Honda plans giant warehouse at Selkirk yards

The announcement Tuesday that a 350,000-square-foot warehouse will be constructed for Honda next to the Conrail yards in Selkirk is only the first phase in what could be a major industrial development in the area.

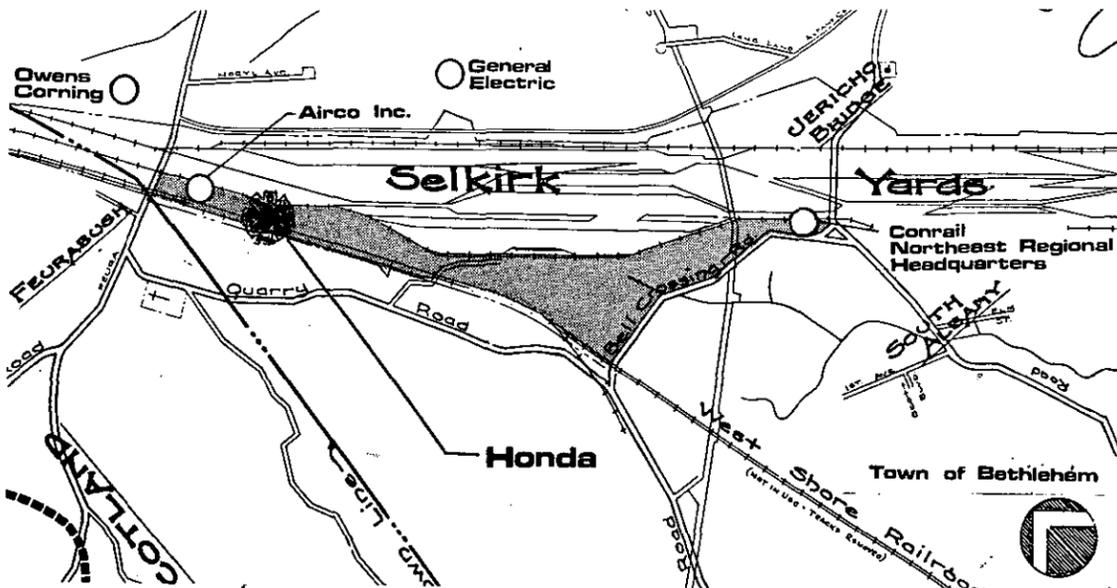

American Honda Motor Co., Inc., of Gardena, Calif., will use the new facility as a distribution depot for Honda motorcycles and power products, according to Willard T. Anderson, the Albany developer who put the deal together.

"The building will be the largest warehouse facility in the Capital District," Anderson said in a press release. "It will consist of eight acres under one roof."

The area south of the Conrail yards is mostly vacant land, and local officials have been eyeing its potential for industrial development for several years. That interest accelerated last January when Conrail dedicated its new Northeast Region headquarters building near the Jericho Bridge.

The $1.4-million Conrail building was also developed by Anderson, and it carried the necessary signal — Conrail is in Selkirk to stay, making the area a major hub of transportation in the Northeast.

"Bill looked at the area and saw that with rail and highway facilities, he felt the area was very advantageous for other types of development," said Jeff Ward,

The site for Honda's new Selkirk warehouse is part of a larger site (shaded) that Albany developer Willard Anderson plans to promote as an industrial park. With General Electric's Noryl Plant, Owens Corning and the year-old Conrail Northeast Regional Headquarters as a nucleus, the area could become a major commercial center. On the cover: An aerial view of the same site shows large amounts of vacant land to be developed.

Anderson's vice president for engineering and construction. Anderson now has control of the 150-acre parcel formerly owned by the Penn Central Railroad Co., Ward said. The land is bounded by Feura Bush Rd. on the west and Bell Crossing Rd. on the southeast, and by the rail yards on the north and the old West Shore Railroad line (no longer in use) on the south.

"He's been very active in developing and promoting that land for the last two years," Ward said. Honda, he added, "solidified the whole thing. It will be, if you will, an industrial park."

Ward said Anderson plans to build a road from Feura Bush Rd. to the new Honda plant this spring, and said, if other plans jell, the road may be extended as far as Bell Crossing Rd. to provide access to the entire site. Water will be run from an existing main that extends from Feura Bush to the Airco plant just west of the Honda site, he said.

Since the Honda plant is not expected to be a major employer, sewer service is not essential at this time, Ward said, but will be "a key factor" in further development of the site. There is no existing sewer line near the site. Anderson is working on that problem with local and state officials, Ward said.

Bethlehem Supervisor Robert Hendrick welcomed the Honda warehouse to the town. "It is the type of industry we have been seeking and hopefully will act as a catalyst for future development," he said.

Hendrick and Public Works Commissioner Bruce Secor have been working with Anderson and Honda officials to help develop the site, which is unzoned. Hendrick noted that the town has substantially increased its efforts to attract new industry in the last year.

The town's Industrial Development Authority, which financed its first two projects last year, will consider its first 1986 application for financial help next week, Hendrick said. A developer wants to use IDA financing to borrow $980,000 to build a warehouse on Long Lane, on the north side of the Conrail yards, he said. Hendrick declined to name the developer until the IDA meets, but said it is not connected to the Honda plans.

Even more significant is the fact that the town two years ago acquired a 223-acre parcel of land that was once right-of-way for the old West Shore Railroad. The town's portion of that land extends southeast from Bell Crossing Rd. to South Bethlehem, and could be used as an access road to open up other undeveloped land near the rail yards.

Ambulance squads support state training requirements

By Theresa Bobear

Area volunteer ambulance squads have reacted positively to proposed state regulation of their staff, equipment and medical services.

In addition to mandating that one licensed emergency medical technician (EMT) be present on every ambulance call, the proposed revision of state public health law would establish a state medical advisory committee to advise on minimum medical control standards. The proposed legislation also would establish regional emergency medical corporations, which would be eligible for state grant monies.

Previously, Article 30 of New York State Public Health Law exempted volunteer ambulance squads from state control.

"Everybody in the state deserves to have a minimally trained person in the back of the ambulance," said Jerry Strait, deputy director of the state's Emergency Medical Service program. Strait said the bill provides basic standards for staffing and equipment. "Currently, you take what you get when the ambulance gets there," Strait said.

Some 970 out of 1,190 ambulance services in the state are volunteer, according to Strait. Strait said about 212 of the volunteer ambulance services have chosen to be certified, and he estimates about one-half could be certified without major changes.

Strait said a number of ambulance attendants have only advanced first aid training, which may not include instruction in, for example, the use of oxygen or state-of-the-art spinal immobilization equipment.

When a regulation would cause a hardship or prevent a community from being provided with service, squads would be able to obtain an 18-month waiver.

"I think it's a good proposal," said Evelyn Cole, captain of the Onesquethaw Volunteer Rescue Squad. "If people call the ambulance, they have to expect people who are qualified to give them care."

"At the present time we do not run without an EMT on the call," said Cole. "We are state certified at this time." According to Cole, Onesquethaw has 15 to 20 volunteers, including about six EMT's. She said the squad could use more volunteers.

While the Bethlehem Volunteer Ambulance Squad is not certified, Charles Wheeler, president, said the proposed changes would have no major effect. "Basically, we already are running with one EMT on every call," said Wheeler.

"The important thing, I feel, is that we don't get overregulated,"

Ethel Birchenough, library benefactor

Ethel Kattrein Birchenough, 71, of Slingerlands, president and 23-year member of the Bethlehem Public Library board of trustees, died Jan. 2 at St. Peter's Hospice, Albany, after a long illness.

"During her years on the board she worked to provide the best possible library service for all of the citizens of the Bethlehem School District," said Barbara Mladinov, director of the library. "She was constantly alert to improvements and innovations in services and policies in order to achieve her goals. Her leadership will be sorely missed."

"She was community-minded," said Dr. Thomas Shen, a member of the library's board. "She was liked by everybody, by all the board members. We worked very closely."

"Mrs. Birchenough often spoke of her interest in building, and of conceiving an idea and planning and developing it into actuality," said Mladinov. In the 1960's Mrs. Birchenough worked with Mrs. Barbara Rau, former library director, and Dr.

Corrigan on planning board

The Corrigan name is back in Bethlehem town government. Dennis J. Corrigan of Glenmont was appointed to the Bethlehem Planning Board during the town's organizational meeting last week.

Corrigan, the son of former town supervisor Thomas V. Corrigan, is employed as a senior design engineer for the design and construction group of the state Office of General Services.

"I'm happy to be of service to the community, and I hope to do a good job," said Corrigan.

A licensed professional engineer, Corrigan is co-owner of Framingham Associates Inc., Glenmont, a business that offers engineering inspections for buyers of residential and light commercial structures.

He has been a Bethlehem Republican Committeeman for the past six years.

