Rt. 9W commuters who had watched the new Normanskill bridge take shape as they drove over the old bridge can now reverse the procedure. The new bridge opened Tuesday, and demolition on the old bridge will begin immediately, according to state Department of Transportation officials. Then work will begin on the second span that is to run parallel to the just-completed bridge. If the structural steel is in place by winter, the entire project can be completed by next fall, well ahead of schedule, DOT officials say. Spotlight

Search gives RCS time to reflect

By Theresa Bobear

Residents of the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk School District will meet with Drs. Clyde Eidens and Alfred Cali at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow (Oct. 3), in the RCS Senior High School auditorium, to discuss the strengths and problems of the district. The meeting, which is one of the first stages of a formal search process being coordinated by consultants Eidens and Cali, will likely yield valuable insights into how the district perceives itself.

As indicated at a well-attended board meeting Sept. 16, residents do not agree about who should conduct the search. A large group of residents, who support Assistant Superintendent William Schwartz for the job, are opposed to the search altogether. There was also criticism of the board for not publicizing its intention to hire consultants.

Other residents, who are in favor of conducting an extensive search for the number one spot in the district, claim that the person selected through a formal search process would be working from a stronger power base.

No matter, the board has decided that a formal search it will be. And the community input gathered by the consultants will be in the minds of district administrators and board of education members as they make decisions and establish goals for the district.

Dr. Milton Chodack recently announced his resignation, effective in June of 1986. Whether to gain an objective assessment of the district or simply to get help with a lengthy search procedure, the board voted in favor of hiring consultants to conduct the search for a new superintendent.

The definition of the district will be important for the consultants as they measure the academocratic achievements and financial condition of the district.

"I want a sound educational system," said Arlene Jordan of Selkirk, a teacher in the North Colonie School District who apparently has been in the forefront of a movement to bring about change in the district and who spoke at the Sept. 16 board meeting. In a recent phone interview Jordan said the board members were aware of problems in the district and the consultants would be made aware of the problems.

She compared the 50 percent figure for RCS graduates who were going on to college with a figure of 80 to 90 percent for surrounding suburban school districts.

An interesting aspect of this comparison is the disparity between the way a resident of Selkirk—fast becoming a "suburban" community—views the district and the way district administrators view the district. The changing district with a changing image of itself seems to have changing expectations.

"We are not considered a suburban school district, by size, by any standard," said board member Susan Gottesman. "Obviously, we are so close to other suburban school districts that we compare ourselves to them."

"I think we would like to take the good aspects of the suburban districts and leave the negative aspects," Gottesman added.

"At one time we were strictly rural," said Victor Carrk, principal of RCS Senior High School. "I think we're in a transition stage right now. We're a diversified school district."

Carrk said the district has farms and industry but could also be called a bedroom community for the City of Albany.

According to 1984 figures provided by James Brady, chief of the State Education Department's Bureau of Statistical Services, 79.2 percent of the 294 Bethlehem Central High School graduates and 75.4 percent of the 362 Guilderland Central High School graduates went on to college. Both of the suburban districts are geographically close to the RCS School District.

But the RCS figure of 52.1 percent for 177 graduates seems to be more in order when compared with other suburban-rural school districts. According to Brady, 51 percent of the 200 Averill Park 1984 graduates and 51 percent of the Hoosick Falls 1984 graduates went on to college. Voorheesville, also considered a suburban-rural district but with a high proportion of its population from the village, sent 74.3 percent of its 128 graduates to college in 1984.

At various times the difference between statistics for rural, suburban and urban districts have been attributed to a variety of socio-economic factors, including the home environment and the parents' priorities, occupation and educational background, education professionals say.

The new superintendent will have to deal with the changing expectations of the community.

Following the meeting Thursday, the consultants are to write a brochure, distribute it throughout the Northeast and begin researching applications, according to Gottesman. Gottesman said the board hopes to begin interviewing candidates by Dec. 1 and decide on a new superintendent by Jan. 1.

Telephone building conversion fought

By Theresa Bobear

Traffic concerns and evidence of a "clearly demonstrable" hardship were key issues last Wednesday as the Bethlehem Board of Appeals held a lengthy public hearing to consider an application from Drs. Myron Serling, Thomas A. Decker and Michael J. Sbuttoni for a variance to open professional offices in the former New York Telephone switching station, 23-29 Adams Pl., Delmar. Sale of the phone company building to the doctors is contingent on variance approval.

Acknowledging the good professional reputation of the orthodontists, several area residents, a member of the Delaware Avenue Task Force and members of the Central Delmar Neighborhood Association objected to the additional traffic the offices might bring to the residential neighborhood.

Both sides exhibited an awareness of procedure and the legal criteria necessary to qualify for a variance, and statements from both the applicants' attorney and the area residents were studied with points of law.

According to Jed Wolkenbreit, a Delmar attorney representing the applicants, the orthodontist group plans to establish a satellite office and two other small professional offices at the Delmar site.

Wolkenbreit asserted that a strict application of the zoning ordinance would unreasonably restrict the use of the building, which he described as "essentially a commercial building."

Douglas Zeno, president of the Central Delmar Neighborhood Association, said the telephone building when it was in operation generated no traffic in the area. Another resident suggested that the building might serve as multi-family housing for the town's senior citizens.

Wolkenbreit asserted that the granting of a variance would alleviate a clearly demonstrable hardship. He said the applicants had been looking for a building in the area for the past two years. According to Wolkenbreit, they

Litter may close Salvation Army boxes

Despite the evidence, Major Earl Schaffer obviously doesn't want to think the worst. "Sometimes people with good intentions will put something outside the box, and it just mushrooms," he says.

And it is true that most of what goes in — or near — the Salvation Army collection boxes that dot the Albany area, including two in Glenmont and Voorheesville, is usable and most welcome. Old but serviceable clothing, furniture and appliances provide jobs, income for the army's services and low cost items for those in need.

But the evidence is impossible to ignore. "All of a sudden, we're being used for a dump," says Maj. Schaffer, administrator of the Salvation Army's Albany rehabilitation center. People are putting everything from building debris to garbage in and next to the collection boxes, and once it starts, it's hard to stop.

"It seems to have magnified considerably in the last few months — why I don't know," said Maj. Schaffer. One possible reason in Bethlehem is the fact that people now have to pay to use the town landfill, but the phenomenon is in fact widespread.

Boxes

The Salvation Army is in danger of losing its box sites at the Town Squire Shopping Center in Glenmont and at the Grand Union Plaza in Voorheesville for precisely that reason. Robert Wiggand, manager of Town Squire and part owner of the Grand Union plaza, says he would like to find another way.

"I think it's a terrible thing what people are doing to the Salvation Army dumpsters," said Wiggand. "I don't think it's just here."

Wiggand said he has discussed removing the boxes, but has agreed to let them stay while the Salvation Army makes an appeal to the public.

"It's just taking away from all the people who are doing something worthwhile," said Maj. Schaffer.

To teach at Union

Dr. John J. Coffey, of Slingerlands, will be a visiting member of the mathematics faculty for Union College. Coffey, assistant professor, specializes in measure-theoretic ergodic theory and stochastic process.

Coffey is a 1972 graduate of Bethlehem Central High School and a graduate of Fordham University. He studied for master's and doctoral degrees at the University of Rochester, where he was a Rush Rees Fellow. He has taught at Geneseo State College.

Key policemen receive increases

Apparently deciding that the town's long-running dispute with the Bethlehem Police Benevolent Association is not going to be settled any time soon, the Bethlehem Town Board last week granted retroactive raises to the Police Department's three top officers.

The raises of 4 percent effective Jan. 1 and another 4 percent effective July 1 are identical to what the town has offered in the stalled contract talks. They go to Chief Paul Currie, Capt. LeRoy Cooke and Lt. Fred Holligan, who are no longer members of the PBA, according to Supervisor Robert Hendrick.

"I see no reason to withhold those lump-sum checks," said Hendrick following a closed "executive session" of the town board at which the decision was made. Earlier this year, the town convinced the state Public Employment Relations Board to drop the three officers from the union so they could serve on a town sick leave review panel, Hendrick said.

The decision to grant raises to the three officers came during another week in which progress in reaching a new contract appeared to be in the eye of the beholder.

The only official action of the week was the filing of a response by the PBA to the town's "improper practices" charge. The town had complained that PBA negotiators repeatedly changed their demands, including some items that had been informally settled. In response, according to PBA President John Cox, a detective in the department, the union takes the position that until the negotiations are settled it has the right to bring up new issues.

BETHLEHEM

Among the new issues introduced by the union are a change in disciplinary procedure and the rights of officers under investigation.

As for which items can properly be subject to negotiation, said Cox, "we'll leave that up to PERB."

The town and the union have agreed to go to binding arbitration, but the improper practice charge has apparently meant that the preliminary steps to arbitration "seem to have been put in limbo for a while," according to one PERB official.

A second state official, administrative law judge Robert Miller, was slightly more optimistic: "Both sides still seem to want to work it out," he said, and are "looking for a way to get together."

As of Monday, however, no meetings had occurred.

Devane wins grant

Kathleen Devane, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank C. Devane of Voorheesville, has received a special tuition grant from St. Michael's College in Winooski, Vt.

Devane, a freshman mathematics major at St. Michael's, was awarded the Rev. Gerald E. Dupont Tuition Scholarship, which equals half the cost of tuition. She must maintain a 3.0 grade point average in order to retain the award.

would spend approximately $75,000 for renovation. At an estimated cost of $50,000 per dwelling unit, Wolkenbreit claimed that conversion of the building to a multiple dwelling unit facility would not be economically feasible.

"The hardship of the applicant is totally irrelevant here," said Bernard Harvith, arguing that only the owner—the telephone company—could claim hardship. Harvith, who is a professor at Albany Law School and a member of the Delaware Avenue Task Force and the Bethlehem Central Board of Education, said he was not representing any group.

Harvith said the telephone company, which is not the applicant, has probably paid for the building and depreciated it to zero on their books. Harvith said the figures for the cost of conversion do not take the available tax benefits into account.

As a third argument for the proposal, Wolkenbreit said the variance would not amend district boundaries, stating that the building is contiguous with two buildings that are essentially commercial uses.

"We don't think that mistakes that are not being rectified by the town should be used as ammunition," said Kevin Mahony.

Tim Thornton, an attorney representing the Central Delmar Neighborhood Association, said the building was not surrounded on any side by a commercial zone. Thornton said zoning lines adopted 40 years ago should be adhered to. "The domino theory does seem to apply here," said Harvith, suggesting that this might be a good place for the board to start upholding the boundary line.

Wolkenbreit argued that the proposed use would not be injurious to the neighborhood. The site plan he presented showed a total of 25 parking spaces. The applicants' attorney also asserted that without a variance the building might remain vacant.

"I am sure that if this building was across the street from one of the public schools, the school board would be opposed," said Harvith. "The task force did agree that there should be a buffer zone around all the schools, including St. Thomas." Harvith said the property being considered would clearly be within that buffer zone. Several other residents expressed concern for the safety of children and pedestrians in the area.

Building inspector John Flanigan said professional offices were allowed within the 250-foot buffer zone.

"Gentleman, I welcome the doctors to the Bethlehem community," said Lee Landers of Herber Ave. Another resident said the doctors have a tremendous reputation and would be an asset to the community.

The board also held a public hearing to consider an application from Polsinello Fuels Inc., 90 Delaware Ave., Delmar, for a special exception to allow the extension of a parking area at the Citgo station.

Don Howe, a partner in the Delmar Service Station Inc. and 60 percent owner of the Affordable Transportation Service, said he does not run a taxi service out of the Delmar garage and gasoline station. Howe said he does repair cabs at the garage.

Howe agreed to discontinue the sale of soda and newspapers at his station.

"We hope we can coexist with your service station... We need a good service station," said one neighboring resident.

In other business, the board:

- Immediately following the public hearing for Robert and

Attorney Jed Wolkenbreit speaks on behalf of his clients, Drs. Myron Serling, Thomas Decker and Michael Sbuttoni, at Wednesday's well attended Bethlehem Board of Appeals meeting. The doctors requested a variance to open an orthodontist office in the former telephone exchange building on Adams Place. Spotlight

Esther Deitz, informally approved a side yard variance to permit construction of an addition at 69 Harrison Ave., Delmar.

