'A business with no yesterday'

By Tom McPheeters

There are still plenty of people in Selkirk who remember Jack Welch.

John F. Welch Jr., chairman and CEO of the General Electric Company since 1981, has shaken up his giant corporation as few executives have. He is both respected and feared in the business world, but Saturday he was back where it all began 20 years ago on the rolling farm land of the old Becker homestead on Long Lane. It was Welch, then a young executive in Schenectady, who persuaded the company to build a new plastics plant in Selkirk, and who gave it its initial direction.

The Selkirk operation held an open house Saturday to celebrate its 20th anniversary and to honor Welch and the other "pioneers" who were with the plant from the beginning. It was a happy and somewhat emotional occasion.

"Everybody drinks out of the same mug at the Bush," Welch said, referring to a favorite plant watering hole, the Feura Bush Tavern.

"There is a unique spirit in the work environment here," Welch told the crowd of employees and friends. "You taught me more than any place I've ever been."

What he learned, Welch said, was the value of "teamwork," the idea that success at Selkirk was everybody's business, which made it possible to come up with products to fit the customer's needs. Because Selkirk was a new, highly automated plant, it was in a position to innovate, and that spirit made it successful, he said.

"This business didn't have a yesterday," he said. Welch said he wished he could take the Selkirk experience and use it throughout the company — "it's what business in this company is all about," he said.

Earlier, visitors had a chance to tour the plant, which now makes several different plastics — NORYL, GELOY and VALOX — each with different properties to be used in various manufacturing processes. When the plant started there were a number of complaints about odors, but over the years the complaints have dwindled.

John F. Welch Jr., GE chairman and CEO who built the Selkirk operation 20 years ago, unveils the plaque commemorating the event at the plant's celebration Saturday. Spotlight

Three years ago, there were about 50 complaints a year; last year there were three complaints, according to Michael Joyce, the plant's director of environmental control. "We keep paring it down," he said. That is possible because the plant was designed to be entirely self-contained — all air, solid and liquid waste generated is processed at the plant, he said.

"Somebody — I guess Jack Welch when he set this plant up — has some foresight," Joyce said.

Welch became general manager of the plastics Department in 1968 and was named a vice president in 1972. He had some people to thank Saturday.

"You build it up and you get a couple of promotions, and pretty soon you get to run the company. It really is a pretty good deal."

No tax increase in town budget

By Kevin Mullen

Supervisor Robert Hendrick said Monday he plans to present a tentative 1987 Bethlehem town budget that will require no increase in property taxes. The spending plan, which calls for a five percent raise for all town employees and an increase in planning services, was to be presented Tuesday at a special town board meeting.

Hendrick said the board will hold several budget workshops during October. A preliminary budget must be approved no later than one day after the Nov. 4 election.

Although town expenditures will increase next year, Hendrick said he doesn't see an increase in the property tax rate for fiscal 1987 because other revenues are increasing. He said he has estimated an increase in county sales tax revenue from $2.7 million in 1986 to $2.9 million in 1987. Mortgage tax revenue will go from $95,000 in 1986 to $150,000 in the 1987 budget.

"Hopefully there will not be a town tax increase," he said. "And none in highway."

Hendrick said he will ask the board for a five percent increase in all town salaries, but he said he plans to push the board for a six percent increase.

While inflation this year has been less than five percent, over the past 10 years it has increased 87 percent, he said. "Town salaries have increased 61 percent over the past ten years."

The tentative General Town Budget shows an increase of

BETHLEHEM

$469,210, and the Highway Department budget will increase $39,000, Hendrick said.

Some of the tentative budget's highlights are:

- Under the Shared Services category, Hendrick said that the town hall needs some renovations and roof repairs; the town hall parking lot will be extended and the roof on the Waldenmaier building on Rt. 32 will be repaired.

- Insurance coverage is to increase by $73,000, based on projections of a 20 percent hike by the town's insurance agent

- The contingency budget will increase "considerably," with funds set aside for hiring a full-time planner and for comprehensive planning studies. No money was budgeted for the proposed community center, although Hendrick said the board will discuss that proposal at its budget sessions.

- Hendrick is proposing an increase of $120,000 in the Parks and Recreation Department. Hendrick said that he wants to "mechanize our operation" at the Parks Department. A tractor, loader and backhoe are needed, he said, as is a new garage. Funds are needed to switch the heating system in the administration building from electric to propane. And the part-time senior citizens

Town sets mine hearing date

By Patricia Mitchell

The New Scotland Planning Board has scheduled a continuation of the public hearing on a special use application to mine 27-acres of the former Tall Timbers Country Club for Thursday, Oct. 23. The hearing will continue at 7 p.m. in the auditorium at the Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School.

A citizens group against the proposed mine has called on the planning board to return the application without a hearing because they claim it is illegal to mine in the zone. An amendment to the zoning code that allowed gravel mining by special use permit in the zone was repealed early last month by the town board.

Because the application was received and the hearing started before the mining amendment was repealed, Planning Board Chairman

NEW SCOTLAND

Richard Stickley said the application has to be acted on under due process.

Last year Voorheesville Sand and Stone, operated by William Larned and Son of Schenectady, proposed to mine 27 acres off Hilton Rd. for gravel over a nine-year period. Larned holds 73 acres on the former country club, but will mine only 27 acres of the property where the gravel is in an industrial zone.

Larned and Son received a three-year permit from the state Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) to mine the 27 acres, and the permit is renewable. A State Environmental Quality Review Act (SEQRA) on the proposed mine was completed earlier this year with the DEC acting as lead agency. A negative declaration was made on the project.

A public hearing in front of more than 400 people was adjourned in May after questions were raised over possible harm to the water supply in the area. Since then, the town board has received a geological report that found the proposed mine will have no effect on surface water or groundwater. The town hired Fred C. Hart Associates for $5,290 to study the area of the proposed mine. Hart's report was received early last month.

The proposed mine has generated controversy in the recent months; and, Concerned Citizens of New Scotland Inc. is preparing its case against the proposed mine. Because no mining is allowed in

Bridge may be rebuilt

State engineers have recommended that the Mosher Bridge, which carries Rt. 396 over the Selkirk Conrail yards, be replaced with a new bridge.

The recommendation must be approved by state Department of Transportation officials before it becomes official, said Bill Heilmann of DOT's Region One design office last week. The new bridge would be a victory for local officials and fire and emergency volunteers who argued at hearings last spring that an alternative route that would take Rt. 396 southeast to Rt. 9W was dangerous because of the increased distance.

Heilmann said a new bridge, to be built to the northwest of the present bridge, would cost about $3 million, while the road alternative would cost only $2.2 million. A third alternative, to build the new bridge on the site of the present bridge, was also rejected.

Bridges have become a sensitive issue for Selkirk and South Bethlehem. The Mosher bridge is presently restricted to one-way traffic pending repairs, and the Jericho Bridge, the middle link over the Conrail Yards, is closed completely. State officials have said they have no money for that bridge, and Albany County and Conrail disagree on whose responsibility it is.

Heilmann said a final decision on the Mosher Bridge is expected by January.

Emergency van funded by GE

As part of its 20th anniversary celebration of the Selkirk operation, General Electric has donated $25,000 to the Town of Bethlehem for the establishment of an emergency mobile command center.

"General Electric and the General Electric Foundation's very welcome contribution today of funds with which to purchase a mobile command center gives us the heart we need — gives us the necessary communication channels — to touch, if you will, every base of a varied emergency operation," said Town Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick at the celebration at the General Electric plant in Selkirk on Saturday.

The mobile command center will be a closed van truck in which six to eight people will use a communications console, area maps and reference material for on-site decision making. The unit will have an AC-DC power supply, heat and air conditioning.

In an emergency the van would be manned by the town supervisor and support staff, including the commissioner of public works, the police chief, the fire marshal, the highway superintendent and the emergency medical services coordinator, to formulate overall policy and strategy for dealing with an emergency.

In the event of a large-scale incident, an emergency operations center would be established at Bethlehem Town Hall or another location designated by the town supervisor. The emergency operations center staff would supervise overall response operations, and formulate policy and response strategies.

The mobile command post would be used in incidents such as multiple-vehicle accidents, structure fires, power failures, wind, storm or tornado incidents, flash floods, blizzards, lost persons, community events, drownings, aircraft accidents, railroad accidents, hazardous material spills and civil disorders.

The mobile command center will be an integral part of the town's, emergency preparedness plan. The plan has been drafted in compliance with the New York State Defense Emergency Act, which directs local governments to prepare to respond to, properly manage and diminish the effect of disasters by identifying appropriate local measures to prevent disasters and developing mechanisms to coordinate local resources and man power before and after emergencies.

The emergency preparedness plan designates the town supervisor to request assistance from county, state and federal governments in the event of incidents requiring major evacuation of people or extensive property damage, such as a serious earthquake, a serious hazardous material incident or a nuclear incident.

The cost of establishing the mobile command post is estimated at $25,000, Hendrick said. The total includes $15,000 for the purchase of a closed van truck and $10,000 to provide a communications console and portable radios for key personnel.

Bethlehem Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick, left, accepts a large version of the $25,000 check that will purchase an emergency command center for the town from William H. Westendorf, general manager of GE's Selkirk operation. Spotlight

"In addition to salaries for individuals and the ever-present taxes G.E. pays, the company has a warm place in our hearts for its generous contributions to our Town of Bethlehem. General Electric has helped to repay the sizeable costs of water extension at this plant. The land for the extension was also deeded to the town. A most welcome pavilion at our town park was another gift, and our senior citizens have been the recipients of that handsome, lift-equipped bus that is on display here today," said Hendrick. "For your employment and your generosity, the Town of Bethlehem is truly grateful."