Born in Albany, Corrigan is a lifelong resident of Bethlehem and a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in forestry engineering from the State University College at Syracuse and a master's degree in environmental engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Corrigan is a former member of the Bethlehem Council for Conservation of the Environment.

Corrigan and his wife, Marilyn, have three sons, Brian, Kevin and Michael.

□ Honda warehouse

Honda will not own the new warehouse facility. It will be constructed by D. Benvenuti Co. of California on 69 acres of land and leased by Anderson. Ward said the Albany engineering firm of Smith and Mahoney is working on the site plan.

Anderson said his firm also worked closely with officials from the state Department of Commerce and Conrail in putting together the deal.

A Honda official in Gardena, Calif., said Thursday that the facility will be a replacement for a Honda distribution facility in New Jersey and will serve New England and New York. It should be in operation by the middle of this year, he said.

The availability of easy access to rail and trucking routes was a factor in the company's decision to explore the Selkirk location, the official said. The distribution center for motorcycles and power equipment such as generators, outboard motors and snowblowers will be managed by the company now operating the New Jersey facility, he said.

Ward said Anderson had been asked by Honda not to disclose the cost of the facility, or the number of people to be employed. However, he confirmed that as a warehouse the facility would not be expected to be a major employer.

You're Never Too Old To Hear Better

Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A nonoperating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone who sends for his free model now.

Send for this model, it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It is not a real hearing aid and it's yours to keep free. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost and certainly no obligation. All hearing problems are not alike and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid but many can. So, send for your free model now. Thousands have already mailed, so be sure to write today to Department 075S, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago Il. 60646.

he said. "As long as they don't overregulate and they do it from a practical point of view, it is a positive step.

"I think they're very interested in doing it in a practical way."

One positive aspect of the proposal, according to Wheeler, is teer Ambulance Squad. Joyce reported that about eight of their 50 volunteers are certified EMT's. "We've lost three this year," she added.

Joyce said the legislation will help in the area of patient care, but she offered one caution. "I think if they're going to push that (EMT certification) and make it manda-and that's what we're all about — to provide the best, most proficient medical care possible. But on the other hand, it could hurt the outlying areas, or even put them out of business," said Boyea.

"What if you don't have an EMT? Do you respond without an EMT or do you just not respond? The primary responsibility is to get to the patient and get him to the hospital," said Boyea.

"The question is why do volunthat it would provide immunity from liability for volunteers who follow standard practices and are not grossly negligent. "That may help bring volunteers in," he said, noting that the squad needs volunteers badly — particularly during the daytime.

The Bethlehem squad, which runs out of South Bethlehem, Glenmont and Selkirk on a rotating basis, has 55 to 60 volunteers, according to Wheeler.

"We won't notice that much of a change because we're already certified," said Barbara Joyce, captain of the Voorheesville Volun-

"We're New York State-certified already," said Robert Boyea, captain of the Delmar Rescue Squad. "We guarantee that there's an EMT on every cal-

"We always like to have as many EMT's as we can, but the time requirements are becoming more and more lengthy," said Boyea.

"It's a two-edged sword. It will definitely be good for the public,

Driver hurt

Rachel M. Felter, 18, of Coeymans Hollow was treated at Albany Medical Center and released, a hospital spokesman said, after the car she was driving went off South Albany Rd. in Selkirk Saturday evening and hit a utility pole. The woman told Bethlehem police she lost control of the vehicle as she was turning onto South Albany Rd. from Elm St. and the vehicle went down an embankment and struck the pole, according to the police report of the accident.

Arrested in theft

Rich Dominy, 20, of Albany was arrested Saturday by Bethlehem police on a warrant charging third-degree burglary, a felony, in connection with a Dec. 9 theft at the Big M Truck Stop, Rt. 9W. According to police reports, cash and charge slips with a combined value of more than $300 were taken from behind the counter at the truck stop on that date. The thief then fled on a bicycle, according to the report.

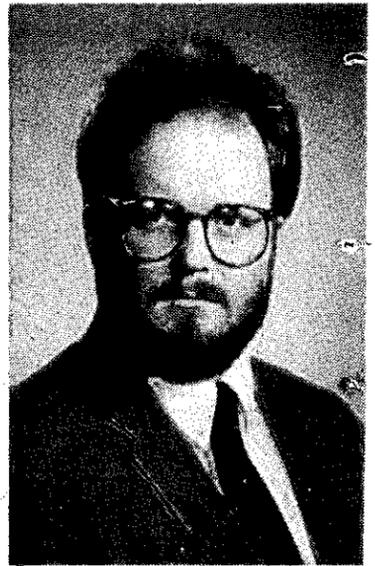

Area DA to run against Assemblyman Larry Lane

Eugene Keeler, Columbia County district attorney, has announced he is seeking the 102nd Assembly District seat now held by Clarence D. (Larry) Lane.

A resident of Kinderhook, Keeler, a Democrat, was elected to the district attorney's post in 1983, after three years as an assistant public defender for the county. He is a partner in the firm of Siegletuch and Keeler, with offices in Hudson and Copake, and also is president of Keeler Insurance Agency Inc., in Hudson.

A 1972 graduate of St. Lawrence University, Keeler received a master's degree in social work at the University of Tennessee and a law degree from Memphis State University, in Tennessee. He is a director of legal and advocacy services for the Columbia County chapter of the New York State Association for Retarded Children.

Keeler, 35, is married to Donna

Eugene Keeler

Morgan, formerly of Delmar. The couple has two children.

Surprise!

A Wynantskill man made the unpleasant discovery that the brakes on his car had failed as he was coming down Corning Hill Rd. onto Rt. 9W about 3:20 p.m. Friday, according to Bethlehem police reports. The motorist swerved to the right, hitting a barrel that had been placed there as a barrier by road crews, and his car then overturned on top of a second barrel, the report said. The driver reported no injuries.

Stolen car found

A 1985 model car stolen Dec. 24 while it was parked off Delaware Ave. at Bedell Ave. was recovered last week in Albany, according to Bethlehem police reports. Four persons were seen running from the vehicle after it was involved in a minor accident in the city, Albany police said. The vehicle, owned by National Car Rental, was valued at $11,500, the report noted. There was no estimate of the amount of damage done to the car.

Many town employees get salary increases

There was an air of festivity as the Town of Bethlehem government was launched into the new year with the swearing-in Thursday of six officials elected or re-elected in November. Flashbulbs popped in the Town Hall meeting room as Republican party faithful, town department heads and family members crowded in to witness the brief ceremony.

There was some quieter celebrating being done too, as the town board handed out substantial raises in the form of reclassification of some jobs and bonuses for long-term employees. The changes in salary were approved in a number of resolutions setting salaries for the new year, but were not announced as changes at the meeting.

At the start of the meeting, Supreme Court Judge Edward Conway administered the oath of office to Supervisor A. Robert Hendrick, who easily won his first full term in November after being appointed to the post last February when Tom Corrigan retired; Councilman John B. Geurtze, for a third four-year term; and Sue Ann Rutchko, beginning her first full term after being named to Hendrick's seat on the council last February. Also, Town Justice Roger Fritts was sworn in for his third four-year term; and veteran Highway Superintendent Martin Cross and Town Clerk Carolyn M. Lyons, also appointed in February when Marion Camp retired, were sworn in for two-year terms.

The organizational meeting agenda always includes a lengthy list of appointments and resolutions setting salaries for town employees. In the past few years, it has been the town board's practice to hand out across-the-board raises, usually in the 5 to 6 percent range, but last fall Hendrick proposed a departure from that custom. In addition to a 5 percent raise for all town employees (except police officers), Hendrick asked the board to consider a $500 "longevity bonus" for employees who have been with the town for 20 years or more, and also to study the town's overall salary structure.

The longevity bonus was approved in the 1986 budget, and at the organizational meeting 48 employees were given the $500 bonus in addition to their 5 percent raise, Hendrick said. While working on the budget last year, the board also hired consultant David Zaron to conduct the reclassification study. According to Hendrick, the board has met several times in executive session to discuss Zaron's recommendations, and has so far approved about 45 changes in pay grade.

Seven department heads who had their salaries reclassified are listed in the organizational meeting agenda. Town Assessor John Thompson was reclassified two pay grades, and his salary increased by $2,606 to $28,620. Building Inspector John Flanagan, who has more time with the town, also went up two pay grades, but with the longevity increase his salary jumped $3,255 to $30,514. Comptroller George Mann's two pay grade increase meant $3,999 to a salary of $30,014.

Receiver of Taxes Kenneth Hahn got a one pay grade increase, and his salary went up $3,111 to $27,815. Parks and Recreation Administrator Philip Maher was boosted three pay grades, with his total salary increasing $2,606 to $28,621. Town Court Clerk Barbara Hodom went up four pay grades, $1,697 to $18,236. Town Clerk Carolyn Lyons, new on the job last year, got a one pay grade increase.

