Hamlet to get water in '86

A $400,000 federal grant is the final piece of funding that should enable Clarksville residents to have municipal water by the fall of 1986.

The $400,000 grant from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development announced last week will be coupled with an earlier grant and loan package from the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) totaling $1.3 million. With those funds, New Scotland officials plan to form a special water district for Clarksville, dig a well near Rt. 32 and pipe clean water to approximately 169 homes in the hamlet.

According to a 1983 estimate prepared by project engineers

CLARKSVILLE

Ronald H. LaBerge P.C., the system will cost the average Clarksville home owner about $175 a year. Now that the funds are available design work can start, and construction should begin next spring, said Ronald LaBerge Jr., project manager.

In response to requests from Clarksville residents, many of whom rely on unproductive and fouled wells for water, New Scotland officials began studying ways to bring water to the hamlet more than a year ago. The first source to be studied, the Clarksville caves, was rejected and the engineers decided on wells instead.

"We dug a good well near Rt. 32," said Supervisor Steven Wallace. "We have more than enough water there to supply Clarksville." The well is considerably south of the hamlet, and the water will have to be pumped to its destination — hence, the high cost of the project.

After deciding that the FHA grant and loan package would not be enough, Wallace said, "we took a shot at the HUD money and it came through." New Scotland has received more than $2 million in federal grant money in the last two years, he noted.

Crackdown on off road vehicles

Bethlehem is preparing to become the fourth area community to regulate "off road" vehicles — and for one town councilman it can't happen soon enough.

"I've been putting up with this for 20 years," said Councilman John Geurtze, a Glenmont farmer, at last week's Bethlehem Town Board meeting. "I've said before — and only half joking — they ought to require anybody who rides one of those things to own a hundred acres of property."

Supervisor Robert Hendrick said complaints of vandalism and noise, particularly from the new three-wheeled all-terrain vehicles, have increased in the past several months. It's difficult for town police to catch the riders and since there are seldom any identifying marks there is no way to catch up with them later either, he said.

Hendrick proposed a local law modeled on the law passed in Guilderland last year. East Greenbush and Clifton Park also have laws regulating off road vehicles. The law would require that every off road vehicle — defined as one not registered with the state and "sold for operation primarily on off-highway trails or in off-highway competition" — to be registered with the town clerk and to carry a registration number. The fee would be $5.

Hendrick said the town could then pass rules that would require riders to wear helmets and the vehicles to be equipped with brakes, headlights and mufflers. Riders would be required to take a safety course conducted by the town, he said.

Geurtze said that sounded fine to him, except that the training course should go further and teach riders to "respect other people's property."

Councilman Sue Ann Ritchko questioned whether the proposed law is a case of "putting on more regulations than may be needed," but she voted with the rest of the board to set a date for a public hearing as soon as the local law is in final form. Hendrick said Geurtze's suggestion for the training course would be incorporated.

In other business, the board voted 4-1 — but with no comment — to uphold a Planning Board recommendation to deny Planned Residence District zoning to land near Elm Ave. Park. Developer Jeffrey Lino of Saratoga Homes had proposed to "cluster" 64 dwelling units, each individually owned, on the land.

Councilman W. Scott Prothero, who cast the dissenting vote and who two weeks earlier had urged that Lino be given a public hearing despite the negative planning board recommendation, explained after last week's vote that he feels PRD

'Sew to speak': Ribbon for peace

By Darlene Ward

August 1985 marks the 40th anniversary of the nuclear bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. It was one woman's dream that that anniversary not go unnoticed, that by looking back at the terror of war we might look ahead to the hope of peace.

Through the efforts of people like the Cadieux family in Slingerlands, the Fox-Solomons in Feura Bush, Dot Haker and Maureen Moran in Delmar, and thousands of others like them across the country, the dream of Justine Merritt will become a reality Aug. 4 in Washington, D.C.

What Merritt, a Denver, Colo. resident, envisioned some three years ago was encircling the Pentagon with a ribbon, comprised of yard-long, 18-inch-high segments depicting messages of hope and peace. Word spread entirely through grassroots momentum — churches, social groups, neighborhoods and families adopted the project and told others about it. So successful was this network that the completed ribbon will be long enough to surround the Pentagon, the Capitol and the White House as well as connect the three.

"It's a wonderful sign that so many people are concerned," said Maureen Moran who, along with other members of the Peace and Justice Committee of St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Delmar, made a ribbon. "We were asked to think of what we couldn't bear to lose if a nuclear war took place," she said. Her zoning would have been appropriate for the development, allowing a more flexible use of the land. The vote had been delayed two weeks to give other town board members a chance to read a transcript of the planning board's discussion.

The town board also:

- Appointed Eric Beebe a police officer effective Aug. 5 to replace Sgt. John VanNoddall, who is retiring. Beebe, 24, is the brother of Officer Tim Beebe. A Glenmont resident, he graduated from Bethlehem Central High School and attended Hudson Valley Community College. He is currently employed as a probation officer trainee in the Albany County Probation Department. The board also approved the provisional hiring of three police dispatchers.

- Received site plans for the Juniper Fields development opposite the Delmar Bypass and sent them on to the planning board for a detailed review. The developer is proposing five clusters of apartment buildings with a total of 290 units, plus eight large single-family lots. The land already has Planned Residence Development status.

- Received several letters of thanks from residents of the "Herber Hill" area, where the board recently approved a new four-way stop sign to combat speeding. "We really appreciate those letters," joked Hendrick. "We don't get too many of them."

- Appointed Neal Moylan to the part-time post of public information specialist for the town at an hourly rate of $9. Moylan, who is retired and is also a member of the planning board, comes to his job with more than the usual experience — he is a former state commerce commissioner who began his state career as a public information specialist.

- Approved a full slate of Democratic election inspectors as proposed by new Democratic committee chairman William Burkhard.

Mothers group meets

The Capital District Chapter of Mothers Without Custody will hold their monthly meeting on Tuesday, July 23, at 7 p.m. at the home of Jane Pendleton, 2308 Coventry Lane, East Greenbush.

Mothers Without Custody is a support group for mothers who do not reside full time with their children, whether or not they have full, joint, partial or non-custody.

For information, call Jane Pendleton, 447-4183, or write P.O. Box 12604, Albany, 1221.

Second group home proposed

A second organization serving the handicapped has proposed a group home in Bethlehem, a week after a residence proposed for 232 Gay St., off Van Dyke Rd., got a less than enthusiastic response from a small group of neighbors.

As Town Attorney Bernard Kaplowitz noted at last week's Bethlehem Town Board meeting, under state law the town could object to the new homes only if it found an undesirable "concentration" of the facilities. There is no indication that the board will make that finding — several councilmen went out of their way to mention Bethlehem's good experience with the three existing homes operated by the Eleanor Roosevelt Developmental Center.

The second new residence is proposed for 80 McCormack Rd. in Slingerlands, a ranch-style home on 1.9 secluded acres next to the Cherry Ave. Extension. Residential Opportunities Inc. of Cohoes wants to provide a community residence for eight developmentally disabled adults. There would be 24-hour supervision, and all of the clients would attend day programs off site.

According to information supplied to the town, the site was selected because of its proximity to transportation and services and because the one-story, four-bedroom house is adaptable to the program. "The clients selected for this residence will have mental retardation as their primary disability and may have other physical disabilities," Residential Opportunities said. Some of the clients may not be capable of independent exiting in case of fire.

According to its executive director, Alan Krafchin, Residential Opportunities currently operates seven community residences, with an eight scheduled to open in Gunderland in September. "One of our major service goals is the establishment of community residential facilities to enable developmentally disabled individuals to reside in communities close to family, friends and opportunities for normal, life-enriching experiences," said Krafchin.

At last week's town board meeting, members of the Capital District chapter of the New York Association for the Learning Disabled, who operate the Wildwood programs, made the point that they are already a part of the community.

"We are an organization of parents who have just put our shoulder to the wheel and decided we were going to provide the very best atmosphere for our children we possibly can," said Ginny Rossuck of Glenmont, the association's director of children and adult services.

Many of those parents are from Bethlehem, she said. "We've become a family on Waverly Place," the association's first community residence in Schenectady, she said. "We've related very well to the neighbors."

Several neighbors of the proposed Gay St. residence had pointed questions about both the legality of establishing the residence without town approval and about the suitability of that particular site. Edward J. Valente, director of adult services, explained that the property, with its large, single-level house and ample grounds, is very attractive to the program. The lack of public transportation, he said, is not a major problem since experience in Schenectady indicates that most clients are either bussed to their work sites or driven by staff.

