State tells town: plan for drought

BETHLEHEM

Restrictions on sprinkling lawns will be considered by the Bethlehem Town Board at its meeting Wednesday (tonight), but planning is already under way if the town's water supply situation becomes serious.

Some of the planning was done in 1981, the last time the state required a drought emergency plan from Bethlehem. The 1981 plan describes a series of tightened restrictions on town water users and lists alternate water supply sources if the Vly Creek Reservoir runs dry.

This year's plan will have to factor in the Albany water system, which currently supplies 500,000 gallons per day to Bethlehem and could, under the current contract, supply up to 2 million gallons per day in an emergency.

Town officials don't consider the current situation an "emergency," although the reservoir has now dipped under the 70 percent level at a time when it should be nearly full from winter snow and spring rains.

But because of the dry winter and spring, the state is now requiring Bethlehem, Albany and other municipalities in the Catskills and downstate to prepare a new drought emergency plan, which in Bethlehem's case will be an update of the 1981 plan. Under that plan, as long as the reservoir remained at 35 percent of capacity or better, the town would go no further than the sprinkling ban then in effect — the same ban the town board will consider reinstating Wednesday.

When the reservoir level went below 35 percent, the town would institute a ban on the use of water for washing vehicles, filling swimming pools or in air conditioners. The town would also minimize the use of water for flushing sewer and water mains. The town would also appeal to residents to conserve water and "secure the cooperation of commercial and industrial customers."

Below the 25 percent level, the town would impose "guaranteed restrictions" and allocate certain percentages of water to residential, commercial and industrial customers, according to the plan.

In the 1981 plan, the town's alternative sources of supply were

Southbound conquers Nashville

By Lyn Stapf

During their four years together the local country quintet Southbound has certainly had some exciting times. But none like the 48 hours they recently spent in Nashville.

The group appeared on live television before six million people, taped additional shows for nation-wide viewing in July and was signed to a major recording contract with Warner Brothers, one of the largest recording companies in the country.

Small wonder that band members Dave Burnham, Billy Montana, Bobby Kendall, Dave Flint and Doug Bernhard appeared to be walking on air as they returned to their regular jobs in and around Voorheesville last week.

Every drip counts

There are a number of simple, painless steps anyone can take to conserve water. With the level of the Vly Reservoir lower than normal, the town board may impose limits on lawn sprinkling. Here are some suggestions for water conservation:

- Install flow control devices in showers.
- Cut off all water while you are on vacation.
- Check faucets for drips and make repairs promptly.
- Teach children to turn water faucets off tightly after use.
- Place a plastic quart bottle in your toilet tank to save one quart of water per flush. (Do not use bricks or glass because particles could damage valves.)
- Urge family members to take showers instead of tub baths. Limit showers to two minutes or less.
- Turn off water while you brush teeth, shave or wash.
- Save water used to wash produce by placing a bowl or basin under the kitchen faucet. Use that water for cleaning or watering plants.
- Reduce the use of garbage disposals, which use as much as 2 gallons per minute. Dispose of food waste with the trash.
- Wash only full loads of dishes in the dishwasher, and avoid unnecessary rinsing of dishes that go into dishwasher. Scrape if necessary.
- Wash only full loads of laundry.
- Use mulch to retain moisture in the soil.
- Use a broom, not the hose, to clean the garage, sidewalks and driveway.
- Use a bucket of sudsy water to remove soil from the car. Hose down only as a final rinse. Take advantage of a soft summer rain to wash your car.

Delmar parade is Monday

Bethlehem's Memorial Day Parade will step off at 10:30 a.m. on Monday, May 27, according to Earle Ribero, chairman of the Nathaniel Adams Blanchard American Legion Post 1040's parade committee.

The second division of the parade will stop at the Bethlehem Cemetery for a Memorial Day service before joining the main body of the parade at 11 a.m. From the cemetery, the group will march west on Kenwood Ave., left on Adams Place, right on Adams

St. and right on Delaware Ave. to Bethlehem's Memorial Park.

At the park the post will present an American Flag to the town and lay wreaths at the Memorial Monument.

Thelma Ballard, a World War I veteran, past president and 50-year member of the Blanchard Post Auxiliary, will be grand marshal of the parade. Robert Hendrick, Bethlehem town supervisor, will be honorary grand marshal.

□ Drought planning

Thompson Lake (used by the town in a previous drought by laying pipe above ground from the lake to the pumping facility in New Scotland), Warners Lake and Helderberg Spring.

The Vly Reservoir holds 1.2 billion gallons of water and when full the elevation is at 394 feet. During the 1981 drought, the reservoir dropped to 379 feet, or approximately 39 percent of capacity. The lowest measurement on record in 1966, when the elevation was 377 feet.

Supervisor Robert Hendrick

said Friday he will give the town board a report on the situation at the reservoir Wednesday. There is a possibility that the lawn sprinkling restrictions dropped last year will be reinstated at that meeting, he said. The restrictions would limit sprinkling or watering shrubs to the hours of 6 to 8 a.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. Residences with even street numbers or on the north or east side of the street would water on even number days, and residences with odd street numbers or on the south or west side of the street would water on odd number days.

Town IDA considers building expansion

The Bethlehem Industrial Development Authority, still waiting to complete its first project, will meet today (Wednesday) at 2 p.m. to consider a proposal from the Professional Insurance Agents in Glenmont to expand the company's building.

The company is asking the town IDA to sell $750,000 in tax-free bonds to finance a 10,000 square foot addition to its existing building on Rt. 9W. The present building is 17,000 square feet, according to the application. The company, which serves as a service company to insurance agents, said it would expand its work force in Glenmont from 84 to 95 in two years time.

GLENMONT

The company is currently requesting site plan approval from the Bethlehem Planning Board for the addition.

The IDA is 11 years old and has never completed a financing project. It has approved one application already this year, for a food warehouse on Wemple Rd. in Glenmont, and that project is currently awaiting financing. Supervisor Robert Hendrick has said he wants to expand the board's role in attracting new industry to the town.

locally, was first contacted by Warner Brothers in April. A company representative made arrangements to see them perform at Motty's in Guiderland just before they left for Ohio, where they recorded 12 new original songs. That was enough to warrant a further look when Southbound went south to Nashville last week.

Appearing live on Nashville Now May 14 was in itself a dream come true. The show, which featured harmonica great Charlie McCoy, who recorded on the boys' album, was an instant success. Southbound was the first new group to receive a deluge of phone inquiries on the show's call line. Being recognized by people on the street after the broadcast added to the excitement. And taping their own show to appear on New Country in July was another thrill.

But the best was yet to come. The day after appearing on Nashville Now, the group met with Warner Brothers and learned that the company wants to sign them to a recording contract. The hard work and dedication was finally paying off.

