farmer on a 400-acre farm in the Voorheesville School District, between Altamont and Voorheesville.

"I'm tired of paying higher taxes every year," said Fryer when asked her reasons for seeking membership on the board.

Mary Van Ryn

A resident of the Voorheesville School District for the past 12 years, Mary Van Ryn of Voorheesville said she believes that her background and interest in education, combined with her understanding of the community, would allow her to properly examine and draft proposals to promote an environment at school that is mentally and physically healthy.

"I think we have a good school district," said Van Ryn, noting that the district is small enough to be close. If elected to the board, Van Ryn said she would be accessible and willing to explore issues that people are concerned about.

A graduate of the State University at Albany, the president of the Voorheesville PTSA is a former employee of the state Education Department. She was employed for 5 years in the division of teacher education and certification in the bureau of inservice education and 5 years in the office of higher education planning. She served for one year as court clerk in the Town of New Scotland.

Van Ryn is youth coordinator for the Voorheesville Methodist Church. She has a son who is attending Voorheesville Elementary School.

Joseph A. Fernandez

Currently, a member of the Voorheesville Board of Education, Joseph Fernandez of Voorheesville has three children who are attending Voorheesville schools.

As director of the capital development services with the state Office of Mental Retardation in Albany, Fernandez is responsible for the acquisition and renovation of properties to be used as homes and developmental centers for retarded people throughout the state.

Before joining the Office of Mental Retardation, Fernandez served as assistant chief of the unit in charge of higher education budgeting and planning for the state Division of the Budget.

He is a graduate of the State University College at Fredonia and the graduate school of public affairs at the State University at Albany.

Fernandez said he believes his efforts as a member of the board during the past five years have led to some meaningful changes, including the development of stronger community ties. He said he has "tried to make the community aware of the importance of the school system and attempted to stimulate a more active involvement of parents."

In implementing the mandates (Turn to Page 26)

Budget, propositions go to voters next week

On May 15 voters in the Voorheesville School District will elect two people to five-year terms on the Voorheesville Board of Education, vote on a $6,170,347 budget for the 1985-86 school year and consider three special propositions, calling for the purchase of two diesel-powered buses, the purchase and installation of an in-ground diesel fuel tank and the removal of asbestos insulation from the boiler room at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School.

District residents may vote from 2 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday in the auditorium of the high school. The district's annual meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, May 14, in the high school auditorium.

The draft 1985-86 budget is up 5.1 percent, or $299,251, from last year's budget. The estimated tax rate for New Scotland is up approximately $14.75 from last year's tax rate of $263.99.

The draft budget includes a $155,000 increase for salaries, an additional $66,000 for employee benefits, an additional $35,000 for handicapped services and an additional $51,000 for debt service.

Voters will consider a proposition for the purchase of two diesel-powered buses at a total maximum cost of $78,000. The buses would be paid for over a five year period, beginning in 1986-87. Superintendent Werner Berglas said state aid would cover approximately 85 percent of the expense.

A proposition for the purchase and installation of an in-ground diesel fuel tank with pump equipment and accessories at an estimated cost of $10,000 will also be considered.

Finally, voters will consider a $50,000 proposition for removal of asbestos insulation from the boiler room at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-senior High School. The project will be paid for in annual installments.

our return is on our investment. Are we getting the best for our tax dollar? I promise a better product."

Steven Schron of Slingerlands, who teaches in Troy and who has presented himself as "knowing-education from the inside," took issue with those "who attack the budget to attract votes." And Jed Wolkenbreit of Delmar, who served on the board from 1981 to 1984, observed that some 80 percent of a school district's budget is set by state mandates.

When the panel was asked about specific cuts, Rightmyer proposed eliminating $87,000 for computer-aided instruction — "I don't think elementary students need computers," he said. He also said the totals for the principals' and supervisors' offices should be trimmed, and that a car used by the transportation department supervisor and his assistant should be eliminated. A district official said later the vehicle is used for such purposes as checking conditions on outlying roads during winter storms and for trips to pick up parts, rather than use a bus or the district's van. A vehicle has been provided for such purposes for well over a decade, he added.

Reeves, responding to the question about specific cuts, declared, "I can find half a million dollars in (the budget) in five minutes." However, he offered only one suggestion: a large cut from the $10 million instruction section of the budget "to allow for attrition."

Constantino was the most outspoken on this question, declaring, "Teachers will have to take a shear in benefits and the pension system. Somebody's going to have to bite the bullet. We have to live within the constraints of what we can afford, without injuring the senior fixed-income person."

Timothy Fitzgerald of Elm Estates, who is seeking the same seat, classified himself as a "proponent of cost containment" while acknowledging that "it gets very difficult to make these decisions. It's going to take a long time and the results may not be what we expect." Schron, joking that the money spent on campaign advertisements could be thrown into the budget for "a simple solution," went on in a serious vein: "Talk about cutting people hurts the system." And this, in turn diminishes real estate values, he said.

In response to a question from another observer, the quality of education in Bethlehem came under fire from both Constantino and Reeves. Reeves declared, "This system and the board... don't have a strong image in this community. Quality will come when the community has respect for the system, and I don't think it is there yet." Constantino was more specific: "I've felt forever that the classroom in BC paid attention to two groups — the youngsters shining with brilliance and the youngster with a handicap."

Ruslander countered that the staff "suffers from unwarranted criticism," and Wolkenbreit said, "What goes on here is at least as good as, if not better than" the education provided in other area schools.

None among the eight hopefuls agreed with the supposition from one observer that the present board is a "rubber stamp" for the administration. Ruslander suggested that the question "put it backwards. The superintendent is a reflection of what the board wants for the community. If anything, the superintendent is a rubber stamp for the board," he said.

Fitzgerald commented, "The board spends a lot of time setting out his job for him. Maybe they should spend more time reviewing what he does." Wolkenbreit said the school board and administration should operate as partners — "it's not necessary there be an adversary role." Schron and Rightmyer both said they doubted the board is a rubber stamp, while Reeves said, "Try Tinney and me."

Constantino used the question as an opportunity to repeat his assertion that the board "looks down its nose" at the community. "Communication is not completed until both sides understand what each side means. You," he said to Ruslander, "seem to have the attitude that the board sees everything correctly and the community doesn't quite get it. It's the fault of the board, not of the community, that the message is not put over."

Board members react

By Caroline Terenzini

With today's Bethlehem Central budget vote and school board election very much in mind, the fairness of election eve statements dominated last Wednesday's school board meeting.

Three board members waited until the end of the meeting to give their responses to criticism of the quality of education in the district that have appeared in letters to The Spotlight and in statements made the night before at a candidates forum.

Board member Bernard Harvith took issue with the contention that BC student achievement has not kept pace with ability as shown in test scores. Harvith observed that students who score above-average in one component of an ability test and as average in another are counted as among the above-average, inflating that figure. BC intelligence test results also may be "puffed," Harvith said, by the fact that "more of our kids have had more exposure to the kinds of things IQ tests measure" because of an emphasis local parents place on preschool training.

Harvith also took exception to suggestions that some elementary remedial instructors could be trimmed. Early in the school year is when remediation can be done "as cheaply as possible," he said.

"What our staff needs to be told," he concluded, "is, 'You're doing a good job.'"

Board member Marjory O'Brien said she was "heartbroken by what is going on in the community. I am concerned about people who have all the answers, but haven't asked the questions," she continued. "And I'm embarrassed that there's anyone who wants teachers to work for less. I heard enough conflicting figures (at last Tuesday's candidate forum) to be confused myself!"

And President Sheila Fuller declared: "As a board member for seven years, I am distressed to see what is going on in the community. I hope the majority — the silent majority — will get out and vote."

Earlier in the evening, another issue of fairness had a simpler response — the law. When an Elsmere parent pointed out to the board the apparent inconsistency in the district's transporting students at cost to a private after-school program, but not transporting elementary pupils who must walk a half-mile to school along busy streets, a board member agreed. But Roger Fritts, attorney for the district, responded, "the voters have to authorize that shorter distance. The law doesn't allow us to do what you want us to do."