- Granted a variance to John and Joyce Thomas to permit construction of a garage at 7 Normanside Ave., Elsmere.

- Granted a variance to Hendrick and Irene Collen to permit the change of a non-conforming use at 1280 New Scotland Ave., Slingerlands, to permit an insurance agency office.

- Informally granted a variance to Sae Youn Chung, 145 Dumbarton Dr., Delmar, to permit enclosure of an existing stone patio.

- After brief discussion, tabled Arthur Kontogiannis's application for a variance to permit two additional units at 28-30 Olympian Dr., Slingerlands. Currently, two dwelling units are allowed in the A-Residential building. After Flanigan presented evidence that the building may contain as many as six units, the board members decided to inspect the building.

- Scheduled a public hearing at 8 p.m. on Oct. 9 to consider James J. Berry's application for a side yard variance to permit construction of a chimney at 4 McMillen Pl., Delmar.

- Scheduled a public hearing at 8:15 p.m. on Oct. 9 to consider an application from HMC Associates for a variance to permit fewer parking spaces than required at the intersection of Delaware Ave. and Normanskill Blvd. Flanigan said the state Dormitory Authority plans to move into the building occupied for many years by the Hartford Insurance Group. The applicants have 30 spaces less than the number required by the town.

- Scheduled a public hearing at 8 p.m. on Oct. 23 to consider Douglas J. Bauer's application for a variance to permit an additional dwelling unit at 512 Kenwood Ave., Delmar. Three dwelling units are currently permitted.

- Scheduled an 8:15 p.m. public hearing on Oct. 23 to consider Bedros Karian's application for a special exception to enlarge the land area facing Hoyt Avenue, Elsmere, to construct a four-unit building at premises.

- Scheduled a public hearing at 8:30 p.m. on Oct. 23 to consider a request from Louck's Body and Fender Shop for permission to construct an addition to a garage at 788 Delaware Avenue.

The next meeting of the board will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 9 at Bethlehem Town Hall.

Lynn Perry of Delmar has been elected to serve on the special events committee of the Volunteer Administrators Association of the Capital Region for 1985-86.

Members of the organization work to recruit, train, supervise and maintain volunteers.

For hearing help

Hearing Endeavor for the Albany Region (HEAR), a support group for the hearing impaired, meets every fourth Thursday at the Albany Medical Center Rehabilitation Center 7 p.m.

BC meeting rescheduled

The Bethlehem Central school board meeting today (Wednesday) will begin at 7 p.m. instead of 8. The hour was changed to allow time for a third "listening" session on redistricting and a report on the district's foreign language program, in addition to the regular agenda.

The board also will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. for a public work session on proposed improvements and repairs to district buildings. A committee of residents knowledgeable about construction recently recommended a list of building needs totaling more than $4 million. Once the board has decided what work will be done, it must determine how to pay for it. Voter approval is needed for a bond issue.

The seven-member board meets at the Educational Services Center, 90 Adams Pl. in Delmar.

Budget the focus in an election year

By Tom McPheeters

Bethlehem's 1986 budget doesn't even have a bottom line yet, but it's already shaping up as a major issue in the 1985 town elections.

Supervisor Robert Hendrick is scheduled to present the tentative document — his first since taking office last February — to the town board at a special meeting Friday at 4 p.m. As of last Friday, however, Hendrick said he had not yet run totals that would allow him to project a 1986 property tax rate, and doesn't expect that such a projection would serve much purpose at this point anyway since revenue estimates are incomplete and many department requests are sure to be pared down by the board.

"Right now it looks to me as if the Highway Department funds will have to go up because of increased costs and the closing of the landfill," Hendrick said. The highway fund is supported primarily by property tax revenue, the most inelastic of the town's revenue sources.

But it is the general fund that is likely to get most of the attention in the next month as Democrats trying to win a seat on the town board zero in on some longstanding fiscal practices.

On Friday, David Sawyer, the Democrat generally given the most serious chance of challenging the all-Republican board, issued his first press release on the subject, calling for an end to the town's practice of ending the year with large surpluses, and urging other reforms.

Sawyer, a former state budget examiner who now works for the Public Service Commission, said the town's "float" — commonly called a surplus — amounts to nearly 20 percent of property tax revenue and has become "a planned multiyear million dollar contingency account." The town's practice in past years has been to roll over the end-of-the-year balance, or surplus, and apply it as revenue to the new budget.

Sawyer agreed that "a certain small amount of flexibility is a prudent measure," but argued that 7.5 percent of total revenue is too high. "Two years ago the Republican candidates for county legislature thought that the county's having a float of 2.4 percent was too high. If Bethlehem's total float and contingency funds were that low, it would save the taxpayers over $700,000 this year," he said.

Sawyer, as he has done in past years, also called for a "zero-based budget," in which all programs and expenditures are reviewed every year. He said the town should also consider "complete fund budgeting," in which all funds, including capital funds, are included in the budget so the town board can "establish a comprehensive financial policy."

He also echoed a recommendation of the State Comptroller's office that Bethlehem separate the functions of the town comptroller and the town fiscal officer.

Hendrick, who is also a former state budget official, was involved in the town's budgeting for several years as a councilman before becoming supervisor, and last year helped put the budget on the town's computer and wrote the first "narrative," explaining significant changes in accounts and revenue sources.

This year, he said, he plans some more changes — more narrative and a change in the way the Public Works Department, which oversees the water and sewer funds, handles interfund transfers. "What we're trying to do is show the funds where the money will actually be spent," he said.

Around the world

A variety of cultural programs will be presented by the Capital District Humanities Program during the upcoming months.

Beginning Wednesday, Oct. 2, a six-week program about the images of Irish women in 19th and 20th century literature will be presented by Mary Anne Devane at the Colonie Town Library.

A program entitled "Myths and Monuments: North American Indians" will continue on Mondays through Nov. 18.

A tour of the major Mayan archaeological sites of the Yucatan is being planned for Jan. 7 through Jan. 18. Finally, a historical tour of Holland is being planned for May 12 through May 24.

Normanskill cleanup urged by candidate

A Democratic candidate for the Bethlehem Town Board has charged that the town is not doing enough to encourage a needed cleanup of the Normanskill, the historic creek that forms part of the town's northern boundary.

The creek, says board candidate Richard White, is polluted by discharge from four waste treatment plants outside the town that consistently violate state Department of Environmental Conservation standards.

"It's a shame that this historical and recreational resource is being allowed to rapidly deteriorate," White said in a press release. "There is a lot of room for Bethlehem town officials to initiate positive cooperation between Voorheesville, Guilderland, Altamont and Albany on this environmental problem and push for stronger enforcement."

Supervisor Robert Hendrick said Friday that he is "all for making it as pure as possible, but I don't think that's our responsibility." If there is a problem, he said, "it's got to be addressed by DEC."

According to Charles Hough of DEC's regional office, the Normanskill is classified as a Class C stream, third lowest of four categories, which means it is suitable for fishing but not for swimming or drinking.

Of the four treatment plants listed by White — the Salem Hills sewage plant in Voorheesville, the Guilderland Industrial Park plant, the Guilderland municipal plant on Nott Rd. and the Altamont plant — Hough said only Voorheesville is considered a major problem. The village recently took over the Salem Hills plant and has made significant improvements, Hough said, but sewage from homes on Pleasant St. is still draining directly into a tributary of the Normanskill and is a major concern. The village was recently given a deadline by DEC to correct the problem.

White, who released a detailed report on the recorded violations at the four plants, said 52 percent of the discharge monitoring reports submitted over a one-year period "contained at least one violation each of water pollution standards."

White noted that the DEC has scheduled hearings in 1987 on water quality issues, at which time the town would have an opportunity to raise the issue of pollution in the Normanskill.

"It is my feeling that town officials must go beyond their prescribed responsibilities and take an active and positive interest in all aspects of the community," White said. "Too often environmental problems fall into the grey areas of whose administrative and jurisdictional responsibility they belong."

Voter registration next week

Voter registration will be held from 1 to 9 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 12, at Bethlehem Town Hall, 445 Delaware Ave., Delmar.

Persons who must register to vote include those who: have not participated in the past four elections; have moved within the Town of Bethlehem since last Election Day; have just moved to the Town of Bethlehem and have resided in Albany County at least 30 days prior to Nov. 5, or have reached the age of 18, on or before Nov. 5.

The 25 polling places in the Town of Bethlehem will be open from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 5. Due to the redistricting throughout the town, voters are urged to check their assigned polling place before Nov. 5. For information call 439-4955 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

Town board sets new speed limits

The Bethlehem Town Board did some housekeeping— speed limits, bike paths and the like—at a short, uneventful meeting last week.

Following a public hearing, the board approved a new 30 m.p.h. speed limit for Elm Ave. East between Jericho Rd. and Elm Ave., a change requested by a petition from area residents. The board received a second petition containing 38 signatures asking for a 30 m.p.h. speed limit on Thatcher and Hackett streets in Selkirk, and a third petition signed by 263 people asking for a bike path between Elm Estates and the nearby Elm Ave. Park. The board also held a brief public hearing for the proposed Font Grove Rd. water extension at which nobody spoke.

Dealing with citizens' requests is the bread and butter of town government, but sometimes the solutions are not as easy as they seem. The Selkirk speed limit request was referred to Police Chief Paul Currie, who will make a recommendation to the board, and the Elm Estates petition went to both Currie and Public Works Commissioner Bruce Secor. Speed limit reductions are usually a fairly routine matter, but in the case of a bike path or sidewalk, which requires work by town employees, approval by the board is only the first step.

Last spring, the board approved new sidewalks on Kenwood Ave. near St. Thomas School and the middle school, with the expectation that work would be completed before school started. Supervisor Robert Hendrick said he would enlist the aid of the Central Delmar Neighborhood Association, which brought the safety problem to the board's attention, in obtaining the necessary easements.

Last week, however, Hendrick had to admit that the sidewalks are stalled— some of the property owners balked at giving up part of their front lawn, he said, and the neighborhood association has supported them, not the town. More discussions are planned, he said.

The Font Grove Rd. water line was the largest project discussed last week. According to Secor, replacing the existing three-inch line with a new eight-inch line from the railroad tracks to the New Scotland town line will cost between $30,000 and $35,000. Despite a longstanding need, the extension became possible only because other development in the area brought the cost within acceptable limits, he said.

Secor had been working with residents of the area since early spring to get the new line installed, and hopes to have the work done this year. But no one showed up at the hearing to speak for the project.

"I don't believe this," said Hendrick.

In other business, the board:

- Received a petition containing 16 signatures asking the town to meet with residents of Halter Rd. regarding efforts to fund sewer and water service on the short Glenmont road. Two federal grant applications made by the town have failed, and one political candidate has criticized town officials for not trying harder. "I think we have offered to meet with the residents at any time that would be convenient to them, so we'll be happy to do that," Hendrick said.

- Approved a $21,000 budget transfer, $10,000 of which will go to pay for consulting work on legislation recommended by the Delaware Ave. Task Force— $21,000 has been paid so far to planning consultant Edward Kleinke, "a record year for consultants," said Hendrick—and the remainder to cover the town's escalating insurance premiums.

The fall harvest is very much in evidence at farmers markets in Delmar, Friday mornings at the St. Thomas Church parking lot and Wednesday evenings at the First United Methodist Church. Here Friday market managers Ed Brown and Dick Everleth show off some of their produce.

- Agreed to send senior citizens coordinator Karen Pelletier to a conference on affordable housing for senior citizens in Albany. Councilwoman Sue Ann Ritchko said she also plans to attend, at her own expense.

ment, according to the report, although the woman scraped a knee when she fell out of her car, police said. The woman told police she is allergic to bee stings.

No charges were filed.

Squares forming

The Tri-Village Squares of Delmar will dance from 8 to 11 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 5, at the First United Methodist Church, 428 Kenwood Ave., Delmar. Tom Vitotow will be the guest caller. For information call 439-3289.

Bee is big trouble

A Delmar woman's scramble to get away from a bee resulted in her car's veering backwards across Delaware Ave. and into another car Saturday afternoon, according to Bethlehem police reports. Police said the woman had been backing up in the CVS parking lot when the bee flew into the car. While the driver sought to get away from the insect, her car continued backward onto Delaware Ave. and struck a car driven by another Delmar resident. No one required emergency hospital treat-

Board moves ahead with new library plans

In spite of the fact they are still without a definite site, the board of the Voorheesville Public Library is forging ahead with plans for a new building.