Political notes

The stunning defection of John J. Clyne of Delmar to the Republican ticket this fall had a lot of people speculating about winners and losers. Certainly Clyne's own future depends very heavily on whether he can win the state Supreme Court seat he is now seeking as a Republican — if he doesn't win it seems unlikely that the Democrats will ever give the man who was once one of the most feared confederates of Dan O'Connell and Erastus Corning another chance.

There has been speculation that U.S. Sen Alfonse D'Amato, who is running on a very weak Republican ticket this year, engineered Clyne's party switch so that he could have a "law and order" running mate in the Capital District. D'Amato's people have denied they had anything to do with it, however, and it does appear more likely that Clyne simply concluded that he was never going to get back in the good graces of the few Albany Democratic leaders.

However it happened, there is little doubt who is the big winner in the Capital District — it's John Faso, the Republican candidate for the 102nd Assembly District seat being vacated by Larry Lane.

Faso, a young Kinderhook lawyer and state official, managed to take all of 83 votes in Albany County in the four-way Sept. 9 primary. That was primarily because his strategy called for him to concentrate on his home Columbia County and on Greene County, where dissension in the Republican ranks gave him an opportunity to pick up votes. Meanwhile, Bethlehem's two candidates came close to splitting the vote. It worked, but Faso clearly has some catching up to do here. Eugene Keeler, the Democratic candidate (also a Columbia County resident) has been on the campaign trail since early spring, and is expected to be well financed.

Faso took the primary with 32 percent of the vote, so his success in November depends a great deal on mending fences. That probably won't be a problem in Bethlehem, where GOP leader Bernard Kaplowitz — one of the defeated candidates — has already thrown his organization into gear for the fall election. Greene County may be another story unless Faso can heal some local wounds.

Clyne's candidacy on the Republican line clearly caught the local Republicans by surprise. The former Albany County Attorney and county court judge has been a Delmar resident all his adult life and though he has never involved himself directly in local politics, his father was a highly popular member of the Bethlehem Central School Board for many years. When Clyne ran for reelection in 1982 he won 78 percent of the vote county-wide, and carried heavily Republican Bethlehem. The supreme court judicial district covers seven counties, including all of the 102nd Assembly District.

Clyne's opponent will be F. Warren Travers, the Rensselaer County surrogate who has been acting as a supreme court judge and who has a long involvement in Rensselaer County Democratic politics.

"We're going to be working for him," Kaplowitz said of Clyne. "He's a Republican candidate."

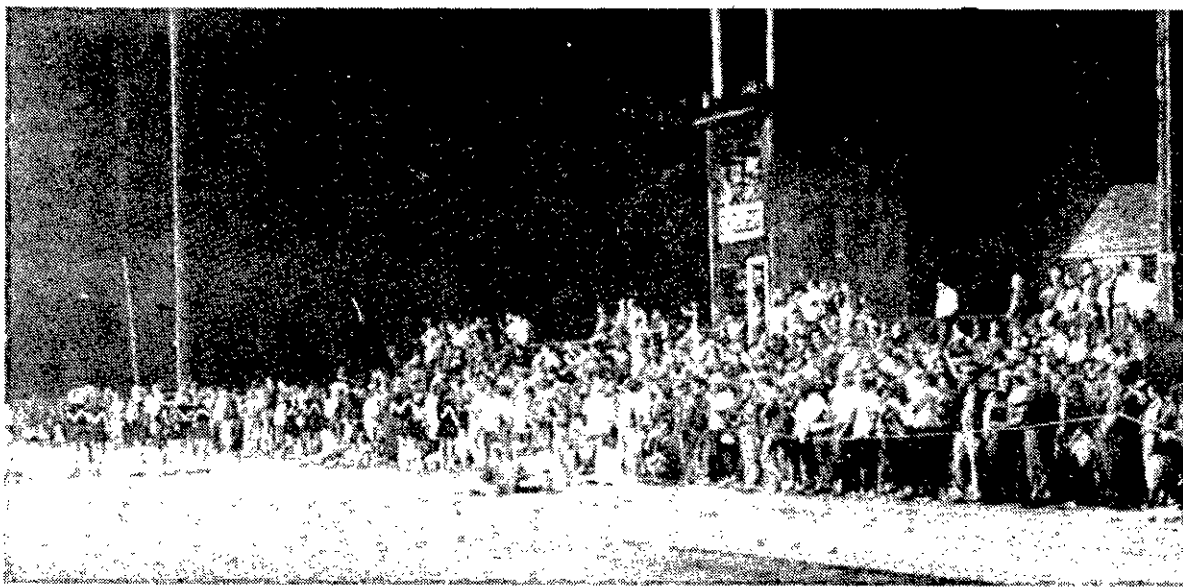

Both Faso and Keeler have been issuing position papers and statements throughout the campaign, most of them on state-wide issues. Last week, Keeler called for a public hearing on the proposal by Blue Circle Atlantic Cement Company in Ravena to burn low-level hazardous waste. Keeler said he is not at this time opposing the plan, but that "it has become obvious to me from talking to the people that — despite the announcement of the company — they do not appreciate what is being proposed by the company."

Faso, meanwhile, has called for debates between himself, Keeler and Shaun Marie Levine, the Conservative Party candidate. At this writing, no dates have been announced.

It does not appear that there will be debates in the 42nd Senate District race between Sen. Howard Nolan, D-Albany, and Peter Crummey of Colonie. Nolan was quoted in the Troy Times Record last week as saying that it's too late to schedule debates as Crummey had proposed. "I'm extremely busy between now and election," he was quoted as saying. "It's unlikely, I think, because of scheduling problems."

Indeed, Nolan did seem to have scheduling problems last Saturday, when he showed up at the Selkirk General Electric 20th anniversary celebration just moments before he was scheduled to read a proclamation.

Nolan apologized to the crowd for his tardiness and noted that it is "a busy time of year for politicians." Tom McPheeters

Pitch made for center

By Lorraine C. Smith

"The possibilities are endless," said Bethlehem Central High School student Ian Berry. "What we need is a building and somewhere to work."

Berry's plea last week to the Bethlehem Town Board for support of a community center represented just one of the elements that make up the community center movement — but one of the most important. "A teenager's life is not only school," he said in his brief, moving statement to the board. "The teenagers in the community would support a place where people of all ages could go."

In a well-organized, all-interests-represented presentation, Bethlehem Community Center Chairman Rob Lillis led eight speakers in a request to the Bethlehem Town Board for $70,000 as the town's part in a "public-private partnership" toward the establishment of a community center.

Lillis emphasized the need for the board's quick response. Building availability, the momentum of community involvement, and the alternative of "another year in which a lot of activities can't take place" are all contingent on board consideration for the upcoming 1987-88 budget, he said.

The board took no action on the request, although Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick said it would be discussed during budget work sessions later this month.

Bethlehem Community Center has a limited offer of a rental agreement by an area realtor for the Dormitory Authority building next to the Delmar Car Wash, although interest in the project was instigated by the brief availability of the Delmar Athletic Club early this summer.

The $70,000, Lillis said, is contingent on the resolution of final details by the group, which has commitments for fund raising and income generation by a variety of means including office rentals and program fees.

Don Kennedy gave detailed information on the results of the community group survey conducted by his committee. He reported that 70 local organizations were contacted for their evaluation of satisfaction with facilities currently available. Kennedy described organizational limitations and needs, and spoke of the new possibilities of a community center such as theater workshops, a gathering spot for seniors and "a regular place to meet, a home address."

Holly Billings presented the board with 1,436 signatures on petitions circulated only within the past few weeks. Speaking also from her position as president of Bethlehem Opportunities Unlimited, Billings described the town park as a fine gathering center for summer months, and said a community center would fill similar needs for the rest of the year.

In such a center, Billings suggested, the benefits of "a melting pot with different ages interacting" would be possible. She suggested that a night a week could be set up for students to come do homework at a center, with the presence of senior citizens offering the potential for community friendship.

Bernard Harvith, president of the Bethlehem Central Board of Education, recalled the existence of a movie theatre and a community center years ago for only half of the youth population that exists now. "It provided a place for the kid who was not into organized activities... We assume in this community, kids can go out and spend money, but that's not always true. It shouldn't be an economic decision to be able to go out."

Referring to the recent deaths of young people in the community, Harvith advised, "The problems are very real... A basic approach is prevention. It's important to have a place where kids have friends, to feel good about themselves."

BCHS Principal Charles Gunner offered his support to the concept of a place which would offer interaction of all ages. "I think it will attract many, not all of them. School is not their whole life, just

Board views task force changes

By Kevin Mullen

After several years of hard work by town officials, business leaders and citizens groups, a sweeping zoning change targeted at commercial properties along Delaware Ave. was presented at last week's Bethlehem Town Board meeting.

All of the groups that had worked on the recommendations from the Delaware Avenue Task Force said they support the final draft of the zoning changes, some with reservations. But the tone of the hearing was indicated by one of the lengthy discussions — on the technical question of how to define the color green.

Town Planning consultant Edward Kleinke, whose job it had been to translate the task force recommendations into legal language, said that the town board, planning board, neighborhood associations and Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce all worked with a "lot of scrutiny and analysis" to come up with the final version.

"There have been some changes from the original plan by the task force, but the spirit and intent of the task force has been maintained as far as smaller lots are concerned, particularly along Delaware Ave.," Kleinke said.