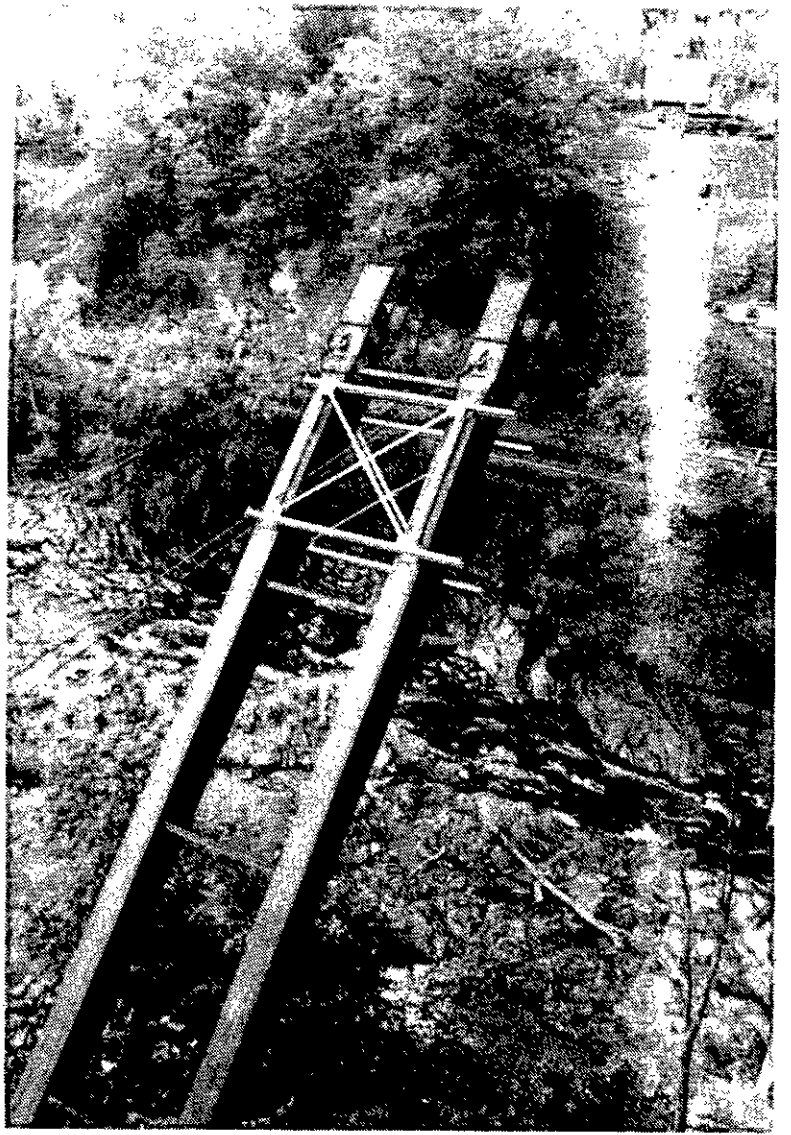

"When you think of the country performers Warner Brothers has signed — Conway Twitty, Emmy Lou Harris, Crystal Gayle, Hank Williams Jr., the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band — you've got to admit, that's great company," said Burnham.

Being the first country group from the Northeast — and possibly the first group of any kind from upstate New York — to be signed by a major recording company is a great accomplishment, which should bring some changes to the lives of these five young Voorheesville musicians. But according to Burnham, both the group and Warner Brothers

Selkirk crash kills woman

A New Baltimore woman died last Wednesday after a two-car collision on Rt. 55 in Selkirk which sent another woman to Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Marianne Scrodamus, 65, of Rt. 144, died at the hospital about three hours after the accident, authorities said. Doris VanSlyke, 50, also of Rt. 144 and driver of the vehicle in which Scrodamus was a passenger, suffered a broken leg and other injuries, according to state police at Selkirk. She was listed as in fair condition Tuesday at Albany Medical Center Hospital. Police said the VanSlyke car collided with a car driven by Virginia Green of Shady Grove Trailer Park in Selkirk, who escaped serious injury. State police said VanSlyke was charged with failure to yield right of way.

Tax rolls readied

Town of Bethlehem tax rolls will be open for public inspection from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays beginning June 3 and from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays, June 1, 8 and 15 in the assessor's office at the town hall, 445 Delaware Ave., Delmar. The Board of Assessment Review will hear grievances from 9 a.m. to noon and 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 18, at the town hall.

agree that for now, it's "business as usual."

"They want to bring us along slowly — the right way — so for now we'll go about our lives as always," Burnham said.

Business as usual for these musicians means life in the fast lane, working at a regular job that range from student to teacher to pharmacist to farm foreman, as well as constant practice and performing. And this year will be no exception. Beginning this weekend, when they appear with Box Car Willie at Pine Lake in the Adirondacks, the group has a heavy schedule. Appearances are booked at area clubs as well as at summer fairs in Fonda, Schaghticoke, Rhinebeck, Cobleskill and, of course, Altamont, where Aug. 17 has been proclaimed "Southbound Saturday Night."

The date the group is most looking forward to is Aug. 18, which will mark their fourth anniversary together, and when they will appear back where they began, in the park in Voorheesville. "This is our home, where our roots are, where people first supported us — and we'll never forget that," says Burnham.

When the Nashville Now emcee introduced the group as coming from Albany, New York, Burnham quickly corrected him, saying they were "from a village outside Albany called Voorheesville."

Grange sets the table

The Bethlehem Grange, Rt. 396, Selkirk, will serve a ham and strawberry dinner at 4 p.m. on June 1. A "this and that sale," organized by the group's women's activities committee, will be held at the same time.

County lawmakers 'home'

By Patricia Dumas

Albany County legislators returned last week to their old meeting place in the County Court House, settled into spruced up quarters, and debated spiritedly before an audience that ranged from placard-bearing union members to boy scouts.

The chamber's new look is part of a general restoration program for the 70-year-old court building on Eagle St. in Albany that the legislature had vacated two years ago.

The debate grew out of a home rule message that is tied into financing for the county's proposed civic center.

The placard bearers represented Local 200 of the Service Employees International Union who wanted pay raises for working at the Albany County Nursing Home, and the boy scouts were there as guests invited by the lawmakers at the request of local Elks.

"This is where we belong," the legislature's chairman Charles E. Cahill said at the start of the session last Wednesday in the mahogany-paneled chamber. The room had been completely refurbished under the direction of county Building Superintendent Jerry Henry of Feura Bush.

Since the spring of 1983 the legislature has met in the county building at 112 State St. The county purchased that 13-story structure in 1981 in order to centralize its governmental functions. According to Assistant County Executive Thomas Clingan, the legislature "wanted to be where the action was."

The move, though, was not favored by many of the lawmakers, and according to their chairman most soon became disenchanted with their office building quarters where heavy pillars obscured their view of the podium and of each other.

The courthouse renovation provided the lawmakers with a good reason to move back "home."

The county maintenance crew moved the legislators' desks, chairs, and podium back to the courthouse chamber. They also installed fluorescent lighting around the chamber walls, fitted a center chandelier with a double circle of lamps, polished brass and mahogany and restored gold leaf painting. The chamber's linoleum floor has been replaced by carpeting purchased and installed under a state purchasing contract.

By mid-July, when the courthouse restoration is completed, the legislative chamber also will have window air conditioning units. That improvement, however, is planned mostly because the room is used year-around for grand jury sessions, Clingan said.

At last week's session, the legislature approved a home rule message requesting the state's permission to raise the hotel occupancy tax from 1 to 3 percent. Revenue from the tax would be used to help defray annual debt service on bonds issued for the proposed civic center.

That tie-in to the civic center prompted a rash of rhetoric from lawmakers.

Republican Michael Ricci of Voorheesville declared that the measure provided "the closest time we will ever come to any vote on whether or not we want the civic center," which, he said, "is being built by executive fiat."

Majority leader Harold L. Joyce reminded Ricci and his other protesting colleagues that the necessary legal procedure would bring the measure before them again. The home rule message authorizes the state to vote on enabling legislation for the tax hike. The county body would then have to vote on it.