VOORHEESVILLE

"At the moment, we're traveling on two different tracks towards the same destination," said board President Hugh McDonald last week, referring to the two main projects at hand.

For over a month the board has been interviewing prospective architects in hopes of making their final decision within the month.

Also, with the hiring of Lynn King of Delmar as part time librarian—a move sanctioned in May at the annual budget vote—the library is working towards streamlining and updating the present collection of books and materials so that it may be "truly responsive to the needs of everyone in the community."

As McDonald explained, "The process is threefold. First to clean out the present stock, weeding out worn, outdated and multiple copies of books. Secondly, to update the resource material," especially in the fields of science, medicine and travel where rapid changes are continually causing material to be outdated and obsolete, and "finally to take a complete inventory of the present collection."

According to McDonald, "this is not just a one-time procedure but rather we are working towards developing a system to make this an ongoing process."

Meanwhile, the board awaits word from the village concerning the parcel of land on Voorheesville Avenue that presently houses the village salt supply.

The library board has expressed an interest in the site, and the village board again last week indicated that it is interested in selling. The village is in the process of negotiating for a suitable piece of land on which to store the salt; but, until the salt is moved the library board takes the position that no serious negotiations can take place.

Pleasant St. on hold

Having met with officials from the state Department of Environmental Conservation and the Albany County Health Department, members of the Voorheesville Village Board are waiting for a consultant's recommendations before acting on the Pleasant St. sewage disposal problem.

Currently, the sewage from approximately 10 houses on the street drains into the Vly Creek through the storm sewers. The state has ordered the village to correct the situation.

Regarding other matters, the board:

- Accepted bids of $7,279 for a new snow plow and $4,383 for a new salt spreader from Tarrant Manufacturing Company.

- Scheduled a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 22 to consider adopting a local law that would allow the village building inspector to serve appearance tickets.

- Denied Claude Rodrigue's request for a zone change from residential to industrial for land adjacent to industrial property on Voorheesville Ave. The village planning commission recommended denial of the request.

- Learned that Linda Parsons has resigned as chairman of the Conservation Advisory Council. Parsons will continue to serve as a member of the council. Trustee Daniel Reh reported that a new chairman would be elected.

- Learned that the village planning commission has finalized the subdivision on Crow Ridge Road. Recommendations from the Conservation Advisory Council were included in the conditions of approval.

- Learned that construction of a shelter is being considered for the park behind Voorheesville Village Hall.

- Agreed to have all village minutes and some village ledgers microfilmed for approximately $300.

- Learned that the post office will move its outdoor mailbox from South Main St. to a site near Key Bank, New Scotland Rd., Voorheesville.

- Accepted a flag pole donated by the New Scotland Elks. An American flag will soon fly near the village hall.

- Announced trash pickup for the week of Oct. 14. The leaf vacuum will go out from Oct. 7 to Oct. 11 and from Oct. 21 until the leaves have been picked up.

Bazaar welcomes fall

A harbinger of fall in Voorheesville will arrive this weekend when the First United Church of Voorheesville holds its 34th annual auction-bazaar this Saturday, Oct. 5, beginning at 10 a.m. on the church grounds.

The yearly event includes booths for crafts, snacks, toys, plants, clothing, sports equipment and other items. In addition, children's games will be set up in the upper parking lot of the church on Maple Ave.

The popular auction, under the direction of auctioneer Jim Dunn, will begin promptly at 11 a.m. in the lower parking lot. Meals and snacks will be available in the social hall, according to chairperson Lianne Harrison of Altamont.

Those who wish to make donations of used items in good condition for the bazaar may leave them at the church. Donors who would like to arrange pick up of larger items should call Harrison at 861-5351. Additional information about the auction-bazaar may be obtained by calling Harrison or the church office at 765-2895.

Soccer playoffs Saturday

Also on Saturday, Oct. 5, the intermediate soccer league sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of New Scotland will have playoffs, marking the end of the season that began in August. Since that time four teams of 15 players each from grades 4-6 have met on Mondays and Wednesdays at the elementary school to hone their skills and compete.

The playoff games will begin at 10 a.m. at the grade school, followed by a picnic in the town park for players and their families.

Have a ball at firehouse!

That same evening the Voorheesville Fire Department will hold its annual Harvest Ball at the firehouse on School Rd. Doors will open at 8:30 p.m. with music from 9 until 1 provided by "Five Karat Gold." The donation of $8 a person includes beer, soda, mixers and snacks.

All are welcome to attend. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by calling Greg Burgoon at 765-4647 or Jack Haligan at 765-4213.

Also that evening a drawing will determine winners of cash prizes of $100, $50 and $25. Tickets at $1 each, 3 for $2 or 10 for $5 may be obtained from any fireman.

Scout signup tonight

Interested boys still may register today (Wednesday, Oct. 3) for cub scouts or the new parents-son Tiger Cub program at 7 p.m. at the elementary school. Boys in grades 3 through 5 may be cub scouts, and second grade boys may be Tiger Cubs. According to Bob Panthen, who will be taking over as cubmaster of Pack 73, both boys and parent leaders are invited to sign up.

Now, computerized 4-wheel alignment... to meet the needs of today's cars

Many of today's cars — especially front wheel drive models — need 4-wheel alignment.

- Get a smoother ride
- Spot worn parts
- Insure safe driving
- Extend tire life
- Stretch gas mileage
- Improve handling

Our new computerized wheel alignment system lets us measure and adjust the alignment angles of each wheel to meet manufacturer's specifications. It relates all four wheels to a common centerline to insure precise alignment and a perfectly centered steering wheel.

Voorheesville shop. During the four weeks that follow all money put in the fund bucket at the store will be matched by Stewart's. With the slogan "You put in your penny and we'll put in ours," the campaign will help raise money for a physical fitness room to be built in memory of the late Voorheesville football coach and teacher.

Residents may recall that a similar offer was put into effect during the Jeff Clark Olympic Fund drive. All are welcome to stop by Stewart's to drop off donations.

With the Oct. 12 weekend coming up, final plans are being made for the two-day event during which the football field will be dedicated in memory of Buckley and a sign noting the field's new name will be erected.

Beginning on Friday evening with a bonfire at the village park, the weekend will include pre-game ceremonies at 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 12, at the high school field, followed by the game with Voorheesville's rival, Ravena. During half-time a raffle drawing is planned. Prizes include a gas grill, skis and gift certificates. The day will end with a dance at the elementary school featuring disc jockey Michael Morgan from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. for those in grades 7 through 12.

PTSA looks at discipline

The Voorheesville Parent-Teacher-Student Association will hold its first meeting of the school year on Monday, Oct. 7, beginning at 7 p.m. in the elementary school. The evening will include a workshop entitled "Looking at Discipline" presented by immediate past president Mary Van Ryn. The program will begin at 8 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

Mini-courses added

Those interested in taking a mini-course as part of the continuing education program sponsored by the Voorheesville Central School District are in luck. Two additional sessions of previously announced mini-courses will be held during October.

The personal color analysis for men and women being presented by Ann Andriano will be offered again on two Thursdays, Oct. 10 and Oct. 17, at the high school. For the analysis various colors are tried on participants to determine which enhances the person's natural coloring and then participants are shown how to attain a professional and coordinated appearance by making the best use of the colors.

A second mini-course on microwave cooking will be offered on Oct. 15 and 22 by Kathy Olsen, who will discuss utensils to use as well as methods of cooking.

Finally, space is still available for a few more students in the one-night class on estate planning being offered Nov. 13 by area attorney Tom Dolin.

Those interested in any of the above courses may contact the high school at 765-3314 for information or to register.

Tips for college-bound

High school guidance director Robert Quackenbush will present a program for college-bound seniors and their parents on Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m. at the high school. Intended to help students and their families organize the college planning process, the evening will include such topics as setting up a college planning guide, applications and admission tests.

Food collection

St. Matthew's Human Concerns group, along with other such groups in the area, will take part in a special food collection this weekend, Friday, Oct. 4 and Saturday, Oct. 5, as part of a project sponsored by the Albany County Emergency Food Task Force and local supermarkets. Members of the group will be on hand at the Price Chopper at Loehman's Plaza from 5 to 9 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday collecting canned goods for the local food pantries. The food collected will be divided among the participating groups, such as Human Concerns, which although it is sponsored by St. Matthew's services those of all denominations in need in the Voorheesville and New Scotland area.

Local residents are encouraged to participate in this project. Those who are not shopping this weekend are always welcome to leave non-perishable food items off in the front vestibule of St. Matthew's or to call the Human Concerns Hotline at 765-2373 to have donations picked up or to inquire about receiving assistance from the group.

Cookie sale for 4-H

Members of the four local 4-H Clubs will be taking to the streets this week to sell cookies to benefit 4-H. The sale, which lasts from Sept. 27 through Oct. 10, offers two types of cookies—chocolate mints and peanut butter sandwiches—at $1.50 a box. Those interested in obtaining cookies but not approached may contact 4-H leaders Cheryl Appleby, 765-4363, of Osborne Corners; Gladys or Vicky Chamberlain, 765-2663, of the Lucky Four Leaves and Classy Clovers; and June Hunter, 765-3628, of the Voorheesville Vikings.

They loved camping!
Brownie Scout Troop No. 97 recently enjoyed a weekend camp-out near Lake George. The second grade girls who meet at the A.W. Becker School under the leadership of Heidi Sengenberger and Mary Hillmann spent the weekend of Sept. 21 and 22 camping at Girl Scout Camp Little Notch.

The scouts slept in sleeping bags on raised platform tents. The mild weather encouraged the many activities planned. The girls were given a presentation on animals that inhabit the area, with fur and skulls used to help identify them. They hiked to The Furnace, an old iron ore mine. They were given rides on the lake in a rowboat and in the evening shared a bonfire and made friends with other area scouts. A special project was done with stenciling. Each girl brought a white T-shirt on which they stenciled a special design. They all returned to their homes wearing shirts that proclaimed "I Love Camping."

Those who attended the encampment were: Jessica Domery, Connie Henderson, Renee Hillmann, Cristie Houle, Sarah Janssen, Jamie Lyn Martin, Sara-Jean Osborn and Jessica Sengenberger, with adult supervisors, Heidi Sengenberger, Mary Hillmann and Roxanne Martin.

Rhonda Newton, semifinalist in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program. National Merit Scholarship Corp., which conducts the competition, recognizes semifinalists in order to honor their academic effort and broaden their higher education opportunities. Semifinalists have completed the first step in the competition for about 5,800 scholarships worth nearly $21 million that will be awarded next spring.

To advance in the scholarship competition, a semifinalist must document high academic performance, be recommended by the high school principal, confirm qualifying test performance on the scholarship aptitude test, and submit information about school and community activities, personal interests and goals.

Rhonda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Newton of New Baltimore.

'Life with Father' a benefit
Ruth Radliff and Earl Jones have the lead roles in "Life With Father," a three-act comedy to be presented Oct. 18 and 19 at the South Bethlehem United Methodist Church. Based on the life of Clarence Day, and written by his son, the story was made into a three-act play by Howard Linsay and Russel Crouse.

The play, which is for all ages, is being sponsored by the United Methodist Women for the benefit of the parsonage fund. Performances will be at 8 p.m. each day at the church on Willowbrook Ave. in South Bethlehem. Seating is limited so tickets should be obtained early. Tickets are $6 for adults and $4 for children. They may be obtained from UMW members or by contacting ticket chairman Dorothy Percival at 767-2764.

Grange dinners back
The first fall family-style dinner sponsored by the Bethlehem Grange is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 5. It will be a roast pork dinner, with mashed potatoes, sauerkraut, two vegetables, gravy, rolls, beverage and pie.

The dinner will be served at the grange hall, Rt. 396, Beckers Corners, Selkirk, beginning at 4 p.m. and continuing until all are served. Reservations are not required.

The Women's Activities Committee will conduct a "this 'n that" sale during the evening.

Methodist women to meet
Women in the community are invited to a meeting of the United Methodist Women of South Bethlehem at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 2. The theme of the program will be "I Believe in Miracles" and it will be presented by the Rev. Kohaleth Dickson in the South Bethlehem United Methodist Church on Willowbrook Ave. Devotions will be led by Jean Canuteson. Refreshments will be served at the end of the program, with Eunice Lawton and Dorothy Percival as hostesses.