A proposition is before school district voters today that, if approved, would authorize busing for all elementary children. Now elementary students within a half-mile of their school must walk, under a policy approved a number of years ago by district voters — a policy the Elsmere parents say has become outdated by commercial development and a changing social climate.

The Elsmere School Safety Committee, an organization of Elsmere parents concerned about the potential for abduction as well as traffic hazards facing children, petitioned the board to put the proposition on the ballot. The additional busing is estimated by the district to cost about $7,000 a year.

Patti Thorpe, a representative of the Elsmere School-Community Organization-PTA, asked the board, "Why can't you bus Elsmere kids if you can bus children to School's Out? The district is doing something for another group, but children in the district face hazards and the district won't bus them."

"Logically, you're probably right," Harvith told Mrs. Thorpe.

Several years ago, when parents in the Westchester Woods section of Delmar sought busing for high school students who had to walk along Elm Ave. to school, Fritts said that state regulations forbid a district to provide transportation solely because of a perceived hazard, or to bus selectively. Hence, the proposition, if approved, will authorize busing for approximately 180 elementary walkers in the district, not just the 90-some in Elsmere.

Mrs. Thorpe's question came after the board had voted to provide busing next year — at no cost to the district — for children from the Clarksville and Glenmont elementary schools attending School's Out, a private, not-for-profit after-school program that rents space at the First United Methodist Church on Kenwood Ave. The district currently provides transportation to School's Out for children at the Hama-grael, Elsmere and Slingerlands schools. The district is reimbursed by School's Out at the rate of 70 cents a mile for any distance traveled beyond the normal bus route.

In other business, the board:

- Voted to award a contract to purchase two 81-passenger buses to Matthews Buses, Inc., of Danville, N.Y., if a bus purchase proposition is approved. The lower of two bidders, Matthews is a representative for the Thomas bus company. When the board reached that agenda item, school superintendent Lawrence A. Zinn took the opportunity to state that the district had no prior knowledge of a full-page ad by Thomas that appeared in the May 1 Spotlight. Franz Zwicklbauer, assistant superintendent for business, said as far as he knows only three bus companies manufacture 81-passenger vehicles.

- Unanimously approved a new three-year contract with the district's approximately 180 non-instructional employees that provides for pay raises of 6.5 percent in the first two years and 6 percent the third year. The previous contract expired June 30, 1984.

- Heard from mathematics Supervisor Phil Gibbons that a Bethlehem seventh grade team had taken first place among 501 schools competing in a recent New York State Math League competition. Jeff Ballou, a member of the winning team, achieved the highest score among 2,505 competitors, Gibbons said. Bethlehem's eighth grade team was first in the region and 31st among 511 teams statewide.

Correction

Two street crossing guards are stationed in the vicinity of Elsmere Elementary School, rather than one as was reported last week. One guard is posted on Delaware Ave. in front of the school and the other is on Elsmere Ave. at Herber Ave. The crossing guards are assigned to those posts in the morning, at noon and at school dismissal time. They are employed by the Town of Bethlehem and are under the jurisdiction of the police department.

Bethlehem politicians eye fall races

By Tom McPheeters

POLITICS

It is, apparently, nothing more than coincidence that the Bethlehem Democrats are having their annual Jackson Day dinner on the same day as the "Citizen's Salute to Hendrick" will take place.

Both events this coming Monday are fund raisers. But at this point it doesn't appear that Republican J. Robert Hendrick, who has been Bethlehem supervisor now for just over three months, needs to worry about raising funds on his own. And it's just as uncertain that any funds the Democrats raise will be used to unseat him.

The Hendrick reception, a cocktail affair at the Fiesta Restaurant, was scheduled back when there was a good chance that Hendrick would face a September primary challenge from county Legislator W. Gordon Morris, who was passed over by the town GOP committee when Tom Corrigan resigned as supervisor in January. Although party leaders supported Hendrick, GOP funds could not have been used by either candidate had there been a primary.

But Morris decided a primary would be "divisive" and declared two weeks ago that he would not run. The committee subsequently nominated Hendrick for a full two-year term.

Hendrick said Friday that proceeds from the reception will be used for the fall election.

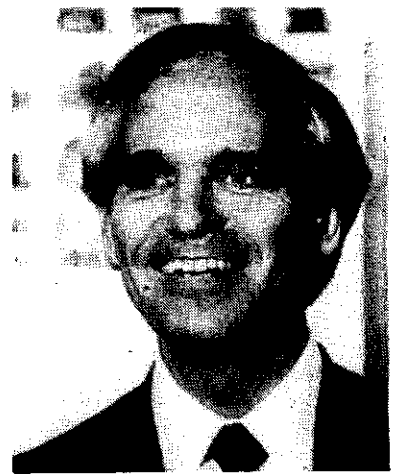

What sort of a campaign it will be is still very much up in the air. Part of the answer, said new Democratic chairman William Burkhard, will come Monday when he sees what sort of turnout the Democrats get at their Jackson Day dinner at the Century House in Latham. Laurence J. Kirwan, chairman of the state Democratic Committee, is the speaker and the local party needs a large turnout in order to finance a credible campaign this fall.

Money is not the whole story, however. Over the past several years the Bethlehem Democrats have been gaining in party enrollment but declining in active participation. This year, Burkhard said last fall when he took over, would be a rebuilding year, with the major emphasis on recruiting new committeemen and campaign workers.

"Do you go for the bulls eye or do you go full bore?" Burkhard asked last week. Sentiment on the committee is divided on the wisdom of fielding a full slate — two town board seats plus town clerk and highway superintendent are also up — or concentrating on the supervisor's race, he said last week. "We're searching now for a supervisor candidate of quality," he said.

In the past, the Democrats have said their field of choice for supervisor has been limited by the fact that the job is full time, necessitating a potential career change for younger candidates. Both Hendrick and Corrigan were retired and had several years of experience on the town board when they became supervisor. No Democrat has ever been elected to local office in Bethlehem.

Laurence J. Kirwan

Democratic dinner

The Bethlehem Democratic Committee's Jefferson-Jackson dinner will be held on Monday, May 13, at the Century House, Rt. 9, Latham.

Laurence J. Kirwan, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, will be guest speaker for the evening.

A graduate of St. Anselm's College in Manchester, New Hampshire, he established an insurance agency, the Kirwan Agency Inc., Rochester, in 1970.

He has served as chairman of the Monroe County Democratic Committee and upstate coordinator for Mario Cuomo's campaign for governor in 1982. As vice chairman of the State Democratic Committee, he served as upstate coordinator for the Mondale-Ferraro Presidential Campaign.

Tickets and information are available by calling William Burkhard at 439-5476 or Susan Shipherd at 439-5949.

Cabinets stolen

Bethlehem police are investigating the theft of wood cabinets valued at a total of $1,050 that were taken from the garage of a house under construction on Carollanne Dr. in Delmar, according to police reports.

Apartment access plan splits board

By Theresa Bobear

Members of the Bethlehem Planning Board appear to be evenly split on the merits of an access plan for three apartment buildings to be constructed on Cherry Ave. — a split that appears to reflect thinking within the administration.

John Williamson, chairman of the planning board, said he called the special meeting last Tuesday to consider a discrepancy between the site plan map and the subdivision map submitted for Franz Zwicklbauer's proposed three-lot subdivision on Cherry Ave. across from Dawson Rd.

The subdivision map for the plan outlined three separate lots with frontages on Cherry Ave. and part of the land opposite from Dawson Rd. marked reserved for future development. The informal site plan map showed a single paved entrance to the parcel directly opposite Dawson Rd. The chairman said he could not resubmit the proposal to the Albany County Planning Board because the site plan did not agree with the subdivision plan.