Hendrick's salary this year is $39,727. Commissioner of Public Works Bruce Secor, whose salary was adjusted last year prior to Hendrick's appointment as supervisor, is also at $39,727. The next highest town salary is Police Chief Paul E. Currie's $37,382.

The only town employees receiving no pay raise were the police officers who are members of the Police Benevolent Association — all members of the force except the top three officers — who are now entering their second year without a contract. For the second year in a row, the organizational meeting agenda contained an agreement between the town and the PBA leadership that the salary schedule would remain the same until an agreement is reached.

Negotiations have snagged on a PBA demand for retirement after 20 years, and binding arbitration is the next step — a first for the town and its police officers. Hendrick said Friday that a session with an arbitrator appointed by the state Public Employment Relations Board is scheduled for this Friday.

Other actions Thursday by the town board:

- Reappointed John A. Williamson chairman of the Bethlehem Planning Board at a salary of $6,300, and appointed board member William Johnston Jr. to a new term expiring at the end of 1992. Dennis J. Corrigan was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Edward Mulligan, ending Dec. 31, 1987.

- Reappointed Charles B. Fritts chairman of the town Board of Appeals at a salary of $2,905, and appointed board member Orrin J. Barr to a new five-year term.

- Designated Jan. 20, observing Martin Luther King's birthday, as an additional holiday for town employees, making 12 days off altogether.

- Redesignated Key Bank and the State Bank of Albany as the town's official depositories and The Spotlight as the town's official newspaper.

- Authorized Hendrick to sign a new contract with Project Hope, which counsels troubled teenagers, at $20,000—a $1,000 increase.

Break-in tried

Bethlehem police are investigating an apparent burglary attempt that took place Dec. 29 at the VIP gasoline station on Delaware Ave. in Delmar. According to police reports, the lock on a side door was found damaged and a front window at the station had been broken.

Call out for helpers

Teresian House Nursing Home, at 200 Washington Ave. Extension in Albany, is looking for volunteers who will spend one hour a week helping out. Volunteers are needed in the store, to visit a resident without a family, to walk with a resident, or to take residents to and from therapies in Teresian House.

Those who will help should contact Sister Elias, volunteer director, at 456-2000.

Bike recovered

A boy's blue bicycle was picked up Saturday at Bethlehem Central High School, according to Bethlehem police reports. The bike had been reported stolen from that location on Nov. 20.

Pileup at Rt. 85A

A four-car pileup about noon Monday in New Scotland sent a Berne woman to St. Peter's Hospital in Albany.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department in Voorheesville said a car driven by a Schenectady man went off Rt. 85A at Martin Rd. when an oncoming vehicle veered into his lane at a time when blowing snow had reduced visibility. A vehicle behind the first car slid into it, and then a third car came into the pileup, the deputy said. Voorheesville residents were driving the second and third cars, the report noted.

When Linda Weaver, 46, of Berne, who also was eastbound on Rt. 85A, swerved to avoid the tangle of cars, her vehicle skidded and overturned, the deputy said. Weaver suffered head injuries and was taken to the hospital by the Voorheesville Ambulance Squad. A hospital spokesman said she was treated and released.

The deputy said all vehicles involved received extensive damage. No tickets were issued.

Bridge plan reaction mixed

Area residents had an opportunity to learn about three alternatives for replacing the aging Mosher Bridge on Rt. 396 during a recent state Department of Transportation (DOT) information session.

The bridge links Selkirk and South Bethlehem over the Conrail freight yards near Beckers Corners. The state has two plans for replacing the bridge, one using the present site and the other northeast of the existing bridge.

The third alternative involves elimination of the bridge and construction of a one-mile bypass from Rt. 396, starting from a point southwest of the railroad overpass and going east to Rt.

SELKIRK

9W. The new road would connect with Rt. 9W south of Dibbs Bridge.

Wayne Johnson, DOT project designer, said public reaction to the plans was mixed, depending on where the speakers lived.

Offering a general summary of the comments, Johnson said some people who live on the South Bethlehem side favor the existing location for the bridge. Johnson said some people who live near Beckers Corners favor a bypass to avoid having through traffic at Beckers Corners.

Several Bethlehem town officials have expressed opposition to the proposal for the elimination of the bridge, noting that the structure provides the access necessary for development to the south of the yards.

"Right now we're just looking at the comments we've received," Johnson said.

A public hearing to consider the proposals will be held at A.W. Becker Elementary School, Rt. 9W, on Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Johnson said comments will be accepted for 10 days after the hearing. Following review of all the comments, a recommendation will be formulated about two months after the hearing, according to Johnson. The project designer said it is hoped construction will start in 1988.

Christine Fisher of Slingerlands, left, will be the official Yop Guard, greeting children before the Vanguard-Albany Symphony Orchestra young people's concert, with Michael Weeks of Albany, right, on Sunday, Jan. 12, beginning at 2 p.m. For information call 465-4755.

Woman loses home

1986 did not start out happily for an elderly Selkirk woman, whose mobile home at Meliak's Trailer Park on Old Ravena Rd. in Selkirk was destroyed by fire on New Year's Day.

Selkirk Fire Department's Company No. 1 responded to the 8:45 a.m. blaze to find the trailer owned by Natalie Link engulfed in flames. At 9 a.m. the fire was under control, but the trailer was declared a total loss. The cause of the blaze is under investigation, according to fire company officials.

Snowmobile alert

State police at Selkirk have issued a reminder to snowmobile operators that they should respect the rights of property owners and request permission before driving on private property. Taking the time to request permission to operate on private property may avert a confrontation, later possible arrest, troopers said.

Snowmobilers also were urged to stay on trails and not to damage fences. Police noted that the law requires snowmobiles to be registered.

NEWS FROM SELKIRK AND SOUTH BETHLEHEM

Barbara Pickup

Elks to honor mom

Do you know of a woman who has been an exceptional Mom? One who has excelled above and beyond the norm and deserves special recognition? If you know of such a person, the Bethlehem Elks are again conducting a "Mother of the Year" contest. The Jan. 15 deadline for nominations is rapidly approaching though. If you wish to submit a name, please send the candidates name and the reasons you feel they deserve special recognition to Mother of the Year, B.P.O.E. No. 2233, Box 141, Selkirk, New York, 12158. For information contact Kenneth Parker, contest chairman.

Clock maker

One thing that improves with age these days is the worth of old clocks. Anyone who is interested in learning about early American clocks and their makers will have the opportunity to do so on Jan. 16 at 8 p.m. when James Tigner, a certified clockmaker, will present a slide program at the Bethlehem Historical Association School House Museum, Rt. 144 and Clapper Rd.

Tigner will discuss the different trends in clock making and the change in styles of clocks from the early hand-crafted clocks to the modern mass-produced clocks. The author of a book on clock repair, Tigner was a writer for the American Watchmakers Institute for several years. The meeting will be informal with a question and answer period following the program. Refreshments will be served.

Sunshine seniors

The South Bethlehem-Selkirk Senior Citizens will hold their first meeting of the new year on Monday, Jan. 13, at the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem, Rt. 9W, Selkirk. All seniors of the community are cordially invited to attend.

The luncheon will get under way at noon. Those attending are asked to bring a favorite dish to share. The business meeting will commence at 1 p.m., followed by a social hour and bingo.

On Dec. 21, the Bethlehem Elks of Selkirk sponsored a basketball hoop shoot for girls and boys at the Peter B. Coeymans Elementary School in Ravena. Winners of the competition were: 8-9 boys, Noah Smith; 10-11 boys, Eddy Laberda and Sean Farrell; 10-11 girls, Kristin Laberda; 12-13 boys, Whitey Arnold and Chris Place, and 12-13 girls, Charlotte Arnold.

Winners are now eligible to compete in the district shootoff on Jan. 11 at Bishop Maginn School in Albany.

Anniversary celebration

The Bethlehem Volunteer Ambulance Service will celebrate their 30th anniversary on Jan. 25 with a dinner dance to be held at the Bethlehem Elks Lodge, Rt. 144, Selkirk, beginning at 7 p.m.

Following a family-style roast beef dinner, awards will be given present and past members, including some who have been active in the organization since its inception in 1956. Music for dancing will be provided by the Townsmen.

All are welcome to join the celebration. Reservation must be made by Jan. 11. For information call Arline Wiggand at 434-8550 or Linda Schacht at 767-2924.

Charity ball

The district charity ball of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will be held on Saturday, Jan. 25, at the Colonie Elks Lodge. Members are encouraged to attend.

This is the organization's only function held exclusively to assist members. Funds from the once-a-year event provide emergency aid to members when a real need has been established by a committee consisting of one member from each of the ten district lodges.