Tickets to Boston
The RCS Adult Education Program announces that tickets are still available for the Oct. 26 bus trip to Boston. The bus will leave from RCS Junior High School at 7 a.m. and arrive at Quincy Market at approximately 10 a.m. The bus will leave Boston at 7 p.m. and arrive at RCS Junior High School at approximately 10 p.m. For $15 tickets, call Joanne Nunan at 756-2155.

Co-ed volleyball
Co-ed volleyball has begun at RCS Junior High School. Games are from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Mondays. Basketball, for people who don't belong to a league, will begin at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at RCS Senior High School.

In the ear of the beholder

"Warning: Listening to this record may be hazardous to your health and may unravel the fabric of the social order."

Some folks firmly believe that such a warning ought to be labelled in bold-face type across many record labels in the rock music industry. They fear that rock and roll is one of the most decadent forms of art entertainment to threaten our society over the past few decades. Acting like self-appointed physicians, these folks are demanding that the voice of America say "Ahhh," so they can take a microscopic look at what is growing out of the culture, and prescribe a prophylactic for the prevention of social disease.

I find the medicine of government censorship hard to swallow. It is clearly a cure that is more harmful than the disease itself. Democracy has always been at its best when it functions as a consequence of those free and natural forces created by an informed citizenry expressing itself in the open arena of the public domain. Organized, institutionalized censorship restricts the flow of information, supports ignorance, and inhibits the free expression of the individual as ensured by the first amendment of our nation's constitution. Such censorship is not a natural force of democracy, but rather an imposed force compatible with totalitarianism.

There is an organized movement afoot that has already reached the level of a Senate committee hearing to impose the use of warning labels on records. The original demand was to establish criteria by which song lyrics could be judged as warranting a rating of V for violence, X for explicit lyrics or O for occult. The pressure group has since agreed to a lesser labelling device whereby record companies would voluntarily print "PARENTAL GUIDANCE-EXPLICIT LYRICS" on selected records.

Family MATTERS

Norman G. Cohen

There are obvious problems in such a system, the most critical being the selection of the rating selectors themselves. My guess is that they would reflect the national mood at the time, not unlike the composition of our Supreme Court. The irony is that rock music, as does most pop art forms, also reflects the mood of the time. Who can say that at some future date such a censorship system would not label the "Star Spangled Banner," our national anthem, V for violent?

I don't think many people would argue that some rock songs have offensive and shocking lyrics. Most do not. Most lyrics of rock songs are hard to understand anyway, because of the lack of articulation, vocal quality or balanced mix between voice and instruments on the recording. One would have to purchase the record and study it or read the lyrics on the album jacket, if they were printed.

In a democracy the ultimate form of censorship occurs on the level of individual choice. That choice can be influenced by social forces which appeal to the individual members of the society. If people who are important to me and who I admire say that the lyrics of a particular rock group are offensive and in poor taste, I will probably not listen to, much less buy, the records of that group.

Censorship by the government in response to offensive art is like the use of DDT in response to crop pests; not only does it poison the pest, but the fruit as well. A much wiser and more conservative approach is to actively support a desirable work of art than to focus on an undesirable one with inhibiting forces. Then the undesirable art will die a natural death rather than be sustained by the unnatural attention of notoriety.

Music does more than merely reflect the mood and values of the society. It also helps shape and inspire those values. "Music hath charms to sooth the savage breast," but it also has power to arouse it. Think of the Scottish bagpipes whose eerie strains struck fear in the hearts of the enemy while empowering the charge of the Scottish troops. And every march song of every military group is composed with the fervor of blood-rushed muscles and quickened steps toward the battleground.

My sons have gone through punk rock and heavy metal phases, none of which I could tolerate for very long, and they knew it. Now they laugh at those songs and regard the lyrics non-seriously. They know, also, that I would prefer our national anthem to be "America, The Beautiful." Who knows? Perhaps someday they will testify to that preference before a Senate committee.

Church offers help with living

A series of family living programs is being offered this fall by the Delmar Presbyterian church. All are welcome to attend.

"Making Good Marriages Even Better" will be presented Thursday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m. by Christine Deys, an instructor for Human Growth Associates in Albany and Human Relations Programs in Delmar. The free workshop will provide an overview of communications problems couples encounter and skills they can use to communicate more effectively.

A seven-week small group course, for couples who are interested in developing communications skills and enhancing their relationships, will be offered, beginning Thursday, Oct. 24, at 7:30 p.m. The registration fee is $35.

"Dealing with Aging and Aging

Parents," will be presented Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m. by Emerson Rugh, a counselor for the Aging Services Program stationed in the Schenectady County Office for the Aging. During the program, Rugh will consider resources for the elderly and meeting the costs of long-term illness. An offering will be accepted.

"Safe and Strong," a child abuse prevention program for parents, will be held Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 7 p.m. Ellen Kelly-Lind, the former coordinator of the Schenectady Girls Club abuse prevention project, will discuss ways to protect children and teach them to protect themselves.

All programs will be held at the Delmar Presbyterian Church, 585 Delaware Ave. For information, call Christine Deys, 439-2754; Ellen Kelly-Lind, 439-8322, or the church office, 439-9252.

Lions to teach sign language

Bethlehem Lions William F. Vaughan and Vincent Feraro are teaching sign language to about 30 interested persons. The course, which is being conducted in the Bethlehem Public Library on Tuesday night is a joint venture of the library and the Lions Club.

The course is based on a series of 12 video-taped lessons produced by the Upper Hudson Library Federation and visually instructed by Laurie Abelsons.

The Lions Club instructors serve to reinforce the video-taped instructions by answering questions and informally lecturing about interaction with the hearing impaired community.

The class is an informal "fun-learning" experience that teaches participants a 300-to 4-word vocabulary with useful phrases that will allow them to communicate sufficiently with the hearing impaired.

According to Feraro, "The primary purpose of the course is to increase the community awareness on how the hearing impaired and hearing persons can productively interact with one another."

Before beginning the first class on Sept. 17, the Lion instructors presented Elizabeth Levy, the librarian for research and adult services, with a check for $135 to buy sign language books for the library.

'Four Wednesdays' set to begin

The First Church in Albany (Reformed), North Pearl at Clinton Square, will begin its annual "Four Wednesdays in Autumn" fall seminar Wednesday, Oct. 9, with a fellowship meal at 6 p.m. in Zimmerman Hall.

Beginning at 7 p.m. there will be three elective courses to choose from, and a simultaneous program for children and youth, as well as a staffed nursery for infants and toddlers.

Guest lecturers include Dr. Lois Daly, assistant professor of religious studies, Siena College; The Rev. Dr. Howard G. Hageman leader, author, lecturer, speaker in The Reformed Church in America; Professors Warren and Anne Roberts of the State University at Albany; Mayor Thomas Whalen and John McEneny.

Those interested in participating in this year's program should call the church no later than the Monday prior to each Wednesday for dinner reservations. The dinner is priced for adults, family and children. No reservations or registration is necessary for the courses offered.

Participants need not attend the dinner in order to participate in the 7:00 p.m. electives. There is a donation each week for the adult programs. There is no charge for the children and youth or nursery care programs.

Stainback: 'Fight just as vehemently'

Albany-Colonie Regional Chamber of Commerce President and Delmar resident Thomas N. Stainback presented a brief, anecdote-laced pep talk to the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce last Thursday at the chamber's opening meeting of the 1985-86 season.

Stainback urged the approximately 50 members and guests present to clearly define their goals and then work toward them, even if that means conflict. Near the end of the meeting, former Chamber President Peter Merrill gave Stainback a chance to expand on his advice when he asked him how to handle what Merrill characterized as the ongoing conflict between the Delmar neighborhood associations and businesses on or near Delaware Ave.

While acknowledging the "struggle" of satisfying business, residents and government concerns, Stainback had this advice: "fight just as vehemently for what you believe in."

He cited the Albany-Colonie chamber's recent exercise working with businessmen to identify areas of concern. From that came a project to work on the image of the Albany County Airport, which, it was determined, has an image that discourages new businesses in the area.

From that realization, he said, will come a move to rename the airport. When the ballot to select a more representative name for the airport appears in the news, it will show "that kind of action that makes chambers of commerce effective."

Stainback said there are three kinds of people in any organization — those who make things happen, those who watch things happen and those who have no idea of what has happened. Chambers of commerce are those who "strive to gain and make things happen" to the benefit of the entire community, he said.

He went on to encourage a greater participation by all members, and praised the current goal of the Bethlehem Chamber of adding 50 members this year. Not having goals can "create disillusionment within the structure," Stainback said.

Stainback also challenged the local businesses to identify "what we are and what we want to be," and to be prepared to define all projects: "What are we going to do about staff, programs, finance, every area."

"With a greater purpose, dedication and involvement," the group should carry out its essential programs, Stainback said, and he encouraged meetings between the organization and town government to decide "What are we going to do...what is the discussion of our town fathers?"

The working relationship between business and the community, he emphasized, is an "Ongoing experience to make the community a better place," and people are the primary element.

New bike-ski store at 4 Corners

The building that has housed Adams Hardware at Delmar's Four Corners for the last five years under owner Frank Mesiti will barely be empty before the new business, Delmar Bike and Ski, moves in.

Adams Hardware has moved down Delaware Ave. to larger quarters in the old Vet's Garage building, and has already opened for business at the new location.

Offering bicycles, bicycle services, exercise bicycles and cross-country skis and rentals, manager Stephen M. Vilot from Pittsfield, Mass. along with partners Mitchell and Leslie Plaine from Schenectady hope to open for business around Nov. 1.

Raleigh, Rossi, Royce Union and Mongoose BMX are some of the quality bicycle lines Delmar Bike and Ski will carry. In addition, they will offer specialty clothing that goes with the sport, according to Mitchell Plaine.

Trak, Fischer, Elan, Voltonen and Salomon will be featured in the cross-country equipment. The new shop will carry parkas, shells, knickers, hats, gloves and socks as initial stock in a more extensive selection they will offer in the future, he said.

Rentals for both bicycles and skis will be available by day, week and month.

The new shop reflects 30 years of business from Schenectady as Lou Plaine's Warehouse, and 11 years in Pittsfield as Plaine's Ski and Cycling Center. The new owners are adding Delmar to their business locations because "The need is there. Delmar needs a shop for full services which we will offer," Plaine said.

The new tenants plan no changes in the building's facade except for their own sign. They will inaugurate their services with a grand opening sale. Vilot, an avid cyclist and skier, will be available for information and assistance in all areas of the sports. By next year, the shop hopes to carry a full line of downhill skis and rentals.

Hendrick to speak

The Second Milers, a club for retired men in the Tri-Village area, will hear Bethlehem Town Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick Jr. speak about the "State of the Town" on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at 12:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Delmar United Methodist Church. For reservations, call 439-4459.

2 charged in DWI

An Albany woman, 31, was charged with misdemeanor driving while intoxicated Saturday after Bethlehem police were called to break up a fight she allegedly was involved in, according to police reports. The incident occurred shortly after 5 p.m. on Delaware Ave. near the city line.

In another DWI arrest this week, a 27-year-old Kansas man was ticketed after the pickup truck he was driving went off Rt. 9W near Hannay Lane in Glenmont Thursday night, according to Bethlehem police reports. The driver told authorities he had swerved to avoid another vehicle, but the report noted that police were unable to obtain a clear description of the incident from the man. No injuries were reported.

Prizes at depot

The Saratoga Shoe Depot, Delmar, is participating in a national campaign with $500,000 in prizes.

The National Shoe Celebration and Sweepstakes hopes to call attention to craftsmanship, fashion and the value of footwear. The Shoe Depot is one of many stores united in the effort which will award an Around-the-World Trip for two, vacations to Hawaii, Disneyland and 500 weekend getaways. Entry forms are available at the Shoe Depot, 255 Delaware Ave., Delmar.

David Gill, left, proprietor of Taylor and Vadney's, and John Stankus, store manager, opened the doors to their new sporting goods store at Delmar's Four Corners last week.

Continental prize

Stewart's Ice Cream Company has announced that it will give a new Lincoln Continental from Nemith Motors of Latham to some lucky customer this fall. The promotion is in conjunction with the company's emphasis on a continental breakfast.

The continental breakfast is available at all Stewart's 140 stores located within a 100 mile radius of Saratoga Springs. "The Continental seemed to be a great tie-in," according to a company spokesman, "since we knew we wanted to have a giveaway of some kind."