"It does present a few problems in that there isn't a store a block away," he conceded. "This isn't the first house we've looked at — we've never found the perfect site."

Valente and Edgar Pitkin, the association's volunteer director and a Delmar resident, agreed that the Gay St. residence still must pass rigorous code reviews. "We're not going to be able to shove it down anybody's throat, that's for sure," said Pitkin.

Five bikes gone

Five bikes were reported stolen this week, only two of which were registered, according to Bethlehem police. Police Sgt. Richard Vanderbilt said town law requires that bikes be registered, and he also urged home owners to make a note of the serial numbers of their bikes. Bicycle owners can obtain a registration form at headquarters, which is open 24 hours a day.

The missing bikes are:

July 7 — a 24-inch girl's bike, from the front yard of a Kenwood Ave. residence, and a dark-gray 12-speed boy's bike, from Delaware Plaza.

July 9 — a green 20-inch girl's bike, from the porch of a Borthwick Ave. residence, and a 12-speed boy's bike, from Kenwood Ave.

July 14 — a 10-speed boy's bike, from Elm Ave. Park.

Celebrating the wild

In honor of the Adirondack Forest Preserve Centennial, Neil Woodworth, vice president of the Adirondack Mountain Club, will present a program at the Bethlehem Public Library on Thursday, July 25, at 7 p.m.

After a brief history of the Park and Preserve, Woodworth will discuss the "Forever Wild" clause and the battle fought during the last two decades — and still continuing — to preserve the Adirondacks in the wild. Woodworth will also discuss New York's role as a forerunner in the area of conservation.

Experts to assess district needs

By Caroline Terenzini

The Bethlehem Central school board has enlisted a panel of professionals to review architects' recommendations for improvements to district buildings and grounds. The group is scheduled to have its first meeting tonight (Wednesday).

Appointed at a special board meeting last Wednesday were: Gilbert Drake of Delmar, owner of D.A. Bennett, Inc., plumbing and heating; Bethlehem Building Inspector John Flanagan of Slingerlands; James Green of Slingerlands, who is with Standard Engineering Corp. in Westmere; Michael Hodom of Delmar, president of MC Hodom Construction Corp., Inc., Albany; and John Mooney of Delmar, who is with H. Geurtze and Co., building contractors.

Also, James Moshier of Delmar, who is a job engineer with Anderson and McElligott, mechanical contractors, in Troy; Robert Ruckterstuhl of Slingerlands, an architect with the State University Construction Fund; Dennis Stevens of Delmar, assistant vice president for facilities and director of physical plant at the State University at Albany; William Tougher of Delmar, of Tougher Industries, Inc., in Menands, a commercial and industrial plumbing and heating company; Ronald VonRonne of Delmar, a vice president in charge of advertising at Main-Care Heating Service, Delmar; and William Weber of Delmar, developer and realtor with Pagano-Weber, Inc.

Green, Ruckterstuhl and Weber served on a similar district committee a decade ago.

The expert help has been sought by school board members to help them make a decision regarding what building improvements will be done . . . and how to pay for them. The architectural firm of Mendel, Mesick, Cohen, Waite and Hall, in Albany, last January gave the board a list of recommended projects that totaled nearly $4.3 million. In a run-through then, board members and administrators found projects to cut that brought the total down to around $3.8 million. The panel of professionals is now being asked to go through the list — and the buildings — to make recommendations to the board.

The final decision on what work is to be done is up to the seven-member board, as is a decision about how to finance it. One possibility already discussed by the board is a bond issue. Figures provided months ago gave a cost to local taxpayers in the first year of payment on a 20-year $3.8 million debt as $1.89 per $1,000 assessed. The calculations assumed the then prevailing interest rate, and state aid at about 25 percent. The cost per thousand would decline about 18 cents a year thereafter, according to Franz Zwicklbauer, assistant superintendent for business.

If a bond issue is the board's choice, it will have to be put to a district vote.

Another possibility, which would save taxpayers the interest costs and some legal fees, is to finance major building repairs and improvements out of the district's annual budget, earmarking perhaps $.6 million each year over a period of several years to get it all done. This proposal raises the question of how much of that sum can be "found" in a $17.5 million budget and how much would have to be added in, increasing taxes.

Wanderers fourth statewide

The Wanderers, the Elsmere Fire Department's Firematic competition team, used strong showings in several events to capture fourth place in the first annual Statewide Firematic Competition and Antique Fire Apparatus Display in Hudson last Saturday.

Competing with 60 teams from across the state, the team placed first in the three-man ladder climb and the dry hose contests before grabbing seventh place in the dressing contest. In the wye contest, a broken connection slowed the Wanderers as they settled for 20th place. The winning ladder climbing team were able to have their picture taken with Dennis Smith, editor of Firehouse Magazine and author of "Report From Engine 82," a book about the experiences of New York City firemen.

The team had not competed outside of events sponsored by the NYS Parade and Drill Team Captains Association for the last four years. This competition was sponsored by the Mellenville Fire Department as a means of exposure for the NYS Fireman's Home, site of the event, and to gather together followers of competition teams and antique equipment. The team travels to Central Islip on July 27 and Spencerport on Aug. 3 for more competition.

GOP on IDA dim hope

By Patricia Dumas

"We'll introduce a resolution but it probably will die in committee."

That's the fate the Albany County Legislature's minority leader realistically predicts for his bid to put Republicans on the county Industrial Development Agency, which still has some say on the proposed county civic center.

Minority Leader W. Gordon Morris Jr. of Elsmere tried last week to have his fellow legislators approve a hastily written amendment that would have expanded the three-member IDA to seven members with Republican representation. His amendment was offered on a resolution which appointed Democratic legislator Robert Reilly of Colonie to replace Albany Democrat James F. Giblin, who resigned from the agency earlier this year.

The legislature approved the original resolution introduced by its special committee on the civic center but the amendment was ruled out of order.

Morris later told reporters he will try again in August "with a properly drawn resolution" but conceded it probably will not get to a floor vote.

His amendment and the new resolution would add Republican legislators Robert W. Hoffmeister of Slingerlands and Jay Sherman of Colonie and Democrats Anthony A. Diaceti of Ravena and John M. Stackrow of Cohoes to the IDA membership. County Executive James Coyne, Charles E. Cahill, the legislature's chairman — and now Reilly — are the other members. Giblin had resigned because he said his other duties as county commissioner of jurors and a ward committee leader cut into the time he could devote to the agency.

Morris wants some minority voice on the industrial development agency because the legislature voted to continue it as the body to review the environmental assessment of the civic center. Some Republicans protested against that vote, arguing that the legislature should be responsible for the review since it will be the funding agency. Last month, the financial plan for the controversial civic center was shifted from the industrial development agency to the legislature, requiring approval of a county bond issue instead of the issuance of industrial revenue bonds. The bond issue vote is slated to come before the lawmakers in August.

Under the resolution, the IDA will work with the county planning department on preparing the appropriate supplements to the environment impact statement on the center.

The switch in civic center responsibility back to the county legislature apparently means that one "bipartisan" body created to oversee the $40 million development will not play an active role. A corporation called Market Square Garden had been formed by Coyne to oversee the operation of the proposed civic center, but New Scotland Supervisor Steve Wallace, a Republican member of the body, said last week that so far only one meeting has been held, and no others are scheduled.

In other action last week, the legislature authorized the county to take over parts of some streets in Green Island, a move that legislator Peter Ryan interpreted as a way to get around a lawsuit that he started last year with the backing of Bethlehem Republicans. The suit challenged the legality of using county funds to repair village streets. Local Republican leaders pushed the suit because they do not want county money used that way.

When the resolution to add the streets to the county network came before the legislators, Morris objected on grounds that it incorrectly cited sections of the state highway law. He questioned whether legal requirements for public hearings had been met and suggested that the county attorney check out the propriety of the resolution.

County Attorney William Conboy said he had "every confidence in the propriety of this piece of legislation" — a response that Ryan termed "a hollow, shallow answer."

Ryan said the legislation was prompted by his lawsuit. In the 27-11 vote that approved the measure, Hoffmeister and James C. Ross of Delmar sided with Morris to vote against it.

Nine Mile Two is being completed at one of the most experienced nuclear sites in America, with one of the best emergency plans in the industry.

Nine Mile Point, on the shore of Lake Ontario in Upstate New York has developed the first Radiological Emergency Response Plan in New York and New Jersey to be approved by the Federal Emergency Management Agency. The plan and its notification system were also the first in the nation to receive simultaneous and unqualified approval by the Federal government.