Saturday bowling

The adults only group of the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem has planned another evening at the local bowling lanes. On Saturday, Jan. 18, group members will meet at Del Lanes in Delmar to begin bowling at 9 p.m. For a little change of pace though, the teams will be selected and will try regular bowling — not Scotch doubles as in the past. Limited space is available. Therefore reservations should be made as soon as possible by calling Colleen Janssen at 767-3406.

Material for Barbara Pickup's column can be sent to her at P.O. Box 172, RD 1, Selkirk, N.Y. 12158. For questions or late items, call The Spotlight at 439-4949.

Job search on TV

Sage Associates, a Capital District employment firm, is offering free job search advice through a television series being aired on Bethlehem's cable channel 17 through Feb. 11.

"The Job Club," will offer advice on state-of-the-art resumes, interview techniques, the direct approach to employers and resources and the hidden job market. The program was produced by John Cirrin and Bob Katz at the Albany Public Library.

Broadcast times are: Tuesday, Jan. 7 and 13, 7 p.m.; Thursday, Jan. 9 and 16, 7 p.m.; Tuesday, Jan. 21 and 28, 7 p.m.; Thursday, Jan. 23 and 30, 7 p.m., and Tuesday, Feb. 4 and 11, 7 p.m.

For information call 434-3236.

Pickup missing

Bethlehem police are on the lookout for a 1986 model pickup truck that disappeared from a driveway on King Ct. in Selkirk sometime in late December while the owner was away. The truck was reported missing Dec. 31.

Crash snaps pole

A Selkirk man who was east-bound on Rt. 396 Friday during freezing rain lost control of his vehicle near Thatcher St. and hit a utility pole, breaking it off; according to a spokesman for the state police at the Selkirk substation. The man was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions, troopers said.

hallway fixtures there shortly after midnight Saturday. Damage was estimated at more than $250, according to Bethlehem police reports. Investigators found a ball cap with a name on it under one bed in the room and also discovered some cassette tapes from the Bethlehem Public Library, the report noted.

Motel damaged

Bethlehem police are investigating a report from the owner of the Albany Motor Inn, Rt. 9W, Glenmont, that two men damaged a fire extinguisher plus room and

Three deer hit

Three car-deer accidents were reported during the week to state police at the Selkirk substation. The locations were Rts. 144, 32 and 9W. No injuries were reported.

New planner appointed

Annick Belleville of New Salem was appointed to the New Scotland Planning Board last Wednesday at the town's annual organizational meeting.

Belleville, a registered Independent, will fill the seat previously occupied by Samuel Tommeil. Her term will expire on Aug. 31, 1988.

Belleville said she plans to be as impartial as possible. "I consider myself independent," she said.

The newly appointed planning board member has been regularly attending town board and planning board meetings for more than three years "as an interested party."

"I am just very interested, and I'm concerned because it's my town as well as everybody else's," said Belleville. "I consider it my home."

"I think you have to be sure you're working within the framework of the zoning law which the town has," she said. "I'm sure there's a lot to learn, and I hope to be a fast learner."

Born in the Province of Normandy, France, Belleville has lived in New Salem for 23 years. She said she was first attracted to New Scotland by its pastoral setting.

A graduate of Sherwood Central High School, Sherwood, N.Y., Belleville holds a master's degree in advanced classroom teaching, with certification in Spanish and French, from the State University at Albany. She is a teacher at Farnsworth Middle

Annick Belleville

School in Guilderland.

She is a member of the New York State Teachers Association, the New York State Association of Foreign Language Teachers and the New Scotland Civic Association.

She resides with her husband, Richard.

Appointed at CSR

Mary Partridge-Brown of Voorheesville has been appointed associate director of admissions for the College of Saint Rose in Albany.

A graduate of the State University College at Oneonta, Partridge-Brown has served as assistant director of admissions at the Pace University School of Law, assistant to the graduate registrar at the Pace University Lubin Graduate School of Business and director of Project Peace of Mind for the Rockland County Youth Bureau.

She has done graduate work at Pace University and the State University College at New Paltz.

Town Board makes appointments

Appointments made during New Scotland's organizational meeting last Wednesday included: Frederick Riester, town attorney, $7,500; E. Walter Miller, building inspector, $12,585; Richard Stickley, planning board chairman, $1,472; Frederick Edmunds, zoning attorney, $5,383; James Sanderson, zoning board of appeals chairman, $650; William A. Barone, dog control officer, $4,908; Paul Cantilin, town constable, $300; John Adams Jr., town park coordinator, $4,536, and Corinne Cossac, registrar, $432.

Supervisor Stephen Wallace appointed Wyman Osterhout to the position of deputy supervisor and Robert Parmenter to the office of town historian.

Regarding other matters, the board resolved to:

NEW SCOTLAND

- Compensate town officials and employees for the use of their automobiles in the performance of their official duties at a rate of 21 cents per mile.

- Establish 8 p.m. on the first Wednesday of the month as the regular meeting time for the town board.

- Designate the Key Bank as the depository for town funds.

- Set petty cash funds at $200 for the town clerk and $50 for the building inspector.

- Authorize the superintendent of highways to purchase tools and equipment for 1986 in an amount not to exceed $1,000.

- Appoint John Gilhooly and Paul Barrowman as voting machine custodians.

- Authorize the town clerk to issue and collect water and sewer rents.

- Set the yearly salary for civil defense director at $500.

- Accept the financial report of the supervisor no later than Jan. 30.

- Appoint the supervisor as budget officer for 1986.

- Designate the Altamont Enterprise as the official newspaper of the Town of New Scotland.

- Appoint Leland Frisbee as meter reader for the Heldervale water and sewer districts.

- Designate the supervisor as delegate and Wyman Osterhout as alternate to the annual Association of Towns meeting.

New Scotland Town Hall will be closed on Jan. 20 in observance of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

Grant to college

Empire State College of the State University of New York is among 41 educational and cultural institutions in the country to be chosen by the National Endowment for the Humanities to share in $14.9 million in challenge grants. The grants must be matched three to one by private sector money.

Empire State College, which has a learning unit at 155 Washington Ave. Albany, received a challenge grant for $25,000 and is to raise the necessary $75,000 in private money over a three-year period. The funds will be used to support teaching and learning in the humanities.

Yoga classes listed

A variety of classes in Kripalu Yoga, a form of hatha yoga developed for westerners by Yogi Desai, will be offered this spring at the Kripalu Yoga Center, 1698 Central Ave., Albany 12205.

Courses will be offered at beginning, intermediate and advanced levels, beginning Jan. 20. The following workshops will also be offered: shiatsu energy, Jan. 25; inner dance, Feb. 1; macrobiotic cooking, Feb. 8; shiatsu touch and pressure, Feb. 15; shiatsu diagnosis, March 1; relating from the heart, March 8; herbology, March 15, and Swedish massage, March 22.

Dalkon claim deadline

The A. H. Robins Company of Richmond, Va., has announced April 30 as the deadline for filing claims relating to use of the Dalkon Shield, an intrauterine birth control device formerly marketed by the company.

After the burden of litigation relating to the Dalkon Shield had reached a monthly level in excess of $15 million in 1985, the company filed a plan of reorganization under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

Claims may be made by mailing a postcard or letter containing the claimant's full name, complete address and statement of claim to Dalkon Shield, P.O. Box 444, Richmond, Va. 23203.

Claimants will then be sent a questionnaire, which must be completed and returned by June 30, 1986.

Kids Club for '86

The Kids Club, a non-profit, after-school child care program to be housed at the Voorheesville Elementary School, will begin enrollment for the 1986-87 school year on Tuesday, Jan. 21, at the grade school, beginning at 7 p.m.

Board members will be on hand at that time to present an overview of the new program for Voorheesville Central School District children in grades one through six. Applications for the program will be sent home with students on Jan. 22 and Jan. 23, with a small supply also available at the Voorheesville Public Library and the Voorheesville Pharmacy, after Jan. 21.

Newly elected officers of the Kids Club are: Linda Spina, president; Bonnie Meservy, vice president; Nancy Basal, secretary, and Ed Lukomski, treasurer. Also on the board are Dr. John Basal, Dr. Janet Breeze, and Dorothy McDonald.

All area parents and teachers are welcome. For information contact any member of the board, call Jack or Nancy Basal at 765-2637 or write to the Kids Club, P.O. Box 295, Voorheesville, N.Y. 12186.

Education matters

The Board of Education of the Voorheesville Central School District will hold their monthly meeting on Monday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the district offices, located at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School. The agenda will include a report on teacher evaluation and staff development.

The public is also reminded that the first in a series of budget meetings is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 22, in the high school library. The 7 p.m. meeting will give district residents an opportunity to offer suggestions and comments on the budget. All are welcome.

Soccer signup

The New Scotland traveling soccer league will hold team registration on Friday, Jan. 17, from 7 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Jan. 18, from 9 to 11 a.m., at Voorheesville Elementary School.