A major change in the ordinance is in parking requirements for businesses. Kleinke outlined the changes: For parking in office areas, a change from one space per 400 square feet of floor area to one space per 400 square feet gross area; for retail areas, a change from one space per 250 square feet floor area to one space per 250 square feet gross area; for restaurants, a change from one space per 50 square feet floor area to one space per 50 square feet gross area.

Kleinke said the proposed changes would have the biggest impact on retail stores. But because of the change in floor to gross area designations, the effect would be to require additional five-foot minimum area, suitably landscaped or screened. Kleinke repeated several times, after questioning from several residents, that the type of landscaping and screening would have to be approved by the Planning Board. Kleinke said that "some flexibility is involved" concerning what is placed within the buffer area.

The color green was discussed by several members of the audience. Lucy Dunne, who was very active when a buffer zone for the Elmsmere school was one of the recommendations of the Delaware Avenue Task Force during the other six members of the board, said that the board looks for "aesthetics."

Zeno also was concerned about fences. "If a commercial property put up a four foot fence and they parked trucks in the lot, I don't think that would be adequate screening," he said.

Several of the other proposed changes to the zoning ordinance noted by Kleinke are: an increase in parking requirements for funeral homes, churches and temples, theaters and assemblies, and parking requirements for banks. Kleinke also said that there are presently no requirements in the zoning ordinance for handicapped parking. The proposed amendment would require 260 square feet of parking area for handicapped persons, 13 by 20 feet in length.

As for parking lots, at least 10 percent of the area must be landscaped. Kleinke said this will promote safety for pedestrians, vehicular access and will break up the blacktop. The five-foot setback on the sides and rear of parking lots should more than make up the 10 percent requirement, he said.

Ken Ringler, representing the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce, said his organization supports the plan. "As far as green is concerned," he said, "it should stay as it is. It's up to the planning board. I do agree with Lucy though. I would rather have green instead of chips."

Dunne also supported the plan. "You know my reservations," she said. "But it's important to go forward. We've come a long way on Delaware Ave. It's important to have something in place. Eventually some things might be modified, but it's a first step."

Lynn Rose, a neighborhood association member, said that it was a "long haul" and she thanked Kleinke for his contributions. "We've all learned a lot from it."

Zeno also spoke in favor, saying that the ordinance was a "good start" and thanking Kleinke and parking area for all three types of establishments.

Another important part of the amendment is the building and parking setbacks. The proposed change calls for an increase from 10 to 15 feet for setbacks for buildings. It also calls for a five-foot setback on side and rear lines. Kleinke said that the changes would allow a "green area" for the plantings of trees and other types of vegetation.

The other point Kleinke emphasized was the "buffer area" between commercial and residential districts. He said that the proposed amendment calls for a winter of 1984 and 1985, asked the board: "How green is green? Green is green, not brown wood chips. Do we mean it literally?" She asked town attorney Bernard Kaplowitz if "green" could be defined. "It could be done," he said.

Board member Sue Ann Ritchko agreed with Dunne that it would be a good idea to define green. She said she thought that defining the word would make it easier for the Planning Board.

Planning Board Chairman John Williamson said that the reason businesses put in bricks and chips is because there is no maintenance involved. "We don't have the power to make them keep it up," he said.

Kleinke agreed that there are "some broad interpretations" as far as what one can put within the buffer area. But he stressed that "lawn and landscape plantings" is what is meant in the amendment.

Doug Zeno, of the Delaware Avenue Neighborhood Association, asked Williamson: "What types of things does the planning board look for?" Williamson, who said that he couldn't speak for the the task force for their contributions.

Supervisor Robert Hendrick thanked the neighborhood associations for their input. The board did not act on the amendment to the zoning ordinance.

In other action Wednesday, the town board:

- Referred a request from Lynn Finley for a speed limit sign on Murray Ave., between Darroch Rd. and the Delmar Bypass, to Police Chief Paul E. Currie.

- Approved a request for a dumping permit for Donald Morrell, 7 McCombe Dr., Delmar, with stipulations and for Harlen W. Metz, Jr. for his premises on Spawns Hollow Rd, South Bethlehem.

- Approved a request from Bruce H. Secor, Commissioner of Public Works, for a speed limit sign on Font Grove Rd. from its intersection with New Scotland Rd. and the town line. Secor received a request from the Albany County Engineer to review the speed limit in conjunction with repair work that is being undertaken on Font Grove Rd.

- Approved a request from Secor to go to bid for boring work under County Route 55 in connection with the Water Main Construction on Long Lane.

- Approved a request from Secor for permission to go to bid for a sanitary main replacement on Lincoln Ave. The existing sanitary sewer main in the rear lots on the west side of Lincoln Ave. is in poor condition, according to the request. Secor recommends that it be replaced with eight-inch sanitary sewer line to run parallel with the existing line. According to the request, there will be no cost to property owners.

Board member Ruth Bicke recommended that the sun shade shelter at the town park be dedicated to Robert E. May and his wife, Elsie Hess May, when the park reopens next June. Mr. May died on Sept. 19. May donated $25,000 to the town for the sun shade.

BC students get merit commendations

Twenty students from Bethlehem Central High School will receive Letters of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation in recognition of outstanding academic promise.

Psychiatric hospital receives state approval

The New York State Office of Mental Health has granted conditional approval for the proposed Northeast Psychiatric Hospital. The state approval clears the way for the Bethlehem Town Board to take final action on the 96-bed psychiatric facility, proposed for construction by the Hospital Group of New York, in cooperation with Albany Medical College, off Rt. 9W in Glenmont.

"I'd like to clean that up this month if possible," said Bethlehem Town Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick with regard to the proposal. Hendrick said the town board will first act on the State Environmental Quality Review (SEQR) and then act on the planning board recommendation for the facility. Town Planning Consultant Edward Kleinke has recommended a negative SEQR declaration for the project, which means that it would have no environmental impact.

Hendrick said he plans to have the SEQR on the agenda for the board's Oct. 8 meeting and is hopeful that a resolution of the issue will be made at the second meeting in October.

At its July 15 meeting, the Bethlehem Planning Board voted 6-1, with board member Marcia Nelson dissenting, in favor of recommending the project to the town board.

The location of the proposed psychiatric facility near the Glenmont Elementary School has generated considerable controversy in the town, especially among residents of the Glenmont area.

The Office of Mental Health withheld a decision on the project while a State Supreme Court jury in Manhattan decided whether or not John J. McLaughlin, former president of the New York City Health and Hospitals Corp., was guilty of accepting a bribe from Nu-Med Inc. Nu-Med is the parent company of the Hospital Group of New York.

While McLaughlin was found guilty of 5 out of 14 other counts against him, the former city health official was found innocent of accepting the bribe.

"OMH finds that the acquisition of Hospital Group of America Inc. by Nu-Med Inc. has no substantial effect on our certificate of need approval provided that the management agreement between Hospital Group of America Inc. and Hospital Group of New York Inc. is executed as approved by OMH," the approval states.

As conditions of the approval, the Office of Mental Health is requiring that final construction documents be submitted and at least 405 square feet of additional indoor recreation space be provided. "since the facility will not provide a licensed outpatient program, clarification of the first floor area labeled 'Medical Education and Outpatients' must be submitted," the approval states.

The state approved Edmund C. Bujalski and Eugene N. Langen as stockholders and incorporators. The state also approved Bujalski, Langen, Earl L. Linehan, Douglas L. Johnson, Ph.D., and Robert L. Friedlander, M.D., to serve on the board of directors.

The state has requested a copy of the land lease, building lease, clinical management and affiliation agreement and by-laws of the Hospital Group of New York.

Prior to certification of the Northeast Psychiatric Hospital, the state requested submission of written agreements with the Capital District Psychiatric Center for implementation programs to assist their staff in consultation, education and training programs. In addition the state requested a copy of the resolution of the board of directors to establish a community advisory board, as well as charity care guidelines and procedures.

like work is not all of the businessman's life."

Speaking for the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce, Executive Director Marty Cornelius, spoke of her "dream of a community center," and informed the board of pledges of financial support by local financial institutions.

Councilman Sue Ann Ritchko questioned whether or not existing town facilities were being fully utilized. "School buildings are already there... Are we taking advantage of what taxpayers have already paid for?" Harvith explained that many requests are refused on a regular basis because of the considerable use of the facilities. Harvith also explained that limited kinds of activities, such as adult education, could be held in the schools and the expenses of heating and cleaning were also factors of after-school usage.

Richard Ahlstrom, publisher of The Spotlight, concluded the presentation by addressing the question, What happened to the Coffee House? And 'The Pit' before that? Acknowledging the seniors "who feel they've been promised a center," and the presence of the BCC group "willing and able" to work for a center," Ahlstrom suggested that the town provide the facility, perhaps as a "precursor of a real community center in the Town of Bethlehem, which will include a gymnasium, a swimming pool, etc."

Callanan, state settle

Callanan Industries of South Bethlehem and the state Department of Transportation have reached an agreement regarding implementation of state and federal affirmative action programs, ending a dispute that had threatened the long-term survival of the company. The agreement, reached last week, calls for a $300,000 settlement over the next six years to the state's Disadvantaged Business Enterprise Program (DBE). The state Department of Transportation (DOT) has agreed to award $6.6 million in work contracts to the company.

"Callanan, its affiliates and its management have made an unequivocal commitment to full implementation of state and federal affirmative action programs," said state Department of Transportation Commissioner Franklin E. White. "Like other firms, Callanan has agreed to take a major step forward towards making an important program work."

"The State of New York, Governor Cuomo, Commissioner White, every employee at the Department of Transportation and every genuine construction entrepreneur has the absolute, unequivocal pledge of this corporation to insure genuine, responsible compliance with affirmative action and all other DOT requirements," said Don Godson, president and chief executive officer of Callanan Industries.