Nine Mile Two is also located at the same site as one of New York's most successful nuclear plants—the Nine Mile One nuclear generation station—which has consistently met or surpassed all the standards necessary for operation.

Nuclear power has been produced safely and economically at Nine Mile Point One since 1969, one of the longest records of experience of any nuclear installation in the country.

That's a foundation of success we can build on and rely upon, as Nine Mile Two nears completion and its goal of bringing a valuable new source of electricity to the lives of 9,000,000 people throughout the state.

ALBANY COUNTY CIVIC CENTER

Crozier Associates, PC
Architecture and Engineering
Albany, NY

A model of the Albany County Civic Center shows the proposed glass-enclosed building as it would relate to the downtown area, with connecting walkways to the Empire State Plaza. A hotel and office building are shown behind the center. The view is from Pearl Street facing west.

Weatherproof Civic Center

The "master plan" for the proposed Albany County civic center presented with much fanfare last week revives an idea that has kicked around Albany for at least a decade — enclosed pedestrian walkways throughout downtown Albany.

The feature is one element of architect Gregory Crozier's concept that the civic center can be "the centerpiece of a more diversified, mixed-use development project, within which will evolve a multitude of pedestrian, commercial and social activity." It also picks up on a feature of one of the original proposals for a civic center in the downtown area — that it be physically connected to the Empire State Plaza.

The plan itself, as presented by Crozier and County Executive James Coyne at a press conference Wednesday, contains few surprises. The civic center building itself is still fronting on South Pearl St., with a parking garage, a hotel and an office building — all to be developed with private funds — on the Eagle St. end of the eight-acre parcel. Crozier envisioned "an estimated additional $100 million in private investment in the master plan area."

As before, county officials insisted that parking and traffic circulation are adequate to handle the influx of vehicles expected from the civic center, which is being designed to handle 15,000 to 18,000 patrons. Critics of the project question those assumptions, and parking and the size of the center are expected to be the major issues when the financing for the project is debated in the Albany County Legislature.

The civic center building itself — shown in conceptual form — is an airy, glass-enclosed structure with its main entrance on South Pearl. There would also be entrances from Beaver St. and from the Eagle St. side through an atrium. The street level of the South Pearl St. entrance would have shops and restaurants, and at the concourse level overlooking the basketball floor or hockey rink there would be a "ring of private luxury suites."

Crozier's plan shows an elevated bridge from the Concourse level of the Empire State Plaza passing over Eagle St., between the proposed hotel and office building and ending at the civic center.

"Ultimately this network can be an enclosed, protected pedestrian system that begins at the concourse level of the Empire State Plaza and continues through the Civic Center to Broadway," Crozier said.

"Along this east-west pedestrian spine opportunities will exist to link existing buildings to the north on Howard and Beaver Streets and eventually to make contact with State Street beyond."

Hudson Ave. variance approved

By Theresa Bobear

With acting chairman Thomas Scherer and board members Orrin Barr and Gary Swan voting, the Bethlehem Board of Appeals last week indicated approval of two variance requests and partial approval of two others.

The board granted a variance to Richard W. Phillips to permit storage and an apartment at 64 Hudson Ave., Delmar. The requested permission to house an office at the site was denied.

The parcel was rezoned from B-Residential to AB-Residential after the applicant purchased it in 1971. The building was operated as a non-conforming use, providing storage and office space for the National Insulation Company and the Phillips Drywall Company.

At the hearing for the request, Building Inspector John Flanagan argued that the non-conforming use had diminished to the point of being abandoned and a variance would be required for the proposed use. Scherer asserted that the applicant has abandoned the business and the office aspect of the use but continued the storage use.

"I think overall there is some evidence of a hardship," said Swan. "I think it (the decision) does present a reasonable response to his predicament."

The board then voted to instruct board attorney Donald DeAngelis to draft a resolution granting a variance for part of the existing fencing higher than 4 feet at 33 Adams Pl., Delmar. The board will have a final vote on the resolution at their next meeting.

The applicant, David Wooley,

BETHLEHEM

will be allowed to keep the existing fencing on one side and the rear of his property to provide screening from nearby commercial property. The applicant will be required to bring the fencing on the side of St. Thomas's Rectory into conformance with the ordinance and move the front fencing from the town right-of-way to his own property.

The board indicated approval of Robert G. Mineau's request for a variance from the allowed percentage of lot occupancy to permit an addition at 539 Dawson Rd., Delmar. Swan said the applicant had adequately demonstrated a hardship.

Immediately following a public hearing, the board members indicated their approval of a variance requested by town planning consultant Edward F. Kleinke III for a two-car garage to be located closer than 85 feet from the street line on the buildable portion of land at Maher Rd., Slingerlands. No one spoke in opposition to the proposal. In a letter to the board, Samuel Freeman, the closest resident, said he had no objection.

Neighboring residents Robert Wallace and Samuel Kantor said they had no objection to an application from Arthur G. Kontogiannis for a variance to permit an additional two units in an existing structure at 28-30 Olympian Dr., North Bethlehem.

Peter Lynch, an attorney with the Albany law firm of Rutnik and Rutnik, represented Kontogian-nis in the request to maintain a four-unit building in an A-Residential zone.

Kontogiannis, president of Olympian Development, built the former recreation building for Olympian Gardens in 1974.

Noting that the development did not support the building, Lynch presented a summary of income and expenses showing that Kontogiannis lost $4,500 on the building in 1984. Lynch said his client was suffering an economic hardship and was unable to realize a reasonable return from his property. "We have right here a white elephant," said Lynch.

Swan asked whether or not the applicant had made an attempt to promote community support of the building.

"Yes, we did," replied Kontogiannis.

No one spoke in opposition to the proposal.

Sandi Hackman of the Upper Delaware Avenue Neighborhood Association commended Flanagan for pursuing and enforcing the zoning ordinance in this case. Flanagan brought the existing violation to the attention of the board.

In other business, the board:

- Tabled discussion of Frank Crisafulli's request for a variance to permit cold storage and storage of maintenance supplies and recreational vehicles at 500 Kenwood Ave., Delmar.

- Tabled discussion of an application from Verstandig's Florist Inc. for a variance to permit the replacement and construction of an addition to rear of store at 454 Delaware Ave., Delmar.

- Scheduled public hearing for 8 p.m. on July 31 to consider Thomas E. and James W. Newell's application for a variance to permit a three-family dwelling at Wemple Rd., Glenmont.

- Held a public hearing to consider Daniel and Jeanne Ciampiano's request for a side yard variance to permit a solar addition at Krumkill Rd. and Marathon La., Slingerlands. "It has to be on the south to achieve the maximum amount of output," said Daniel Ciampiano. No one spoke in objection to the proposal.

- Changed the date of their next meeting to July 31.

Crash victim 'fair'

Jeffrey Donnelly, 21, of Delmar was listed as in "fair" condition Monday at Albany Medical Center Hospital after an accident last Tuesday on Rt. 32 near County Rt. 55. According to Bethlehem police reports, Donnelly told police he fell asleep at the wheel and his car veered into the oncoming lane of traffic. The Donnelly vehicle collided with a truck being driven by a Howe Cave, N.Y. man, and a piece of debris from this collision struck the windshield of a vehicle driven by a Greenville, N.Y. teenager, the report said.

No one other than Donnelly required medical treatment, according to the report. He was taken to the hospital by the Delmar Fire Department Rescue Squad.

Donnelly was ticketed for failure to keep right in the 3:30 p.m. accident and for driving in violation of a restriction on his license, police said.

Democrats caucus

Registered members of the Bethlehem Democratic Party are urged to attend the party caucus called for the purpose of designating candidates for town offices to be held on Wednesday, July 24, at 8 p.m. at the Fiesta Restaurant banquet room, 55 Delaware Ave. The caucus will select candidates for town supervisor, two candidates for councilman, and for clerk, town justice and superintendent of highways.

More on mining sought

By Mary Pratt

Within its boundaries, the Town of New Scotland contains two sand and gravel or soil mines. A third application for a special use permit to remove fill, gravel or loam has been made to the town's planning board. But members are seeking general information from the state Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) about how these types of mines are run before they will set a hearing date on the new application.

Alan Vanderwood of Westerlo and Donald Larned, Jr. of Altamont, doing business as Voorheesville Sand and Stone, have proposed to mine about 27 acres of a 43-acre section of the former Tall Timbers Country Club, now owned by William M. Larned and Sons, Inc. of Schenectady. The land is zoned industrial.