Fourth quarter surge is the difference for Blackbirds

With two critical tests coming up the next two Saturdays, Voorheesville football coaches are working to sharpen up the offense, particularly the passing game.

The Blackbirds squeezed by a predictably rugged foe at Averill Park last week, thanks to a tenacious defense. They had to come from behind in the fourth period to pull the game out, 20-10.

That sort of thing might be a little harder to do against the next two foes, Albany Academy at the Cadets' field this week and Ravena next week. Both teams are renowned for defense, and it is obvious to head coach Pete Douglas and his assistants that the Blackbirds will have to open things up when they have the ball.

At Averill Park the Blackbird offensive line had trouble making holes for Bill Kelly, their bread-and-butter man. The Parkers restricted the Voorheesville star to 91 yards net on 19 carries, he has been under the century mark. Vinnie Foley, running the triple option, netted only 24 yards on the ground in seven attempts, and Jeff Mazaferro had 16 in three, 14 coming on one key play in the final drive.

Even with the Blackbirds limited to 152 yards running, a low total for them, Foley was conservative in putting the ball in the air. The veteran senior threw only five times all the sunny afternoon, completing two for 43 yards total and one touchdown. Although Foley threw sparingly, he was effective in key situations.

With the offense sputtering, it was the defense that saved the day. They scored the first touchdown and set up the other two, one with an interception at midfield and one by a takeover on the Averill Park 30.

After a sluggish first period, the Blackbird offense got moving in the second and penetrated to the enemy 13, but surrendered the ball after a loss and a penalty. Enter the defense, which stopped the Parkers cold. On fourth down the snap was high, and Roger Ginter chased the punter out of formation. The latter tried to kick on the run, but Chuck Gianatasio was in the immediate neighborhood and blocked the punt. Mazaferro fell on the ball in the end zone, and when Jim Hensel split the uprights it was 7-0 Voorheesville.

In the third period the Parkers returned the compliment by blocking a Voorheesville punt after kicking off and pinning the Blackbirds deep. A touchdown and field goal put Averill Park up by 10-7 going into the final period.

Here the tide turned as Kelly picked off a pass on the AP 49. This time the offense came through, springing Kelly for eight yards. A major penalty set the Parkers back to their 23. On the second play Foley rolled out and hit Jamie Cohen with a spiral to the right sideline for the go-ahead touchdown.

Foley went upstairs for the two-point conversion, but misfired. When the Blackbirds got the ball back on the Parkers' 30 late in the game, Douglas installed a double fullback formation, and in seven plays, alternating Kelly and Mazaferro left and right, the offense provided the insurance TD. Kelly had an 11-yarder, but it was Mazaferro who churned yards to the 1-yard line. From there Foley sneaked around left end for the score, and Hensel kicked the final point.

Douglas had praise for the defensive units of both teams. "They (Averill Park) did a good job on us defensively," he said. "We had two fumbles, and one led to their field goal. Our defense did a super job. They shut down Averill Park's strong running game, showed a good pass rush and good pass coverage. I was very pleased, and they were on the field quite a bit."

This week it's back to Academy, which signifies hard-nosed football, and another defensive battle is shaping up. Douglas is priming his offensive line to get the jump to spring the Kelly boys and Mazaferro, and also shake a few receivers loose for Foley to open up a little more.

Burglary probed

Bethlehem police are investigating a break-in sometime overnight last Wednesday at Dammo Auto Sales on Rt. 144 in Glenmont, according to police reports. A front window of the office, there was broken with a rock, the report said, and several items were stolen, including the keys to three cars. In addition, a vehicle on the lot apparently was driven elsewhere and then returned damaged, the report noted.

Members of the Voorheesville football team are honoring the memory of their late coach, Thomas J. Buckley, with these patches. The football field will be dedicated to Buckley Saturday, Oct. 12. . . . R.H. Davis

Friday night football at BC

The Light Bethlehem committee and the Bethlehem Central Varsity, weather and installation procedures permitting, hope to inaugurate Friday night football at the Bethlehem Central High School athletic field on Oct. 11 at 7:30 p.m. for the game with Niskayuna.

The Light Bethlehem committee has been putting most of its efforts into the construction end of the project, with underground wiring and the initial service pole for electricity already installed. Four 90-foot, three-ton poles are scheduled for delivery this week.

The committee will now turn to concerted fund raising with some of the current fund raising activities including the sale of yard lines and a buy-a-light program.

Contributions representing 25 percent of the $30,000 goal have already been received or pledged.

Individuals who have contributed $100 or more include $525 by Chris Hoffman; $400 each from Delmar Nautilus, Bruce Wood and Martin Troche; $300 by the McAndrews Family; $200 by the McFerran Family and $100 by the Gray and Sheehan Families.

Anyone in the community — individuals, businesses and organizations — may "buy-a-light" for $400, half a light for $200, the goal line and 50 yard line for $100, or other parts of the field.

Contributions or requests for information may be mailed to: Light Bethlehem Committee, P.O. Box 32, Delmar, 12054. Or call evenings 439-5060 or 439-6455.

Eagles winded

Hurricane Gloria left the Delmar area virtually undamaged, but it managed to blow Bethlehem Central's football game with Columbia off this week's Spotlight sports pages.

School officials in East Greenbush, where the game was scheduled to be played under the lights Friday night, announced the postponement Friday morning when gusty winds, rain squalls and an ominous forecast reached the area. The game was rescheduled for Monday at 6 p.m.

That put the kickoff some eight hours after the Spotlight's final sports page deadline. This Saturday BC will play at Guilderland at 1 p.m.

Turnovers prove Indians' downfall

By Dan Tidd
It's not often a football team can win a crucial game when it makes five costly turnovers. The Ravena Indians made five costly turnovers and they also lost the game, 7-6, to first-place Watervliet. The heartbreaking defeat dropped the Indians out of a first-place in the Colonial Division of the Capital Conference.

"We just played a very poor football game against a real good team," said Ravena coach Gary VanDerzee. "My players were just not mentally prepared for this game. I had some concerns all week; it was a poor week of practice and it carried over into Saturday."

VanDerzee was referring to last week's practices, which were repeatedly interrupted by nagging injuries to key starters. "First we had defensive standout Mike Keel go down with a leg injury, then starting fullback Graig Kennah was racked up and will be lost for up to six weeks," said VanDerzee.

The key to Ravena's loss on Saturday, the first of the season, was a flat and shabby offense. When the Indians did get some offense going, it was halted by a costly mistake. "Our offense never got untracked; we missed a number of blocking and defensive assignments," said VanDerzee. "I would have to say our offensive unit missed 10 key assignments. You just can't do that against a club as good as Watervliet."

Ravena grabbed a 3-0 lead in the first quarter on a 34-yard field goal by Bob Baranska. Baranska made it 6-0 a short time later, this time from 42-yards out. "Bob has a great leg. I knew if he got the chance that he could hit from those ranges," said VanDerzee.

Watervliet's Brian Fruscio raced 62 yards for a touchdown, then added the crucial extra-point to make it 7-6 late in the same quarter. "I would have to say our defense played a real good game," said VanDerzee. "If not for the long run by Fruscio, we might have escaped with a win. But our offense didn't give the defense any help."

VanDerzee will be making some lineup changes for this Saturday's road contest at Lansingburgh. Tim Baranska, the younger brother of Bob, will move up from JV to fill in for Kennah at halfback. The Indians were held to just 58 yards rushing by the Cannoneers. Brent Shook was the leading Indian rusher with 39 yards in 14 carries.

Eagles yet to face council's powers

Along about this time next week Coach Gene Lewis and his Bethlehem Central soccer team will know whether they are for real or just another good team.

The Eagles fattened up on second-rate opponents last week, slamming 17 soccer balls into the netting in three easy games to take a firm position atop the Suburban Council's Gold Division.

But everyone knows that in this league there is no security in high places. Lewis's athletes have not yet faced Guilderland, an established powerhouse that may be the cream of the crop this year, nor Shenendehowa, always a soccer juggernaut. Bethlehem broke even in their first two tests, dealing a 2-0 shocker to defending champion Niskayuna two weeks ago, then suffering a 2-0 whitewash at home with Burnt Hills.

This is exam week again for the Eagles. They had a date with Scotia yesterday (Tuesday) on the road, and on Saturday unbeaten but once-tied Guilderland comes to the Delaware Ave. playfields for the first of two confrontations that will have a direct bearing on the 1985 championship. Next Tuesday Shenendehowa is in Delmar and next Thursday it's the pesky Niskies again, followed by an away game with Burnt Hills.

That's a tough enough schedule for anybody, and if the Eagles can take three of those four they should be in position to make a real run for the crown.

The three-game sweep last week was devoid of pressure. The Eagles mowed down Colonie (6-1), Mohonasen (5-1) and Columbia (6-0) with devastating efficiency. They are 5-1 after six games and in that span they have taken more than 300 shots on goal to 44 for the combined opposition and have scored 34 goals to four. Paul Stracke had a three-goal hat trick last Tuesday at Colonie, added another goal Thursday and another hat trick Saturday, giving him seven 'dingers for the week. Toby Dunmore had six over the same stretch, including three against Mohonasen. Paul Doyle scored a goal in each of the three outings, and Eric Oberheim, a sophomore, had his first varsity goal in the Colonie game.

Lewis gives much of the credit to the defense, which was an uncertain factor at the start of the season. Several of his moves have paid off, like shifting Todd Smith to sweeper and installing Jeremy Manning as stopper. Brian Walencik, a fugitive from BC's football program, and Joel Keens have been effective at the other fullback posts, and Aaron Halsdorf, the senior keeper, has permitted only two goals when he's been on the field.

"Our four fullbacks have done an outstanding job," says Lewis. "They don't let anything get through, and they've been feeding the ball to the offense. We've been moving the ball really well, and quickly."

Indians drop 7 straight

By Tim Penk

The RCS boys soccer team was defeated by Cohoes 6-2, extending their losing streak to seven.

The Indians started the game by scoring two goals in the first 10 minutes. Steve Nichol森 and Paul Pape each found the net early. The whole team played well for those 10 minutes and then went downhill.

BC will need all this and more when the Dutchmen arrive Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. faceoff, and there won't be any letup for a week after that.

Ryan wins competition

John W. Ryan, formerly of Delmar, has won the $500 first prize in the Nathan Memorial Competition at the Syracuse University School of Law, sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. The winning essay is entitled "Recognition of the Doctrine of Moral Rights: The Need For Legislation."

Before his law school studies, Ryan received a Bachelor of Arts degree in chemistry from Bucknell University. At Syracuse University College of Law, he was a member of the Board of Governors and was also active in the Law School Senate. The son of Jeanne L. Ryan of Delmar, he is presently employed by the Legal Department of Ciba-Corning Diagnostics Corp. of Cambridge.

Blackbird booters struggle

Last week was definitely not the highlight of the Voorheesville varsity soccer season. The team went into the week facing undefeated Schalmont. The Birds had many shots on goal, but couldn't surpass the two goals scored by Schalmont.

Wednesday Voorheesville visited Albany Academy and gave up two unexpected goals in the first half. In the second half, co-captain Justin Corcoran moved up into an offensive position to score the only goal with the help of teammate Andy Rockmore. The final score was a 3-1 loss.

At the end of the first half of the season the Blackbirds are 4-3 overall and 3-3 in the league. Voorheesville was scheduled to play Mechanicville Monday of this week and Ravena in a make-up game yesterday (Tuesday).

BC stickers still hanging in there

By Tania Stasiuk

One win and one loss balanced out last week's play for Bethlehem's field hockey team. Coach Jeannette Rice is "very pleased with the team's growth as the season progresses," and hopes to continue winning. With a team that is playing well on the offense, Rice sees even greater potential for the girls once the problem of illness has been overcome.

The game against Burnt Hills last Tuesday was one BC would "like to forget." Under cold, rainy skies and on a poorly mown field, the lady Eagles couldn't get their defense together and let three goals go by. However, they bounced back with a tough game on Thursday against Saratoga.

Although the teams were, according to Rice, "very evenly matched," Bethlehem took the offense right from the start and managed to dominate the entire game. Several substitutes, including sophomores Janet Jouachim and Andrea Armstrong, played for injured and ill halfback starters.