Earlier in the year the state Department of Transportation stopped awarding new contracts to Callanan Industries because the firm allegedly failed to meet state and federal affirmative action guidelines, with regard to subcontracting to minority companies. Callanan had sued the state, and won several decisions in the lower-level courts. The agreement announced last week includes no admission of wrongdoing on Callanan's part.

Callanan has agreed to develop a comprehensive code of conduct to monitor DBE compliance, ensure full cooperation and disclosure in reviewing DBE performance and compliance, adopt a DOT-approved mentor-protégé program to help emerging DBE's become stand-alone subcontractors, appoint an officer with direct responsibility for DBE matters and provide documentation to DOT.

The DBE program was designed by the federal government to provide opportunities for business enterprises owned and operated by "disadvantaged" individuals — women and minorities — who, historically, have been unable to participate in the highway construction industry. Under regulation of the Federal Highway Administration of the United States Department of Transportation, the state Department of Transportation must require all highway contractors to make a "good faith effort" to place a percentage of public works contracts with DBE firms.

Progress Club celebrates 85th

First of two parts

To our knowledge no one has ever tabulated the intrinsic value of the millions of hours of volunteer effort that have been contributed over countless decades by tens of thousands of dedicated women within the churches, schools and clubs of our land. These women have given freely of their time and talents as members of committees to make the world a better place — not only for themselves, but for those who are less fortunate or less idealistic. Their compensation has been the satisfaction of knowing that the task was worthwhile and completed to the best of their ability.

In Delmar some of this same dedicated effort began in 1901 when a group was organized by Miss Elva Hinman (Dyer), who received her inspiration by attending a flourishing literary club's meeting in Cobleskill. Eleven women banded together with Hinman to form The Progress Club. Meetings were held twice a month in their various homes and Mrs. Carolyn Rouse was elected president. The purpose of the club was to foster the mental, moral and social development of its members and the civic betterment of the community. By 1905 the group became known as The Delmar Progress Club.

In those days it was commonly accepted that woman's place was in the home, and some men even forbade their wives to join the group, which was making such a radical departure from accepted practices. One man even feared that "it boded no good." On Dec. 6, 1903, the life of the club's founder, only a little more than two years from the time the first meeting was called, was suddenly brought to a close. She left a six-day-old baby girl who would grow to adulthood.

Some charter members of the club were Mesdames Anna Merrifield, Elizabeth Connors, Jessie Dyer, Ada Ticknor, Mrs. Edward Mochrie and Mrs.

The coming of the warm summer months did not put an end to the club meetings. Porch parties were held on members front porches during June, July and August, so enthusiastic were the ladies about their new endeavor.

The Delmar women early interested themselves in schools and set about to investigate conditions in the little two-room red brick school building in the town. One member of the

was not long before larger quarters were needed and in 1916 the George B. Adams estate donated a parcel of land at the corner of Adams Street and Hawthorne Avenue on condition that "a library building be erected within a year for the people of Delmar." The women felt so strongly about the importance of their library that they worked tirelessly to raise money for it by holding food sales, stereopticon lectures and dramatic productions, as well as canvassing the town for donations. The excellent library that our community now enjoys resulted directly from the efforts

William A. Glenn. Other early members were Misses Katherine Ostrander and Mary Mickel, Mesdames Lillian and Gertrude Rowe, Kate Congdon, Ada, Catherine and Mary Sturdevant, Grace Long, Sara Apawn, Clara Hinman, Mrs. Alton Rowe. So intent were the ladies upon making their club a success that a fine of 5 cents was levied for tardiness to meeting and 10 cents for absence without a reasonable excuse. Up until 1904 the meetings were held in the afternoon. After that year the meetings were held in the evening, when the more enlightened husbands could be at home to attend to the children. Old scrapbooks tell us that each woman, lantern in hand, would go faithfully through the streets of Delmar in the darkness of evening to attend their club meetings. It was not long before the little group became recognized as a force in the community and their early timidity gave way to action. By 1904 the club had become affiliated with the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs.

committee was told by the teacher that she was the first parent to visit the school in 15 years. The women found that the school was in need of many structural repairs. They were so distressed by what they found that they immediately set about to create interest in the building of a new schoolhouse. The fruits of their labor culminated in the erection of a school building on Kenwood Avenue, which now is used as the Masonic Temple. In February of 1909 the first parent-teacher meeting was held to build a better relationship between the school teachers and parents, for the good of the children. By 1912 the club had raised enough money to purchase a piano for the school. The principal agreed to allow the students a half-hour of vocal instruction each Friday afternoon. The club also set up a monetary award to the two senior students who showed the greatest advancement in English studies for the year.

In a move for civic betterment, a committee was formed to approach the Delaware and Hudson Railroad officials and request "better train service and a clean waiting room in the Delmar station." By the year 1912, the 25 members of the club raised money for books and set up the first Free Library in Delmar at the head of the stairs in the school building. On May 14, 1913, at the home of Mrs. Ira Boynton, 13 members gathered to sign the constitution for the Free Library of Delmar. It of these determined women and the generosity of the townspeople. With the continued suburban growth of the town, the library became too large a burden to be carried on the shoulders of volunteers. In 1930 the Delmar Library Association voted to offer the library building and its equipment to the Central School District as a gift, to be used as a public library. The law provided that a school district might acquire — either by gift or purchase — a library and operate it.

By 1916 the Delmar Progress Club had become affiliated with the national General Federation of Women's Clubs; and, in 1929 the local club became incorporated. Meetings up to this time had been held in homes of members, but it was becoming necessary to have larger accommodations for the constantly growing membership. Meetings were held in churches and later at the high school.

In 1930 the membership limit of the club was raised to 200. Members names of this period reflect the early families of "old Delmar": Mesdames Leon Adkins, Hoyt Austin, Francis Blake, John E., W. and W.A. Glenn, Horace B. Casey, Howard and George Paddock, Thomas M. Holmes, William E. Johnson, Olin Bouck, Walter Pember, Scott Palmer, W.J. Hotaling, Clarence Osterhout and Z.A. Dyer.

community, the group organized Community Choral Society in 1928. The choir presented several public performances of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas over a period of years. In 1931 the Delmar Concert Orchestra was organized by the DeWires. Ethel DeWire was a prominent member of the Progress Club. The orchestra played at special guest nights and other club events. The orchestra made its first public appearance at Chancellors Hall in connection with the State Conference of the New York State Federation of Womens Clubs. The first anniversary concert was at the Elsmere School in May of 1932. The drama and music-minded members of the club were adept at adding to the club meetings by presenting scenes from famous plays or vocal and instrumental selections. Later these groups presented the movie Peter Pan at the local theater, selling tickets at the schools.

The civic betterment committee was also active in the late 1920's. The committee appeared before the town government to petition for the naming of streets within the entire town of Bethlehem to facilitate the delivery of mail. Soon the postman was seen making his rounds on then newly named streets of Delmar and surrounding communities. They also requested that the town provide free garbage removal and disposal. In compliance this health menace was removed. The club also secured trees from the State Conservation Department and over 150 of these were planted in the grounds behind the library. The ladies wrote their state legislators to wage the passage of bills, concerning pure food, sanitation, child welfare and the creation of a park on the shores of the Hudson River and the enactment of a state reservation at Saratoga Springs.

In 1929 the New York State Federation of Womens Clubs held their 25th state convention in Albany. The women of the Delmar club played a large part in those activities by presenting a patriotic pageant, entitled "The Melting Pot," in which they portrayed in elaborate costume women of various nationalities. A tea was given at the Executive Mansion for the entertainment of the delegates by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of New York's Governor. The very next year the highlight of the Delmar social season was the annual banquet sponsored by the Delmar Progress Club. It was held at the Colony Plaza in Albany; and Mrs. Roosevelt was the speaker of the evening. The annual banquet and the Christmas tea are still high spots in the club year.

Bethlehem promotes 2 police sergeants

By Patricia Mitchell and Kevin Mullin

Bethlehem Police Sgts. Richard L. Vanderbilt and Colin P. Clark have been promoted to lieutenants.

The promotions will give command supervision in the evenings and nights, and on weekends, said Chief Paul Currie. Before filling the two open sergeant positions, Currie said the department will conduct a study first to determine their areas of assignment.

"We have really got to sit down and study it," Currie said.

A captain's position that has been left open will remain vacant, Currie said. The department plans to look at that position later.

The reorganization of personnel will not leave the department short-handed, Currie said, because the promotions were in-house and were title changes.

The new appointments took effect Monday, after approval by the Bethlehem Town Board last week.

Lt. Fred Holligan will now oversee the Patrol Division during the daytime hours, Currie said. Vanderbilt will command the Headquarters Division, and he will also be in charge during the middle evening to early morning hours. Clark will be in command of the Special Services Division, and he will be in charge during the afternoon to the middle evening hours.

Weekend duty will be split between Clark and Vanderbilt, Currie said.

Vanderbilt is a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School and State University of New York College at Delhi. He joined the police force in July, 1974, and was promoted to sergeant in the Patrol Division in October, 1979. He ranked first on the current civil service eligibility test. He had directed the department's Traffic Safety program and Stop DWI Project.

At the Headquarters Division Vanderbilt will oversee the department's special programs, including training, the traffic safety program, selective enforcement, Stop DWI program, communications and other programs.

Clark joined the police department in August, 1968. He is a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School and served in Vietnam with the United States Marine Corps from 1963-1966. Clark was promoted to detective in 1973 and to sergeant in 1984. He has been in charge of the detective bureau and directed the canine program for the past four years. He ranked second on the current civil service commission eligibility list.