Mining would take place in three phases over the next nine years, and the land, according to papers filed with DEC, would be reclaimed and suited to a number of future uses including residential. Mining would lower the level of the land about 25 feet overall.

Larned and Vanderwood have secured a mining permit from DEC with numerous special conditions attached. For example, a berm and screening with trees would be required along the existing Delaware and Hudson railroad tracks, in the vicinity of the Appleblossom subdivision and farther to the southeast. The floor of the mine could be no closer than within five feet of the water table. Installation of berms, drainage ditches and sediment traps would protect Vly Creek.

Complicating the issue are the two other mines in the town, one on Krumkill Rd., which Building Inspector Walter Miller characterized at a recent planning board meeting as being "run perfectly," and the other, on land adjacent to the proposed Larned-Vanderwood mine, Miller characterized as being "terrible." The second mine, operated by Chester Oliver, is a deep pit with vertical sides in some sections and has planning board members up in arms. They are concerned about what they see as an unsafe situation that has been allowed to exist in New Scotland.

At their July 9 meeting, members had expected to learn more about soil mining in general and about the status of both the Oliver pit and the new application from DEC-mined land reclamation staff person Alan Hewitt. They were obviously upset because Hewitt apparently cancelled his appearance fairly late in the day, and because they had been having trouble scheduling his visit over the last few months.

Planning board attorney Frederick Edmunds said, "I don't have a vote; that board votes. But by God I'll tell you, unless we find out what's going to happen with soil mining and En-Con's (DEC) going to be on the ball, we're not going to have any more holes in the ground... like that."

When contacted about having missed the meeting, Hewitt said he had tried to call three or four days before the meeting because he had to go out of town, adding that he would attend the July 23 planning board meeting.

Chester Oliver, whose mining permit runs into 1987, Hewitt explained, has been ordered to begin reclamation of his mine within 15 days of July 12, and to restrict access from one direction with a gate. It is not customary to require that a mine be completely fenced, Hewitt said.

The Larneds operate other mines in the area, and, Hewitt noted, "All other permits are in compliance with the law at present."

Residents at the July meeting were concerned that a bridge had already been installed over a stream to accommodate the future haul-road from the proposed mine to Normanskill Rd. The bridge, according to Hewitt, "is state-of-the-art... close to a model project in terms of minimizing disturbance to that type of stream. They picked an access road that is totally ideal (and) did it themselves. That speaks well for an applicant."

Although existing mines in New Scotland appear to be operating more or less within environmental regulations, town officials' concern is not necessarily limited solely to the issue. Children or adults can easily enter the Oliver mine, and dirt bikes are frequently ridden to the bottom of the pit. The character of the surrounding neighborhood and the safety of town residents are among the issues that the planning board may be examining.

Injured at road block

A Feura Bush man was injured Sunday when a truck plowed into the rear of his pickup at a police road check on Rt. 32 near Mead's Lane in Delmar, according to Bethlehem police reports. A police officer leaped onto a halted trailer to avoid being struck, the report noted.

William H. Crosier, 71, of Feura Bush was treated at Albany Medical Center Hospital and released after the 12:30 p.m. accident, a hospital spokesman said.

A 19-year-old Clarksville man, who was the driver of the trash truck involved, told police he began sounding the horn when the brake pedal went to the floor and he realized he would be unable to stop in time, according to the report. No charges were filed.

Memorial endorsed

By Theresa Bobear

The Voorheesville Board of Education, after hearing a presentation from Karen Leach, voted last week to endorse and encourage the efforts of a group wishing to construct a fitness center as a memorial to the late Thomas J. Buckley.

Leach, the wife of Voorheesville wrestling coach Richard Leach, said her group hopes to raise between $20,000 and $25,000 for the 30 by 30 cinder block or brick building. Berglas recommended that the building be located in back of the cafeteria. The building would have to be approved by district voters because of the environmental impact and possible maintenance. "By spring we hope to have the bulk of the money and talk about construction then," said Leach.

The district would purchase equipment for the building. "It need not be funded all at once," said board member David Teuten. "$25,000 for equipment is probably very much in the ball park," said Superintendent Werner Berglas.

Reporting on a recent meeting with the committee for after-school child care, board member Steven Schreiber said the need for good after-school child care is felt by many people in the community. "They (parents) may have very good arrangements now, but they can change, literally overnight," said Schreiber.

Schreiber said Nancy Basil would answer the board's questions about the program at the August meeting. Noting the importance of fund raising, Basil said "We realize that the September '85 date was a little ambitious."

According to Basil, the program would run for less than three hours after school with an emphasis on large motor activities, not instructional activities. Berglas said the program might possibly be located in the music room and former kindergarten room, opposite the cafeteria at the elementary school.

Three school rooms will be rented by BOCES for special educational services during the 1985-86 school year. Berglas said the district will receive $5,400 in rent and $1,500 for auxiliary services.

While no district students will participate in the three BOCES classes to be held in Voorheesville, individual education through BOCES will be provided for Voorheesville students at other area schools.

In reviewing the merits of the program, Berglas said "Our children learn too that there are children with special problems. They learn a little quality of mercy, hopefully, out of that."

Regarding an unrelated matter, the board approved school insurance placements. The district will pay $40,889, up from $29,500 last year, for their school package from INA. For their $5 million umbrella coverage, the district will pay $19,000 to the Pacific Employer Insurance Company. Last year the same amount of coverage cost the district $4,800. "I can tell you we did not budget for that," said Berglas.

For the third year, the attention of the board focused on priorities. Board president John McKenna noted that there has been "a heavy degree of carry over."

"I think all along we realized these priorities would be with us for a while," said board member Joseph Fernandez.

Regarding priorities for next year, McKenna suggested that each board member come to the next meeting with precise suggestions.

In other business, the board:

- Approved the rollover of transportation contracts with Laidlaw Transportation, Black and White and School Transit at a 3.9 percent increase.

- Awarded the bid for the installation of a diesel fuel pump and tank to the low bidder, Crisafulli and Son, for $10,272, which is $272 more than the amount approved for the special proposition item.

Site concerns evolve

With concerns surfacing on the proposed Stonington Hill Rd. site for the new Voorheesville library building, the search for a suitable site took some new directions last week.

At last week's Library Board meeting, it was reported that representatives of the library board and the Voorheesville Village Board met July 2 to discuss the Stonington Hill Rd. site in Salem Hills. Attending were library board members Hugh McDonald, Mary Ewart and Ed Donohue, Ed Clark and trustees Dan Reh and Rich Langford. Also in attendance at the meeting held at the village hall were Don Meacham, attorney for both the village and the library; Frank Blaisdell, chairman of the library site search committee, and over a half-dozen residents from the Danbury Ct. area, who were concerned over the possibility of a library being built on the property across from their homes.

According to McDonald, the village board had no opposition to the use of the land as a site for the library but said a number of stipulations would have to be met. First of all, Clark said, no determination would be made until the board could get the reaction of the local residents. Also, the village would have to be assured that adequate space was available in the area in the event that further expansion of the sewage treatment plant was necessary in the future. Finally, the board would expect suitable recompense for the property, with the money received going towards the maintenance of the sewage treatment plant, defraying the cost for Salem Hills residents, from whom the land was obtained.

McDonald added that he had also received a call from Clark the following day stating that there were two additional requirements — an adequate angle of repose would have to be left, leaving enough of a slope to limit erosion on the back side of the property where the creek meets the land, and that there would have to be a continuation of the foliage barrier that now exists, separating the parcel from the sewage treatment plant.

Although no formal hearings have been set, it appears from the reaction of the residents that the outlook for this site is not favorable. Most comments centered on the traffic problem that may result, especially with the addition of the proposed community room that could accommodate 50 people.

Surprised at the controversy, one advisory board member quipped, "You'd think we were trying to build an OTB parlor."

Discussion at the meeting turned to two village-owned alternative sites suggested at the joint meeting. One is located on Voorheesville Ave. about three quarters of a mile this side of the light on Rt. 155, where the village currently stores its road salt, and the other on the corner of Grove and Main Streets at the site once occupied by the Grove Hotel.

Some concern was voiced over the fact that children, who are major users of the library, would have to cross the railroad tracks — a concern now heightened since the speed of trains through Voorheesville has been raised from 30 to 50 m.p.h. It was felt, though, that provision could be made to mitigate the danger. Considering the way Voorheesville is laid out, someone will always have to cross the tracks to reach the library, board members noted.