"If the enabling legislation is passed, we will then come back here and talk for or against it. We will no longer be able to hide behind rhetoric and headline hunting," Joyce said.

Republican James Ross of Delmar said "Joyce's frankness and open comments on the subject are on stark contrast to the county executive's closed meeting procedures."

Ross was referring to the closed-door policy adopted by Market Square Gardens, the not-for-profit corporation established by County Executive James Coyne to build and run the civic center. Following protests from a number of sources, Coyne later reversed his policy and said that the corporation's meetings will be open to the public.

The home rule message was passed over the objections of the Republicans and of Legislator Henry Dennis, a Colonie Democrat who is concerned about the effect of the tax hike on motels in the Wolf Rd. area.

As the legislators argued, some of the disgruntled labor union members who were standing in the back of the chamber used their placards as fans. They had noisily marched outside the courthouse before the meeting.

Scott Newkirk, a sophomore at Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk High School, was among the boy scouts attending the session.

There is no fee for the program. Proof of age will be required on the first day.

Vandals sought

Bethlehem police are investigating several reports of vandalism to parked cars overnight Friday. The incidents were reported by residents on Brookview Ave. and Greenock Rd., according to police reports.

Jail alternative comes to pass

Nearly two years after he served a three-month stint in the Albany County Legislature, a Bethlehem Democrat's proposal for alternative jail sentencing in the county has born fruit.

George Frangos of Elsmere, appointed in 1983 to complete the unexpired term of the late Edward Sargent, introduced the measure to establish a commission to study different ways to handle convictions during a debate over expanding the county jail.

The measure passed, but the commission's recommendations received little attention until the passage of a new state law made matching funds available to counties that developed suitable alternatives to incarceration.

Frangos was appointed an ad hoc member of the advisory board charged with developing the suitable plan. County officials, city and county court judges, police and interested citizens were on the advisory panel.

Their plan, approved last month by the county legislature, is slated to go into effect next summer after state and county officials complete processing negotiations.

A total of $100,000 in matching funds is available for financing the program; with $55,000 to be directed toward a pre-trial release program and approximately $40,000 to be used for follow-up community service assignments.

The state Division of Criminal Justice Services is working with counties to implement their plans.

In Albany County, the probation office and public defenders office will handle the alternative sentencing methods. Officials explained that under the pre-trial release system, criteria will be used to evaluate whether or not an individual may be released after arrest and a clearing house of information on community service programs will offer treatment instead of jail terms to persons who need rehabilitation.

The criteria for assessing arrested persons will draw on a "roots in the community" system that in the past resulted in people being released on recognizance and bail, a spokesman for the Division of Criminal Justice Services explained.

Challenge back on agenda

By Caroline Terenzini

Two issues about which the public is expected to have something to say will be before the Bethlehem Central school board in coming weeks: the district's program for gifted children, and solutions to crowding at Glenmont Elementary School.

Discussion of the Challenge Review Committee's report is on the board's agenda for its meeting next Wednesday, June 5. The report, submitted in February, was put on a back burner while the board readied a budget proposal for the May 8 vote.

Also upcoming is a public hearing concerning solutions to crowding at the Glenmont school. After the board got word last Wednesday that the citizen committee working on a plan for dealing with the crowding intended "to skip" such a public forum, the consensus among board members was made clear: the public must have ample opportunity to voice opinions.

Hence, the board (still at six members because Charles Reeves of Delmar, elected to the vacant seat, was unable to attend the meeting at which he was scheduled to be sworn in) asked that a public meeting on solutions to the crowding be scheduled. A date for this hearing is expected to be set this week.

The committee has made no public announcement, but it is known that it is working on a proposal to redistrict BC's five elementary schools. The group's 10th meeting is scheduled this Thursday. Its chairman is Richard Alba of Slingerlands, a professor at the State University at Albany.

Board President Sheila Fuller said Monday that it is possible the committee's proposal will not receive full discussion until September. No impact from the proposal is expected in the coming school year, she noted.

And yet another district committee is to be formed, this a panel of staff members who are to draft a revised policy on student conduct and discipline in accordance with new regulations from state Education Commissioner Gordon Ambach's office. Board member Velma Cousins plans to serve on this committee.

Linda Anne Burtis of Elsmere submitted petitions in support of seat-belts in school buses, but the board chose not to reopen the debate in the absence of any new information. Mrs. Cousins said she would like the issue of standees on school buses resolved before taking up the question of seat-belts, but "it's definitely not a closed issue," she said.

Board member Bernard Harvith repeated his concern: "If it were clear it would improve the safety of children, the legislature certainly would have required it." It's a mom-and-pop-and-apple-pie issue and legislators love to vote for that. There are situations in which having seat-belts would be more dangerous. The things that really improve the safety of buses have nothing to do with seat-belts."

In other business, the board:

- Appointed Cheryl MacCulloch as full-time principal at the Clarksville Elementary School. Mrs. MacCulloch is principal on a half-time basis for the current year, an arrangement that the state Education Department now has prohibited.

- Accepted the resignation of Virginia Nuzzo, a second grade teacher at Hamagrael Elementary School who has taught in the district for 20 years.

- Approved a pay adjustment for JoAnn Davies, who has been substituting at the high school for Assistant Principal Max Karp, who has been ill.

The board's June 5 meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Educational Services Center, Adams Pl. in Delmar.

Open house at HQ

Bethlehem residents are invited to an open house at police headquarters on Thursday, June 6, from 7 to 9 p.m. All ages are welcome and are asked to be at the station in the town hall, 447 Delaware Ave. in Delmar, promptly at 7 to join the tour. A demonstration of use of the breathalyzer is scheduled, as well as displays of radar devices, traffic safety techniques and arson investigation equipment.

A tour of headquarters will be followed by a demonstration in the parking lot by both Detective Colin Clark's bloodhound, Belker, and by an attack dog on loan from the Albany Police Department.

The open house is a first for the department, according to Lt. Fred Holligan.

BUT lists directors

Bethlehem United Taxpayers (BUT) has announced the names of its advisory board as it gears up to assume a role in Bethlehem Central School District affairs.

Members of the board are: Edward S. Berry, retired as president of the Home and City Savings Bank, and treasurer of the group; Shirley Bowdish; Nathaniel A. Boynton, former editor-publisher of The Spotlight; Sherwood Davies, retired as a state employee; John F. Dearstyne, Jr., an employee of the state Facilities Development Corp.; W.R. Domermuth, Clarksville contractor; David Ingraham, Clarksville businessman; Charles J. O'Hara, retired, a past commander of the Blanchard American Legion Post, and DeForest T. Whipple, also retired, and former executive secretary of the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce.

The coalition supported two candidates in the recent BC school board election, one of whom, Charles Reeves, was elected. In a report to supporters, BUT's immediate goals were listed as "to improve school programs where indicated, to identify areas of excess costs and to work with the board in seeking greater financial support from the state."

Long-range goals are to be involved in development of the district's next budget and to find candidates to support in the 1986 board election.

Mandates get once-over

By Theresa Bobear

More language and less free time for junior high students and changes in the math program, an additional year of science and more accelerated courses for high school students. Those are some of the changes Voorheesville students will see when the Regents Action Plan goes into effect.

"We're trying to gear up for these changes," said Voorheesville High School principal Peter Griffen last Tuesday as he reviewed the requirements of the plan last week for the board of education.