In command of the Special Services Division, Clark will oversee the detective bureau, the youth bureau and administration.

Fire exhibits

In recognition of Fire Prevention Week, the Town of Bethlehem Volunteer Fire Officers Association will present displays of fire fighting equipment, rescue apparatus and fire prevention information on Thursday, Oct. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m., at Bethlehem Town Hall, the Delaware Plaza, the Slingerlands Firehouse, the Towne Squire Plaza in Glenmont and the North Bethlehem Firehouse. Town residents who visit one of the exhibits are eligible to enter a drawing for smoke detectors.

Monet discussed

Monica Desormeau, an assistant curator for the South Mall Curatorial Services, will speak about Claude Monet and his Hay Stack Series at the Bethlehem Public Library on Thursday, Oct. 2, from 7 to 9 p.m. The program is being sponsored by the Bethlehem Art Association.

The art association will hold an outdoor show and sale at Tudor House Crafts, 353 Delaware Ave., Delmar, on Oct. 10 and 11, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. For information call 439-7039.

Budget

coordinator position will be made full time, he said.

There will be no major changes in the Highway Fund budget. Hendrick said that repairs of five old trucks are needed.

The sewer budget will increase by $159,000. Hendrick said that some utility trucks must be purchased.

The water budget will decrease by $219,000. Hendrick said the decrease was caused by a reduction in debt service. He said that the filtration plant — which is over 30 years old — needs major repairs.

Placement of Glenmont Elementary School's relocatable classrooms were expected to begin Tuesday (yesterday), with work to be completed in two weeks, depending on the weather. Sometime after Columbus Day, fourth and fifth graders will occupy the relocatables, and first graders starting out the year at the Elmsere School and an art room will take up the vacated rooms. The four classrooms and a hallway arrived last Wednesday at the school on Rt. 9W. Patricia Mitchell

Districts approve Maywood

Voters in three area school district helped pass the purchase of the Maywood School for the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES).

At Bethlehem Central, voters approved the purchase 230-39, at Ravena-Coeysmans-Selkirk, the vote was 123-84, and at Voorheesville Central, the vote was 98-16.

BOCES polled 24 of its member districts for permission to purchase of the Maywood School for $650,000. BOCES will also spend $685,000 in renovations, bringing the total cost of the project to $1,335,760.

BOCES districts will each be responsible for a fraction of the purchase and renovation. BC's share will equal 6.4 percent or $84,907, RCS's share will equal 4.4 percent or $58,727, and Voorheesville's share is equal to 2.7 percent or $32,898.

Some debate over the proposal to purchase the school was raised between parents of handicapped children over the wisdom of centralizing services in one building rather than "mainstreaming" the students.

Jack Daley of BOCES, said parents chose to have their children in the Maywood School's segregated program, and BOCES will continue to ask for classroom space among its districts.

"I do not see that changing," Daley said. "It is not our intent to stop looking for space."

About 860 children attend BOCES classes in 70 classrooms around the districts, Daley said. About 113 children are served by 13 classrooms at the Maywood School.

Daley said the debate to purchase the Maywood School was good because issues that handicapped students face were raised and debated.

"The debate generated was a healthy one. We felt the whole community benefitted," Daley said.

Purchase costs of the Maywood School will be spread out over five years and renovation costs are expected to take four years. Thirty to 40 percent of the purchase and the renovation will come back in state aid.

BOCES had been renting the school from South Colonie since 1979.

NEWS FROM SELKIRK AND SOUTH BETHLEHEM

Grange dinner planned

If you've missed the delicious homestyle dinners that the Bethlehem Grange holds during the summer, then you'll be happy to learn that the Grange has scheduled more for the fall. Their first is planned for this Saturday, Oct. 4, beginning at 4 p.m. at the grange hall, Rt. 396, Beckers Corners, Selkirk.

The cost of the fresh pork dinner for adults is $6 for adults and $3 for children under twelve. All are welcome.

The women's activities committee will conduct a "this and that" sale during the evening.

Campers learn values

Fourteen young people from the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem's Youth Group participated in a weekend camp-out in the church's reforestation area, from Sept. 12 through Sept. 14. Under the supervision of youth advisors Jill Koonz, David Koonz and Donna Nelson, the students enjoyed a two-hour game of capture the flag, a lengthy scavenger hunt, several volleyball games and evenings around the campfire. The theme for the camp-out was "individuality." The group took part in a number of discussions about "attitudes" and "being yourself."

The camp-out was attended by David Brown, Brian Goodrich, Paula Koonz, Glenn Lasher, Traci Layman, Jackie Legere, Kim Nelson, Paul Parisi, Celia Shubert, Sheri VanKempen, Michael Jordan, Jon Engel, Jonathan Janssen and Kenny Layman. Chuck Legere, Helen Koonz, Mary Jane Brown and Kerry Layman provided additional supervision and instructions for the event.

Seniors visit Coolidge home

There are still a few openings for the South Bethlehem-Selkirk Senior Citizens' fall foliage bus trip to Plymouth Junction, Ft. The seniors will meet at 7:15 a.m.

at the First Reformed Church of Bethlehem, Rt. 9W, Selkirk on Thursday morning, Oct. 9.

The group will visit the home of Calvin Coolidge, and tour the museum and cheese factory, which are still operated by the Coolidge family. The cost is $13.75 per person. Interested seniors may call Herb Strumpf at 767-3052 for reservations.

Elks breakfast Sunday

Breakfast buffet is a title that better describes the sumptuous breakfast sponsored monthly by the Bethlehem Elks Lodge. The next breakfast will be served on Sunday, Oct. 5 from 9 a.m. to noon.

In addition to the pancakes, the breakfast menu includes eggs, sausage, bacon, waffles, "elk" gravy, toast, juice and coffee. The "all you can eat" breakfast is $4 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. All are welcome.

Making toys for little friends

Would you like to help the Bethlehem Grange with one of their community service projects? Each year members of the grange create handcrafted toys, which are judged in competition and then donated to children's hospitals and the Ronald McDonald Houses throughout the state. This year the Bethlehem Grange has invited members of the community to join them in their efforts.

Last year 1000 toys were contributed. This year the Grange members have set their sights at 2000. If you would like to help them reach their goal, make your contribution of homemade toys by calling Mrs. Helen Raynor at 767-2770, before Oct. 16.

PTO meeting set

Al Keating will explain school procedures and answer parents' questions at 6:30 p.m. The group will consider the merits of becoming a PTA affiliate.

Parents' night to learn

Parents' night at A.W. Becker Elementary School has been scheduled for Oct. 7.

Parents are invited to meet their child's teacher and learn more about what takes place during their school day.

Glenmont Job Corps' time capsule was placed in its 300 year burial place during the open house Saturday. Designed to endure the worst conditions the next three centuries may deliver, the capsule contains comprehensive Job Corps memorabilia and personnel mementoes of the students and the staff. # Spring start for sewer

By Patricia Mitchell

Because of a lack of response to the village's request for bids, plans for a sewer system on Pleasant St. have been postponed until spring.

"It appears clearly we will do better if we wait for the spring season," Mayor Edward Clark said at last Tuesday's Board of Trustees meeting. The bid opening has been pushed back to next Monday, with a spring date for ground breaking.

Trustees were hoping for a referendum on the project this month, but it appears that date will be set back, too, until bids are received.

No bids were received at the Monday, Sept. 22, bid opening. William Hotaling, superintendent of public works, said one contractor did pick up specifications, but was not planning to bid.

Contractors like to have work waiting in the spring, and a spring date would also mean a lower cost for the project, village officials said. They have emphasized that the cost of the project should be kept at under $350 for each homeowner served by the new sewer.

"If we insist on bids now, we will invite someone to drive the cost up," Clark said.

The board also was told that in the semi-annual test of the Vly Creek, some pollutants showed up near Pleasant St. Trustee Daniel Reh said that most of the rest of the test showed little indication of pollution.

VOORHEESVILLE

In other Voorheesville Board of Trustees business, officials agreed to seek advice from the state Department of Transportation for the intersection of Maple Ave., Voorheesville Ave. and Stonington Hill Rd. Clark said residents are concerned over children and other pedestrians crossing at the corner, and he suggested investigating a stoplight for the intersection.

The village was offered a traffic light several years ago for the intersection, but the offer was turned down, Hotaling said. A traffic light with controls today will cost the village about $25,000, he said.

"It is a problem with no solution," Hotaling said. "Anytime you put a traffic light up, your amount of accidents will go up."

Trustee Richard Langford said because of the layout of the intersection, three different lights at the intersection were recommended.

The board also decided to ask for bids on an office computer system by November from Executive Office Systems of Syracuse. The system will include two terminals and software for correspondence, budgeting, book keeping, receipts, and sewer, water and tax billings. The village will also be able to receive a trade-in on its present compact computer.

Clark said the trustees have received several demonstrations from dealers within the last several months, and sent out proposals on the system to various vendors.

"We will be able to eliminate a tremendous amount of the mechanical work," Clark said.

In other business, the village board:

- Learned that the five Concerts in the Park held this year were received well. Reh said that while 10 were originally scheduled, five had to be cancelled because of weather. The village spent $200 on the concerts this year, Reh said, with $170 going to rent portable toilets.

- Was told that the fire department will hold an open house from 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 5. The fire department is preparing to host the Albany County Firefighters Convention next year.

- Were told by Trustee Susan Rockmore that one village sign has been delivered and placed on Rt. 85A near Rt. 155. Rockmore said there are some problems with reading it, but the problems should be corrected before the next ones are finished.

- Hotaling said the land for the salt shed near the village garage has been purchased, and the shed will probably be in use this winter.