The advisory committee agreed to continue its search, looking more closely at the two newly proposed village sites but not discounting any site, even the once-favored Grand Union building that has declined in interest due to the large amount of red tape attached to its use.

The next meeting of the library board will be held on Wednesday, July 24, at 7:30 p.m., a change in time from the usual fourth Monday, due to other commitments by library board members.

Into the woods

A car driven by an East Berne woman who told troopers she had fallen asleep at the wheel went off Rt. 85 near Rt. 157 in New Scotland Saturday and went about 100 yards into the woods, according to a spokesman for the state police at Selkirk. The woman was ticketed for failure to keep right, police said.

Poster contest set

Vanguard, the volunteer organization that sponsors the Albany Symphony Young People's Concerts, has announced a poster contest for summer recreational and childcare facilities for the economically disadvantaged.

Voting will take place at the Jordan Marsh gala to benefit the Palace Theatre July 20 at Crossgates mall. First prize includes a $125 gift certificate from Arlene's Artist Materials on Fuller Road in Albany.

The theme of the 1985-86 Vanguard Young People's Concerts will be solving music mysteries with Agent 008 (Conductor Victoria Bond). The Beethoven symphonies will be used as clues to solve the top secret cases. All poster entries should reflect these themes, and the words "Vanguard Young People's Concerts" and "1985-86" must appear somewhere on the finished work, which should measure approximately 22 by 30 inches.

For further information, call 465-4755.

Summer music program

A summer music program, two weeks of intensive study with local professional musicians, will be offered by Hawthorne Valley School in Columbia County Aug. 4 through 18.

"Music at Hawthorne Valley" summer program is open to junior high school age students and older on either a day or resident basis. Resident students will be housed at the Hostel, located on the adjacent farm, and take their classes in the school. Music activities will take place in the mornings and recreational activities are planned for the afternoons.

Hawthorne Valley School is located just off the Taconic Parkway in the Harlemville section of Ghent. For more information call 672-7092.

Collision at the pump

Two drivers headed for the same gas station on Rt. 9W last Tuesday collided there, according to a spokesman for the state police at Selkirk. A Selkirk man was ticketed for following too closely, troopers said.

No need to worry, mom and dad, these young people aren't modeling the latest in school fashions. The members of the Becker School summer parks program are disguised as rock stars for a performance last week of the hit song "We Are the World". They sang enthusiastic imitations of the real stars' parts.

Free tickets at SPAC

For the third year, the Freihofer Baking Company is underwriting free lawn tickets for children 12 years old and under for performances of the New York City Ballet and The Philadelphia Orchestra at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

Freihofer's has also prepared a free educational guide so children attending performances can learn about ballet and orchestra as they experience them.

In its first year, the program drew 3,000 children. SPAC, celebrating its 20th season, anticipates that more than 7,000 children will participate this year, up from 5,000 in 1984. Children accompanied by adults can obtain tickets at the SPAC box office two hours prior to performances.

Mime and puppets

The Dragon Dance Theater will perform "What the Old Man Does is Always Right" today (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. as part of Bethlehem Public Library's "Evening on the Green" summer series. Adapted from a story by Hans Anderson, the performance features mime, masks, humor, acting, hand puppets and singing.

The Dragon Dance Theater is allied with Vermont's Bread and Puppet Theatre and performs annually at the Bread and Puppet Domestic Resurrection Circus in Glover, Vt.

All evenings on the green are free of charge and open to the public. The performance of the Dragon Dance Theater is for all ages, but is particularly for children. A blanket or lawn chair is suggested for spectators.

The next "Evening on the Green" program will be held on Wednesday, July 24, at 7:30 p.m. and will feature the Electric City Chorus and barber shop quartets.

A guide to Voorheesville

Residents of the Village of Voorheesville will be receiving some interesting reading material this week. After several months in the works, a village directory is ready and will be mailed out during the next few days.

Village trustee Susan Rockmore, who coordinated the project, said the 28-page booklet lists local businesses and services, area residents, and information about churches, clubs and organizations. Also included is a brief history of the village and information concerning the various governmental boards, councils and commissions.

Along with this wealth of information are reproductions of drawings done by area artist Constance Burns detailing local points of interest. The drawings were commissioned by the village and hang on the upper level of the village hall. The directory also includes an up-to-date map of the area.

The directory is dedicated to Laura Coughtry, who served as registrar of the village for 64 years before her death this past spring.

Big doings on calendar

Plans for the Thomas Buckley memorial are rolling along. With just a month left before Community Day on August 18, details of the event that will help raise money for a health facility the committee proposes to build are being finalized. Although the village board still has to put its stamp of approval on the events of the day, Karen Leach, who is spearheading the project along with Kiwanis representative Bruce Martelle, has put out a call to all area residents who would like to help.

On Sunday, Aug. 18, a variety of activities are planned, including races for children that will be coordinated by Herb Reilly, a fireman's competition under the direction of members of the Voorheesville Fire Department and a number of booths manned by area groups or individuals.

The Voorheesville Area Ambulance Squad has volunteered to handle the food concession, while the Voorheesville PTSA will take care of the soda booth. Other groups or individuals who would be interested in running a food, craft or art booth should contact Mrs. Leach at 861-8147 as soon as possible. Booths offering crafts, candy, balloons, face painting, baked items and such are still needed. There is no charge to local residents for a booth, but it is hoped that a portion of the profit will be donated to the Thomas Buckley Memorial Fund.

Anyone who would like to enter a team in the fireman's competition should contact Bill Hotelling at 765-2033. The events, which will be directed by area firefighters, are open to all adults.

The day's entertainment will end with a concert by Southbound. All events will take place in the park located behind the village hall. Those wanting more information are urged to call Mrs. Leach or Mr. Martelle at 765-4930 as soon as possible so adequate space may be reserved.

Library a summer stop

Despite space problems at the library, summer programs are progressing well. Last week's showing of "Charlotte's Web" drew over 75 people on Tuesday and more on Wednesday.

All are invited to stop by at St. Matthew's Church Tuesday, July 23, at 2 p.m. and Wednesday, July 24, at 1 p.m. to view this week's selection, "Oliver." The musical is based on Dickens' novel "Oliver Twist" and tells of a young orphan boy who meets up with a number of unsavory characters in the streets of London. Free and open to the public, the movie runs about two and a half hours.

The first bedtime story hours will be held on Tuesday, July 23, and Thursday, July 25, at 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. at St. Matthew's Church. No signup is required.

Speaking of story hours, a correction to last week's article. Regular story hours are held on Monday, Tuesday and Friday at 10:30 and 11:30 a.m. Held at the library, these events require signup.

Kicking up a storm

Soccer fever has hit Voorheesville! In addition to the village clinic for younger children and the Kiwanis-sponsored program for children in upper grades that will begin in August, Voorheesville's love for the game is evidenced in the New Scotland traveling soccer league. The league, begun last year, plays throughout the Capital District, from Clifton Park to Cobleskill.

The young soccer enthusiasts have shown their skill by playing great soccer. In last year's competition, New Scotland's under-16 team walked away with the top spot and it looks as if the under-12 team may follow in their footsteps this year. The program began last year with teams in four age brackets—under 12, under 14, under 16 and under 19. An under-10 team was added this year, with a large number of area players signing up. Everyone is invited to watch the teams. A complete schedule may be found at Stewart's.

Supporters are also welcome for a raffle the league is holding to help meet expenses for running the administrative side of the venture. First prize will be a 19-inch color television set from Hippo's Home Entertainment Center. Second prize is $50, followed by the third prize of a $25 gift certificate from Acaconda-Kaye Sports and the fourth prize of a $15 gift certificate from Mike Derossi Sporting Goods. Tickets are $1 each and may be purchased from any soccer league member or by calling Diane Relyea at 765-3681. The drawing will take place on Saturday, July 27, at 1 p.m. at the town park during the soccer league's picnic.

Blue ribbons for three

Three students at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School have reason to be proud after walking away with three blue ribbons from a recent industrial arts exhibit at Colonie Center. The three competed against more than 500 other exhibitors in such areas as photography, graphics, wood and metal work, ceramics and electronics under the guidance of their teacher, Jim Hladun.

Pupils get awards

Speaking of winners, the grade school had its share at the final school assembly. Students who received best all-around student awards from the PTSA were: fourth graders Meg Heinrich, Katy Pakenas, Matthew Reh and Wendy Reynolds; fifth graders Lyra Colfer, Samantha Jones, Kristian Hodder and Katy Ramsey; and sixth graders Jim Franchini, Tom Genovese, Beth Miller, Bob Sarr and Nicole Leach.