The regular front line was glad to have Tricia Wever back after a nearly month-long bout with mononucleosis: she came back well rested and fighting strong. Both Tricia and younger sister Emily, along with Holly Mendelson, Liz Gray, and Peg Jeram, played exceptional games, with crossfield passing a strong part of the offense. Emily Weber and Gray put in BC's two goals during the first half, which Rice said proved that "the team is really learning to possess the ball and attack the goal."

The coach is also pleased with her defensive players, though she is happy they don't see much action at their end of the field. Under pressure, however, they have played well against every team but Burnt Hills, especially with Lisa DiFrancisco as goalie.

This week brings four tough games to the team's schedule. On Monday, the girls were to travel to Shaker, and Wednesday were to host last year's Sectional champions, Shenendehowa. Friday takes the team to Niskayuna, and Saturday brings Scotia to the Eagles' home field at 10 a.m.

Big games ahead for Lady Indians

By Bart Gottesman

This week, the RCS girls soccer team will be involved in crucial games that are must wins if the lady Indians are to remain in contention for the top position in the Colonial Council. This past week, the Indians' chances of winning the council faded as they lost two of three games. The setbacks came at the hands of Averill Park, a team which had previously defeated the Indians, and Holy Names, while the victory was registered against Cohoes.

The 2-0 victory over Cohoes was a game of firsts for Ravens as the Indians scored their first two field goals of the season. Both goals for the Indians were registered by sophomore Marsha DiNapoli, her first and second goals as a varsity player. Coach Betty Faxon, hoping to strengthen her offense, took Jackie Mulligan out of the goal and replaced her with sophomore Dina Perry. In Perry's first varsity stint, she allowed no goals and the Indians out-shot their opponent 25-5.

Against Averill Park, a 3-1

defeat was the least of the Indians' problems as goal keeper Jackie Mulligan was hit in the head by a knee of a Averill Park player. Mulligan suffered a minor concussion and will be out for two weeks. Averill Park took an early 1-0 lead in the first half and both teams went scoreless until Perry outmaneuvered the opposing goal keeper and scored to tie the game with 1:20 left in the first half. Both teams failed to score in the second half to force the game into overtime.

In the first of two overtimes, Mulligan lost a shot on goal in the bright sun and Averill Park took a 2-1 lead. In the second overtime, the injury to Mulligan and the 90-degree heat took their toll on Ravens as Averill Park penetrated in Ravens territory and connected to end the scoring.

The Indians went into the Holy Names game minus five players as a result of sickness or injury. RCS once again fell behind in the early going as Holy Names scored two quick goals. Within a three minute span the Indians tied the score on two goals, one by Tammy Samsel and the other by Sheila Serry.

Perry did an outstanding job in the goal as she made 32 saves in the 4-2 loss. "Sopohomore Paullette Morehouse, who has been recently moved from forward to halfback, has started to adjust to her new position and should be a dominant force on defense," said Faxon.

The crucial week began yesterday (Tuesday) as the Indians faced Watervliet, followed by Lansingburgh Wednesday and an away game at Schalmont on Saturday.

Hot Indians are breaking records

By Bart Gottesman

Individual records fell for both boys and girls as the improving RCS cross country teams competed in two meets in the last two weeks, with the boys' team splitting their schedule and the girls' dropping both meets.

On Friday, Sept. 20, the Indians overtook Ichabod Crane in very hot weather by a 22-36 margin. Brian Perry led the pack for the duration of the race and crossed the finish line with nobody from either team to challenge. Perry broke the course record at Ichabod Crane by 12 seconds. Paul Curley finished third while Jim Ritter and Mark Albright were close behind, finishing fifth and sixth respectively. Co-captain Lance Tucker was forced out with a sprained ankle in the early going.

The girls were unable to start their season on a winning foot as they suffered a 21-34 loss. The girls were led once again by three eighth graders as Teresa Darlington placed second and Tammi and Sherri Stalker finished fifth and sixth.

Tuesday, the boys' team hosted Cohoes, a strong contender for the council championship, in a meet which turned out to be very exciting.

The experienced Cohoes squad left with a 27-28 victory.

"Our inexperience hurt us as they outkicked us at the end of the race," said Coach Roy Racey. Perry pulled ahead of all runners at the half way mark to finish first while crushing the old course record at RCS by 40 seconds. Tucker finished fourth and also broke the old record, by nine seconds. Curley finished a strong fifth with Albright, Ritter (who ran with an injured ankle) and Ed Smith finishing seventh, ninth, and 11th respectively. Ravena runners gave their best performances as each of the top five Indians to cross the finish line bested their own personal marks by large margins.

It was the same old story for the girls as Darlington finished first followed by Tammi Stalker and Sherri Stalker, who finished fifth and sixth. By the end of the day the boys' record stood at 2-1 while the girls dropped to 0-2.

This week the Indians had a three-team event scheduled Tuesday with Mechanicville and the host team, Voorheesville.

heesville finished with 122 total points.

The Blackbirds had a meet on Tuesday, Sept. 24, against league rivals Watervliet and Albany Academy at Albany Municipal golf course. The runners beat both teams as Chuck Rogers shattered the course record by more than two minutes. Pat Lentlie came in second, beating the old course record by eight seconds. The squad improved their league record to 2-0 and their overall record to 2-1. Voorheesville had a meet yesterday (Tuesday) against Ravena, one of the toughest teams in the Colonial Council. They will compete in the Grout Run with 25 other teams in Schenectady this Saturday.

Blackbirds 'disappointing'

By Rick Leach

"Disappointing" summed up the Voorheesville cross country team's latest venture, the Guilderland Invitational, held last Saturday.

The runners finished fourth out of a group of 12 teams, with no paties in the field. For most teams this wouldn't be bad, but for this team it isn't up to par. Coach Ken Kirik and his Blackbirds hoped for more after last week's outstanding win in the Great Dane Invitational. Chuck Rogers finished third with a time of 12:39.1, four seconds behind first place finisher Chris Williams of Champlain Valley, the team champion. One of the reasons for the squad's disappointing finish was Lenny Mertens, who, battling illness, finished 11th. Voor-

A win for BC booters

By Dave DeCecco

After a tough start, the Bethlehem girls soccer team has finally carved a notch in the win column.

Thursday, the girls beat Mohonasen, 2-0, posting their first regular season win. In the first half of play, sophomore Cindy Riegal rambled down the field unassisted and knocked in what proved to be the only goal BC needed. In the second half, Liz Keens, also a sophomore, took it in alone for the insurance goal. The team's record stands at 1-3-1.

Saturday, Bethlehem was scheduled to play Columbia, but due to the hurricane scare the game was postponed to Oct. 19.

Yesterday (Tuesday) the lady Eagles were to host Scotia, and later this week they will make the trek to Burnt Hills for another Suburban Council match.

Andrea Post, who sprained her ankle two weeks ago, probably needs a walking cast and may be out for the remainder of the season. Other than that, coach Kelly Keller is pleased that the team is finally healthy. Also, sophomore Allison Dorman is back in goal, and classmate Heather Smith is back from vacation.

BC moves to 3-0

By Charles Henrikson

The Bethlehem Central cross-country team ran remarkably well against Columbia and Scotia last week at Columbia.

Mark LeBeau, Pete Winkler, Brendan Kearse and Tom Nyilis finished three-four-five-six to lead the boys team. Charlie Seagle, in his first varsity race, ran extremely well, finishing eighth. By beating Columbia 26-31, coach John Nyilis said "the team ran well." Scotia had an incomplete team. These two wins lifted the boys' record to 3-0.

The girls were led by a second place finish by Jen Hammer, with Tania Stasiuk in fourth and Tricia Shultes in fifth. Heather Wolfe finished seventh and Cathy Saba eighth, for a 26-31 win over Columbia and a 16-45 win over Scotia. The girls have now won 29 straight dual meets.

The girls team was hit with some bad news on Friday, when Stasiuk had to pull out because of an illness and will miss at least one week of running.

On Saturday the team ran in the Guilderland Invitational at Tawasentha Park. Coach Nyilis said the boys ran "pretty well," coming in fourth out of 11 teams in what Nyilis called "the toughest of the three divisions." They finished with 126 points, behind Georgetown with 42, Queensbury with 52, and Shenendehowa, a Suburban Council rival, with 77. Winkler came in 12th and LeBeau 16th to lead the boys, with Craig Isenberg in 31st, Kearse in 33rd and Nyilis in 34th. These five runners were within 42 seconds of each other, the smallest margin so far this season.

The girls finished third in their division, hampered by the absence of Stasiuk. Hammer ran "real well," according to coach Nyilis, finishing fourth. Wolfe finished 15th and Shultes 16th. Saba finished 22nd, with frosh Laura Kleinke in 37th. The girls finished with 94 points, behind Pearl River, one of the top 10 teams in the state, with 41, and Queensbury with 71. The girls did beat their suburban council rival Niskayuna.

Yesterday (Tuesday) the team had their second and final home meet of the season against the Niskayuna and Mohonasen. Before the meet, Nyilis was confident that both the boys and the girls would beat both opponents.

On Saturday the team will run in the Grout Run. This is the biggest and most prestigious meet of the season, held in Central Park in Schenectady.

The following Tuesday the team travels to Shaker to race against Saratoga, Shenendehowa and Shaker. This is a very important meet for the boys.

Bethlehem Central varsity girls tennis players Kristen Jones, left, seventh grade, is playing first singles this year, and Colby Woodruff, tenth grade, has moved up to third position singles. Both won their matches Thursday against Scotia. Playing in the number five spot two weeks ago, Woodruff won a tense three-setter against Niskayuna.

BC netters win in straight sets

By Tania Stasiuk

Bethlehem Central's tennis team won two more matches last week, mostly in straight sets. Coach Grace Franze is happy with her team's record of 5-1, with three teams left to play.

Against Saratoga last Monday, No. 1 singles player Kristin Jones lost to last year's Sectional runner-up, Jenny Whalen, and the first doubles team also lost. However, all the other players, including Lisa Sheridan and Shalyn Ingraham, newly moved up to third doubles, won in two sets.

Thursday the lady Eagles won, 9-0, against Scotia. Colby Woodruff, who has moved up to third position singles, will stay there for the rest of the season, Franze says.

Friday's match against Burnt Hills was postponed because of Hurricane Gloria, and was rescheduled for Monday. Tuesday the girls were to travel to Columbia, and on Thursday will finish the dual-meet season on Bethlehem courts against Shenendehowa. All matches begin at 3:45.

Blackbirds remain undefeated

By Tanya Severino

The Voorheesville girls varsity tennis team has won six straight matches to remain undefeated in the league.

Thomas Kurkijan, head coach of the team, feels that the girls' "good attitude" has resulted in several of the easy wins. The girls hope to win the team Sectional title and reach individual goals in Sectionals. In addition, Kurkijan is enthusiastic about gaining the Colonial Council Title and a chance to remain undefeated.

Kurkijan is looking forward to reaching these goals with a strong, experienced team of 11 players. Returning players include Donna Mensching and Betsy Zeh, juniors; Paige Hotaling and Kathy Tarrulo, sophomores, and Michelle Petre, Jennifer Torito and Kris Flanders, freshmen. First-year players Audrey Fitzgerald, Jenny Zeh, Amber Allen and French exchange student Natahlie Renvillard have improved during the season. Renvillard is living with teammate Zeh and family for the school year.

Team doubles include Petre and Torito, Zeh and Flanders, and Renvillard and Allen.

Kurkijan looks forward to Hotaling, the team's No. 1 player, and his yet undetermined No. 1 doubles team to reach the quarter-finals in the Sectionals.

The Blackbirds faced Ravena Monday and today (Wednesday) will host Watervliet. Friday and Saturday mark the Colonial Council tournament.

Southwood tourney

Mike Harrison of Delmar was a double winner in the Southwood Tennis Club's open tournament held last weekend.

Harrison won the men's doubles with Tom Gould, defeating Tom Roe and Tom Curry in the final 7-5, 7-5. In the mixed doubles, Harrison teamed with Linda Burtis of Elsmere to defeat Linda Rubino and Jim Fillmore, 6-1, 6-3.

Mark Cavalier, a senior at Shaker High, won the men's singles by defeating Ted Baughn and Rubino took the women's title with a win over Sue Romeo.

Ravena has a good week

By Tim Penk

Good singles play aided the RCS tennis team to go 2-0 this week. The Indian girls defeated Council rivals Lansingburgh and Watervliet.