The board discussed Zwicklbauer's plan to build three four-unit buildings in the AB-Residential zone. Unable to make a decision on the proposal, the board decided to submit a revised map and explanation of the plan to the Albany County Planning Board for reconsideration.

Previously, the county planners reviewed the subdivision map for the plan and objected to the proposal, stating that the three contiguous frontages on Cherry Ave. would create a potential traffic problem.

Four-unit apartment buildings are permitted by the zoning ordinance in an AB-Residential zone. Lindsay Boutelle, engineer representing Zwicklbauer, said that only one road to the buildings would be constructed with cross easements for the three lots of the subdivision.

Board member William Johnston said the builder should construct a public road up to town specifications. "I think it's a good place for apartment houses; but, it's a very poor concept of planning," said Johnston.

Williamson reported that Public Works Commissioner Bruce Secor recommended a cul-de-sac for the parcel and that Highway Superintendent Martin

Crash hurts driver

A Schenectady man received emergency treatment at St. Peter's Hospital in Albany Thursday after a van he was driving was involved in a collision with another van on Delaware Ave. near Salisbury Rd. in Delmar, according to Bethlehem police reports. Paul E. Dicaprio, 20, of Schenectady was taken to the hospital by the Delmar Fire Department Rescue Squad, police said. A hospital spokesman said he was treated and released. No tickets were issued, according to the police report.

Cross objected to the proposal because the town would end up taking over a substandard road.

Boutelle said only two buildings could be constructed with a through street and only one building could be constructed with a cul-de-sac.

"The problems usually surface after 25 to 30 years," said town planning consultant Alvah Worth.

Building inspector John Flanigan said the proposal conformed with the requirements of the town's zoning code. "You can approve the plan and override Albany County," said Flanigan.

"They meet the conditions of the subdivision," said board member John LaForte. "On what basis would you reject it?"

"If you need a reason for denying, John, I think it's poor planning," said Johnston.

Williamson said the town had no assurances that three driveways would not be constructed in the future.

Williamson asked board member Marcia Nelson if she wanted to make a motion to deny approval of the plan. Nelson made a motion to accept a modified plan with a dedicated town road. The motion was seconded by Johnston. The vote was 3 to 3, with board members Williamson, Johnston and Nelson in favor, and board members Warren Kullman, LaForte and Moylan opposing.

One last number

The Delmar Community Orchestra, under conductor Robert McGowan, will close its 1984-85 season on Monday, May 13, with a concert at the Good Samaritan Nursing Home in Delmar. The program will include vocal selections by Marie Franke and light classics.

On May 20 the orchestra will hold its annual dinner at the Colonie Country Club.

Music, maestro

The halls of the high school will be ringing with the sound of music this month as elementary and junior-senior high school music groups present spring concerts.

On Thursday, May 9, the junior high band, the senior high concert band and the stage band will perform at the high school beginning at 7:30 p.m. Under the direction of Lydia Tobler and Frank McDermott, the young musicians will perform such numbers as "Say, Say, Say," "Lullaby of Birdland," "Strike up the Band" and "Misty."

Next week the elementary school will have its day. Their performance will be Wednesday, May 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at the high school. The fifth and sixth grade choruses under the direction of Cynthia McDermott and the fifth and sixth grade band, directed by Lydia Tobler, will perform songs such as "Send Down the Rain" and "One of Those Songs." A combined chorus will sing "A Tribute to America."

A junior and senior high school choral concert is planned later this month.

All concerts are free and open to the public.

Rally day is Saturday

With spring here, bikes are coming out of garages and taking to the highways. To ensure that both bikes and their riders are ready for their return to the roads, the Voorheesville PTSA will sponsor its annual bike rally this Saturday, May 11, at the grade school, from 9 a.m. to noon. Although organized with elementary students in mind, anyone is welcome to stop by and have their bikes inspected. Minor adjustments will also be made at that time.

A safety course will be set up to test the skills of the biker and guided rally rides from the grade school to the high school will be conducted for more experienced riders. The PTSA will sell juice and soda, and a bake sale is scheduled as well. Those willing to help with this project should contact Mike Malark at 765-4392. Anyone wishing to donate baked goods may leave them off the morning of the event.

Prom night promises much

The day of the rally the older set will be readying for the annual junior-senior prom, planned this year at the Turf Inn on Wolf Rd. Junior class advisers are Richard Freyer and Richard Mele, and the senior class adviser is Michael Keefrider. This year's theme will be "Just One More Night."

Following the prom, the New Scotland Substance Abuse Task Force will have its Safe Spring Program from 12:30 a.m. until 4 a.m. at the firehouse. The event will include dancing, snacks and a pancake breakfast served from 2 a.m.

have enjoyed dancing this year. The March dance marathon not only gave enthusiastic high school students a chance to kick up their heels, but also raised more than $1,500 as well. Sponsored by the Senior High Student Council, the eight-hour "dancathon" to raise money for cystic fibrosis drew more than 300 students who danced to the music of Dave Ardman, a Voorheesville graduate who is a disc jockey for WQBK-FM.

Out of 25 couples who began the marathon, Chris Fernandez and Shawn Houck placed first. Second place winners were Chris Toritto and Don Houck.

Salute to ambulance squad

The older generation will also be partying this month as the Voorheesville Area Ambulance Squad has its annual installation dinner on Friday, May 17, at the Voorheesville American Legion Hall. To thank the squad members for their hard work and dedication, the American Legion and auxiliary and the Sons of the American Legion will be hosts. There are a limited number of tickets available for those who would like to show their support for the group. Anyone wishing to obtain tickets at $10 each may contact the American Legion at 765-4712.

Although the installation of new officers is sure to be a festive event, the squad notes that it is in dire need of new members. According to officers, the day crew, which is on call from 7:30 a.m. until 6 p.m., is most in need of help.

It's a blooming sale

With Mother's Day just around the corner, the Helderview Garden Club will have its annual plant sale on Saturday, May 11, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Stewart's in Voorheesville and at the Voorheesville Pharmacy. Plants of all shapes, sizes and varieties will be on sale, and a raffle with prizes from area merchants will also take place. Proceeds from the sale will go to meet the cost of the seasonal plantings at the village gardens and other sites in Voorheesville.

Members are reminded that the monthly meeting will be held Thursday, May 9, at 7 p.m. at the Voorheesville Methodist Church when Prof. Gilbert Harlow will speak on begonias. All are invited.

Ten given honors

Several students have been inducted into the National Honor Society.

New members are: Douglas Arthur, Margaret Arthur, Mark Bibbins, Peter Chapman, Katherine Danforth, Merideth Englander, Edward Kiegle, Erin Neighmond, Colleen Vaughn and Clinton Wagner.

Installed at the same time were Honor Society officers for the 1985-86 school year. They are: president, Jim Volkwein; vice president, Justin Corcoran; secretary, Alissa Van Zutphen, and treasurer, Christine Martin.

Guest speaker at the installation was Christopher Mastro, an English teacher at the high school.

Teacher remembered

school received a gift this week from the Nancy Skala Memorial Fund. To commemorate Arbor Day, each child took home an evergreen seedling to plant.

Those who would like to donate to the fund honoring teacher Nancy Skala, who, although struck by blindness, continued her love and education of children, may send their contributions to the school in care of Don Otterness. Proceeds from the fund will be used to purchase materials and equipment for school children to further their study and appreciation of their precious gift of sight.

Cheese Day

There will be another federally sponsored cheese day on Friday, May 17, at St. Matthew's Church in Voorheesville, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Those who receive social security, WICS, HEAP, unemployment or other such programs qualify to receive this food.

Font Grove water plans hit snag

By Theresa Bobear

The first engineering plans for the proposed Font Grove Rd. water district will have to be rethought to bring the cost within range of the property owners who will bear the cost.

A preliminary proposal for the water district, drafted by Laberge Engineering and Consulting Group Ltd., was presented to members of the New Scotland Town Board last week.

The proposed plan would cost the average homeowner $413.38 per year, excluding water use. Supervisor Stephen Wallace said some items would have to be taken out of the proposal to bring the cost within the $350 per lot cutoff point established by the state Department of Audit and Control.