Awards also were given to the winners of the fourth grade spelling bee. First prize went to Michelle Willey; second, Rebecca Bailey; third, Cortney Langford and, fourth, Jill Kraemer.

Top scholars

Junior high students also garnered awards. At their year-end assembly the following students were presented Kiwanis scholarship awards for having the best academic record at their grade level during the year: seventh grade, Chris McDermott and Billy Kerr; eighth grade, David Larabee, and, ninth grade, Tammy Loewy.

Medals for outstanding citizenship went to Cher Krajewski, grade seven; Richard Leach, grade eight; and Rachel Martin, grade nine.

Special Prices are good if Regular Prices are low.

You buy three times as much groceries at regular prices as at special prices. It doesn't do much good to buy a few good specials, and give it all back on everything else you buy at regular prices.

That's why it's important to shop at Grand Union, where the regular prices are consistently low. Grand Union checks thousands of prices every week to make sure they are. Grand Union proves their low prices every week in the Price Finder, helps you check on them. And gives you all the specials in the Price Finder for Specials.

These Specials are just samples of the hundreds in the Price Finder for Specials!

News from Selkirk AND South Bethlehem

Barbara Pickup 767-9225

Elks honor teens

The "Teen of the Month" program sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Lodge 2233 in Selkirk drew to a close for the 1984-85 school year with the selection of "Teens of the Year" from the Bethlehem Central and Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk high schools. Students were chosen each month throughout the year for their contributions to the school and to their fellow students in scholastics and activities. A buffet dinner was held for the winners during Youth Week, at which time they were recognized for their special achievements and each was awarded a check for $25.

"Teens of the Month" from RCS were: Steven Basto, Andrew Guthrie, David Hamill, Donna Hamilton, Jacquelin Mulligan, Brenda Newkirk, Lisa O'Brien, Steven Oliver, Tina Patterson, Dale Patterson, Kenneth Warner and Garth Wright.

"Teens of the Month" from BCHS were: Timothy Belden, Steven Chung, Rachel Green, Theodore Harro, Christian Jadick, Kathy Manzella, Paul Mueller, Fritz O'Hara, Christopher Saba and Damon Woo.

From these students a boy and a girl from each school were chosen as teenagers of the year. Each was awarded a check for $100 at the Flag Day services held at the lodge in June.

Congratulations to teens of the year from Bethlehem Central High School, Kathy Manzella and Damon Woo, and to RCS winners, Garth Wright and Lisa O'Brien.

Artists on vacation

They've packed up their paints, brushes and canvases, but they'll be back in the fall. For most of the year they have met each Tuesday morning to relax while developing new skills and discovering others. But most importantly they have enjoyed several hours a week with some very nice people. They are the "artists" that met regularly at the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem.

Instructed by local artist Natalie Linke, the workshop met from 10 a.m. until noon in the basement of the church located on Rt. 9W in Selkirk. Working in a casual atmosphere, Mrs. Linke teaches the basics in oil painting. She has donated her time and experience, asking that the $1 fee per class be contributed to the food pantry housed in the church. Several brushes, canvas boards and small quantities of paints were all that were required for her "students" to begin developing their skills.

Few who attended the workshop had any prior training or special skills. Mrs. Linke encouraged them to begin with small, simple subjects of their choosing. Teaching the fundamentals of painting, she encouraged each individual's particular style and technique.

Mrs. Linke said any adult who is interested in the workshop may visit the group when sessions resume in September.

Scholarships go to grads

In recognition of their scholastic achievement throughout their high school years, a number of area graduates received scholarships at commencement ceremonies at the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Senior High School recently.

The Harold and Margaret Becker Memorial Scholarships in the amount of $100 each were donated by Harold Becker and presented to Melissa Searles and Mike Kilroy. The Class of 1981 scholarship in the amount of $100 was given to Steven Vasto. A Ravena Fish and Game Club scholarship in the amount of $250 went to Matthew Rodd.

Beth White was presented the Russell Lodge No. 850, F&A M scholarship of $250. The Mother McAuley Council No. 3424 scholarship of $500 was presented to Brenda Newkirk. The Coeymans-Ravena Women's Club scholarship of $250 went to Garth Wright, and an RCS faculty scholarship in the amount of $250 was awarded to Rebecca Ross.

Persico Oil Co. scholarships in the amount of $250 each are presented annually to the class valedictorian and salutatorian. This year's recipients were Garth Wright and Susan Gleason. The Marvin Losey Family Scholarships of $500 each were awarded to Rebecca Ross and Dana Pickett, and a Lions Club scholarship in the amount of $1,000 was awarded to Garth Wright.

Off to the Coliseum

After a variety of picnics and excursions recently, the South Bethlehem-Selkirk Senior Citizens plan to relax with an evening at the theater next week. Those attending will leave from the parking lot of the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem to dine and attend the performance by Sergio Franci at the Coliseum in Latham on July 26. Advance reservations are required and may be made by contacting Robert Mayo, social secretary, at 767-3006.

Charged with felony

A Queens man faces a felony charge of reckless endangerment in the first degree after an incident last Wednesday at Bleau's Towing Service in Selkirk, according to Bethlehem police reports. Alfred C. LaTorre, 28, of Little Neck, in Queens County, is accused of attempting to run down Olin C. Bleau, 55, of Selkirk in the parking lot of the towing company, according to police.

Bleau received emergency treatment at Albany Medical Center Hospital after the 8 a.m. incident, a hospital spokesman said. He was taken to the hospital by the Delmar Fire Department Rescue Squad, police reported.

LaTorre was driving a car owned by a rental agency in Latham, according to the report.

Ammo found

A resident of Delaware Ave. in Delmar walked into Bethlehem police headquarters Saturday with a box of bullets found on her front lawn, according to police reports. The box was found to contain 46 bullets, the report noted.

Look for wildflowers

An outdoor study of summer wildflowers will be offered at Five Rivers Environmental Education Center on Thursday, July 25, at 7 p.m. "Colors of A Mid-Summer's Bloom," a walking tour led by Five Rivers naturalists, will examine the rich history of non-native wildflowers common to the Capital District.

The investigation will also examine native wildflower species of the season, many of which are becoming harder to find. The program is open to the public free of charge. Hiking shoes are suggested. For more information, call Five Rivers at 457-6092.

Rural Yuppies?

Rev. Dr. Albert Newman of Delmar, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Albany, will lead the service at the Presbyterian Church of Rensselaerville this Sunday at 11 a.m. The title of his sermon is, "God Rest You Merry Yuppie Folk."

Against a background of the wide variety of goods that made Ed's famous in Selkirk are owners Al and Norma Busch. The store closed its doors this week. Cheryl Clary

You can't get it anymore at Ed's

By Cheryl Clary

It was a sad day in Selkirk this past Monday. Ed's Variety store closed its doors at the end of the business day — not for lack of business, say owners Al and Norma Busch but because "we want to travel and spend more time with our grandchildren."

The Busches have owned and operated Ed's for 13 years. Mrs. Busch worked for the previous owner "Ed" Bridgeford (the original Ed) before she and her husband purchased the store.

Why didn't they ever get around to changing the name from Ed's to perhaps Al's? "Well, Al has a brother named Ed so we didn't change it," says Norma. "Besides, everybody knew it as Ed's Variety."

Variety is a perfect description of the inventory that could be found there. It was half-grocery, half-hardware with a few items somewhere in between. On a Sunday evening when you ran out of adhesive with one sheet of paneling left to go up or your washing machine hose sprang a leak, you could probably get what you needed somewhere in Ed's back room. They even sold swimming pool supplies in summer.

Kids were attracted to Ed's like a magnet. It was the after-school place to hit for a bag of chips or a candy bar. There were more bikes outside the door at 3:30 in the afternoon than cars parked there all day. It was the kind of place that still had a good selection of penny candy and Popsicles. Many a child finding himself a few cents short of the purchase price would be told, "Bring it in next time, honey."

The Busches gave their store the best of what a 'Mom and Pop' business is all about; the whole village was like their extended family and Norma and Al will be remembered for that.

Good-bye, Ed's.

Hillside House eyes respite care center

Hillside House is exploring the possibility of establishing a respite and recreation center in Ravena for mentally retarded adults. The center would be located in a renovated store front and would offer respite to parents or guardians in both the Ravena-Coeyman-Selkirk and northern Greene County areas.