Griffen joined with Donna Grant, Voorheesville Elementary School principal, and guidance director Robert Quackenbush to present their preliminary estimate of the plan's impact on students in the district.

Griffen began his presentation by explaining that many parts of the plan have not been settled. At the junior high level, Griffen said, the health course will probably be offered at the seventh grade level. Ecology will be covered as a unit in science, and first aid will be reviewed in a six-week unit at the eighth grade level.

With the new mandates, some students at the junior high level will have no free time and no time for accredited labs or lessons, Griffen said. He mentioned that some schools have moved courses to the elementary school and some schools have gone to nine periods. Currently, both the junior and senior high schools have eight-period days.

Griffen said the board could decide to drop from 42-minute classes to 38-minute classes at the junior high level; but with the shorter periods the bells would not be coordinated with the high school. "You don't want to have a 38-minute period for high school," said Griffen.

As the plan now stands, Griffen said, students will be required to complete two units of language by the end of grade nine. He said the students will not be required to demonstrate proficiency (pass an examination) for language.

Griffen said additional staff would be needed to meet the new language requirements.

After hearing a presentation on the possible routes for filling graduation requirements at the senior high level, board president John McKenna said, "We should give a test, and any student who accurately describes the requirements automatically graduates."

"Or at least gets a credit," added board member Peter Ten Eyck.

"Or a permanent seat on the school board," said Joseph Fernandez, who was up for reelection the next day (he won).

Students earning a local diploma will be required to complete sequences in two subject areas. Students earning a Regents diploma will also be required to complete additional sequences. Quackenbush said the requirements for graduation will be reviewed with each student.

Under the new plan, math 9, 10 and 11 will be replaced by math levels I, II and III. Two years of math and two years of science will be required for a local diploma instead of the one year that is currently required.

After 1988, three units of a second language will be required for a Regents diploma.

The high school will be required to offer accelerated or advanced placement courses in five subject areas.

"There are a lot of hidden resource needs," it strikes me, in this," said McKenna. "I'm very concerned about the transition time," said board member David Teuten.

Berglas said some of the required courses might be offered in summer sessions at a cost of about $2,500 as opposed to regular sessions, which cost approximately $6,000.

All occupational education students will be required to take four 10-week units on working citizen, personnel resource management, economics of work, and problem solving and decision making. Griffen said the requirements could be met by converting business dynamics to introduction to occupations.

With the new degree requirements for a local diploma, Berglas said a decision to pursue occupational education would apparently have to be made earlier in the student's high school career.

Donna Grant reported that microcomputer studies must be included in elementary school math courses, and computer testing will be included in the sixth grade PEP tests.

Grant said the state has recommended keyboarding for elementary students. She said the district has not received specifics yet.

Regarding an unrelated matter, district business administrator Rodger Lewis reported that Dubb Transportation has been sold to Laidlaw and the district's contract has been managed by Upstate Transport Consorted. "Overall the service has improved," said Lewis.

In other business, the board:

- Changed the 1985-86 school calendar to include teacher orientation and in-service days on Sept. 3 and 4. The first day of school is now scheduled for Sept. 5.

- Granted permission for students in grades 6, 8 and 12 to charter buses to New York City, Boston and the Bronx Zoo at the students' expense.

- Heard Bruce Martelle of the New Scotland Kiwanis Club and Edward Mitzen, high school class president, introduce plans for a memorial to the late Thomas Buckley.

Berglas hails voter support

The comfortable passage of the Voorheesville school budget in light voting could be attributed to good communications in the district, says the district's top official.

"We're very gratified that the public, again, supported our budget and our propositions," said Superintendent Werner Berglas after last Wednesday's balloting.

"The ability of people to have input was a factor in our election results," said Berglas.

District voters approved three special propositions and a $6,170,347 budget for the 1985-86 school year. In the race for two five-year school board terms, PTSA president Mary Van Ryn was the top vote getter while incumbent Joseph A. Fernandez edged Janet Breeze for the second seat.

The 1985-86 spending plan, which is 5.1 percent or $299,251 higher than last year's, was approved 326 to 231. The approved budget brings an estimated tax increase of 5 percent for a total of $263.99 per $1,000 in the Town of New Scotland.

A $78,000 special proposition for the purchase of two diesel-powered buses was approved 303 to 250, and a $10,000 proposition for the purchase of an in-ground diesel-fuel tank was approved 300 to 240. District residents also approved 300 to 240 the expenditure of $50,000 for the removal of asbestos insulation from the boiler room at Clayton A. Bouton, Jr. Junior-Senior High School.

In an at-large contest, voters elected Mary Van Ryn with 305 votes and Joseph Fernandez with 263 votes.

A former employee of the state Education Department and a former court clerk for the Town of New Scotland, Van Ryn has a son attending Voorheesville Elementary School.

Fernandez is director of capital development services with the state Office of Mental Retardation in Albany. His three children are attending Voorheesville schools. Fernandez has served on the board for the past five years.

Other candidates for the board seats were Edward Lukowski, who got 126 votes; Janet Breeze, 247 votes, and Harriet Fryer, 144 votes.

Edward Donohue, who ran unopposed for the seat on the Voorheesville Public Library Board, received 385 votes. Donohue, a member of the Voorheesville Village Board, is employed as a district technical

According to police reports, a $8,500 mink coat and a raccoon coat valued at $3,500 were discovered missing Saturday at United Cleaners on Delaware Ave. Police found a broken window on the side of the building through which a thief or thieves may have gained entry, the report noted.

cult show because there is so much music to learn, but we have a very good vocal group," Hernandez said.

Other cast members include:

Cary Fields, Eric Stilan, Jillian Shipherd, Todd Googins, Dennis Harrington, Melissa Lewis, Emily Holsinger, Allison Holsinger and Brian Portnick.

"We have an excellent group and I have no regrets about the casting," Greene said.

Performances will be held on May 23 and 24 at BCHS auditorium at 8 p.m. and there is a matinee on May 25. Tickets are on sale at Records 'N Such, the BC box office and will be available at the door.

On Wednesday, May 22, there will be a free preview performance for senior citizens at 7:30 p.m.

Greene hopes that the Saturday matinee will "lend itself to attendance because this is a family show."

Stepping out in style

Everyone loves a parade... and the people of Voorheesville are no exception. This year's Memorial Day parade, scheduled for Saturday, May 25, will step off from the grade school parking lot at 10 a.m., led by Grand Marshal, Agnes Tucker, New Scotland's Citizen of the Year. The procession, including members of the New Salem, Voorheesville and Knox Fire Departments, scout groups, baseball teams, veterans groups, the high school band and, of course, area kindergartners, dressed as the lovable letter people, will proceed down Maple Ave. to Voorheesville Ave., over Main St. and finish at the American Legion Hall where Memorial Day services will be conducted. On hand for the festivities will be Mayor Richard Lennon, Town

Voorheesville News Notes

Supervisor Steven Wallace and American Legion Commander Leo Burgoon.

Also included in this year's parade will be a float representing St. Matthew's Human Concerns group, which tends to the needs of those in the area requesting help with food, fuel or other bills. In order to assist with the task of stocking their food pantry, the social action group is asking that all those attending the parade bring a non-perishable food item to the float either before or after the parade.

Following the ceremonies at the Legion, free hot dogs and beverages will be available behind the legion hall for all those who attend the parade. Children's foot races will also be held immediately following on the green behind the Legion, and are open to all children. Ribbon awards will be presented to all those who participate.