According to league President James Hladun, anyone interested in playing on one of the five teams is welcome.

All registrants must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian and must bring proof of age and a $40 registration fee, payable at time of registration.

The league is also planning on fielding under-12 and under-14 girls teams if enough interest is shown.

Date of birth requirements are as follows: under-10, 1976 or later; under-12, 1974 or later; under-14, 1972 or later; under-16, 1970 or later, and under-19, 1967 or later.

For information call Hladun at 765-4241 or Brian Rose, league vice president, at 765-2506.

Hoop clinic

Area girls and boys interested in playing basketball are welcome to drop by at the elementary school any Saturday, between 9 a.m. and noon, to participate in a basketball clinic, sponsored by the Village of Voorheesville.

According to Rich Langford, village trustee and liaison to the youth and recreation committee, the clinic is open to both boys and girls in grades four through six and will run from Jan. 11 through March 1 with no session scheduled for Feb. 22, due to winter recess.

Legion auxiliary

The Voorheesville American Legion Auxiliary will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, Jan. 9, at 8 p.m. in the American Legion Hall, Voorheesville Ave.

The free program is designed to help young hoopsters hone their skills. Coaches Brett Hotaling and Jeff Rockmore invite all new players to join them.

Plans will be discussed for the upcoming Valentine dinner-dance as well as the auxiliary's 40th anniversary. In charge of refreshments this month will be Ruth Mesick and Marion Hatch.

Shaker heritage

A series entitled "The Christian Community of the Future: Ways to Get from Here to There" will continue this week at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 10, at St. Matthew's Church, Voorheesville.

A film about "The Shakers: Hands to Work, Hearts to God" will be presented with Walt Chura from the "Tree of Life Bookstore" acting as commentator. The film, produced by Ken and Amy Burns, paints a bittersweet portrait of 200 years of a truly original way of life led by the Shakers.

Today only a handful of Shakers remain, carrying on a tradition of religious devotion, which at one time embraced thousands of Americans in numerous self-supporting communities. Many Shakers once lived in the upstate New York area.

All are welcome to attend this free program.

Old-time radio

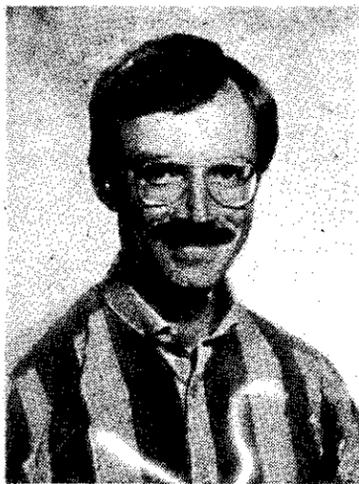

The New Scotland Senior Citizens will hold a lunch and craft meeting on Wednesday, Jan. 15, at the center in the Old New Salem Schoolhouse.

Their regular meeting will be held today, Jan. 8, and will feature Jack Keenan of the First American Bank. Keenan will present an entertaining program on old-time radio.

Mayor to speak

Schenectady Mayor Karen Johnson will speak to members of the Albany branch of the American Association of University Women on Saturday, Jan. 18, at the Junior College of Albany, Academy Rd., Albany.

The breakfast meeting will begin at 10 a.m. For reservations call Ann Marie Grady at 482-5815 before Jan. 10.

Jeffery Mason

Publishes book

Jeffrey C. Mason, formerly of Slingerlands, has published his first book, entitled Around Arcade, with the Arcade Historical Society. The illustrated volume contains information about the architectural history of Arcade, a town in Wyoming County, and includes outlines of five walking/driving tours. Mason, who is town historian, wrote the volume after attending an institute for local historians in Rensselaerville.

Mason has been teaching at Pioneer Central High School in Yorkshire for 13 years. Prior to 1973, he taught social studies at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School in Voorheesville. The Mason family owns the Arcade Herald, a weekly newspaper.

Mason and his wife, Kathy, reside in Arcade with their two children.

3 cars collide

A three-car accident Friday morning on Rt. 85 near Blessing Rd. sent two men to Albany Medical Center Hospital. The two, Charles Henry of Delmar and John C. Nielsen of Albany, received emergency treatment and were released, a hospital spokesman said.

According to Bethlehem police reports, the Henry vehicle, eastbound on Rt. 85, slid on an icy patch in the road and went into the opposite lane, where it collided with the Nielsen auto. The Nielsen auto then slid into the path of another eastbound vehicle, driven by David Simmons of Voorheesville. Simmons and a passenger in his car reported no injuries, according to the police report of the accident.

The injured were taken to the hospital by the Delmar Fire Department Rescue Squad.

The 7:35 a.m. accident was one of eight investigated Friday by Bethlehem police. Several of the other accidents also were attributed to slippery road conditions. No other injuries were reported.

Childbirth classes

Couples interested in enhancing their knowledge of the childbirth experience can register for a 12-week course in The Bradley Method beginning Jan. 29.

The course will focus on relaxation techniques, nutrition, the experience of labor and how to cope, tips for coaches, emergency childbirth, consumerism essentials and breastfeeding and parenting in the early months. A Caesarean prevention class will also be included.

Classes are taught in various locations of the Capital District by certified childbirth educators affiliated with The American Academy of Husband-Coached Childbirth. Pre-registration is necessary as class size is limited. Further information and class location can be obtained by calling 477-7057 or contacting Diane Balog, 15 Pinewood Avenue, East Greenbush.

Faces felony counts

Virgil Votraw, 52, of Voorheesville was indicted Dec. 26 by an Albany County grand jury on two felony counts of driving while intoxicated, according to a spokesman for the county district attorney's office. Votraw was arrested last March after he was pulled over on Rt. 155 by sheriff's deputies.

Blood pressure clinic a tradition

Since November of 1975 volunteers have been screening Bethlehem residents for high blood pressure in a clinic conducted at Bethlehem Town Hall. On the third Tuesday of every month from September through May, volunteers refer people with this invisible health problem to their doctors for care.

Ruth Bickel, founder of the program and a member of the Bethlehem Town Board, says an average of 200 people take advantage of the free service each month. "Some people come every month religiously," she said.

Bickel said she formed the program just before joining the town board because she was "looking for a way to get to know people and have people get to know me."

Bickel said the program is run under the guidance of the American Heart Association. According to Bickel, the first time a person

KeyCorp sets split

KeyCorp, in Albany, has announced a three-for-two stock split for holders of the company's common stock. The effective date will be Jan. 31 for shareholders of record Jan. 17.

KeyCorp directors also announced their intention to declare a quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents per post-split share (an annual rate of $1 per common share).

Company officials said a present holder of two shares of KeyCorp common stock with an expected annual cash dividend of $2.60 ($1.30 a share) will receive three shares with a cash dividend expectancy of $3.

KeyCorp, headquartered in Albany, provides personal and corporate financially related services through a network of 13 banks and 15 financial subsidiaries.

Even the high and mighty have their blood pressure taken. Charlotte Maeder of Slingerlands, staff nurse for the American Red Cross, checks Gov. Mario M. Cuomo's blood pressure prior to his donation of a pint of blood during the recent statewide "Gift of Life" campaign. The Governor gave blood to illustrate that the donor does not risk contracting disease by giving and to underscore the current need to help replenish blood supplies during the winter months.

participates he fills out a card. Each time he visits the clinic thereafter, his blood pressure is recorded on the card and compared with previous months.

When a person with high blood pressure is identified, his name is given to officials at the American Heart Association, who then send a letter urging the individual to see a doctor.

"When we first started, we used to have a lot of high readings," said Bickel. "Now we have very few."

Bickel said the blood pressure readings are taken by volunteer nurses. The clerical work is done by Bethlehem senior citizens under the guidance of Karen Pelletier. "It doesn't cost the town any money," said Bickel. "It's all volunteers."

The free program is open to all town residents with no appointment necessary.

Teasing the brain

I have a lifelong attraction to brainteasers and word games. Regardless of my mood or circumstance at the time, my attention can be wooed for at least five minutes by these exercises to jog the brain. Perhaps the attraction combines the challenge, the fun and the belief that all problems have a solution, if only we give them our sincere and dedicated attention.

Here, then, are some samples of the kind of mental exercises I have enjoyed through the years and which you can share with your family and friends. Some are borrowed from my friend Pasquale "Pat" Battaglia, who compiled many brain teasers into a book entitled So You Think You're Smart. Some are taken from Mensa, the society of top intellects around the world. Some are derived from that very prolific Greek author, Anonymous, while the rest come from the recesses of my own mind, which I will attribute to the aforementioned Greek author should any of these mind boggling take you past your point of frustration tolerance.

The answers are on page 23. Good luck and have fun.