The respite stays could be anywhere from two to 24 hours a day, including overnight. The center's goal would be to assist caretakers who wish to go shopping, take care of personal business, or visit friends or relatives but have no one to take care of a dependent retarded adult.

Recreation could be offered five nights a week from 6 to 9 p.m. and would include exercises, board games and dancing. During the day a staff member could be on duty from 1 to 5 p.m. to provide information about other services available in the Capital District.

Further work on such a center depends on there being interest in participating in the respite and recreation program. Any interested parents or guardians in the service area are asked to call Hillside House of Coeymans, Inc. at 756-8345 by Aug. 1.

Dr. John Kiley retires

One of the nation's noted nephrologists Dr. John Edmund Kiley, formerly of Slingerlands, retired from the University of Mississippi Medical Center faculty on June 30.

Upon retirement, Dr. Kiley was presented a citation from the university by Chancellor Gerald R. Turner "as an expression of its gratitude for his exceptional service to the School of Medicine."

Dr. Kiley came to the institution from Albany Medical Center in 1977 bringing with him a prestigious reputation. A head of the Division of Kidney Disease in the Department of Medicine at Albany Medical College, he also was a dispensary physician, attending physician in kidney diseases and head of the division at the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

A 1942 graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, Dr. Kiley earned the MD degree in 1945 at Harvard University, and interned at Albany Medical Center Hospital, where he also did his residency in medicine, a fellowship in physiology, and a research fellow in medicine. # All-Stars headed for state series

The Bethlehem Babe Ruth 14-15 Year Old All-Stars displayed skill and character in capturing the District 6 Babe Ruth title in a 15-league double elimination tournament held last weekend at Colonie. The team now moves on to the state championship series in Angola, near Buffalo.

Two thrilling one-run, last-inning victories earlier in the week brought Bethlehem to the championship game. Trailing Voorheesville 12-6 in a third round game, Bethlehem fought back behind Paul Evangelista, pitching in relief. Mike Hodge delivered the winning hit, a two-run single with two out in the seventh, to provide the final 13-12 margin.

Facing a tough Central Babe Ruth of Albany team in the finals of the winners' bracket, Bethlehem pulled out another one-run game, prevailing by a 5-4 score. Hodge and Evangelista split the pitching chores as Bethlehem defeated the defending champions. With the score tied and two outs in the seventh inning, John Lindsay singled, stole second and third and even scored on Evangelista's single.

In the finals, Central came out of the loser's bracket, this time faced with the task of having to defeat Bethlehem twice in the double elimination format. Bethlehem suffered its first loss in the first game, 4-0, being shut out in spite of numerous scoring opportunities.

With the momentum having shifted, the Bethlehem All-Stars came out strong and defeated Central 5-1 in the championship game. Evangelista pitched a strong seven innings to record a complete game victory. Joe Ganley and Jeff Boyd contributed key hits, while Jeff Pesnel had a busy game at shortstop, handling a large number of chances flawlessly.

There were many players contributing to the team effort for Manager Randy Gambelunghe's All-Stars. Evangelista was the winning pitcher in four games, while Hodge was also effective on the mound for Bethlehem. Jeff Boyd was the most impressive catcher in the tournament, handling the pitchers well and keeping the opposing baserunners honest.

Pesnel and Peter Russo turned in fine efforts in the infield, while John Lindsay's daring baserunning served to keep the opponents off balance.

The State Championship tournament begins this Saturday in Angola, with Bethlehem playing in the first game at 10 a.m.

No longer in running

The Voorheesville Babe Ruth 14-15 year old All-Stars hit hard times last week in the District 6 Tournament as they dropped two games and were eliminated from the contest.

In a semifinal hook-up with rival Bethlehem everything seemed to be going the Voorheesville way as they broke out for nine runs in the bottom of the fourth inning and took a 12-6 lead. John Meacham belted two home runs, a solo shot and a grand slam, as the All-Stars fought back from a 6-3 deficit. John Hodge drove in the final two runs to cap off a two-inning seven run rally as Bethlehem pulled off a 13-12 come-from-behind victory en route to an eventual

Coxsackie edges past Blanchard Post, 3-2

Dan Grandinetti singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the eighth inning driving in two runs to lift Coxsackie over Blanchard Post, 3-2, in American Legion baseball action Sunday.

With Coxsackie leading 1-0 after six innings, Blanchard scored in the top of the seventh to end the game into extra innings. Blanchard took a 2-1 lead in the top of the eighth with a run but Grandinetti's single proved to be the winner. Larry Rivers struck out ten in a complete game performance and allowed only one hit for Blanchard while Bill Phillips pitched in a double and a single in defeat.

One day earlier, Blanchard defeated Coxsackie 4-1 in a game that was also a doubleheader.

championship. Chuck Collins chipped in two singles and two runs batted in for the losers.

With the tourney being double elimination, Voorheesville hopes were not dead yet. The All-Stars grabbed a quick 2-0 lead over Colonie and soon upped it to 3-1 in the fourth inning. In the top of the fifth Colonie pushed across three runs with the aid of Mike Spulnick's two-run homer. Spulnick also stroked a home run in the sixth inning to pad the Colonie lead. John Meacham's fourth home run of the tournament, a two-run shot in the third inning, wasn't enough as the local All-Stars were ousted from the event.

suffered a 5-3 setback at the hands of Colonie. Charlie Zielman provided the punch for Colonie with a double, three singles and two runs batted in as the winners rapped out eight hits. Jeff Mackey took the loss for Blanchard despite throwing the full seven innings.

North Albany remained undefeated in Albany County Legion play with an 11-6 win over Blanchard last week. The deadly blow came in the form of a seven run second inning outburst for the winners. Blanchard pulled within 8-6 but couldn't get any closer. Sean Hughes had a homer and two singles for North Albany while Charles Motley and Dimitri Yavis chipped in two singles apiece. Phillips and Joe Keens each singled twice for Blanchard.

Season comes to a close

Tri-Village Little League ended its 1985 season Sunday with the closing ceremonies at Magee Park. The week before saw plenty of action-packed baseball as the major league division played a five-game post-season elimination tournament.

Roberts Realty and Spotlight kicked off the tournament July 8 in spectacular fashion. Roberts emerged victorious in extra innings, 5-4. Spotlight cranked out eight hits in the tough loss.

Lynn Doody's sixth inning double tied the score and kept Spotlight in the game. Jeff Van Blarcom's solo homer in the top of the eighth put Spotlight on top, but Roberts won the game in the last of the eighth on errors and a Chris Siciliano single. Other hitters for the winners included Mark Barrett with a double and Dave Lorette with two singles. Lorette excelled on the mound, going the distance and striking out 17.

Fans saw another thriller on Tuesday as Main Care edged Farm Family, 7-6. For the losers, Andy Kurzon homered. Andrew McQuide, Brenda Fryer and Mark Houston singled for the victors.

On Wednesday, Roberts met league champions Price Greenleaf. The champs fell to Roberts, 10-9. Siciliano's sixth inning double put his team on top for good. Teammates Josh and Dave Pierce combined for four hits. For Price

Joseph E. Richard

Joseph E. Richard, 87, of Feura Bush Rd., a communicant of St. Thomas the Apostle Church, died July 7 in his home after a long illness.

Born in Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada, he moved to this country as a child and attended schools in Gardner, Mass. He moved to Delmar in 1980.

An army veteran of World War I, he worked for the former Swift and Co. meatpackers for 40 years and was office manager when the firm closed in 1958. He then worked for 13 years as an auditor in Adams, Mass.

He was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose and had served as an officer in the North Adams Lodge of Moose.

He was the husband of the late Irene Richard.

Survivors include a daughter, Mary P. Richards of Delmar, two sons, the Rev. Richard Richards of Milton, Mass., and Robert E. Richards of Friendship, Md.; five grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Arrangements were by the Flynn and Dagnoli Home for Funerals, North Adams. Burial was in Southview Cemetery, North Adams.

George O. Friebe

George O. Friebe, 80, of Delmar, a retired carpenter and mechanic at Gochee's Garage, Inc., died July 13.

A long time resident of Delmar, he is survived by his wife, Mary Smith (Wolniakowski) Friebe, two daughters, Mrs. Marion Weber, Albany, and Mrs. Joseph (Irene) Crowder, Delmar; three sisters, Mrs. Harry (Anna) Gochee, Delmar, Mrs. Bertha Bishop, and Mrs. Katherine Hart, both of Gunderland; and two brothers, Robert and Ernest Friebe, Gunderland. He is also survived by four grandchildren, one great-grandchild and several nieces and nephews.