The proposed district would serve residents of Upper Font Grove Rd. from the town line to within 600 feet of Rt. 85, as well as residents of Ridge Road and residents along Oliver Lane from Upper Font Grove Road to 700 feet north of Pauley Lane.

NEW SCOTLAND

The eight inch water line will be connected to an eight inch line being installed by the Town of Bethlehem along Upper Font Grove Road to the town line.

The water district will purchase water from the Town of Bethlehem.

Currently, a 50-year-old two inch water line runs along Upper Font Grove Road. Laberge reported that the line is "greatly decayed and well beyond repair. The remainder of the houses along Oliver Lane obtain water from wells, most of which do not supply an adequate quantity of water."

The $360,000 plan presented by Laberge provides for service to 46 dwellings and includes a $15,000 boring under the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, $10,000 for technical services, $29,000 for engineering services, $20,000 for legal and administrative services, $20,400 for hydrant assemblies and $302,000 for iron pipes, valves, meters, stone bedding, maintenance, water services and miscellaneous items.

As the proposal currently stands, the average homeowner would pay $413.38 per year for the district plus an estimated $174 per year for water use. But the annual cost would decrease as the debt is repaid and additional houses are built.

In other business, the board:

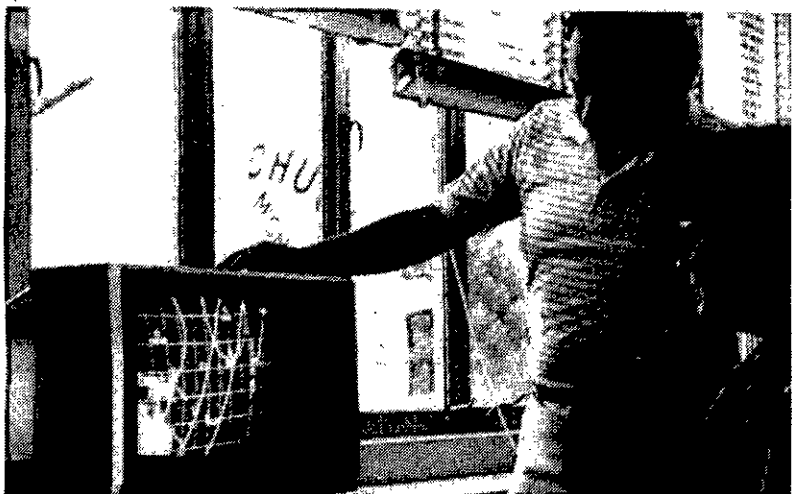

- Verbally supported the town zoning board's decision to deny James Smith's request for the rezoning of property on Rt. 85 to allow construction of a hotel. An Olympic-size pool and a large septic system have been installed at the site.

- Granted permission to the Village of Voorheesville to use the town's refuse truck during the week of May 6.

- Granted Kathy Rudd's request for use of the town hall parking lot on the day of the New Scotland hamlet neighborhood garage sale (June 8), provided no sale would be held on the premises.

- Reported that a public hearing to consider an ordinance regulating antennas and towers would not be set for one or two months.

- Agreed to meet with members of the New Scotland Kiwanis to consider an appropriate location for a proposed community bulletin board. Board member Kenneth Tice said a sign at the intersection of Rts. 85A and 155 could present a traffic problem.

The future was here Thursday for students at Clayton A. Bouton High School, including Eric Hausgaard, who could monitor NASA's communications with the space shuttle Challenger via a satellite dish supplied by Chuck Hall of American Northeast Satellite during the school's technology fair. Spotlight

NEWS FROM SELKIRK AND SOUTH BETHLEHEM

Barbara Pickup 767-9225

'Old timers' tell it like it was

An interesting way to learn history is to listen to "old timers" tell their remembrances of the past. On Thursday, May 16, at 8 p.m. the public is invited to hear a program, "Tape Recordings of Bethlehem Residents — Memories and Recollections," given by Lois Dillon in the Bethlehem Historical Association School House Museum. Mrs. Dillon is chairman of the association's Historic Resources Committee, and can be seen on Bethlehem cable channel 16 in a Bethlehem Heritage Series in which she presents local history through a series of interviews with Bethlehem residents.

A short business meeting with election of officers will be followed by the program and refreshments at the museum at Rt. 144 and Clapper Rd. in Selkirk.

Pot-luck and journey ahead

The May meeting of the South Bethlehem-Selkirk Senior Citizens will be on Monday, May 13, beginning at noon at the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem, Rt. 9W, Selkirk. All seniors in the area are invited to attend the gathering, which will begin with a pot-luck luncheon. A brief business meeting and social hour, including bingo, will follow.

Reservations are being taken for a bus trip to Hyde Park. The seniors are scheduled to visit the Roosevelt estate and the Vanderbilt estate, and to dine at the Town and Country Lighthouse Restaurant nearby. They plan to leave by bus from the First Reformed Church parking lot at 8 a.m. on Thursday, May 23, for the trip. Anyone interested in joining the group should contact Herb Strumpf, 767-3052, or Gus Traeger, 767-9279, as soon as possible.

Two teens take honors

The Principal's Advisory Committee of the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Senior High School has selected the Teenagers of the Month for March. The Teenager of the Month program is sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. Students selected receive a $25 award and are eligible for a $100 award at the end of the year when a teenage girl and teenage boy of the year will be selected from those chosen as monthly winners throughout the year.

March Teenagers of the Month are Stephanie Wheeler and Andrew Guthrie. Stephanie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wheeler of South Bethlehem. That she is a tireless worker is evidenced by her membership in the Spanish Club, Student Council, Honor Society, SADD, Principal's Advisory Committee and her church choir. She is also a member of the Youth Palomino Horse Breeders of America. Stephanie raises, breeds and trains horses on her family's farm. She has been active on the Student Fair Committee, working many hours putting together information received from faculty regarding their exhibitions for the fair.

Andrew Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Guthrie of New Baltimore, is a member of the Honor Society and treasurer of Key Club. He participates in varsity soccer, varsity tennis and intramural volleyball. He was a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship contest and achieved the highest scores at RCS on the Stanford Achievement Test.

Near miss nets arrest

A Selkirk woman was charged with driving while intoxicated as a misdemeanor after she just missed hitting a troop car on Rt. 32 last Tuesday, according to a spokesman. Bail was set at $200 in New Scotland Town Court, where the woman is to reappear on May 16, authorities reported.

$800 tape player taken

State police at Selkirk are investigating the reported theft last Monday of an AM/FM cassette tape player that was taken from a new car on a tractor-trailer at Anchor Motor Freight Co., in Selkirk, according to a state police spokesman. The equipment is valued at $800, police reported.

Charged in truck theft

A Florida man was charged with second degree grand larceny after he allegedly broke into the fenced yard at a Ravena company Friday and stole a flatbed truck, according to state police in Selkirk. William P. Larson of Daytona Beach also faces charges of criminal mischief and criminal trespass, police reported. The vehicle was recovered behind a restaurant on Rt. 9W in Albany, authorities said, while the suspect was nabbed after hitchhiking on Rt. 9W in Selkirk.

Free circus tickets

Many area businesses are giving away tickets to Vidbel's All-American Circus, to be held May 23 and 24 at the Elm Ave. Park in Delmar. Every advertisement in the May 1 supplement to The Spotlight includes an entry blank to be deposited at that business prior to May 15. Each store will have a drawing on May 15 and announce the winner of four tickets to the circus.

The circus will feature entertainment by animal trainers Frank and Janet Burger and the teeterboard artistry of the Hernandez Troupe.

Also featured are three performing elephants and a variety of other circus acts.