At 12:30 p.m. the annual 15 K race will set off from Voorheesville Ave. followed five minutes later by a 2-mile run. Open to runners of all ages, registration for these races will close at 11:30 a.m. the day of the parade. Those wanting to register or obtain more information on the races may call Herb Reilly at 765-2538. Sponsored by the Kiwanis, Legion, village and Elks groups, the races offer several trophies in different categories including the Mayor's Trophy for the first overall winner, a special trophy for the first Voorheesville resident to place, an Elks Club trophy to the winner in the Master's division (ages 40-50) and a trophy in the high school division given in honor of area student John Fredette, an outstanding two miler from the area, as well as a trophy for the oldest American Veteran to finish by the Legion.

Trophies are also awarded for the best appearing men's, women's, children's and military groups as well as for the best float.

The Legion ceremony will be held rain or shine.

More music

Music lovers are reminded that the junior and senior high choruses will present an all vocal concert this evening (May 22) at 7:30 p.m. at the Voorheesville High School. Both groups, under the direction of Margaret Dorgan, will perform classical and easy listening music. The finale will feature the combined groups, accompanied by the brass ensemble performing variations on Siebelius "Finlandia." All are welcome at this free program.

For some who could not come to their concert last week the sixth grade chorus brought music to them. The group directed by Cynthia McDermott took their show on the road, performing at an area nursing home on May 21.

Civil War series

Memorial Day marks the history of our country from a more modern aspect, but the Voorheesville Public Library will be bringing some history from a previous era with a reading and discussion series about the Civil War and slavery entitled "Rebirth of a Nation." The program begins on June 4 and runs through July, with sessions every other Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. Participants may attend any number of sessions they wish. Books to be discussed will be provided by the library.

The first session will consist of the showing of the epic film "Birth of a Nation." Considered a landmark in American filmmaking, the movie deals with the Civil War. Discussion will be led at this session by Richard Kendall, a State University at Albany professor from Voorheesville. Total time of this session will be about 3 hours.

Other topics and books featured in this program include "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "The Era of Reconstruction," by Kenneth Stampp and "With Malice Toward None," a recent study of Lincoln by Stephen Oates.

A complete listing may be obtained at the library. Those interested in participating in this program are asked to register at the library either in person or by calling 765-2791.

Textbook deadline

On the topic of books, families of students living in the Voorheesville School District and attending non-public schools are reminded that all text book orders must be received at the elementary school no later than 3 p.m. on Wednesday, June 5, for the school year beginning in September.

Those wanting more information may call either the high school at 765-3314 or the grade school at 765-2382.

PTSA officers

At a meeting held this week the Voorheesville PTSA announced its slate of officers for the 1985-86 school year. Nominated to hold PTSA positions next year were Lyn DiDominico, President; Joanne St. Denis; first vice president; Michelle Krajewski second vice president; Jeanne Knouse, corresponding secretary; Janice Genovesi, treasurer; and Tom Vecchis, recording secretary. Elections for PTSA will take place at the June 18 meeting.

Library board meets

The Voorheesville Public Library Board will hold its monthly meeting on Wednesday, May 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the lower floor of the library. The meeting was changed from its usual fourth Monday time due to the Memorial Day holiday. Board meetings are open to the public.

Dancing on cable

Southbound won't be the only group of talented local performers appearing on television. Several dancers from the area who participated in the recent recital of Guilderland Youth Committee Classical Dance Group will be seen on cable Channel 8 at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 29 when a taped edition of the recital is broadcast. Those appearing in jazz and ballet sections are Hilar Bissell, Sarah Bissell, Jessie Schedlbauer, Tracy Steven, Christine Torrito and Melissa Schable.

After school group meets

The School Age Child Care Committee which was formed after the PTSA survey on the need for local after school child care will meet on Thursday, May 23, 7 p.m. at the Voorheesville Elementary School to discuss the inquiries and how best to meet the need in the area.

Teens earn kudos

The Principal's Advisory Committee at the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Senior High School has selected the Teenagers of the Month for April under a program sponsored by the Elks lodge. Teens are nominated by the student body and are selected by the committee. Each student chosen receives $25 and becomes eligible to be selected as Teenager of the Year.

April's Teenage Girl of the Month is Brenda Newkirk, who resides with her mother, Kathleen Newkirk, in Selkirk. Brenda is a member of the concert and pep bands. She does volunteer work in the school's office and the guidance office. In addition, she is involved with varsity tennis, JV volleyball and intramural volleyball. Brenda has worked on stage crews and in the photography club, and has done extensive work on computers, typing up school inventories on the IBM word processor.

Brenda enjoys hiking, photography, cross-country skiing, reading, biking and swimming. She also works part-time with Klinke Associates.

Steve Vasto, Teenage Boy of the Month for April, resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Vasto in Ravena. Steven is a tireless worker. He is president of DECA, vice president of the senior class, manager of the school store, captain of the soccer team and a member of the track team.

The youngsters of the Creative Play Preschool of the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem recently attended the annual Tiny Tots Concert at Temple Beth Emeth in Albany.

They were among pupils at some 15 pre-schools that enjoyed the concert by the Albany Symphony Orchestra. Through narration and the magic of the music, the classical children's tale of "Peter and the Wolf" was brought to life.

Teachers Sandra Newkirk and Jackie Schrom were assisted by parents Colleen Janssen, Arlene Jordan, Jane LeBlanc, Mary Filkins and Kathy Gnip. Children attending were Theresa Adamski, Justin Beach, Phillip Boyajian, Kyleen Dommery, Brent Dragon, Brian Filkins, Christopher Gnip, Emily Janssen, Pammy Jordan, Timmy LeBlanc, BriAnne Searles, Malissa Thomas, Christopher Thorn, Jon Van Kempen and Amy Williams.

Graduate sets breathless pace

Earning a bachelor's degree is an accomplishment. Earning a bachelor's degree with two major areas of study is no mean feat. And receiving the degree with highest honors really singles one out from the crowd. But doing all that and earning a master's degree at the same time — well, that's achievement!

But as Catherine With of South Bethlehem describes it, she was just doing her thing while earning the two degrees in four years at The College of Saint Rose. With, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. With, received the B.A. (summa cum laude) and M.A. degrees in history-political science at the Saint Rose graduation ceremony earlier this month.

Clearly, With is not your average student. Witness the fact that she has worked the past five summers in the Appellate Division of the state Supreme Court, a job she got when, as a high school junior, she walked in off the street and asked. And, while working for the court, With also was taking a full course load at CSR. "I would work from 9 to 5 and have classes from 6 to 9," she said. "Many times I forgot to eat."

Her can-do attitude made it possible for her to amass 158 undergraduate credits and 30 graduate hours in four years. Nor is that all. With was president of the CSR Student Association in her senior year, a member of the Student Assembly for three years, a resident assistant for two years, a teacher's assistant in the CSR self-defense course for two years and a student representative on the Middle States Organization and Governance Task Force. With also served as director of Music Ministry for two years and was an intern in the state Senate one semester, while also finding time to enter — and win — dancing and singing competitions, and to run about 20 miles a week.

Academic excellence is a tradition for With, who graduated as valedictorian from both St.

Graduation day was certainly a day to be proud of for Catherine With of South Bethlehem.

Thomas School in Delmar and from Holy Names Academy in Albany.

All this kind of leaves an observer breathless, but not With, whose enthusiasm for such challenges and faith in herself shine in her direct blue eyes and ready smile. This fall she's set to enter Albany Law School, and they had just better be ready.