The team started the week by taking Lansingburgh, 5-2. Winners included Marie Setford, Erica Wornstadt, Bobby Joe VanAlstyne and Sue Penk. A doubles team won and a singles match was unfinished.

The next victory of the week was over Watervliet by a score of 5-2. The first five single players all won. They were Setford, Wornstadt, VanAlstyne, Penk and Laurie Sutton.

The team has shown much improvement. They are aggressive and very mobile, according to Coach John Curry.

The match with Ichabod Crane and the Colonial Council tournament were rained out. The tournament has been rescheduled for Friday and the Indians will play Voorheesville, Cobleskill and Lansingburgh before then.

Runners to raise $

The Bethlehem Central Athletic Association is sponsoring a run-athon on Sunday, Oct. 27, at the high school track from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Students will be soliciting pledges to support this effort. Fifty percent of the money raised by each student is earmarked for the team, club or school of his or her choice. The Athletic Association uses the other 50 percent to help support the high school athletic programs.

Last year the total raised was over $5,000, and an audio system and a trophy case were purchased. This year the association hopes to purchase team benches, a portable scoreboard and a permanent softball backstop.

Hunting regulations announced

The state Department of Environmental Conservation has announced the waterfowl hunting regulations and season dates for 1985-86. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has shortened the duck season by 10 days and reduced the duck bag limit to four birds in all of New York State except for Lake Champlain in response to lower than normal continental populations of some duck species.

The duck season will be open as follows: northeastern zone, Oct. 10 through Oct. 27 and Nov. 10 through Dec. 1; western zone, Oct. 15 through Nov. 12 and Dec. 26 through Jan. 5; Long Island zone, Nov. 13 through Dec. 1 and Dec. 12 through Jan. 1, and Lake Champlain zone, Oct. 9 through Oct. 13 and Oct. 26 through Nov. 29.

The duck season in the southeastern zone, including the Towns of Bethlehem and New Scotland, will run from Oct. 12 through Oct. 20, and from Nov. 13 through Dec. 1. The basic bag limit for ducks is four per day and eight in possession. Waterfowlers are offered two additional teal (green-winged or blue-winged) during the first nine days of the regular duck season.

Mergansers, outside regular duck limits, may be taken at the rate of five per day and 10 in possession during the regular duck season. The merganser bag limit may include only one hooded merganser. A total of 15 coot per day, 30 in possession, are allowed in addition to the basic bag.

Additional bag limit restrictions are aimed at conserving mallards, wood ducks, hooded mergansers, canvasbacks, black ducks, redheads and pintails. The daily bag limit may include no more than: three mallards, only one of which may be a hen; two pintails, and two wood ducks, or one canvasback and one redhead or two redheads.

Because of a long-term decline in population, black ducks may not be taken at the following times: northeastern zone, Nov. 18 through Dec. 1; southeastern zone, Oct. 12 through Oct. 20, and western zone, Dec. 26 through Jan. 5. At all other times and places only one black duck may be taken each day as part of the four duck limit.

Goose seasons in all upstate zones except Lake Champlain will run from Oct. 2 through Dec. 30. Geese may be hunted from Oct. 9 through Dec. 17 on Lake Champlain and from Nov. 13 through Jan. 1 on Long Island. The bag limit on Canada geese remains three per day and six in possession. Four snow or blue geese may be taken each day, with eight in possession. Excluding Lake Champlain, the upstate brant season will run from Oct. 2 through Nov. 20. Lake Champlain brant may be hunted from Oct. 9 through Nov. 27, and Long Island brant may be hunted from Nov. 13 through Jan. 1. The bag limit is four per day, eight in possession.

Shooting hours generally remain from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, including opening day. Exceptions include Lake Champlain where shooting hours are from 7 a.m. to sunset on opening day, Oct. 9.

All waterfowl hunters 16 years and older must purchase a $7.50 Federal duck stamp in addition to their hunting license.

A brochure outlining waterfowl regulations, including details on special scaup, canvasback and redhead seasons, are available at licensing agencies.

For information call 457-5400.

Puzzles from the past

Floyd Brewer, vice president and field director of the Bethlehem Archaeology Group, will present a program entitled "The Riches of Bethlehem's Past" at the Bethlehem Public Library on Thursday, Oct. 10. During the 7:30 p.m. program, members of the audience will attempt to identify artifacts recently discovered in the town.

The Bethlehem Archaeology Group has conducted "digs" at the Slingerland Vault and the Nicoll-Sill property.

Currently, the group is concentrating on three other sites: the former property of John B. Lyons, a famous early printer; the Winne property by the Hudson, the site of early Bethlehem industry, and the Goes Farm, the land that was rented from the Vandersee family under the patroon system.

Members of the Bethlehem Archaeology Group have uncovered a large number of artifacts, including farm tools and Indian pottery.

The group hopes to document pre-historic life in Bethlehem, indicating 5,000 years of continuous occupancy of the area. The group plans to publish a 1993 bicentennial history of the town.

Bethlehem Pop Warner Falcons Brent Kosoc, 13, and Mike Gambelunghe, 26, power an end sweep.

Bethlehem goes 1-1 on day

Bethlehem Pop Warner again split the day as the Falcons turned in another win while Eagles lost at the High School last Sunday.

The Falcons chalked up another victory Sunday, shutting out Troy, 13-0. Mike Gambelunghe scored the first TD on a 65-yard run, with Brent Kosoc running in the extra point. Tim Mooney followed with an 18-yard QB keeper for the second touchdown. The linebackers, Josh Lanni and Brian Savage, played extremely well, as did Mark Herzog at defensive end. The Falcons' excellent defensive play ensured the win for the team.

The Midget Eagles lost another to the Troy patriots, 27-7. The defense played an excellent game, with Peter Klein and Warren Rector playing well. The Eagle TD came on a spectacular 85 yard runback by Tim Napierski, who also followed with the extra point. Boe Acquario racked up two nice passes.

Next Sunday, both teams are home, the Falcons against East Greenbush and the Eagles against Belmont.

Snakes on the tube

On Oct. 8 and 15 The Bethlehem Channel will be airing a program entitled "Snakes of the World," presented by Dean Davis of Ravenna.

Davis is the founder and director of the Living World Ecology Center in Ravenna, a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation of wildlife through captive breeding and reintroduction programs, which also provides ecology-based educational programs to schools using live animals and plants. He has been lecturing on animals and plants for the past 18 years.

The Bethlehem Channel will be rerunning Davis's "Unusual Small Mammals" in the near future, and he will appear on Conversations in the next few weeks.

Volunteers march

The Delmar Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad will begin distributing their 1986 calendars this Sunday beginning at noon. Donations will be used to keep the department equipment in proper operating condition.

Dalrymple honored

Daniel M. Dalrymple of Delmar was one of five graduates of the New York State College of Agriculture and Life Sciences at Cornell University honored recently with an Outstanding Alumni Award from the college's Alumni Association.

Dalrymple has a long, diverse career in agriculture. From 1959 to 1972, he served as assistant commissioner of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets. Among his accomplishments was the development of the state's Agricultural District Law, which protects the state's prime agricultural land from urban sprawl.

After his retirement in 1972, Dalrymple served as an agricultural consultant to the director of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. He also received the Distinguished Service Award from the New York Farm Bureau in 1979 and a certificate of excellence from the State Agricultural Society in 1980.

Central Delmar meets

The Central Delmar Neighborhood Association will hold a meeting at the Bethlehem Public Library tonight (Oct. 2) at the Bethlehem Public Library, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The group will nominate officers, hear an update on the Kenwood Ave. sidewalks, and discuss the Delaware Avenue Task Force recommendations and other neighborhood improvement projects.

Faces sentencing

William R. Boughton, 28, of Mill Rd. in Delmar is scheduled to be sentenced Oct. 22 in County Court on a charge of third-degree criminal sale of a controlled substance, a felony. Boughton was found guilty of the charge Friday by a County Court jury that deliberated less than an hour.

Boughton, arrested April 4, was accused of selling three grams of cocaine to a police informant in the parking lot of a Rt. 9W motel.

Buttons of celluloid

"Celluloid" will be the topic of discussion when the Half Moon Button Club meets at the Bethlehem Public Library on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at noon. The program will be presented by Mrs. Joseph Jaycox of Albany.

Murray H. Block

Block heads firm

Murray H. Block of Delmar has been named executive vice president of Educational Planning & Management Associates, Inc., an Albany based consulting firm.

Block was president of the Borough of Manhattan Community College from 1965 until 1970, when he joined the State University of New York's central administration as deputy to the chancellor for campus liaison. Since retiring from that position in 1983, he has served as acting president of SUNY's College of Environmental Science and Forestry, and at Orange County Community College.

Ewald B. Nyquist, former state commissioner of education and a former Feura Bush resident, has been named president of the firm. EPMA was founded in 1983 as a not-for-profit organization providing senior consultation services to executive officers in higher education and to their sponsors.

Appointed at Pace

Dr. Irving M. Bonawitz of Delmar has been appointed professor of accounting at Pace University's Lubin School of Business Administration in New York. Before joining Pace, Dr. Bonawitz, a certified public accountant, was a professor at the State University at Albany and former chairman of the accounting department there.

He has taught at Temple University as professor and chairman of the accounting and finance departments. He also served as director of the graduate school of public accounting at Northwestern University.

Bonawitz holds a doctorate in business administration from Michigan State University, a master's in business administration from Northwestern University, and a bachelor's degree from Bowling Green State University.

Arts for teachers

The Capital Region Center for Arts in Education, together with the Greater Capital Region Teacher Center, will sponsor a series of seminars this fall, including courses on Tiffany windows, playwriting, new music, and a four-day program about important new works in art, music, video, theater and dance in New York City.

"Tiffany Windows of Albany and Troy" will be given on two Saturdays, Oct. 19 and 26, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The course will include tours of six local buildings containing examples of stained glass art.

The course on playwriting will meet four Saturdays, Nov. 16 and 23 and Dec. 7 and 14, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in South Colonie. Participants will produce a work themselves.

"Breaking Sound Barriers," an introduction to the current trend in music from jazz to concert pieces, will be offered Oct. 26 and

Nov. 9 and 16 at Union College, and will include performances Nov. 1 through 3.

In "New Work, New York City," participants will meet with performing artists, visual artists, curators and critics in New York City from Oct. 30 to Nov. 2.

These seminars may be taken for credit, tuition-free, by kindergarten through 12th grade teachers and school administrators within a 100-mile radius of Albany. For more information call the CRC office at 442-4240 or the Teacher Center at 477-2635.

Stage offer extended

The 1985-86 subscription ticket campaign for the Empire State Institute for the Performing Arts productions at The Egg has been extended to Nov. 30.

The season was scheduled to open with performances by the Moscow Musical Theatre for Children. However, because of the illness of its director, Natalia Sats, and delays in the signing of a cultural-agreement between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., the Soviet company has been re-scheduled to the end of the season, with performances in early June.

Subscription tickets will continue to be available for four, six or eight performances with prices discounted as much as 20 percent.

Auditions announced

The Empire State Institute for the Performing Arts has scheduled auditions for its premiere production of A Class "C" Trial In Yokohama by Roger Cornish.

Under the direction of ESIPA director Ed Lange, the production will begin rehearsal during March and will run April 1 to 12. Local actors who are cast will be paid a modest salary and will work with professionals from both the ESIPA resident company and Equity actors from New York. Rehearsals will be held during the day.

Auditions will be held on Monday, Nov. 4, at 7 p.m. in the studio theatre at The Egg. Those interested in auditioning should be prepared to perform a brief monologue (contemporary and serious in tone) and may be asked to read from the script.

The play centers on the war-crimes trial of a Japanese physician during the American occupation in 1948. The character types needed are Asian females, ages 15 to 45; Asian males ages 21 to 55, and Caucasian males ages 19 to 60.

Persons wishing to audition should contact Michael Bartuccio at 474-1199 for an appointment.

Obituaries

John Rothmund

John Rothmund, 86, of Delmar died Sept. 24 at the Guilderland Center Nursing Home.

A lifelong resident of Delmar, he was retired clerk for the former Union Station in Albany. He was a member of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Louise Gutman of Delmar, and his son, William Rothmund of Delmar. He is also survived by three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Arrangements were by Meyers Funeral Home, Delmar. Burial was in the Bethlehem Cemetery.