There will be shows at 5:30 and 8 p.m. on both May 23 and 24. Tickets are $5 for children and $6 for adults. All tickets are available for $4 until May 22 at the Paper Mill, Carvel's Ice Cream, Delaware Ave., the Spotlight office, Tri-Village Drugs, Houghtalings Market, the Clothes Circuit in Town Squire Shopping Center, R.T. Cornell Pharmacy in Ravena, Bumby's in Selkirk, Jeffers Nursery in Slingerlands and the Voorheesville Pharmacy.

Burglary probed

Bethlehem police are investigating a reported burglary last Tuesday at a residence on Rockefeller Rd. in Delmar.

Glenn S. Vadney

Spotlight has new ad manager

Glenn S. Vadney of Feura Bush has been promoted to advertising manager of The Spotlight, according to Publisher Richard A. Ahlstrom.

Vadney has been an advertising representative of the weekly newspaper serving Bethlehem and New Scotland since November, 1983. He succeeds James Vogel, who has resigned.

"We're delighted that Glenn is able to step in to continue The Spotlight's tradition of personal service to our advertising customers," Ahlstrom said.

Vadney is a graduate of Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk High School and has an associates degree from Hudson Valley Community College and a B.S. in business administration from Husson College in Bangor, Maine. Prior to coming to The Spotlight he was employed as a sales representative with Brad Cable Electronics in Schenectady and the A.C. Nielsen Company in Florida.

Flea market relocates

The giant indoor Flea Market, formerly located in the East Greenbush Plaza, has moved to the Towne Squire Shopping Plaza, Rt. 9W and Feura Bush Rd., Glenmont.

Approximately 40 dealers are offering everything from new discount items to antique jewelry and furniture. "We're very happy with the area," says owner Jean Goldman, a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School.

Goldman says the flea market does not fit in with most people's idea of a flea market — the market is more permanent. Every Saturday and Sunday the market is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with many of the same dealers offering a particular types of goods. "It's like going to 40 different garage sales all in one place," said Goldman.

Most of the dealers are local people who reserve the same table every week. Goldman said she plans to fill vacancies with area residents.

Antiques and collectibles, crafts, baseball cards, antique jewelry, beer trays, homemade fudge and candy, and vacuum cleaner and sewing machine repairs are only some of the goods and services offered at prices ranging from 25 cents to $200.

The Flea Market has been in existence for more than 13 years. Goldman said she thought of running a flea market after organizing a successful garage sale to help her son and other members of Boy Scout Troop 41 in East Greenbush raise funds for a trip to a national jamboree.

The garage sale was so popular that Goldman ran an outdoor flea market for 5 years. To continue the market through the winter, Goldman moved to the East

BUSINESS

Greenbush Plaza, where she has been located for the past 8 years.

Goldman said she has a show permit from the State Sales Tax Bureau, and all dealers collect New York State sales tax.

In painting business

Daniel Goldstein, 17, of Delmar has assumed the responsibilities of manager of College Pro Painters' Delmar outlet, a $100,000 business serving Delmar, East Greenbush, downtown Albany and surrounding areas.

Last summer Goldstein worked for College Pro Painters as a production manager, supervising 20 employees. He was trained to operate the franchise during the winter. As manager, this summer he will be responsible for the outlet's budget, marketing, advertising, hiring and production.

Goldstein is a sophomore at Colgate University.

For teaching WILD

Registration will be taken through May 8 for a six-hour Project WILD teacher workshop to be held at the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar, on Saturday, May 11, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

House materials gone

Building supplies worth a total of $1,260 disappeared from a construction site in the Eastmount development in North Bethlehem overnight Friday, according to Bethlehem police reports. A Schenectady builder itemized the materials, which included 400 wood studs and a number of panels of insulation and chip-board.

Eagle pitchers find the plate

By Tania Stasiuk

The magic that wasn't there when the season opened has finally appeared for Bethlehem's baseball team, to the tune of five wins in the last six games. The Eagles now have an overall record of six wins and seven losses, and a Suburban Council record of 3 and 6.

Two weeks ago the winning streak began at Voorheesville with a doubleheader. Bethlehem won the first game, 9-8, and sophomore Doug Pratt pitched a shut-out in the second game for a 9-0 win.

Against Bishop Maginn, Pratt pitched five shutout innings as a relief pitcher, leading BC to a 12-5 win. Senior Tom Amell's home run in that game was especially impressive as it went over the fence at Blecker Stadium.

Last Monday brought the only loss for the Eagles in the two-week period. Burnt Hills pushed in the

It was not to be — the Eagles' Kevin Roohan made it to third base in the early innings of Friday's game against Scotia, but was stranded when Paul Stracke flied out. But in the seventh Roohan walked home the winning run. His brother Ray went the distance in the 2-1 win. Spotlight winning run in the top of the seventh, making the final score 4-3.

Wednesday's game against Colonie proved that BC is making the turnaround. Junior Geoff Mackey's pitching, combined with senior Scott Bonanno's single and double, helped boost the team to an 11-4 victory. Coach Ken Hodge was pleased to note that Colonie has defeated Burnt Hills and Shenendehowa.

The game against Scotia on Friday went down to the wire. Senior pitcher Ray Roohan held the score at 1-1 through the top of the seventh. When the Eagles came to bat, Steve Mendel and Bonanno singled, and Jim Francis and Kevin Roohan walked to bring Mendel across home plate to win for Bethlehem, 2-1.

The past two weeks have been encouraging for BC. Hodge attributes the team's new-found success to better defensive play. Whereas before the Voorheesville game BC was averaging six errors per game, in the past six games only two errors have been committed. Hodge says that "we're running more, and finally making things happen on the field."

Strength up the middle has proved important to the team's success. The combination of Francis at shortstop, Kevin Roohan as catcher, Bonanno in center and Amell at second has played well so far. Pitching, an area Hodge was unsure of at the start of the season, is now another of BC's strongest aspects. Ray Roohan and Mackey have shown improvement in that area, veteran southpaw Mendel has returned after a hernia operation, and Pratt has developed into one of the strongest pitchers on the team.

Pratt has also taken fifth position in the batting order, and now leads BC in RBIs for the season.

This will be a tough week for the Eagles. The team was to play Niskayuna, tied for first in their suburban Council division, on Monday. Today (Wednesday), BC travels to Shenendehowa, and Schenectady. Thursday they will meet Bishop Gibbons in Central Park, Schenectady. On Friday BC will travel to Mohonasen. Saturday a doubleheader is scheduled at Cooperstown's Doubleday Field. The first game, against Cooperstown Central High, will begin at 10 a.m. and the second, against Albany Academy, starts at 1 p.m.

Spotlight SPORTS

BC ends drought

A long drought in Bethlehem Central softball came to an end last week as the Eagles broke an 8-game losing streak with their first victory of the season.

The BC girls unloaded four home runs and two triples in a 20-hit assault on Niskayuna pitchers, and came home with an 18-16 win that raised their record to 1-8 in the Suburban Council. Earlier in the week, BC lost to Guilderland, 13-2, and Shenendehowa, 11-7.

At Niskayuna Julie Liddle belted two homers, a three-bagger and a single, Wendy Vogel had a circuit blast and two singles, Sandi Blendell had a round-tripper and single, and Cheryl Dunston a triple and single. Lisa Tomlinson, the starting pitcher, had three singles. The Eagles scored 13 runs in the first three innings and had a 16-3 lead before the Niskies threw up a scare with a 10-run onslaught in the fifth inning.

Peg Jeram had the only two hits of the day in Monday's setback at home against Guilderland, but the Eagles wore their hitting shoes two days later in a losing bid at Clifton Park. Tomlinson was on the slab and BC manufactured 13 hits, three by Linda Stokoe, but nine errors did them in. Vogel had a Maureen Montanus had two hits apiece and Tomlinson stroked a double.

A long week for Indians

By Tim Penk

The RCS varsity baseball team lost four more games last week to depress their record to two and seven. The Indians have now lost seven straight.

They opened the week losing to Watervliet, 6-1. Doug Keyer pitched a good game, but was given no support offensively. The Indians managed only three hits. Bill Phillips had two of these, a double and a triple. The Indians' only run came when Angelo Losavio walked and scored on a single by John Waddingham.