You can't get to heaven...

This tale is dedicated to all those who think that taking care of Number One means taking care of yourself.

There once were two fellows, both struggling to make ends meet, both diligent and willing workers, and both with families to support. They were similar in their life circumstances, but they were set apart from one another by one central difference: one was selfish, the other generous.

The selfish fellow believed all other people were selfish, too, like he was, whether they showed it or not. Consequently, he distrusted anyone who claimed to be generous. "Do-gooders are really looking out for their own hide in some way, just like the rest of us," he would lecture his sons.

The generous fellow believed people generally were well-intentioned, and he approached everyone with innocent trust until proven otherwise. When he did come upon an ill-willed person, he would merely keep his business to a minimum and maintain a respectful distance. "All people are good," he would instruct his sons, "and really need each other.

Family MATTERS

Norman G. Cohen

It's just that some don't know it yet."

The selfish fellow hoarded his possessions and spent what little he had only on necessities for his family and strong locks for his doors. He distrusted bankers and kept his savings in a small strongbox under his bed, the key securely attached to a chain hanging around his neck so that even his own wife was denied access to the man's money.

The generous fellow invested what earnings he could, not only in the neighborhood bank, but in local shopkeepers who needed small loans to get through a meager month now and then. He also gave away 10 percent of his paycheck each week, some of it to his church, some to the charity dedicated to curing the disease of which his mother had died, and the rest to an elderly and disabled widower who lived across the street and would sit on his porch telling stories about the old days to the neighborhood children.

People spoke of the selfish fellow with disdain and many rumors were circulated about him and his family. His sons were chastised at school, but being of large frames and imposing muscles, they turned into bullies. Despite his lack of popularity with the neighbors, all had to admit that his defense was impenetrable. "Nobody will get the best of that fellow," one would remark and all would nod in agreement.

"Fool!" the selfish fellow would say of the generous one. "He would let his own family rot just to be seen as a nice guy."

The generous man was always greeted with cordiality and warmth and was invited with his family into the homes of many neighbors to visit and break bread and share the little they all had. But every so often, someone would take advantage of his generosity by not repaying a loan or imposing on his kindness too often or, even on one occasion, stealing from him while visiting in his home.

"Fool!" the selfish fellow would say of the generous one. "He would let his own family rot just to be seen as a nice guy. No one can get anywhere that way, at least in this life."

Well, as this life often has it, both fellows saw good times as well as hard times. Both reaped rewards of hard work and suffered losses due to misfortunes. Both knew the pain of poverty and, some years later, came to know the pleasures of an abundant life. Eventually, both died leaving sizable estates, the generous fellow to many people and organizations as well as his sons and their families, the selfish one only to his sons and their families.

In that neither one had done evil during their lives, both stood before the Keeper of the Souls at the Gates of Heaven. The realm. But the Keeper looked up from his books and, with an expression of disappointment, proclaimed, "I am sorry, good fellow, but you are not yet ready to enter this realm."

"What?" exclaimed the selfish man. "I have done nothing but take care of my own. I have been a good father and husband. I have provided well for those I care about."

"That is true," said the Keeper, "but that is not enough to gain entrance here. You must care about all of life, not just a small portion of it."

"But if everyone took care of Number One," the selfish man argued, "then the world would be better off."

"You are absolutely right," the Keeper conceded. "However, each man alone cannot be Number One, for there is only one Number One, and that is the Creation itself. When you have learned that, you will be ready to enter this realm."

"Now you must return to the world as a mosquito, a lowly parasite, so you can begin to understand how dependent life is on itself in all its forms. You will be a guest of the world constantly seeking hosts to sustain your existence. You will have the power to spread disease or contribute to life by offering yourself as a morsel for some fine bird. Be a good mosquito and return to me soon."

generous fellow placidly watched as the Keeper perused his books of accounts.

"You may enter," the Keeper smiled as he ushered the generous man into the realm beyond. "You have attended well the nurturing of life around you. Your deeds and your faith in the goodness of life demonstrate your readiness to join with the Creator of life in the Universal Soul, and become an angel. Welcome."

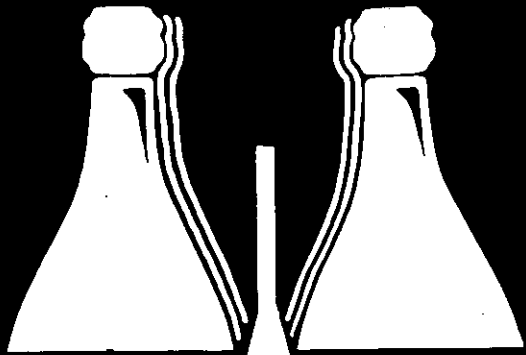

The selfish one stood confidently before the Keeper awaiting directions into the heavenly

BC aims to break even

By Tania Stasiuk

The record now stands at 10 wins and 12 losses for Bethlehem Central's baseball team, and Coach Ken Hodge hopes that the season's final two games this week will bring the team to .500. The strength of the Suburban Council shows up when BC's league record is compared with its overall record. In the Council, the Eagles stand at 4-9.

On Tuesday against Ravena, Bethlehem played a tight, well organized game to win, 7-5. Geoff Mackey pitched through the sixth and Doug Pratt got the save in the seventh, proving once again that he is one of the team's strongest pitchers. The Roohan twins brought power to the offense, with Kevin hitting 2 for 4 and Ray 3 for 3.

Wednesday the Eagles matched up against Guilderland for another win, this time even closer at 6-5. Power hitting saved this game: Scott Bonanno hit a triple with the bases loaded, and Steve Mendel had a two-run single. Mendel also pitched the last two innings, after Ray Roohan kept the first five low-scoring.

Friday's game against power-

house Shaker was not a win, but Hodge was still pleased with his team's performance. Going into the sixth, the score stood at 4-3, but Shaker's strong hitters took over and had four RBI's to make the score 8-3. The Eagles could only bring two more players around in the seventh, so the final score stood at 8-5. One of those runs came from Scott Bonanno's home run and another from Ray Roohan and Doug Pratt's back-to-back doubles. BC's major problem in Friday's game was that too many men — a total of twelve — were left on base between innings. The team had quite a few long, hard hits, but too many were directed right into Shaker's players, Hodge said.

"I am pleased with all my people, because everybody's contributing one way or another, whether they're the big hitters or little-known outfielders," Hodge said. "Everyone has progressed a great deal since we first began... this will be a winning season no matter what."

The Eagles do have two games this week to make the number of wins equal the losses. They were scheduled to play a league game against Burnt Hills on Monday, and a non-league game against Linton today (Wednesday) under the lights at Schenectady's Central Park. Today's game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Swim registration

Parents who wish to register their children for the two-week summer sessions of tiny tot swim, learn-to-swim or springboard diving programs should attend the registration session to be held from 6:30 to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, May 28, at the Bethlehem Town Hall.

The programs, open to residents of the Town of Bethlehem and the Bethlehem Central School District, will be offered in three sessions, beginning June 24, July 8 and July 22. The registration fee is $22 for the tiny tot swim and $13 for the springboard diving program. The learn-to-swim program is free.

Persons unable to attend the registration session should call 439-4131 or visit the Elm Avenue Park office after May 28.