The next meeting of the village board of trustees is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 28.

Hearing set for ban on village soil mining

While New Scotland town officials are struggling over a proposed gravel mine, officials in Voorheesville are taking steps to ensure they never have to face that question.

Mayor Edward Clark has proposed an amendment to the village's zoning ordinance that would prohibit mining.

"We want it to be explicitly stated," Clark said at last Tuesday's village board meeting.

The only exception to the amendment would allow excavation on housing lots with a village-issued building permit to dig basements.

A public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14. A special board of trustees meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. to allow action on the proposal.

The amendment would prohibit mining in all zones in the village.

Under present zoning, mining is not permitted in most zones in the village. In industrial districts, no building or land can be used, and no buildings built or altered except by special-use permits.

"We do not want a mine in the village. We have taken a firm position against a gravel mine in the town of New Scotland. We want to make sure our laws are clear," Clark said.

A proposed 27-acre gravel mine in the town off Hilton Rd. has drawn concern from neighbors, including many residents of Voorheesville. Opponents of the mine have said that most residents of the village live within one mile of the mine proposed by Voorheesville Sand and Stone.

At a public hearing in May in front of more than 400 people, Clark presented a resolution to the New Scotland Planning Board passed by the trustees asking them to disapprove the mine. Clark pointed to possible effects on the ground water and quality of life around the proposed mine as for reasons for denying.

Clark said the village board probably could avoid the action of passing the resolution, but individual proposed mines would be subject to case-by-case decisions.

"We want to be sure," he said.

In the past, small gravel mines have been in operation in the village, Clark said.

Columbia falls to Eagles

By John Bellizzi III

Last Friday night marked the third victory in as many weeks for the non-league Bethlehem Central varsity football team, whose latest victim was longtime Suburban Council rival, Columbia.

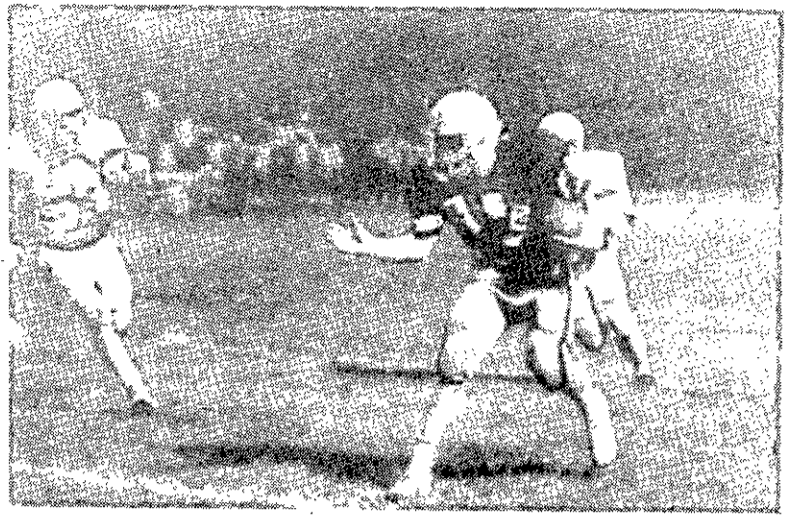

Fourteen to seven was the final score in the exciting contest which was decided in the final seconds of play. The Eagles now hold a record of three wins and no losses at one-third of the way through this year's independent schedule, the best record since the undefeated championship season of 1978.

"I think it was one of the most significant and exciting contests that we have had around here in a couple of years," said Coach John Sodergren.

This Thursday, BC goes helmet-to-helmet with a formidable contender in the Suburban Council so far this season, Guilderland, who is also 3-0 after defeating Niskayuna, Colonie and Columbia so far this year.

"We are really looking forward to this team," Sodergren said of the Guilderland match. "They are 3-0, and they have had no points scored against them this season. It should be a good test of the squad's abilities."

The Eagles started off Friday night's game on the right foot, scoring a touchdown during their first possession. Running back Adam Acquario carried the ball into the end zone on Bethlehem's third play from scrimmage to give the Eagles an early 6-0 lead which was destined to last until the final minutes of the game.

Adam Acquario, BC's no. 27, gaining ground against Columbia. He wasn't there to shake hands. R.H. Davis

Neither team scored during the relatively uneventful second and third quarters. The defensive squads on both teams consistently overpowered the offense until late in the fourth quarter. As the clock wound down, it appeared as though BC was on its way to an easy victory. To the astonishment of the fans, Columbia's running back carried the ball over the goal line with 2:32 remaining on the clock to tie the Eagles, and the extra point was kicked to give the Blue Devils the lead.

Following the score, Bethlehem rapidly carried the ball downfield, but when fourth down came around, they were stranded at the 40 yard line. With 46 seconds left, Peter Rizzuto was called in to attempt a field goal. The hometown crowd fell silent as the ball spun lazily in the air to come to rest about a dozen yards in front of the goal line. It appeared to be all over for BC until the officials awarded them fifteen yards and a first down. The call? Roughing the kicker. Given new life on the 11 yard line, quarterback Ed Perry sailed the ball into the end zone to waiting receiver Brian Battle for the winning touchdown. A two-point conversion thrown by Perry to Paul Evangelista followed.

The Eagles were again strong in the field. They went 121 yards rushing, and completed six out of 14 passes with no interceptions. Perry rushed 44 yards, Acquario 42 yards and Rich Gray 35 yards.

On the receiving end, Evangelista caught two passes for 38 yards, Brian Battle snagged two passes for 44 yards and Jeff Boyd caught one for 10 yards.

Eagle players of the week are: Battle, most valuable player; Gary Mendel, offensive lineman; Perry, offensive back; Acquario, defensive linebacker; Battle, defensive back; and Pat McCormick, specialist.

The BC junior varsity football team lost at Columbia Saturday, 28-6, giving them a record of one win and two losses. The jayvees will play at Guilderland next Monday. The freshman team is 1-0, after defeating Niskayuna last Friday 26-6. They were scheduled to host a twilight game against Amsterdam last night, and they play Shaker under the lights at Eagle Field next Wednesday.

Hunting dates

Dates for New York's 1986-87 hunting season have been announced by the state Department of Environmental Conservation. Detailed information on hunting seasons and regulation are available in the fishing, small game hunting and trapping guide available from all license-issuing agencies.

Hunting hours generally run from sunrise to sunset. These shooting hours also apply to woodcock, even though it is a migratory bird. For other migratory birds, such as ducks and geese, shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The half-hour before sunrise opening also applies to spring turkey hunting.

A $7.50 Federal duck stamp is required for hunting all migratory birds except woodcock, gallinules, rails or snipe. Shotguns must be plugged to hold not more than three shells when hunting any migratory birds.

Small game season dates and bag limits for the Albany region are as follows: ruffed grouse, Sept. 20-Feb. 28, 4 per day; Pheasant, Oct. 1-Dec. 31, 2 per day; wild turkey, Oct. 6-Nov. 16 and May 1-31, 1 per season; woodcock, Oct. 1-Nov. 14, 3 per day, 6 in possession; cottontail rabbit, Oct. 1-Feb. 28, 6 per day.

For details about obtaining turkey permits, Sunday hunting, taking hen pheasants or obtaining licenses, call the state Department of Environmental Conservation at 457-5400.

Is Montreal in Spain?

"A man walks into a store, and moments later he comes racing back out with a money bag in each hand. He runs down the sidewalk and around the corner out of view. If you observed all of this from across the street, would you call the police?"

"Yes," says Joe immediately in row one.

"Of course," Amy chimes in suspecting, I think, that this is a test of civic responsibility.

"Well, I don't know," Karen offers hesitantly.

"Why don't you know, Karen?" I ask.

"Well, I think I'd want to know more about what's going on."

"Oh, you do?" Karen has played into my hand perfectly. "Well, suppose I tell you that the man who entered the store is John Smith, the store owner. And suppose that on entering, John's wife, who is behind the cash register, tells John that the day's receipts must be deposited before the bank closes so that the store's checks don't bounce; and, she notes, John had better hurry because the bank is closing in three minutes. Now, Karen what would you do? Would you call the police?"

"No."

"Why not?"

"Because the man owns the store."

"And why didn't you call the police the first time I told the story?"

"I needed more information."

"Yes," I affirm. "You needed more information. You needed to know a little history in order to make a judgment. We study history in order to understand the present and to make judgements about it. Just as it's impossible to understand what Mr. Smith is up to without knowing a little history, so it is impossible to understand what people, and nations, and cultures are up to without knowing something of their past."

At the beginning of each school year I teach a series of introductory lessons before engaging students in the material of the course. My aim is to provide students with a rationale for the course, a justification of the time they will spend over the next ten months learning social studies. Educational research, as well as common sense, suggest that students will learn more if they see purpose in what they are learning. Therefore, our several weeks of introductory lessons is time well spent. What appears above is part of a lesson on the importance of history. I teach introductory lessons on culture and geography as well. Generally, I think students respond well to the lessons. They do, eventually, see purpose to the course, and throughout the school year we refer back to the introductory material whenever we lose sight of our purpose.

But recently, I've felt these lessons are inadequate to convey the overall purpose of a course in social studies. There is something more essential to its purpose and more compelling than whatever a concise rationale for history, culture or geography may provide.

I read not long ago of a teacher who made up a test of common knowledge for his students just to see what they knew and didn't know. Typical answers included the following: Charles Darwin

IN THE CLASSROOM

invented gravity; Franz Joseph Haydn was a songwriter of the 1930's; Mark Twain invented the cotton gin; Dwight D. Eisenhower was a 17th century president; Managua is the capital of Vietnam; and Montreal is in Spain. These results would not surprise most educators, but does it matter that a young person can't recognize Mark Twain or locate Montreal in the right country? It does, most emphatically.