William Gearhardt

William G. Gearhardt, 63, of Delmar, an administrator in the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk School District, died Sept. 28 at his home.

Born in Albany, he was a graduate and adjunct faculty member of Siena College, Loudonville. He was vice chairman of the Siena College annual fund.

He was chairman of the business education department in the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk School District.

He was a member St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Delmar and was a Marine veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Nally Gearhardt, and a brother, George Gearhardt of Guilderland.

Arrangements were by the McVeigh Funeral Home, Albany. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Glenmont.

Frederick Klein

Frederick J. Klein, 75, of Delmar, a member of the Bethlehem Senior Citizens, died Sept. 24.

Born in Albany, he lived in Albany before moving to Delmar 33 years ago.

He worked as a machinist at the General Electric Company, Schenectady, for 28 years before retiring. Prior to joining General Electric, he worked at A & P Markets in Albany for 25 years.

Survivors include his wife, Katherine Wolfe Klein; a sister, Mrs. Madeline K. Wehrle of Bradenton, Fla.; a sister-in-law, Marion K. Wolfe, and two cousins, Olive Curtis and Edgar F. Curtis.

Arrangements were by the Applebee Funeral Home, Delmar. Burial was in the Graceland Cemetery, Albany.

Irving G. Fisher Jr.

Irving G. (Sonny) Fisher Jr., 43, of Voorheesville, an Army veteran of the early Vietnam War, died Sept. 22.

Born in Albany, he lived in Feura Bush before moving to Voorheesville. He was employed as a laborer for the Colonie Masonry Company.

Survivors include his wife, Frances Tice Fisher; two sons, Eric Fisher and Joshua Fisher; a daughter, Sarah Fisher; his mother, Mrs. Cecelia Fisher, and five sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Burnham, Mrs. Florence Hazzard, Mrs. Jane Pulliam, Mrs. Sheila Phillips and Marion Fisher. He is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

Arrangements were by the Applebee Funeral Home, Delmar. Burial was in Prospect Hill Cemetery, Guilderland.

Coffee for newcomers

The Tri-Village Welcome Wagon invites newcomers and new mothers to a "get-acquainted coffee" at the Delmar home of Laurie Hawley on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p.m.

The Tri-Village Welcome Wagon offers the opportunity to make new friends and learn more about the community. The group organizes many activities for women, children and couples. For information call 439-5058.

Keys, camera found

A key ring with 11 keys was found Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Darroch Rd. and Rowland Ave. in Delmar, according to Bethlehem police reports. A Delmar couple turned the keys in to the police.

Also at headquarters waiting for the owner to claim it is a Continental camera that was found last Wednesday along Retreat House Rd. in Glenmont.

Dinner at St. Thomas

The women of St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Delmar are invited to a dinner, sponsored by the Altar Rosary Society, at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 9, at St. Thomas School. For information call 439-3888.

Autumn star watch

An autumn star watch, sponsored by the Albany Area Amateur Astronomers and the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar, will be held on Thursday, Oct. 10, at 8 p.m.

All are welcome to participate in the free program and learn about celestial exploration and folklore at the center. For information call 457-6092.

Call for crafts

The Elsmere School PTA will hold its third annual Craft Fair on Nov. 16 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the school on Delaware Ave. in Delmar.

Thanks from family

Editor, The Spotlight:

The family of Donald O. Richter would like to sincerely thank the Bethlehem Volunteer Ambulance Service for responding so quickly and efficiently on Thursday evening, Sept. 12. Also, the Bethlehem police officer for his assistance and the loving neighbors we have in Breckenridge Village for the flowers, cards and other expressions of sympathy. May God bless all of you.

Worth more notice

Editor, The Spotlight:

I attended the first in a three part Woman's Health Series sponsored by Welcome Wagon at the Bethlehem Public Library. Jeanne Elisha, R.N. spoke on PMS—The Disease of the Eighties and did an excellent and very informative job. Fortunately, I am a Welcome Wagon member and therefore knew of this helpful series, which is open to the public.

Usually I depend on The Spotlight to inform me of local events of interest and I think it a shame that this lecture didn't have more publicity.

The Albany Medical Center has coordinated this series as a community service because of the increased interest in current health issues and I hope in the future, our Spotlight will inform us all of these informative programs, from which many can benefit.

The program was included in our calendar of events, and a two-paragraph story ran in the Sept. 25 issue on Page 21 under the heading, "Women's health topic." Ed.

Hamagrael view

Editor, The Spotlight:

The following letter has been sent to the Bethlehem Central Board of Education:

The following, we believe, is the most efficient solution to the overcrowding problem at the Glenmont school:

1. Transfer the 97 students living in Elm Estates to the Elsmere School, which has 100 empty spaces. The busing distance from Elm Estates to the Elsmere school is no greater than the current distance from Elm Estates to the Glenmont school.

2. Keep the present Hamagrael district as is. Many of the students that the Committee's proposal would move to Slingerlands or Elsmere can now ride their bikes to and from Hamagrael for pre-school and after-school activities. This convenient neighborhood school feature would be lost if these students were transferred to Slingerlands and Elsmere.

3. Insist that all new developments that would overcrowd any of the schools be assigned to the Clarksville school. A homeowner should know before purchasing a home which school their children will attend and have the peace of mind of knowing this will not be changed.

This solution was discussed with Bernie Haryith at the last board meeting. Hopefully it will aid the board in solving this problem.

Glenmont position

Editor, The Spotlight:

We, the members of the Glenmont PTA, are in support of total redistricting involving all five elementary schools. This task will be difficult to accomplish. However, we hope you will approach it objectively and with equal regard for all children in order to achieve equal enrollment in all five district schools. We must recognize that some children will have to change to another school. When deciding which children are to be affected, we hope you will consider the following guidelines, which are listed by priority:

1. In the interest of bus comfort and safety, the length of the bus ride should be kept to a minimum.
2. Neighborhoods and families should be kept together.
3. The facilities and opportunities provided to the students should be equal at all five schools (i.e. art/music room, extra/utility room).
4. Upon redistricting, schools which experience rapid growth in the coming years may be candidates for expansion.

We are one school district and we must all work together to achieve an equitable solution. It is our hope that through total redistricting, we shall provide a quality education and equal opportunities to all the children in the district.

Pantry at St. Thomas

Editor, The Spotlight:

I was happy to read the coverage of the Bethlehem food pantries and wanted your readers to be aware that there is also a food pantry at St. Thomas Church, Delmar. The pantry is individually supported by a monthly food collection, responds to the needs of our church community and regularly donates food to the Albany County Emergency Food Pantry. If anyone has a request or knows of a specific need for food, please contact St. Thomas Church at 439-4951.

Fair in Ravena

A country and western fall fair will be held at the Grace United Methodist Church, 16 Hillcrest Dr., Ravena, on Saturday, Oct. 5, beginning at 11 a.m.

The celebration will feature an array of activities, booths, roast beef dinners served at 6 and 6:30 p.m., and a square dance from 8:30 to 11 p.m.

For information call 756-6688.

Seed for sale

Bird seed for backyard feeders is being offered for sale by the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar. The sale includes seed popular with specific birds as well as mixtures for all winter seed eaters. The sale is sponsored by Five Rivers Limited, a non-profit organization that supports educational programs at the center.

Orders must be placed before Thursday, Oct. 10, and pickup will be Saturday, Oct. 26, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Order blanks may be obtained by calling the center at 457-6092, between 2 and 4 p.m.

Takes Academy post

Mary B. Scanlan of Glenmont has been named director of development and public relations at the Albany Academy for Girls.

A graduate of Queen's College and Russell Sage College, she has served in the state Department of Social Services for the past nine years, most recently as director of public information.

Scanlan was employed at Harper's Bazaar Magazine in New York City for six years. She has also served as an associate for development with the Roberson Center for Arts and Science in Binghamton and as an editorial assistant with the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers in New York City.

Scanlan has taught at Russell Sage College and the State University at Albany.

MS workshop

A workshop for people coping with Multiple Sclerosis, sponsored by the Multiple Sclerosis Society and the state Education Department, Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, will be held at the Holiday Inn, Saratoga Springs, on Nov. 2.

The program will include discussion of the causes and symptoms of the disease, job issues and options for remaining productive.

To register call 452-1631 before Oct. 21.

New wing at Academy

The Albany Academy, the 172-year-old institution steeped in a tradition of excellence for the teaching of science, will unveil a new, $950,000 science wing in special ceremonies Wednesday, Oct. 9.

The science wing is named for Academy alumnus Joseph Henry, who conducted his pioneering work on electromagnetism while teaching at the school before moving on to found the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

The new, 12,000-square-foot wing expands Academy's science facilities in both quantity and quality. It includes seven classroom laboratories, six prep rooms and two special purpose rooms. The chemistry and biology labs have been doubled in size and the physics lab space increased by 20 percent.

Computer exam help

Albany Business College will offer a review class for the upcoming state Civil Service computer programmer-analyst trainee examination to be given Saturday, Oct. 19.

The five-week review class, which is designed to sharpen the skills of computer trainees, will meet from 6 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays beginning Sept. 19. The course will cover the preparation of written and tabular material, as well as arithmetic and logical reasoning.

Registration is being accepted at ABC, 130 Washington Ave., Albany. The cost is $65. For information, call 449-7163.

Mr. and Mrs. David Fleet Wernham

Married in Windham

Mary Carol Powers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Ahlstrom of Delmar, and David Fleet Wernham of London, England, son of Mary Wernham of Middlesex, England, were married Aug. 18 at St. Theresa's Church in Windham, N.Y. Rev. Donald E. Doyle officiated.

Ann Marie Plunkett, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Tony Levan was best man. Ushers were William Powers, brother of the bride, and Kevin Hartmann. The groom's nieces, Felicity and Cecily Carroll, were flower girls.

A garden reception was held at the Acra, N.Y. home of Albert Ahlstrom, the bride's grandfather.

The couple will reside in New York and London.

Songs for kids

Jay Ungar, Lyn Hardy and Molly Mason will perform original and traditional children's tunes for Kids' Fare at the Harmanus Bleecker Center in Albany, 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 6.

Also included will be jazz tunes from the '20s and '30s and original material by the trio, who have performed at numerous festivals throughout Canada and the United States.

Tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for kids and seniors. Tickets are available at Community Box Office, by writing to Kids' Fare, P.O. Box 3038, Albany, 12203, by phone or at the door. Harmanus Bleecker is located at 19 Dove St. For phone reservations, call Ric Chesser at 482-2826.

She lost a lot

A Voorheesville woman, 25, told Bethlehem police Thursday that her wallet, containing $250 in cash and 19 credit cards, had been stolen last Wednesday night while she was at an Elsmere business, according to police reports. The woman's driver's license also is among the missing items.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil W. Kuhl III

Kathleen Martin wed

Kathleen Mary Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin of Delmar, and Emil William Kuhl III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil William Kuhl Jr. of Delmar, were married Aug. 31 at St. Thomas the Apostle Church, Delmar.

Epilepsy drive

Brenda Kelley, vice president of Key Bank, NA and treasurer of the Epilepsy Association, has been named to chair the first annual phonathon to benefit the Epilepsy Association of the Capital District, which will be held on Oct. 8, 9 and 10.

The goal of this major fundraising activity is $10,000. The association's major source of funding, a federal grant, has not been renewed for 1985-86. The monies raised during the phonathon will enable the association to continue their educational and counseling programs.

Volunteers are needed from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. all three nights to conduct the phonathon at Key Bank headquarters, 60 State St. Albany. Anyone interested in donating their time may call 436-9912 or 439-8085.

Beta Sigma meets

Members of the Xi Gamma Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will meet at the Delmar home of Shirley Bone on Oct. 7.

Community Corner

Fire Prevention Week

Volunteer firefighters and rescue personnel in Bethlehem will observe Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 6 to 12) with a display of equipment Thursday, Oct. 10, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Delaware Plaza. This is an opportunity for town residents to get a close-up look at the modern apparatus used by our volunteer firefighters and to learn more about fire and rescue services in the community. Visitors to the display may also enter a drawing for one of three smoke detectors to be given away.

Also, the Delmar Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad will be handing out its 1986 calendar this Sunday starting at noon. The dollars collected through this campaign will be used to keep the department equipment, including two advance life support ambulances, in good condition.

Support the folks who are there in times of need.