Having held up at second base to make sure Scott Bonanno's triple wasn't caught, BC's Dan Fuller (48) found himself barely in front of a hard-steaming Tom Arnell (30) as they rounded third base en route to scoring two runs against Guilderland Wednesday. — Tom Howes

Pitching key for 'Birds

By Dan Tidd

With four league games left on its 1985 varsity baseball schedule, the Voorheesville Blackbirds are looking to finish the spring with a bang.

It has been a season of adjustments for coach Jerry Gordinier's ballclub. But, with games this week against first place Watervliet, second place Mechanicville, Albany Academy and Cohoes, the Birds can finish the '85 campaign near the top of the Colonial Council.

"Watervliet and Mechanicville can be beaten," said a confident Gordinier. "If we can get some solid pitching, something we haven't had all spring, we can knock these teams off."

Last week was another up and down week for the Blackbirds. On Monday afternoon they got their chance to knock off the Lansing-burgh Knights, who stand in third place in the Council. It wasn't meant to be as the Birds were shut down by a 4-0 score. Lansingburgh's Jim Seamon stifled the Birds on just 4 hits and fanned 11 on the afternoon. Voorheesville's Vince Foley went the distance and allowed just five hits and walked only four.

"Vince pitched as good a game as anybody has all season," said Gordinier. "We just couldn't get any hits off Seamon. They are a real good team and they proved it Monday." Brian Rubin, Jerry McNamara, Brett Hotaling and Ed Mitzen collected the four Voorheesville hits.

On Friday, the Birds knocked off Waterford for the second time this season, 8-7. Jim Hensel started and lasted just two innings for Voorheesville. Brett Hotaling went another two and Vince Foley finished up in long relief for the final three.

Once again Gordinier was impressed with Foley's effort, who is just a junior. He didn't allow a run in his three complete innings and struck out four. "Vince has really done a job for us as both a starter and a middle relief man," said Gordinier. Jerry McNamara and Bill Kelly led the Voorheesville offensive attack. McNamara went 2 for 3 with a pair of doubles and Kelly finished 1 for 3 with a double. "The walks and hits came in bunches. I guess the timing was just right in this one," said Gordinier.

With four games remaining, the Birds now stand at 4-8 in Colonial Council play and 4-12 overall. Gordinier would like to make that 8-8 after this week is over.

RCS Indians slump to 2-and-15

By Tim Penk

The RCS varsity baseball team extended its losing streak to 15 last week, losing four times to push its overall record to 2-15.

Mechanicville started the week off by beating the Indians 11-4. Doug Keyer threw three strike-outs with four walks during five and one third innings. Larry Rivers relieved Keyer in the sixth and finished the game throwing four strike-outs. The Indians had only five hits, falling behind early. Every effort for a comeback was answered by the good hitting of Mechanicville.

The Indians second loss of the week came from Bethlehem Central. The team played one of its best games in the past weeks. The score was 6-3 in the seventh when RCS scored two runs and loaded the bases with two outs and Larry Rivers at bat. Rivers hit the ball into the hole but Bethlehem's shortstop made an impressive backhand catch to get the force at third. The final score was 7-5.

Offensively, the Indians were led by John Waddingham and Larry Rivers, who each hit a double and a single during four at bats. Don Keyer, Angelo Losavio and Bill Phillips each hit a single to round off the day.

Watervliet was the next victor over RCS, 10-7. Bill Phillips led the way offensively for the Indians with two triples. John Waddingham went three for five with a double and two singles. Larry Rivers hit two singles for five RBIs and Bob Dorrance hit a single. The game was well played, but too many walks killed the Indians. Out of ten walks, seven turned into runs.

In the last game of the week, a 15-7 loss to Albany Academy, the Indians played well until the fourth inning when Academy scored eight runs.

Prospect of veterans buoys V'ville

By Peter J. Fisch

As the 1985 season draws to a close, veteran Voorheesville High School coach Tom Kurkjian has set his sights on next season after a disappointing 4-10 finish this spring.

"This year, we'll only lose our number two man," noted Kurkjian as foreign exchange student Bertrand Romagne heads back to France this summer. "Everyone else will be back, so we'll be tough. We played this entire season with only one senior. The other teams in the league won't lose much either so the Colonial Council will be tough next year."

This past week the Birds wrapped up their 3-8 Colonial Council campaign with a 4-3 win over Watervliet, a 4-3 loss to Lansingburgh, and a 7-0 blanking by Albany Academy. Romagne, junior Paul Nichols and sophomore Dan McKenna captured singles wins while Nichols teamed with junior Jim Volkwein for a doubles victory.

Underclassmen provided all the points but fell short in the loss to Lansingburgh, a team the Birds had beaten earlier in the year. McKenna (6-3, 6-4) and ninth grader Steve Smith (6-3, 6-4) grabbed singles victories but were overshadowed by a surprise doubles win. Eighth grader Chris Stevens and seventh grader Tom Kurkjian handed Lansingburgh's number three and four netters an 8-2 loss. "They stepped in, played a good doubles game, and beat two high school kids," commented the elder Kurkjian. "They look like something good for the future."

Sandwiched in between the league matches was a non-league win over Schoharie, 4-3. Romagne (6-0, 6-0) captured a singles victory and teamed with Smith for an 8-4 doubles win. Once again, Nichols was a doubles winner as he grabbed a 6-1, 6-3 singles contest and an 8-4 doubles victory with Volkwein.

The doubles team of Nichols and Volkwein will be one of the Voorheesville representatives, along with the combination of McKenna and junior Dean Solomos, in the doubles competition of the Colonial Council Tournament being held at Albany Academy today (Wednesday) and tomorrow. Romagne and Smith will represent the Blackbirds in the singles contest. The top four in each event will advance to the individual sectionals next month. "I think Jim (Volkwein) and Paul (Nichols) along with Bert (Romagne) have a good shot at the top four if they get a good draw."

theorized Kurkjian.

Kurkjian feels the season was a success despite the team's record. The early season loss of freshman standout John Meacham proved costly, he said. "I really think we would've lost to Academy, Cohoes and Ravena even if we had a full team. All of our other losses were 4-3. We played as well as we could given the circumstances."

Babe Ruth in action

The Blue Division of Bethlehem Babe Ruth opened its 1985 season on Sunday with wins by Applebee Funeral Home and Owens Corning.

In the first game, Neil Fitzpatrick threw a three hitter, backed by Jamie Dillon's three hits in Applebee's 12-2 win over Houghtaling. Mike Wagner had 2 RBIs for Applebee while John Hoffman had a double for Houghtaling's.

Alex Hackman and Scott Hodge combined on a four hit effort to lead Owens Corning to an 8-3 victory over Glenmont Diner, which was led by Kyle Snyder and Steve Millett with two hits each.

BC awards night

Members of Bethlehem Central varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams and their parents are invited to attend varsity awards night at Bethlehem's Elm Avenue Park from 4 to 8 p.m. on Wednesday, June 5. The event, sponsored by the Bethlehem Central Athletic Association, will feature games and activities, a picnic and an awards ceremony.

Buckley honored

The Capital Football Conference has announced that its championship game, formerly known as the Governor's cup, has been renamed the Thomas J. Buckley Sr. Memorial Game.

During his 22 years as football coach for Clayton A. Bouton High School in Voorheesville, Buckley compiled a 103-66-9 record, including six league championships and a section II title playoff. He was also instrumental in merging the Southern Conference and the Colonial Council into the Capital Football Conference. Buckley died last month.

This year's Buckley Cup will be played on Nov. 9.