1. The following formulas refer to popular phrases, titles or quantities. Here is an example: 100=Y on a F F (Yards on a Football Field)

10=L I all in a R

50=S in the U

40=T of B

6=S on a G

13=a B'D

1.6=K in a M

24=B B B in a P

2. Name 10 parts of the body, internal or external, that are common to both males and females, and that have only three letters. Abbreviations, slang words or profanities do not count.

3. Two gentlemen, each of whom own a horse, are arguing about whose horse is slower. They decide to have a race that will prove beyond any doubt which horse is the slower one. How can they set up the race to be a true test of each horse's speed and, at the same time, prevent any cheating?

Family MATTERS

Norman G. Cohen

4. How can you make "six" out of the following numeral by adding a single line: IX

5. You want to go to the Town of Truth where all the residents speak truth all of the time. You do not want to go to the Town of Lies where all the residents speak falsehoods all of the time. You are on the path that leads to each town when you come to the fork in the road that will take you to one town or the other. A resident of one of the towns approaches you from one of the forks: What single question can you ask this person, knowing he could be either a truth-teller or a liar, and be certain to reach your destination?

6. A big Indian and a little Indian are fishing beside a stream. The little Indian is the big Indian's son. However, the big Indian is not the little Indian's father. Who is it?

7. An antiques dealer is offering an ancient Roman coin for sale. The coin is cast from pure gold, has an image of an emperor, and is dated 123 B.C. How can you tell this coin is not a genuine antique?

8. A driver in a VW Beetle leaves Chicago at 8 a.m. heading east toward Detroit and traveling at an average speed of 50 miles per hour. Another driver in a Porsche leaves Detroit at 9 a.m. the same day heading west toward Chicago and traveling at an average speed of 55 miles per hour. Assuming that both cars are traveling on the same highway, which car will be closer to Detroit at the point where the two meet on that highway?

9. You have a 5-gallon pail and a 3-gallon pail. Go to the stream and return with four gallons of water even though neither pail is graduated.

10. I have in my hand two coins in current circulation in America. Together they total 55 cents. However, one of them is not a nickel. What are they?

Conservation talks

A series of lectures entitled "The Art and Science of Conservation" will be offered during January at the Albany Institute of History and Art.

A program about the conservation of gilded objects will be presented by Larry Price on Jan. 9. Jonathan Thornton, an assistant professor at Buffalo State College in Cooperstown, will present slides and a lecture about the conservation of ceramics and glass on Jan. 16. Joyce Zucker, a conservator of paintings for the Bureau of Historic Sites, Peebles Island, will speak on Jan. 23. Finally, Sharon Moody, historic conservation technician for the New York State Archives, will discuss the preservation of photographs on Jan. 30.

The free lectures will begin at 12:10 p.m. For information call 463-4478.

Navigating on skis

On Saturday, Jan. 11, a free ski orienteering workshop will be offered at Saratoga Spa State Park. Instruction in the basics of orienteering with a map and compass will begin at 10 a.m. at Cunningham's Ski Barn. Courses for beginners and intermediates will be open for participants to test their skills.

No experience is necessary. All are welcome. For information call Ray Perry at 584-2000, ext. 12.

Bruce Bouchard

Producer on stage

Dreaming Emmett, a play by Toni Morrison currently being produced at Capital Repertory Company's Market Theatre, will be reviewed by Bruce Bouchard, producing director of Cap Rep, this Saturday at the Bethlehem Public Library. At 2 p.m. Bouchard will discuss the play, the set and the interpretation being presented by the Capital Repertory Company.

The lecture is sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

Courses offered

A variety of non-credit courses will be offered to adults at Union College, Schenectady, through its winter/spring Lifelong Learning Program, beginning Feb. 3.

Courses being offered will include introduction to micro-computers, Islamic art, passive solar design, biotechnology, technology of modern nuclear warfare, space technology, computers in small business, basic accounting, fundamentals of sales and marketing, American furniture and maritime America.

To register call 370-6288 by Jan. 31.

Blackbirds down Cadets, 60-43

There are definite signs that Voorheesville's boys varsity basketball team is beginning to jell, and that could mean a strong push the second time around the league.

If Coach Bob Crandall had been hoping for a happier New Year on the hardwoods, he got some favorable indications last Friday. His Blackbirds polished off Albany Academy in convincing fashion, 60-43, at home, to even their Colonial Council slate at 3-3 and their overall mark at 5-5.

It wasn't so much the score that gave Crandall the lift, it was the way the Blackbirds controlled the flow of the game. "We were getting inside consistently, and I was especially pleased with our bench players," he declared over the weekend. "I look for a much better second round."

The Blackbirds wind up the first half of the Colonial Council schedule this week with games at Ravena last night (Tuesday) and a home skirmish with Cohoes on Friday. Two wins would put the Blackbirds in a position to make a run for the league gonfalon over the next few weeks.

Against the Cadets the Blackbirds started methodically, took command before intermission, hit a cold spell in the third period, and snapped out of the slump to bury their guests in the final stanza. They were up by only three points at the first-quarter buzzer, but forged a 34-22 cushion at the half. Justin Corcoran scored 10 of the Birds' 17 points in the first eight minutes, making some nice moves inside, and Vinnie Foley hit four baskets in the second period, giving him 12 points before intermission. He shot six for nine in the half, four inside and two outside.

Voorheesville came out cold in the second half, missing their first three shots while the Cadets connected on their first three. That narrowed the gap to 34-28, and at the period break it was still six points difference.

But the Blackbirds put a quick end to that kind of foolishness in the final period, outscoring the Cadets by 15-4 with a balanced attack. Borg meshed four of seven from the penalty stripe in the fourth quarter.

Crandall's new optimism stems from the team's improved inside play and better ballhandling. Corcoran has emerged as a consistent scorer in double figures the last four games. Foley is dependable, and when Kyle Larabee shakes his slump, a lot of good things should happen. Larabee, considered by many observers as the squad's most talented all-around player, has been shut down the last two games, but can break loose any minute.

Most encouraging of all in Crandall's view is the performance of bench players, notably Frank Donnelly and David Dunning. "Donnelly has spelled Borg very well, and has become a strong rebounder," says Crandall. "Dunning played a very nice game against Academy, made some points and played heads-up defense."

Birds place last in tournament

By Tanya Severino

Voorheesville varsity wrestlers are back in action in dual meets this week after a hard learning experience in the Queensbury tournament over the vacation. Last Saturday they faced eight teams throughout the state:

Queensbury came out on top with 165 points and Peru was second with 111 points. The Blackbirds placed last with 63 total team points.

"It was the best tournament that I've ever taken a team to," says head coach Richard Leach. "The competition was outstanding and we wanted to do better. We have a lot of work to do."

Three of his wrestlers showed their hard work this season at the end of the competition. Senior tri-captain Rich Kane walked away with an 8-3 victory over his opponent to win the the 215 weight class.

"He faced some good competition and at the end he came out strong," stated Leach.

Victory No. 2 came in the 138-weight class from senior tri-captain Mark Gillenwalters. At the end of three periods the score was an even 3-3. Gillenwalters came out quick in overtime to win 4-0.

Leach feels the toughest match was with senior tri-captain Bill Kelly, who took second place in the 167 weight class.

"He wrestled very well against a very tough opponent."

Although they placed last in the tournament, Blackbirds realize that their season is far from over. Yesterday the Birds were booked for a trip to Schoharie and tomorrow (Thursday) host Schalmont in their last home match. Leach and his wrestlers hope to do well against the Sabres, who also have an undefeated record in the Colonial Council. Voorheesville is 4-0 in the league.

Ravena sees more losses

By Dan Tidd

Eight times the Ravena basketball team has taken to the court and eight times they have walked off the court with a loss. It has not been a good start for coach Jim Gorham's varsity squad.

"The kids are really pressing now," said Gorham. "They are just flat-out frustrated with the way this season has gone so far."

Gorham knew it was a rebuilding year, but he never expected things to start off so badly for his club. "I'm just as frustrated as the players are," he said last week.

Ravena's latest setback was a 56-43 defeat at the hands of Cohoes Saturday night. "We just did not play well," said Gorham. "Once again, we didn't get any scoring from our front line. They have been silent in our first eight games." The Indians didn't help matters any by shooting a horrible 17 of 49 from the field on the evening. All season the Indians have found it difficult to put the ball in the basket. "Our shooting continues to really slump," said Gorham. "We've got some kids who can shoot the lights out, but they go ice cold when it comes game time."

Cohoes broke open a tight game by scoring the first points of the second half. "They came out smoking after intermission," said Gorham. "We made some poor foul decisions just before the half that gave them six extra points."

Before the Cohoes surge, the Indians trailed by 26-15 at half-time. Ravena struggled the entire first half offensively, scoring just nine points in the first quarter and just six in the second. "We're not going to beat many teams by scoring 43 points in a game," said Gorham.