The Indians fell to LaSalle in a 9-4 loss. The team fell behind early when LaSalle scored seven runs in the first. Pitcher Matt Smith was relieved by Losavio, who pitched three innings and gave up two runs. Don Keyer finished, retiring LaSalle with three strikeouts.

Larry Rivers led the hitting for the Indians by going two for three with a double and a triple. Phillips, Chris Peterson and Waddingham each had two singles. The Indians tried to rally in the fourth inning by scoring three runs, but could not overcome the early deficit.

On Thursday, RCS lost a high scoring battle, 13-12, to Lansingburgh. The game was close all the way, and heated up when the score became tied at 11 in the fifth inning. Lansingburgh scored two in the sixth and held on as RCS could only manage one run in the seventh.

Rivers pitched the entire game for the Indians, striking out 14, but giving up 12 walks. Phillips led the way offensively, hitting three for five with a double and a RBI. Rivers blasted a home run and a double to bring in four runs. Don Keyer and Losavio each hit a double and a single.

The fourth loss was delivered to the Indians by Schalmont, 6-2. Doug Keyer pitched, fanning four with six walks. The Indians had only four hits. Don Keyer hit a triple and a single and Waddingham had two singles.

This week, the Indians have games against Lansingburgh, LaSalle, Voorheesville and Waterford.

Too many 'big innings' for Birds

By Dan Tidd

Most baseball coaches just love that big inning, especially when their team is at bat. But for Voorheesville baseball coach Jerry Gordinier, the problem is when his team is in the field trying to stop the big inning. And once again this past week, Gordinier's club was done in by the proverbial big inning.

"We have been playing some good baseball this spring, but it's one bad inning that keeps us from winning," said Gordinier. "Take away those big innings and we just might be in the race."

It looks like the race is over for Voorheesville as far as this season goes. After losing two out of three last week, the Birds dropped to 1-5 in Colonial Council play and 2-11 overall. Gordinier's club started off the week with an impressive 9-3 victory over Waterford. Starting pitcher Gerry McNamara went the distance with a strong 8-hitter. He walked just four while fanning 11. "Gerry was the first pitcher to go the distance for us this season," said Gordinier. "He only gave up one extra base hit in the fourth inning."

The Birds rapped out 12 hits, including doubles by Tom Wight and McNamara. But the day belonged to Vinnie Foley, who went 3 for 4 with 3 singles and 2 RBI's. "We played a solid game, the kids didn't commit any errors which cost us," said Gordinier. Against Mechanicville, it was a big 6th inning which cost the Birds. Foley started and went all the way on the hill, but control problems started the avalanche in the 6th.

With the score deadlocked at 7-

7, the Red Raiders exploded for five runs to put this one away. Three of those runs came across on wild pitches. "It happened so fast, it was a bolt of lightning that came out of nowhere," said Gordinier. Brian Rubin was the big stick for Voorheesville on the day. He went 2 for 3, while Wight, Foley and McNamara each chipped in with doubles.

On Saturday the Birds had the pleasure of facing Academy ace pitcher Dimitri Yavis. Yavis checked the Voorheesville hitters on just five hits for the afternoon.

No. 3 Sam Lee gets big win

TENNIS

Since the start of Bethlehem Central's spring tennis season a month ago, Sam Lee has been methodically going about his work in the Eagles' No. 3 singles slot, leaving the headlines to others, notably his younger brother, Eric, who plays No. 1 singles.

Last Friday in Bethlehem's 6-1 loss at South Glens Falls, it was Sam Lee who delivered the only victory of the day and averted a distasteful shutout at the hands of a non-league opponent. He won by 7-5, 6-4.

"It was a really good win," said his coach, Jim Armstrong. "Sam has been playing well, but has been having a tough season. Friday he put it together. He was down by 5-2 in the first set when he started to get more aggressive and coming to the net. He won five straight games and closed out the set. It was a real turnaround, and it may be a turning point for him."

The Eagles made the trip to South Glens Falls without two regulars, No. 4 Dave Cory and Loren Blasam, who is the latest occupant of the No. 6 spot in Armstrong's challenge carousel. The coaches agreed on a seven-match format instead of the conventional nine. The loss, third of the week, dropped Bethlehem to 3-5 overall, 3-4 in the Gold Division of the Suburban Council.

But the Eagles still have an outside chance to make the Sectionals, where only the two top teams in each Division will represent the Suburban Council. That chance comes tomorrow (Thursday) at Guilderland, where BC must beat the Dutchmen by better than 6-3, the score by which Guilderland won in Delmar last month, the first time in their history they had topped Bethlehem.

Meanwhile the Eagles continue to struggle against their traditional tennis foes. Last Monday they were swept in singles by Shaker, winning only the first two doubles and gaining a forfeit in the third doubles in a 6-3 setback. On Wednesday they had the expected 9-0 picnic at Mohon- asen, but on Thursday it was Niskayuna again, this time on a bus trip. The locale was different, but the score was the same, 8-1 for the Niskies.

The flow was also a near duplication of the earlier encounter in Delmar, even to match scores. Once again the only Bethlehem triumph was produced by the neophyte tandem of Mark Woodruff, a freshman, and Neil Breslin, an eighth grader. They had to go three sets before locking up match point at 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

"We played a lot better than we did the first time we faced them," said Armstrong. "The trouble was, they were stronger, too."

Blackbirds squeak by 'Burgh

By Peter J. Fisch

A typical sports season is full of ups and downs, peaks and valleys, high points and low points. Last week was no exception as the Voorheesville High School tennis squad captured their first two victories of the year, while falling victim to a pair of shutouts.

The Birds squeaked by Lansingburgh, 4-3, on Monday to get into the win column. Senior French exchange student Bertrand Romagne led the way by stepping up to the No. 1 spot and scoring a 6-1, 6-2 victory. In doubles, Romagne teamed with junior Paul Nichols for a 6-3, 6-2 win. Freshman Steve Smith (6-1, 6-2) and eighth grader Tom Kurkjian (6-3, 3-6, 7-5) moved into the varsity lineup and recorded wins.

Smith has been a pleasant surprise for veteran coach Tom Kurkjian. The ninth grader worked his way into the varsity lineup by outplaying sophomore Dan McKenna for the No. 5 position. Thus far, Smith has remained undefeated in both singles and doubles. "He's only in ninth grade and he looks good for the future," commented Kurkjian.

Capping off the week, the Birds downed Watervliet, 5-2. Registering singles victories were Romagne (6-1, 7-5), Nichols (6-3, 6-4), junior Dean Solomos (6-3, 6-3), and McKenna (6-2, 6-0). In doubles, Smith and Nichols cruised to an 8-3 win.

Sandwiched between the two wins were the low points as Ravena and Albany Academy each handed the Blackbirds 7-0 shutouts. "The loss to Academy was typical since they're a league powerhouse," noted Kurkjian. "Ravena is a team of seniors that played well last year. They've played one year longer than we have. We're still playing with underclassmen. We've only been outplayed by two teams (Academy and Ravena), the other matches have been close."

As the season enters the second half, Sectionals come into view. The post-season tourney for teams takes place at the end of this month and Kurkjian isn't sure of his squad's future. "I don't know if we have a shot at sectionals," he said. "With our record, we're not in position to go since they only take the top six or eight teams among Class C schools."

In the Colonial Council, the netters are 2-3 with an overall mark of 2-5. Voorheesville travels to Schalmont today (Wednesday) and Ravena on Friday for Colonial Council play. The Birds were scheduled to entertain Tamarac this past Monday and Cohoes on Tuesday. Next week, VC travels to Watervliet on Monday and plays host to Schoharie Tuesday and Lansingburgh Wednesday.

BC thinclads running with Carey

By Dave DeCecco

After a rough start, the Bethlehem Central girls track team has finally come alive. With sophomore sensation Anne Carey on the team, opponents are finding it more difficult to outrun BC.