BC girls win, lose

Bethlehem Central's softball team divided two decisions in an error-plagued week despite spotty pitching and a porous defense. The Eagles unloaded a 19-hit attack on visiting Burnt Hills last Wednesday, which atoned for a 14-5 setback at Saratoga two days earlier.

Laurie Karam led the assault on Burnt Hills with three singles and a double and Cheryl Dunston chipped in with three singles. Karen Burke had a double and two singles, Peg Jeram a double and a single, and Leanne Stokoe two singles. The long-distance blows were struck by Julie Liddle and Maureen Montanus, who connected for three-baggers in the 20-11 victory.

At Saratoga the Eagles were limited to six singles in seven innings, but still had a 5-1 lead going into the last of the third inning. Eight official errors and 16 walks opened the floodgates as the Blue Streaks scored a total of 12 times in the third, fourth and fifth frames.

Bethlehem ended the week with a 3-10 mark in the Suburban Council.

Eagles snare some points

by Dave DeCecco

The Eddy Meet, fittingly labeled by Bethlehem's senior track captain Paul Montanus as "The Millrose Games of high school" attracts many of New York's elite runners. Saturday at Union College, Bethlehem Central's crew scored a few points among the elite.

Montanus chipped in some points himself, placing 4th in the 1,000-meter steeplechase with a respectable 10:21.39. Dave Ashe led for 3rd in the high jump, clearing for 6 feet 4 inches.

Traditionally a boys' meet, the Eddy has in recent years added a few events for girls. This 800-meter run attracts the best female high school middle distance runners in the state. Last year, Anne Carey, then a freshman, ran in the seeded division and displaced some seeded runners to place sixth. This year, having proven herself as one of the best, Carey earned a seed and crossed the line in third place with an incredible time of 2:15.88.

Last week on Blecker Stadium's cinders, which made for slow times, the BC boys team took part in the Albany County Championships. The two-mile relay of Greg Dobbert, Pete Winkler, Pete Nelson and Montanus finished fourth in 8:50.9. Winkler went on to take seventh in the mile with a 6:06.4 and Dobbert placed sixth in the 880-yard run in 2:06.7.

In the two-mile run, Montanus came in second in 10:15, and Nelson ran his way to a sixth place finish in 10:36. Ashe, as usual, did most of the damage for BC in this meet, taking second in the triple jump with a 41 foot 2 inch bound, third in the high jump with a 6 foot 4 inch leap, and fourth in the long jump with an 18 foot 6 inch measurement.

The boys had a fine outing Thursday, losing a tight bout with Shaker but beating Mohonasen for their first dual meet victory this year.

BC's sprinting is definitely picking up. The 400-meter relay of Brian McGarrahan, Bob Colquhoun, Matt Oschner and Mat Dunmore won the race with a beautiful handoff from Oschner to Dunmore. Dunmore also won the 100 and Oschner took first in the 200. Greg Dobbert won the 400, and McGarrahan placed first in the long jump and second in the 110-meter high hurdles. Nelson and Montanus went 2-3 in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles, and Montanus also won the pole vault. In the 1,600, Winkler, Nelson, and Craig Isenberg finished 4-5-6 respectively, and all

Baseball tryouts

Boys born on or after Aug. 1, 1966, may try out for the Nathaniel Adams Blanchard American Legion Post 1040 baseball team at 6 p.m. on May 23 and 24, and at 3:30 p.m. on May 25 at Bethlehem Central High School. For information call Ernest Gall at 439-3271.

were under 5 minutes. BC's 1,600 and 3,200-meter relays placed second.

The girls' team took on Guilderland and Shaker at home and lost to both. Head Coach Denise Minnear reflects, "We are working for Thursday's Suburban Council Championships so the girls competed in events different from those they had done all year." For example, Chris Ainsworth, primarily a distance runner, did legs of the 1,600 and 3,200-meter relays, and also tried her hand at an open 400-meter dash.

"We were beating Guilderland after the running events, but due to our weak field events we lost the meet. Also, Anne Carey could not make it, and that obviously hurt our score," said Minnear.

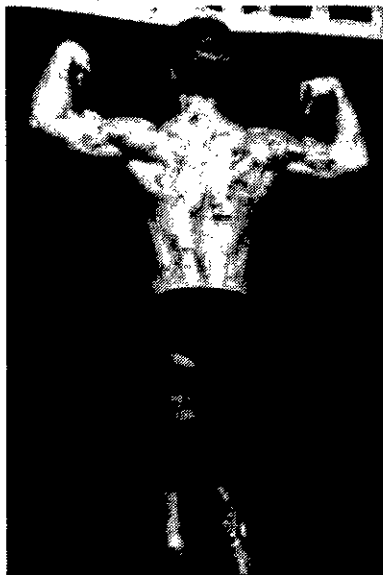

As the season comes to a close, many big meets are on tap for both squads. The girls have the varsity Suburban Council Championships on Thursday, and the boys had theirs yesterday (Tuesday). Friday the sectionals will be held at Columbia, and the following Friday marks the state qualifying meet in Johnstown.

Hoop clinics mapped

The ins and outs of basketball will be taught in a series of summer clinics for youngsters at the Elm Ave. Park. The clinics are open to residents of the Town of Bethlehem and Bethlehem Central School District who will be entering grades five through eight in September. Pre-registration is required.

The program will feature instruction in offense, defense, shooting and rebounding in sessions from 10 a.m. to noon weekdays at the park courts. The first session will be from June 24 through July 5 and the second session will be July 8 through 19.

Participation will be limited to the first 25 players who register by calling Nelson Harrington at 439-9204. The fee is $14 a player.

Gymnasts to state meet

Two Bethlehem Middle School students, Chrissy Mann and Colleen teal, participated in the United State Gymnastics Federation Class 3 state meet in Monticello May 11-12.

Chrissy Mann's performance earned a second-place on the beam with a score of 16.95 and a sixth-place all-around score of 65.75. Colleen Teal's performance earned her a second place on the vault with a score of 17.85, sixth on the floor with a score of 17.05 and an eighth place all-around with a score of 65.35.

Both gymnasts have earned a place on the team of 15 gymnasts that will represent New York State at the regional competition at Cape Cod, Mass., June 1-2.

Top body builder

WARNING!

Before having your Carpets or Upholstery Steam Cleaned read this:

So-called "steam" cleaning methods can be injurious to your fine carpeting. If steam (212°F) were used it would be ruinous! Actually, what is used is just hot water. Sometimes with added detergent. And water left in carpeting is often harmful—causing mildew, shrinkage and browning injuring carpet fibers, backing, under pad and flooring. Tests show up to 6 gallons of liquid left in a 9' x 12' area. That's a whale of a lot of liquid! Such soggy carpeting can take as much as 9 hours for even the surface to dry! And that still leaves the backing, under pad and floor damp! So, you would be well advised to play it safe by using the method recommended by leading carpet manufacturers—almost 40 years of experience. It deposits dry foam (not liquid), brushes it deep into the pile and vacuums the soiled foam back into the machine. The dirt, engulfed in foam, is removed simultaneously before it can sink back down into the carpet. Result: your carpeting is cleaned thoroughly, not superficially. Since only foam is used, carpeting is ready for use in about an hour. Shrinkage, mildew and browning (often resulting from "steam" or other hot water extraction methods) are eliminated. Von Schrader is the only single unit that both shampoos and vacuums in just one pass. It's patented.

So—for a safe method with beautiful results—you'll be wise to call us for further information and free estimate.