With Saturday night's loss, the Indians dropped to 0-5 in Colonial Council play and 0-8 overall. Guard John Waddingham paced Ravena scorers with 14 points. The Ravena front line combined for just 13 points on the evening.

Voorheesville was to invade Ravena last night (Tuesday) and the Indians remain at home Friday night against Mechanicville.

THE HOME TEAM

By Tom Kuck
Broker Manager

You Can Afford the Best!

• Are you the kind of person who watches where the dollars go? Most of us are. We shop carefully. We demand value for what we spend. We may buy unbranded goods if there's a worthwhile saving.

• A careful shopper knows value. And a smart one knows when it pays to get top quality. That applies to investing in home improvements, or choosing a real estate agent to market your property. The happy fact is that you can afford to get the best!

• Real estate experience and statistics show that homeowners who sell through a broker get considerably more for their property than those who try to handle the job themselves. The higher sales price more than compensates for the commission paid, especially when you consider the out-of-pocket savings in advertising costs and signs. Many people who try to sell by themselves fail to put a price on the time they must spend to develop advertising, answer phone calls, and wait for prospects who sometimes do not show up.

If you think about it, you can easily afford to have the best. List your property with the winners at

Season opener is a winner for RCS

By Bart Gottesman

After less than two weeks of practice and two scrimmages, the RCS girls varsity basketball team started their 1985-86 campaign with a non-league matchup against Ichabod Crane. In the game, the Indians played as if they had been practicing all year as they manhandled the home team, winning by 16 points.

Ravena was scheduled to play Cohoes in their first Council game last Friday but the contest was postponed.

In the season opening victory, center Sheila Seery paced Ravena with 14 points while Jackie Mulligan followed with 12 points. Terri Baker added eight and Tracy Tucker six.

Both teams started cold in the first quarter with Ravena taking the 11-3 edge, but the Indians turned on the afterburners to take a commanding 34-8 lead at half-time. With Ravena extending the lead to 45-15 five minutes into the third quarter, Coach Betty Faxon played the final 11 minutes with reserve players. The second-string team showed their youth and inexperience as they were outscored 14-0 in the 11-minute stint.

Ravena's relentless press led to many offensive points as the stingy defense caused many Ichabod

Crane turnovers. Faxon, reflecting on her team's performance, said Crane was "not a strong team, and they had trouble with our press. We also dominated the boards and Sheila played a very good game inside the key."

The Indians continue to play with three league games this week. Today (Wednesday) the girls travel to Voorheesville, then take on Mechanicville on Friday, away. Last week's postponed game with Cohoes has been rescheduled for Saturday at RCS.

Blackbirds lack experience

By Rick Leach

Inexperience seems to be the main problem for the Voorheesville girls' basketball team as they suffered losses of 42-30 to Albany High and 45-38 to Holy Names.

These were the first two times the team had the chance to work together in a real game, and the lack of experience showed on the court. In the Albany High game last Monday, the Falcons overmatched the Blackbirds in height and quickness as well as experience. The Birds did play tough in the first half and kept the game close. However, in the second half Albany's strengths took over as they exploded for a big third quarter. The rest of the game was fairly even, but the Falcons held on for the win.

Felony DWI filed

Edwards J. Vail, 40, of Troy faces a felony charge of driving while intoxicated after he was stopped Saturday by Bethlehem police. According to the police report, Vail was pulled over on Rt. 144 at 1:15 a.m. Saturday. The charge is a felony because of a previous conviction on a DWI charge within the past 10 years, police said. Two other motorists were charged this week by Bethlehem police with misdemeanor driving while intoxicated. An Albany man, 44, was pulled over about 4:45 a.m. Friday on Delaware Ave. near Cherry Ave. and an Albany woman was stopped at 2:45 a.m. last Wednesday on Delaware Ave. near the city line. The woman was also ticketed for speeding.

victory. "Our starting five played well, but they were just too big for us," VC coach Nadine Bassler noted.

On Saturday the girls travelled to Holy Names looking for their first win. Again Voorheesville played a strong first half in grabbing a 26-22 lead. A poor third quarter was again the case as Holy Names came out with a suffocating full court press. This forced the Ladybirds to commit many turnovers and travelling violations, while the home squad ran off quick points.

The Blackbirds pulled close again with four minutes remaining, but Holy Names again used the press and scored many more quick points to hold off the Lady Blackbirds' last gasp.

Christy Tarullo led the squad with 17 points, while Tricia Carmody had 12 and Laura Martin added 8. "We are still a little inexperienced, but if we keep working together that will come in time," Bassler said.

The team has two games this week, on Wednesday at home against Ravena and Friday at Cohoes. Ravena figures to be one of the top teams in the Colonial Council, and the Tigers should also be tough. Two wins here can get the hoopsters back on track in the Colonial Council race.

Indians dominate match with Cohoes

By Tim Penk

The RCS wrestling team took a 63-10 victory last week. The Indians dominated the entire match.

The wrestling team started right by getting a pin from Kevin Demis. Then Geoff Demis, Ken Losee and Chip Cowles won by forfeit. Brian Perry, Vince Caballer and Robert Demis pinned their opponents, and Luther Legg won the toughest match of the day by beating a co-captain from Cohoes, 2-0. Steve DiAcetis and Tim Baranska had pins, and Jerry Baranska won by a forfeit.

The Indians struck quickly, having four of their six pins in the first period. The Baranska brothers led the team with their undefeated records. Other top wrestlers include Luther Legg at 7-2-1, Ken Losee at 8-3, Chip Cowles at 7-3, and Marty Stoddard with a record of 6-3.

Coach John Vishneowski was very pleased with his team's enthusiasm. "The team has set the goal not to lose any for the rest of the season." The Indians remain healthy and ready to fight.

The team has a packed schedule coming up with tough matches against Albany High School and Watervliet. The RCS tournament will be held this Saturday at 11 a.m. with 10 schools participating.

Girls holding '93' score

By Dave DeCecco

"93" seems to be the number associated with the Bethlehem gymnastics squad this season, for that has been their score in each one of their last three outings.

Last week, at the highly competitive Shaker Invitational, the girls hauled in the usual 93 points, though it was better than "usual" in this prestigious meet. Head coach Megan Brown explains: "I'm glad it (our score) didn't go down, because at invitational, all four events go on at the same time, and there are people clapping for other events. I think the girls did well despite the distractions."

Their 93 points gave the Eagles a 10th place finish in their division, behind some tough teams from the Binghamton area.

GYMNASTICS

namely Maine-Endwell and Vestal. Sue Powell led BC, placing fifth in the balance beam with a score of 8.0. Her 29.6 total points placed her 10th in the all-around competition.

Tomorrow (Thursday) Bethlehem travels to Scotia, where Brown says they "have won in the past." This one should go down in the win column again this year. On Saturday, the girls host Saratoga, a team that scored 106 points at Shaker, just ahead of BC. "They will be tough to beat," says Brown. Starting time is 10 a.m.

Three on way to Sectional

Three Bethlehem Central students have qualified to compete in the New York State sectional gymnastics meet in New York City.

Colleen Teal, Libby Bartoletti and Chrissy Mann earned the trip to the Big Apple by surpassing a qualifying score of 58 points overall in last weekend's competition in Utica. Teal, a ninth grader, scored 63.60 to place first in the all-around competition in the 12-14 age classification, and Mann, a seventh grader, was fourth with 61.70. Bartoletti, a BC junior, was second in the 15-and-over group with a score of 65.60.

In New York City this weekend the local girls must obtain an overall score of 60.00 to qualify for the New York State championship meet in Monticello in April. All three are members of the DC Stars gymnastics team coached by Doug Conner, and train daily at the Colonie Athletic Club.

The Home Front

By Betty Lent

Solar-powered subdivision is going up in Phoenix. Daytime power will come from its mini-utility, a land parcel covered with photovoltaic cells; excess power will be sold to the local utility company. Homes are insulated to keep cool, cut energy usage.

Where grout is so stained that neither bleach nor triphosphate cleaner will work, scrape out some of the old grout (a beer can opener works best) and fill in with fresh.

Custom-made shades add a decorator touch. Fusible backing makes it easy to create your own shades with fabric that coordinates with upholstery or bedding.

Because mounting tape is made of resilient plastic foam, it can stick to surfaces that are not flat. To avoid making holes in walls, use tape to hang pictures and small fixtures.

Highest-priced real estate in the U.S. is along Manhattan's Fifth Avenue between 49th and 57th streets. It costs between $150 and $383 per square foot!

Ethel Birchenough

Theodore Wenzl, former library board president, to build the present library building.

During her years on the board, Mrs. Birchenough encouraged the implementation of computerization, the concept of regional library networking, the growth of library relations with other community organizations and the founding of a Friends of the Library group.