Scan the front page of any major newspaper or listen to the first 15 minutes of a major news broadcast and you will encounter at least a score of terms that may be called common knowledge. If you don't understand those terms, then you'll be at a serious disadvantage trying to figure out what's going on. What Works, a recent publication of the Federal Department of Education, refers to what we've been calling common knowledge as "cultural literacy," and states "students' background knowledge determines how well they grasp the meaning of what they read... The more culturally literate students are, the better prepared they will be to read and understand serious books, magazines and other challenging material."

If literacy means we can read a newspaper, cultural literacy means we may truly comprehend and form opinions about what we find there. Moreover, it allows us to converse, think, and respond within a cultural context only as expansive or confined as our cultural vocabulary. Much more than helping us to read the newspaper, cultural literacy allows us to play a controlling role in the development of our own culture.

Merit scholars test

Bethlehem students interested in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT) on Saturday, Oct. 18, may now register in the Bethlehem Central High School guidance office.

The majority of students taking the exam will be eleventh graders. Scores from the PSAT/NMSQT can help students plan their education beyond high school and estimate their performance on the College Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), which is required for admission to many colleges. Results from this test also are used to determine National Merit Scholars.

For information call 439-3650.

Hendrick to speak

Bethlehem Town Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick will speak about the "Town of Bethlehem Today and Tomorrow" at the Oct. 8, meeting of the Second Milers, an organization of retired men in Bethlehem. The meeting will begin at noon at the First United Methodist Church, 428 Kenwood Ave., Delmar.

Susan Loegering, middle, of Delmar, receives a certificate from Daniel Formica of McDonald's of Delmar as Louise Ferris, band director, looks on.

Strike up the band!

Susan Loegering of Delmar has been nominated to the 1986 McDonald's All-American High School Band.

Loegering plays the marching bells in the Bethlehem Central High School Band. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Loegering of Delmar.

"It's a pleasure for us to see motivated young people get the recognition they deserve," said Daniel Formica of McDonald's of Delmar. "We're proud of Susan because only the best high school musicians in the country are nominated to the All-American Band."

This year the band will perform in Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City, the Chicago Christmas Parade, the Fiesta Bowl Parade in Phoenix, Ariz., and the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena Calif.

Eagles win week's three soccer games

By Dave DeCecco

In last week's soccer action at Bethlehem Central, the game balls have spent much of their time on the Eagles opponents' side of the field. BC blanked Mohonasen 9-0 under the lights last Tuesday, and finished up the week with easy victories over Columbia and Scotia by respective scores of 5-0 and 4-1.

The Mohonasen game would have been relatively uneventful if not for the fact that Toby Dunmore scored five of the teams' nine goals. In the Columbia game, Bethlehem outshot their opponents 33-3. Eric Lee scored twice, and Tim McDermott, Steve Ainsworth, and Dunmore had one each. The Eagles again dominated Scotia, outshooting them 30-12. Dunmore had two goals, and Chris Boyd and Geoff Ekstein netted one apiece. Paul Doyle had two assists. In this game, a Scotia player was red-carded and they had to play one man short during the second half. These three teams never posed much of a threat to Bethlehem, yet Coach Gene Lewis saved them some praise. "They moved the ball up and down the field well, but they did not have anyone to finish up."

The Eagles have scored 34 goals in seven games thus far this season, and boast four league scoring leaders. Dunmore leads the Suburban Council with 10 goals, while Lee has five, Doyle four and McDermott three.

The vacation week is over for BC, for this week they must face three tough rivals. They will be at Guilderland Tuesday night, at undefeated Shenendehowa on Thursday and at Niskayuna Friday. Lewis feels that these three road games could determine just how good a team the Eagles are.

Lady Eagles fall to Niskayuna 8-1

By Dave DeCecco

Last week, the Bethlehem girls' tennis team lost their first match of the season to powerful Niskayuna, 8-1. According to Eagle Coach Grace Franze, the defeat was not as bad as the score may indicate. The doubles teams played quite well in a losing effort. Megan Mitchell and Robin Richards lost their first set 6-4 but fought back to take the second, 7-6. Unfortunately, they were worn down in the third, 6-3. Shalyn Ingraham and Liz Keens won 6-2 in the first, but failed to put it away in the second set, losing the tiebreaker 8-6 and the set 7-6. Franze said that they had their chances to win the tiebreaker, but they could not cash in. The duo then fell in the third set, 6-3. Kristen Dos Passos and Charlotta Westergren also won their first set, 6-4, but their Nisky counterparts took the second and third sets by scores of 6-2 and 6-3.

Number two singles player Kristen Jones remains as BC's only undefeated player, winning in that slot by a score of 6-2, 6-3.

Eagles meet tough competition

By Charles Henrikson

Both the Bethlehem Central boys and girls cross-country teams fared well last week amidst strong competition. Coach John Nyilis feels that his squads are still running well, and that they are still very much in the running for sectional titles.

Last Tuesday both teams raced Scotia and Columbia at Scotia. The girls coasted to easy wins, beating Columbia 20-42 and Scotia 15-50. This upped their dual meet record to three wins and no losses on the season.

The boys had a tougher time. They handled Scotia without any problems, 17-44. Columbia, however, placed its first three runners ahead of BC's first, making a BC win impossible. BC did take fourth through tenth, with Columbia winning 11th and 12th. The final on this race was Columbia 29-30. BC's seventh runner, Jason DuBois, deserves special recognition for outdueling Columbia's fourth, which would have been necessary for a BC victory had BC been able to split their second and third runners.

On Saturday the team ran in the gigantic Guilderland Invitational at Tawasentha Park. The girls finished a close second in their division of the race to a powerful team from Queensbury. Kim Cornaire was BC's top finisher in fifth place, followed by Julie Hammer in ninth, Heather Wolfe 14th, Cathy Saba 17th, and Becky Arenson 18th. Senior captain Tricia Shultes was out with an injury.

The boys also fared well, coming in third in their division of the race. New York State champs William Floyd of Long Island won the race, and Vermont champs Champlain Valley placed second, so, basically BC lost only to state champions. The Eagles beat their closest Section II rival by 50 points. Brendan Kears led the way for BC, with Pete Winkler and Tom Nyilis in 13th and 14.

CROSS COUNTRY

Craig Isenberg in 18th and Dave DeCecco in 23rd rounded out the team. In spite of the loss, Coach Nyilis felt that the boys ran well, at least well enough to keep up with any Section II team.

At this point in the season Coach Nyilis still has high hopes for his team. In terms of the sectionals, he sees the boys race as being between BC and a fast-improving Shenendehowa. Nyilis sees the BC and Colonie girls in a league by themselves, with Colonie as defending state champ.

Yesterday (Tuesday), BC traveled to Mohonasen to race Niskayuna and the Mohons. Coach Nyilis predicted little more than a workout for both his boys and girls. On Saturday, the team will run in the prestigious Grout Invitational in Central Park in Schenectady. This is the biggest meet of the year, and the competition will probably be similar to that at Guilderland, although it may differ, depending upon in which division BC is placed.

BC girls soccer stands at 1-4

By Lisa D'Ambrosi

After Thursday's 3-2 victory over Columbia, the future appeared bright for Bethlehem's girls varsity soccer team. But this was not to be the case.

At Columbia, the injured players had returned to form, the original squad was back and the team was playing well. "The passing shots were outstanding and the girls were really concentrating," said coach Kelly Keller. Center halfback Lynnette Stracke masterfully performed a hat trick to win the game.

The tables were turned, though, on Saturday, when the girls lost to Scotia 3-0. "Scotia has a wide field and the girls just didn't adjust to it well," commented Keller. "Scotia played an aggressive game and we just weren't as aggressive as we should have been." Scotia had 21 shots on goal to BC's 7.

Despite the scores, great effort was demonstrated by Sue Fletcher, Andrea Post and Lynnette Stracke.

So far, the record is 1 and 4 and the hardest is yet to come when the girls face Shenendehowa on Thursday, Niskayuna on Saturday and Burnt Hills next Monday.

Hopefully, the girls will pull together and regain those winning ways they had in pre-season.

Vandals about

A gymnasium window was broken Friday night or Saturday morning, and a dumpster was overturned at the Elsmere Elementary School on Delaware Ave., Bethlehem Police reported. No estimate on the damage was available.

TENNIS

"They (Niskayuna) were awesome that day. They are just a better team than we are," Franze concedes. "We gave 110 percent and just could not pull it out." She anticipates that Niskayuna will fill the number one seed for the Sectionals, and Bethlehem the number two.

Yesterday (Tuesday) the Eagles took on Columbia at home, and Thursday they travel to Burnt Hills. Franze sees these matches as being on the easy side, but feels that the match with Scotia, rescheduled because of rain, could be more of a challenge.

Voorheesville flattens Schalmont, 47-0

By Kevin Mullen

The Voorheesville Blackbirds recorded their third straight victory — and their third straight shutout — by steamrolling over an overmatched Schalmont squad 47-0 last Saturday in a Capital Conference matchup. It was the home opener for Voorheesville.

The boys in the purple and yellow dominated. Though quarterback John Meacham, halfback Kevin Kelly and halfback John Traudt will get most of the credit, it was the huge offensive line — averaging about 208 pounds each — that won the war in the trenches and opened up the lanes for the backfield.

"We came off the ball well," said head coach Pete Douglas, referring to the front line of center Rich Kane, guards Tom Hampston and Jayson White, and tackles Frank Donnelly and Chuck Giantasio. Quarterback Meacham scored two touchdowns and tossed one to halfback Tom Donahue. Kevin Kelley also scored twice.