Two weeks ago at the Gloversville Invitational, Carey began by winning the 100-meter hurdles in 15.6 seconds. Later in the 400 hurdles she re-set her own meet record, posting a time of 64.1 seconds. The next competitor was a distant five seconds behind.

At last week's Schenectady Invitational, run under Mont Pleasant's lights, Carey sizzled up the track, dusting the 400-meter hurdle field in 62.0 seconds, her personal record. Senior Chris Ainsworth took second in the 800, clocking a 10:38, her best this season.

Two days after knocking off Scotia in a dual meet, raising their record to 2-5, the girls competed in the Colonie Relays. The 300-meter shuttle relay of Carey, Jen

TRACK

Engstrom and eighth grader Amy Peterson placed fourth in 55 seconds flat. Carey, Ainsworth, Tania Stasiuk and Jen Hammer combined for a win in the distance medley relay in 13:26.8.

On a summer-like day in Delmar last week, the boys team fell to Niskayuna and Saratoga. Highlighting the meet was the return of Dave Ashe to the team, and Ashe wasted no time setting the school record in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 6 inches. He then went on to win the triple jump.

Sophomore Pete Winkler paced the field in the 3200, cranking out a 10:20 and a first-place finish. Senior co-captain Paul Montanus won the 800 in 2:07 and along with Pete Nelson and Craig Isenberg, led a 1-4-5 BC finish in the 1600.

At Thursday's Schenectady

Invitational Ashe took fourth in the high jump, clearing 6-2. Another respectable performance for BC came from the 3200 relay of Montanus, Nelson, Greg Dobbert and eighth grader Ian Berry, who banded for eighth place overall in 8:31.

On a windy Saturday at the Colonie Relays, the boys showed some respectability, especially in the distance events. The distance medley of Ashe in the 400, Dobbert in the 800, Montanus in the 1200, and Nelson in the 1600 placed second in 11:40.8. The 6400 relay of Isenberg, Montanus, Winkler and Nelson took third in 20:09.2. 5 convincing wins for RCS girls

By Bart Gottesman

In the past two weeks the RCS varsity softball team has shown that they will be a force to be reckoned with for the duration of this season as the team has compiled an 8-1 record during its first nine games. The girls posted impressive victories over Cohoes (14-6), Voorheesville (35-6), Shaker (9-1), Watervliet (25-13), Holy Names (30-8) and Mechanicville (11-2).

In the victory over Cohoes, Amy Kane collected three hits while Stephanie Chalk and Tracy Klein each had two. Terri Baker pitched a complete game for the Indians, giving up seven hits to go along with six strikeouts.

Leading the Indians in the rout of Voorheesville were Jackie Mulligan, who was a perfect 4-4 at the plate, and Gina Ferriero and Pauline Mayo, each with four hits. Two of Mayo's hits were tremendous blasts for home runs. Karen O'Brien earned the win before being relieved by Baker in the fifth inning.

It was superb pitching by Baker and an excellent defense which aided RCS in its victory over non-league opponent Shaker. Baker pitched a no-hitter through four innings before being relieved by Ferriero. Baker, adding to her strong outing on the mound, also got two hits, as did O'Brien.

In the high scoring game with Watervliet, Ferriero banged out four hits to go along with hot hitting by Mayo and Losse, who had three hits apiece. Baker and O'Brien shared the pitching.

Thirty Indian runs were registered in the thrashing of Holy Names in one of the Indians' strongest offensive outputs of the season. Ferriero, Mulligan and O'Brien led the RCS offense with five hits each, and Baker had four. Klein, Kane, Marie Setford and Tracy Tucker contributed to the attack. Baker pitched all seven innings to get the win.

In their last game, O'Brien pitched a three-hitter to lead RCS over Mechanicville. Mulligan and Tucker contributed outstanding offensive and defensive performances.

This week the Indians will be trying to avenge their only loss of the season when they meet Lansingburgh.

of the Regents Action Plan, Fernandez said the district faces an important challenge in formulating a new curriculum with sensitivity to the fact that the population of the district has dropped. He said the district must "make a long range plan" with consideration to class size, academic programs and state aid.

Janet M. Breeze

A board member and past president of the Voorheesville PTSA, Janet Breeze of Slingerlands is a physical therapist with the Albany-Schoharie-Schenectady Counties BOCES.

A graduate of Tufts University in Medford, Mass., she has worked at the Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City, the Cerebral Palsy Center in Albany, the Seward General Hospital in Seward, Alaska, and the Sunnyview Rehabilitation Hospital in Schenectady.

Breeze is a member of the board of the Capital District Parent Teacher Association and a member of the 4-H Regional Fair Planning Committee.

"The mission of the board of education is to provide the highest quality education through the faculty, facilities and inspiration achievable for the residents of the school district for a reasonable cost," said Breeze.

The candidate said the board

"must not look solely to the current dollar expense of providing education but also appreciate the greater future cost of not providing every available advantage to the students."

Breeze said she would like to be actively involved in implementing the Regents Action Plan.

Injured in 9W crash

Jose A. Echandy, 18, and Maria Ramundo, 15, both of Albany remained in critical condition Tuesday at Albany Medical Center Hospital after the car they were in crashed Sunday night off Rt. 9W at Wemple Rd.

It was later learned that the 1985-model car had been stolen two days previously in Albany.

Bethlehem police said the car had been stopped by a Town of Coeymans patrol car for a speeding violation, but then sped away, with the officer giving chase. The car went off 9W, rolled over several times and came to rest in a field, police said, adding that the two occupants were ejected from the vehicle. Police declined to say which occupant was the driver.

Wildflower search

A field study of spring wildflowers will be held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 11, at the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar.

For women runners

Mother's Day races for women and girls, sponsored by Owens Corning Fiberglas Corp. and the Hudson Mohawk Road Runners Club, will be held at Hamagrael Elementary School Sunday.

The event will feature short races for children and a 3.5-mile race for women. The first 350 entrants will receive T-shirts. The entry fee for the 3.5 race is $3.50. For information call 235-2743.

Burglar takes jewelry

A burglar who forced open the kitchen door of a Kenwood Ave. residence last Monday evening made off with jewelry, including heirlooms, worth an undetermined amount, according to Bethlehem police reports. The burglar entered the garage through an unlocked door and then was able to force open the kitchen door, police reported. The intruder left via a dining room window, police said.

Silverware stolen

Silverware worth an undetermined amount was stolen last Wednesday from a Burhans Pl. residence, according to Bethlehem police reports. The thief or thieves used a brick to break a front window and enter, the report said, leaving by a side door. Many of the more than 70 pieces taken are engraved with the initials MCH, the report noted.

That portion of a lot or parcel which abuts a State, County or Town Highway (or street) — or a proposed highway (or street) which has been accepted by the Town Board — shall be known as the abutment of the lot or parcel on such highway (or street). The term "highway frontage" may also be used in reference to the abutment of a lot or parcel on such highways (or streets).

(or street) which has been accepted by the Town — for a distance of not less than twenty-eight (28) feet. Ownership of such abutment shall be in fee simple. Easements and other similar incidents of ownership shall not satisfy this requirement.

3. In the event that more than one residential building is proposed to be erected on a single lot or parcel in any zoning district, such lot or parcel shall abut an existing State, County or Town highway (or street) which has been accepted by the Town Board — for a distance of not less than twenty-eight (28) feet per residential building (dwelling). Ownership of such abutment shall be in fee simple.

Easements and other similar incidents of ownership shall not satisfy this requirement.

OBITUARIES

Margaret Fredenburgh

Margaret Gagen Fredenburgh, 86, of Voorheesville died May 3 at St. Peter's Hospital in Albany after a long illness.

She lived in Kingston for 50 years before moving to Voorheesville 7 years ago. She was a homemaker and a communicant of St. Matthew's Church in Voorheesville.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Arlene Pafunda of Voorheesville, and a son, William Fredenburgh of Phoenix, Ariz. She is also survived by five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Arrangements were by the Reilly and Son Funeral Home, Voorheesville. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Saugerties.