Arrangements were by the Applebee Funeral Home. Burial was in the Bethlehem Cemetery, Delmar.

Sophie Eilers

Sophie Marie Eilers, nee Spark, 80, of South Bethlehem, died July 2 at the Albany Medical Center.

Active in community activities, she was a resident of South Bethlehem for the past few years.

She was the wife of the late Ernest H. Eilers. Survivors include one son, Edward H. Eilers, South Bethlehem; a sister, Mrs. Inger Korbi of Germany, and several nieces and nephews.

Arrangements were by Meyers Funeral Home, Delmar. Burial was in the Albany Rural Cemetery.

Travel at home

If you would "love" to see Europe, the Middle East, Canada, Latin America or Asia, but can't travel right now, consider hosting an Open Door teenage foreign exchange student for three, five or ten months while he or she attends high school in the United States.

There is no cost to the family offering hospitality except bed and board for the student, and families may claim a monthly charitable contribution of $50, in accordance with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Service. Host families need not have children of high school age in order to participate.

Homestays are especially meaningful for those interested in languages and learning about other cultures. For more information, call toll-free, 1-800-632-2595.

Blood donors needed

Summer means special challenges in maintaining blood supplies for hospital patients. The need for blood and blood products never "takes a vacation" so regional blood collection agencies are seeking community support to help maintain a steady flow of volunteer blood donors throughout the summer months.

The Northeastern New York Regional Blood Services encompasses a 14-county area extending from Canada to the Hudson Valley and from the Mohawk Valley to the Massachusetts state line. It provides blood to 28 hospitals. In the summertime, with many people on vacation, there are fewer donors available while, at the same time, with outside activities on the increase, there also are more accidents and emergencies. In addition, increasingly sophisticated medical technology boosts the need for blood products.

From September through June donors are recruited through schools, colleges and workplaces, as well as among service groups and organizations. However, business and school vacation schedules may mean large groups of regular donors are not available during the summer so, to collect the needed 1,600 units of blood each week, the support of many groups is essential throughout the year, according to the American Red Cross.

For information about times and places to donate blood, area residents may call 462-7461.

NIMO plans survey

Niagara Mohawk is conducting a survey to identify senior consumers in its Upstate New York service area.

William T. Conboy, Niagara Mohawk's Capital Region consumer services manager, said the survey will enable the utility to better serve its consumers who are 60 years of age and older by meeting their special needs.

The survey will remain completely confidential, he said. "We presently have a variety of programs and services and are planning others which would be particularly helpful to seniors. By properly identifying customer accounts, we can further increase our service to this important group," Conboy said.

Seniors who respond to the survey will receive a free copy of the Seniority booklet and any other timely information and mailings developed for senior consumers.

The survey mailing will be conducted during the next two months.

Air Force Academy looking for class of '90

High school juniors who are interested in attending the Air Force Academy or in applying for an Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) scholarship upon graduation are advised to start applying now, according to Maj. Douglas V. Fox, admissions liaison officer in western Albany County.

Each member of Congress may nominate 10 candidates for each vacancy available in an entering class. No political affiliation is required to apply. Members of Congress are interested in receiving applications from well-rounded students who rank in the upper 40 percent of their class and who have participated in extra-curricular activities that indicate leadership ability and have kept physically fit.

Four-year ROTC scholarships are offered on a competitive basis to qualified students who are planning to pursue scientific or technical studies in college. The scholarships pay for tuition, fees and books and provide $100 a month tax-free during the school year.

Persons interested in obtaining information about the Air Force Academy or Air Force ROTC may contact Maj. Fox through their school guidance office or by writing to him at 8 Rosebud Lane, Loudonville, N.Y. 12211.

ribbon depicted a young boy and girl beneath a rainbow with a message of hope. "It was hope I couldn't see living without," she said.

Nancy Fox-Solomon, also a member of the Peace and Justice Committee, depicted the Biblical story of the loaves and the fishes in her ribbon, which states "Multiply Love not War." She and her husband, Ed, were "very impressed by the project. It's a creative and positive way to demonstrate for peace, rather than against war," she said.

It is the positive nature of the project that helps to explain the "Honoring the Diversity/Celebrating the Unity," some 500 gathered to display their ribbons and encircle the Capitol — not once but twice. "It was very moving to be a part of that," said Ms. Fox-Solomon, "just to see the amount of work that people put into their ribbons — there were whole school classes in which each student made a piece." Ms. Fox-Solomon said work ranged from simple crayon drawings to elaborate crewel work. Some depicted religious messages, some scenes from nature, some poetry. Others answered the question of what they would miss most in the event of a nuclear war by depicting sailboats, or as one honest child wide diversity of people participating in it. "There is a real cross-section of people involved," said Harriet Seeley of Albany, acting as the Albany area coordinator. "You see older people, whole families, young activists — it has struck at a gut core of people throughout the country."

A gathering of ribbons made in New York State was held May 26 in Albany. With the theme crayoned, a large "ME."

Among the more elaborate was a stunning crewel piece done by members of the Service Guild of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Albany. Chairwoman Dot Haker of Delmar provided the design and the material for their ribbon, which surrounds the embroidered word PEACE with a floral and scrollwork border. "There are roughly 20 members of the Guild," Ms. Haker said, "and nearly all contributed. We felt it was a nice thing to do."

The entire Cadieux family of Slingerlands, Gus and Norinne and their three children, collaborated on a ribbon of stars with the message "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

The family has been active in the Nuclear Freeze Movement, organizing a Peace Concert held last year in Bethlehem Town Hall. "The idea is to highlight the awfulness of Hiroshima and Nagasaki," Cadieux said. "Not surprisingly, it has caught the imagination of a whole group of people."

More than 2,000 ribbons from New York State residents alone will be shipped to Washington for the national gathering in August. (Each state's original quota was for 50 ribbons.) The New York State contingent will be among those wrapping the ribbon around the Pentagon, Seeley said.

The schedule calls for an Interfaith Celebration at 4 p.m. at the National Cathedral on Aug. 3. At 10 a.m. on the 4th, people will begin to assemble at the various staging areas. Each person will hold up two ribbons, and since there will probably be some 1 mile of ribbon, Seeley said "we really need a lot of people."

Several buses will depart for the day, from the Capital District; those interested should contact Seeley at 490 Madison Ave., Albany, NY 12208 (436-7248) or Gladys Karlin, 1117 Glenwood Blvd., Schenectady, NY 12301 (346-3693). Deadline for reservations and payment is July 22 and the cost is $28. "You don't need to have made a ribbon to participate in the demonstration," Karlin said.

Once ribbons have been wrapped around the Pentagon, White House and Capitol — and if enough people are present, connecting the three — there will be 15 minutes of silence. "This will not be a time of political rhetoric," said Seeley, stressing there will be no stage and no speeches. "It will be a celebration of the ribbon and of life."

When the day is over, some of the ribbons will be displayed with Justine Merritt's own in the Peace Museum in Chicago Ill. Other will be sent to the United Nations in New York City, and the remainder will be returned to each state for use in museums and by peace-oriented groups.

But the movement for peace will not end there, either nationally or in the Delmar area. The Peace and Justice Committee, an ecumenical group, will continue its monthly meetings at St. Thomas the Apostle Church to pray for peace. The Service Guild of Westminster Presbyterian Church will carry on its projects to send a message of caring into the community. Individuals like the members of the Cadieux family will continue to express their concerns about the possibility of a nuclear war.

And the ribbon will remain as a symbol of unity and peace. As Ms. Seeley said, "It's amazing what one person can do."

FRANKLIN NEW YORK TAX-FREE INCOME FUND

Given the choice, however, choose more. If you live in New York City and you're in the maximum tax bracket, surely you would welcome the $420 you get to keep if you earn $1,000 from a fully taxable investment. But should your choice be to keep the entire $1,000, invest in this Fund. Because the Fund invests in New York municipal bonds, you pay no federal, state or New York

8.74% Triple Tax-Free*
17.48% Equivalent Taxable Yield

City taxes on your monthly dividends. So, a return of 8.74% is equivalent to a taxable yield of 17.48% for investors in the maximum combined city, state and federal tax bracket.

*Current distribution rate based on July 15, 1985 offering price and dividends paid during the last 12 months. The distribution rate will vary because of changes in the Fund's income and offering price. The Fund uses a commonly accepted accounting principle known as equalization. The value of your investment at redemption may be more or less than your cost.