"She was interested in all phases of the library and in a wide variety of subjects and ideas ranging from nature and animals to poetry and music," said Mladinov. "This was reflected in her many generous personal gifts to the library."

Most recently, Mrs. Birchenough donated a grand piano to the library.

"She was an incredible person," said library board member Joyce Strand. "I think the library has lost a true and devoted friend who gave an awful lot."

"With the passing of Mrs. Birchenough the Bethlehem Public Library has suffered a tremendous loss," said Mladinov. "She was dedicated to the library, a strong supporter, a tireless worker, a good friend. We will miss her greatly."

Born in Albany, Mrs. Birchenough was a graduate of St. Agnes School in Loudonville and Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass. She was a resident of Slingerlands for the past 47 years.

She began her service to the American Red Cross as a volunteer during World War II. She later served as a board member, an honorary trustee and a national field volunteer for the American Red Cross.

She was a member of the Albany Institute of History and Art, the University Club and the Albany Country Club. She was a den mother for the Slingerlands Cub Scout Pack 272.

She was a member of the Slingerlands Community United Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband, Robert H. Birchenough; two sons, David J. Birchenough of Fairport, N.Y., and Robert H. Birchenough Jr. of Farmington, Conn., and a brother, William J. Kattrein Jr. of Indian Lake, N.Y. She is also survived by three grandchildren.

Arrangements were by Marshall W. Tebbutt's Sons, Delmar. Burial will be in the Albany Rural Cemetery, Menands.

Benjamin Taichnar

Benjamin Taichnar, 61, of Delmar, an Army veteran of World War II, died Jan. 2 at the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Born in Albany, he was a graduate of Philip Scuyler High School, Albany.

He was employed as an operating engineer.

He was a member of the International Union of Operating Engineers Local 106 and the Independent Benevolent Society in Albany. He was member of Temple Israel in Albany.

He is survived by his wife, Rosalind Kornblum Taichnar; two daughters, Sandra Stern and Andrea Taichnar of Albany, and a sister, Mildred Olander of Albany.

Spellers, no smokers

The American Lung Association needs volunteers to conduct the assembly portion of their Superspellers program at elementary schools in the Capital District area from March until May.

Through the program, the American Lung Association offers a presentation about lung health and the detrimental effects of smoking. The students participate in a spelling test after obtaining pledges on the number of words they can spell correctly.

Volunteers will be trained by the Lung Association. To volunteer call Eileen Cunningham at 459-4197.

Series 'important'

Editor, The Spotlight:

Thank you for running the articles by Linda Anne Burtis on the transportation of toxic materials through the town.

It was an important series, especially for those of us living near or along the railroad lines. It was horrifying to learn what we have been living with — without any suspicion of the problem.

I was most pleased to learn that our town officials and the fire departments have already been alerted to the hazard, and have thought through some of the problems involved. Let us support them with appropriate equipment that might be needed.

Mrs. Burtis writes clearly and succinctly; it was an excellent series of articles.

Act of kindness

Editor, The Spotlight:

I received a very nice Christmas gift from a person I don't even know. One recent evening, a Grand Union employee phoned to ask if I had lost my purse. What with the holiday rush of activities, I hadn't even missed my purse, but after a quick look around and after identifying my handbag to the Grand Union caller, it was apparent that I had, indeed, lost my purse.

It seems an unidentified lady had found the purse in the parking lot and had turned it in at the Delaware Plaza Grand Union office. It was a relief to get my purse back, but the real Christmas gift was the unknown friend whose act of kindness reminded me of what this season is all about.

Professionals praised

Editor, The Spotlight:

On Saturday, Dec. 21, my husband suffered a heart attack. I had placed the sticker with the local emergency number on the telephone, but naturally I'd never expected to use it!

A police car responded within three minutes and the emergency medical crew was there within six minutes. Everyone agrees that the damage he suffered was minimized partly by his otherwise good condition, but also by the quick delivery of emergency care. The team was professional, and mindful of my emotional state as well as his.

I often see letters thanking the fire department or some community group for its service, but I must admit that I am more likely to be moved to write letters of complaint. This incident made us both want to publicly thank those who helped us. It's important for everyone to know that they shouldn't wait to call that emergency number and that when they do call it, the response is swift and professional.

Auditions set

The Northeastern Association of the Blind will hold auditions for their annual radio/telethon on Jan. 18 and 19, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the WNYT Channel 13 studios in Menands.

The organization's stage show will be presented at the Crossgates Mall, Albany, on Feb. 28 and March 1. All proceeds will be used to continue the private, non-profit agency's work with the blind and visually impaired of the Northeast. Call 463-1211 to reserve an audition time.

Good Reading

Some interesting or unusual books you may have missed.
By Vincent Potenza

In & Around Albany, Schenectady & Troy, by Susanne Dubleton and Anne Older, 1985, 303 pages, paperback, $7.95, Washington Park Press.

As the name implies, this a guide book for the Capital District, a follow-up to the authors' In And Around Albany, published in 1980.

First off, I'd have more confidence in this book's accuracy if the authors hadn't listed The Spotlight as serving Delmar (as in just Delmar) in their section on suburban newspapers. That, of course, is very wrong. I also would feel more comfortable if the book didn't contain ads.

Nevertheless, once started I read the thing cover to cover virtually non-stop. If that isn't the best commendation for a work necessarily dry and factual, I give up. I've lived in this area for almost 15 years now and was stunned at how little I know of it.

The book's physical package is good — it's well composed (I only noticed one garbled section of type); there are plenty of illustrations, maps and good photographs; the printing and binding are well done. The book will fit into your glove compartment or winter coat pocket or pocket-book. If you throw it into your backpack, you won't give yourself spinal anguish. This is important — I think books like this should lend themselves to being carried around.

There are sections on transportation, lodging, restaurants, night life, libraries, museums, the arts, sports and recreation, even some tips on what to see and do in Boston or New York City.

The organization of material is sensible, though other methods would probably work just as well. There is an index, there are plenty of phone numbers and addresses to get more information from and cross-references appear where appropriate.

The writing style is upscale chit-chat, and only once in a while do you get the feeling the authors are straining to say something nice. For the most part they refrain from using superlatives, a temptation it would have been very easy to succumb to, and give us instead more nouns than adjectives — that is, more facts than opinions.

I like the book and plan to keep my copy handy. It's interesting, very useful, and, at only $8 (probably because of those ads I hate) it's a real bargain.

ON YOUR FEET

Dr. Joseph Manzi, Podiatrist

DIABETICS AND FOOT CARE

If you are a diabetic, you should be particularly alert to any problems you may have with your feet. Most foot problems can be treated successfully if you act in time.

As a disease, diabetes tends to cause circulatory problems that affect the feet and legs. It can also cause a loss of feeling in the feet. Infections can start more easily than in the non-diabetic person, and it will probably take longer to cure an infection once it starts.

Diabetics often do not have the ability to feel pain as quickly or intensely as other people, and for that reason injuries to the foot may not be noticed until the condition becomes serious. If you notice even a slight injury to your foot, you should not continue to walk on it unless it has been examined and treated.

Probably the best advice for someone who is a diabetic is to have his feet examined routinely by his foot specialist. Even minor problems can become serious if left untreated.

Brain teaser answers

Here are the answers to the questions posed in Norm Cohen's column, Family Matters (page 15).

1. 10 = Little Indians all in a Row. 50 = States in the Union. 40 = Thieves of Baghdad. 6 = Strings on a Guitar. 13 = a Baker's Dozen. 1.6 = Kilometers in a Mile. 24 = Black Birds Baked in a Pie.

2. Eye, ear, arm, leg, toe, hip, rib, lip, gum, jaw.

3. Each rides the other's horse.

4. Add "S" in front of the numeral.

5. "Which is the way to your hometown?" No matter from which town the person comes, he will point in the direction of the Town of Truth.

6. The little Indian's mother.

7. There is no way a genuine coin could be marked "B.C." (Before Christ) and indicate the number of years before Christ would be born.

Trip to Algeria

Anita Sanchez will show slides of Algeria at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 16, at the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar.

On dean's list

Debra G. Bausback of Slingerlands and Annie Marie Bucklew of Delmar have been named to the dean's list at Hartwick College in Oneonta. Both students are majoring in biology.

8. Since both cars will be at the same point at the same time, they will be equally distant from Detroit, or any other city for that matter.

9. Fill the 3-gallon pail and pour its contents into the 5-gallon pail. Fill the 3-gallon again and pour its contents into the 5-gallon until full. You will now have 1 gallon of water left in the 3-gallon pail. Empty the 5-gallon pail and pour the 1 gallon into it. Then fill the 3 gallon once more and pour its contents into the 5-gallon pail giving you 4 gallons.

10. A half-dollar and a nickel. The half-dollar is the "one" which is not a nickel.