Andrew Zolko

Andrew Zolko, 71, of South Bethlehem died May 3 at St. Peter's Hospital in Albany.

Born in Bayonne, N.J., he was a graduate of Ravena Senior High School and a longtime resident of South Bethlehem.

He was a member of the Poughkeepsie Rod and Gun Club, the New York State Farm Bureau and the South Bethlehem United Methodist Church.

He is survived by a brother, Alfred Zolko and eight sisters, Mrs. Helen Parker, Mrs. Agnes Doberstein, Mrs. Joan Joslin, Anna Zolko, Mary Ann Zolko, Elsie Zolko, Harriet Zolko and Rose Mary Zolko. He is also survived by thirteen nieces and nephews and fifteen grandnieces and grandnephews.

Arrangements were by Caswell Funeral Home, Ravena. Burial was in the Mount Pleasant Cemetery, South Bethlehem.

DWI charged

A Ravena woman, 20, was charged with driving while intoxicated as a misdemeanor after the car she was driving went off the road at Rts. 32 and 55 about 6 a.m. Friday, according to Bethlehem police reports. The woman and a passenger, also 20, were taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital by the Delmar Fire Department Rescue Squad. A hospital spokesman said they were treated and released.

The driver was also ticketed for speeding, failure to stop at a stop sign and operating while her license was suspended. Her passenger was charged with failure to use a seat-belt.

Deputies charge three

An Albany man, 36, was charged with driving while intoxicated as a misdemeanor after his car went off Font Grove Rd. in New Scotland last Monday and hit a utility pole, according to a spokesman at the Albany County Sheriff's Department station in Voorheesville. The car came to rest in a ditch, the report said. No injuries were reported in the 1 a.m. accident.

Two other persons were charged by deputies with misdemeanor counts of driving while intoxicated during the week, including an Albany man whose car went off Rt. 155 at Johnson Rd. in New Scotland about 3:40 a.m. last Wednesday. The third DWI arrest was of a Voorheesville man who was stopped about 3:20 a.m. Monday on Rt. 85 in New Salem, the sheriff's department spokesman said.

Accused of swindle

Frank W. Kindlon of Elsmere and John D. Mooney of Schenectady face charges of grand larceny in the second degree after they allegedly swindled more than $300,000 from an elderly Schenectady woman over the past two years, according to a spokesman for the state police in Selkirk. Authorities said the two men, who were arrested Friday, told their victim they wanted to borrow the money to cover legal expenses related to claiming a fictitious $2 million escrow account. None of the money was recovered, police reported.

Collision hurts four

Four persons were hurt, none seriously, in a two-car collision about 6 p.m. last Tuesday on Rt. 156 at N. Grandview Terr. in Voorheesville, according to a spokesman for the Albany County Sheriff's Department. Three persons were taken to St. Peter's Hospital in Albany, where they were treated and released, authorities said. One driver was charged with failure to yield right of way and a passenger was charged with failing to use a seat-belt, the spokesman said.

avor, however, Hotaling encourages them to donate items to feed the hungry crowd, including orange juice, sausage, doughnuts and pastries to be used for breakfast and snacks, such as potato chips and pretzels. Those planning to do so may contact him at 465-2033 so he has some idea what food can be expected.

Although donations are still welcome, a good portion of the raffle has already been covered by groups as the New Scotland Kiwanis Club, which gave a sizeable donation, the Voorheesville Fire Department, New Scotland Fire Lodge, the Village of Voorheesville and local merchants and students who have donated goods and services to the program. The task force also has praised those who supported the recent raffle for the newly-formed SADD (Students Against Drunk Drive-ing) chapter at the high school, which secured the disc jockey and will be decorating the hall the day of the prom.

Besides fostering a close-to-home experience, the Task Force is also trying to promote a non-alcoholic environment. "We want to show kids that you can have a good time without alcohol," Joyce said, adding that area adults have gotten so enthusiastic over this program that the task force may plan a non-alcoholic end-of-the-year party for adults to set a good example for the students.

Although house parties were a big hit last year, the group is hoping that the festivities at the fire house will cut down on the number of after-prom parties, especially the ones at which parents feel compelled to serve alcohol.

As a word of warning Town Judge Cynthia LaFave reminds those who are planning such get-together that "people can and have been held civilly liable for damages, whether they be property damage or personal injuries, after they have provided alcohol to a person who later caused or created these injuries as a result of that person's alcohol consumption." LaFave adds that "those who serve alcohol, including beer, to anyone under the legal drinking age of 19 can be held criminally responsible for contributing to the delinquency of a minor," citing that she has presided over such cases in town court.

In a special arrangement with the O.K. Cab Company, the task force will be issuing coupons to prom-goers which they may use to obtain a ride home if they feel it is not prudent to drive home themselves or with their date. The Cab Company, for a nominal fee to be paid by the task force, will deliver students to their homes in the Voorheesville Central School

Members of the New Scotland Substance Abuse Task Force recently addressed Kiwanis members, who have been supportive both in time and money. District in an effort to keep those who felt compelled to "imbibe" off the streets.

Car count filed

A Voorheesville man, 25, was charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, a misdemeanor, after he was found last Monday on Apple Blossom Lane in Voorheesville driving a car reported stolen earlier that day in Albany, according to a spokesman for the Albany County Sheriff's Department.

'We must work together'

Editor, The Spotlight:

I am delighted that Reynard McClusky took note of my letter in the April 24 edition. However, I would like to correct some of his perceptions. I am not an apologist for the school board, nor anyone else. I am a citizen and parent who is deeply concerned that the Bethlehem schools not be caught up in the tide of mediocrity that is plaguing so many of our nation's public schools. Mr. McClusky would have us believe that our school budget should have fallen by 15 percent during the last eight years as a result of an enrollment decrease of that size. He ignores the factors of inflation, as well as the ever-increasing state mandates and requirements that our district has had to meet during those years.

Mr McClusky also seems to feel that the 6-6½ percent salary increases our staff is to receive annually under their current contracts are too large. We simply cannot expect our teachers to continue to stay with the district if they don't receive even moderate pay increases. I wish Mr. McClusky, and others like him, would be more specific and concrete and pinpoint for us the inefficiency, waste and mismanagement they see occurring. I fail to see how one suggestion to cut $25,000 per year qualifies as a major reorganization or as major budget cutting.

I would suggest that a more constructive and fruitful approach to the dilemma of how to maintain excellence in our schools without choking the taxpayers is in lobbying county and state governments so that our tax money is returned to our community. We must work together to protect the most important resource we all have — our children.

Laura C. Kagan, M.D.

Scouts stress safety

Editor, The Spotlight:

During the month of May, the Bethlehem Public Library will have a display on bicycle safety done by 15 girls from Brownie Troop 579 of Slingerlands. The theme of the display is "Bicycle Safety in Our Neighborhood."

The girls have done this display as part of the requirement toward their bicycle safety patch. The display also includes a safety checklist poster, showing the areas where to look, and individual booklets that the girls have made. It was fun for the girls to make and they hope other people going to the library will also enjoy it.

At this time we would like to thank a few people who have helped us out. The Delmar Reformed Church, McCarrolls Meat Market, Mrs. Nancy Gregory, Mrs. Ginny Hobbs and the Bethlehem Police Department.

COMMUNITY CORNER

Support the Visiting Nurses

For more than 100 years the Visiting Nurses Foundation has been caring for the sick, disabled and elderly residents of Albany County, regardless of their financial status. This month residents of the Delmar area are being asked for the first time to support this humanitarian effort by making a donation during the VNA's direct mail fund raising campaign.

In recent years home health care has been receiving increased attention as a cost-saving alternative to hospitalization. As the health care industry faces cuts in government funding, the Visiting Nurses Foundation hopes, with community support, to continue providing care to those in need.