When the Blackbirds scored, they did it quickly. Their longest drive took only five plays, covering 44 yards, after a Sabre punt. That was their first tally of three in the second quarter when Meacham dashed 19 yards on an option after a nifty fake to Traudt.

"We ran the option the way we wanted too," Douglas said. "We pitched it when we had to, and kept it when we had to. Meacham had to read and he read perfectly."

Prior to that Meacham score, he scored another one on a 25 yard scamper but the play was nullified because of clipping. The key play on the 44 yard drive was a 17-yard run by Traudt that set up the score on the Sabre 27.

The Sabres took the opening kickoff but fumbled after three plays. Then the Blackbirds flew downfield quickly. Meacham scored the first points of the contest on a one-yard keeper. That drive consumed 40 yards in just three plays. The key play of the series was the Blackbirds first of the afternoon, a 38 yard pass from Meacham to end Ed Sapinzenza that took the Birds down to the visitor's two yard line.

Kevin Kelly scored the third touchdown on a 12-yard run. Voorheesville took three plays to cover 50 yards after a partially blocked Schalmont punt. Key play on the drive was a 25-yard sweep to the left side by Kelly that took the pigskin to the Sabre 12. Matt Cillis converted his third straight extra point.

The last score of the first half was the touchdown pass from Meacham to Tom Donahue. Voorheesville took four plays to ramble 41 yards after a Sabre punt. The key play on the drive was a beautiful 50 yard jaunt by Traudt. Halftime score was 28-0.

Defensively, tackle Rich Kane, Linebackers Jeff Mazaferro and John Traudt, and safety Kevin Kelly led the birds in tackles. Mazaferro had 9 tackles, Kane had 6 tackles, Traudt had 9 tackles and Kelly had 5 tackles. Kane and defensive end Kevin Tyrrell each had one sack. It was the defense's third consecutive whitewash. Previously, Chatham and Lansingburgh were victims.

The Blackbirds took the opening kickoff of the second half and scored in four plays, covering 50 yards. Kelly tallied on a 25-yard off-tackle play that had to be seen to be believed. The 160 pound senior got lost in the "trash" and somehow emerged from all the flying bodies and scored. Key play on that opening drive was a 20 yard rip by Kelly that took the ball to the Sabres' 28 yard line. Tamba Bissell added the conversion. That made the score 35-0.

Schalmont ran three straight running plays and punted. Safety Roger Ginder blocked the ball and defensive end Bruce Kiniski fell on the ball in the end zone.

41-0. The extra point was missed. If this was a boxing match it would have been stopped by the referee.

One touchdown was scored in the fourth frame on a 16 yard burst by the powerful 190-pound Jeff Mazaferro. Midway through the short drive, Bruce Kiniski took over the controls for quarterback John Meacham. The conversion was missed again and the final score was 47-0.

Sometimes statistics lie, but Voorheesville completely overwhelmed the young men in the green jerseys. The Blackbirds accumulated 395 yards of total offense — 337 rushing yards and only 58 passing yards. Meacham completed three of six attempts. The Birds rushed 31 times for a 10.8 yard average. Leading the rugged ground attack was Kevin Kelly with 100 yards on six carries (16.6 average); John Traudt with 83 yards on five carries (16.6 average); Kevin Meacham with 70 yards on five carries (14 yard average); and Jeff Mazaferro with 58 yards on 12 carries (4.8 yard average).

It must be noted that Schalmont is starting a new varsity football program this autumn. Last year the Sabres fielded a junior varsity team. But, though the birds had the size advantage in the trenches, their experience also helped. Coach Douglas had 10 lettermen back from last year's 6-2-1 team.

Coach Douglas said his team was in "good condition" and he "was pleased with his defense." His next concern is Albany Academy, which travels to Voorheesville this Saturday.

"Academy is always a tough ball control team," he said. There's another very good ball control team. They reside in Voorheesville. But judging from last Saturday's massacre, this ball control team doesn't believe in operating more than five plays on any one drive. The Blackbirds can move the pigskin very quickly.

Falcons take Brunswick

Bethlehem's Pop Warner Falcons improved their record to 4-0 Sunday with a 28-12 victory over Brunswick.

Mike Gambelunghe led the offense with three touchdowns and two extra points. Kevin Smith and David Miles provided excellent blocking. Linebackers Josh Lanni and Kyle McCarthy anchored a previously unscored upon defense.

The Falcons play Colonie at home Sunday at 2 p.m.

The Junior Midget Hawks went to Ravena Sunday and returned with a 1 in the "W" column. The offensive and defensive line combined with the 1-2 punch of the Black brothers (Chris and Andrew) to assure the Hawks' first victory.

Head coach Mike Mooney named Kevin Sulkey defensive player of the game for 3 1/2 sacks, one fumble recovery and causing one fumble.

Next Sunday the Hawks travel to Troy for a 2 p.m. game.

Collision on Rt. 144

A Cohoes man was taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital last Monday after his vehicle collided with another on Rt. 144 and Corning Hill Rd. in Glenmont, Bethlehem Police said.

Lawrence T. Sharp, 28, of Cohoes, was treated at Albany Medical Center for head injuries, and later released, a hospital spokesman said.

Police said a Bennington, Vt., man was driving south on Rt. 144 at 8:15 a.m., and Sharp was making a left turn onto Rt. 144 from Corning Hill Rd. Police said Sharp did not see the other vehicle, and the two vehicles collided.

Sharp was ticketed for driving with his license suspended and failure to yield the right of way, police said.

Indians gain yards, not points

By Bart Gottesman

RCS varsity football coach Gary VanDerzee predicted last week that whatever team made the fewest errors would win the RCS-Watervliet showdown. VanDerzee's forecast was 100 percent correct — his team made the most mistakes and they paid. After the last second ticked off the game clock, the scoreboard read, Watervliet: 33, Visitors: 0.

The game was thought by many to have pitted two of the top Colonial Council teams. The hype of the game even attracted local TV stations, who had cameras set up. After the first quarter, the game that was supposed to be a defensive battle between two "great" teams, was on its way to being a lopsided victory for Watervliet as they rambled out to a 14-0 lead.

Ravena's defense tightened up in the second quarter, only allowing one touchdown. At the half, the two teams headed to the locker room with Ravena trailing 21-0, but still in striking distance as Brent Shook, always a threat to break the big one and raise the confidence of his teammates, was still going strong.

In the third quarter, Ravena contained Watervliet's scoring machine. But Ravena's offense failed to capitalize while the defense held Vliet at check.

Watervliet finally put the game out of reach in the fourth quarter with two rushing scores adding 12 points to the already large lead. Ravena failed to prevent the shutout and left the game disgruntled and disgusted after failing to turn in an emotionally high and mistake free game against a team that wouldn't let up and made few mistakes.

"They outplayed us, outcoached and out everythinged us," said VanDerzee. He added that turnovers were the name of the game as his squad did so six times, four with fumbles and two on passes complete to the other team.

VanDerzee said that his team's defensive performance was one of the worst showings by a RCS squad in years.

One would expect that with the majority of defenders keying on Shook, Ravena's explosive running back, the Indian passing game would play a more important role. Ravena's passing game did pick up as Ken Koonz connected on 10 of 15 passes, more completions than he had in the first two outings. John Waddingham caught five of those passes and gained 40 years. On the day Shook failed to score a touchdown for the first time during the young season but gained 69 yards on 13 carries.

Next week will be a time for the devastated Indian team to regroup. VanDerzee noted that his defense will have to work hard and get ready for a game with scrappy Lansingburgh. The game will take place in familiar surroundings at RCS Senior High at 1 p.m.

Trophy winners

Several members of the Hudson Valley Tae Kwon Do and Fitness Center in Delmar won trophies at a recent tournament held at Ramapo College in Mahwah, N.J.

Scott Canella and Bill McCarthy, both of Delmar, placed first and second in the junior green belt fighting competition. McCarthy also placed first in the junior green belt forms division.

Richard Hoult, an assistant instructor and red belt at the Delmar center, placed second in men's weapon form. Paul McDermott, an instructor at the Delmar facility, placed third in the men's black belt middleweight division. 3

The Hudson Valley Tae Kwon Do Center has recently opened a new facility at Delaware Plaza, Delmar.

Frustration shows on Indian running back Brent Shook's face. Shook gained 69 yards on 13 carries during Saturday's loss to Watervliet. Bart Gottesman

Rogers wins Tawasentha

By Rick Leach

Chuck Rogers, Chuck Rogers, Chuck Rogers.

If you follow cross-country in the Albany area, you know what that name means. Rogers has been one of the top runners in the area and definitely the top harrier in Voorheesville in the past few years, and he was out to prove that again on Saturday at the Tawasentha Invitational in Guiderland.

Prove it he did as he became the first person in Voorheesville history to win the race, defeating some of the finest and most distinguished runners in six states and the province of Ontario. Rogers' time of 12:12 also was one of the top ten times in the history of the race. Jon Decatur also ran an excellent race for the Birds, finishing in 15th place. Overall, the squad finished in a respectable seventh place. "If a few guys had done a little bit better, we could have come in third place," stated coach Ken Kirik. "Our times were good, but you have to remember we were one of the two small schools in the race."

The Blackbirds also had a double dual meet last Tuesday versus Cohoes and Lansingburgh. The Birds boys suffered a disappointing 25-30 loss to Cohoes, a very strong team. "I was a little disappointed, but they were really good," Kirik noted. Individually, Rogers came in first place, and DeCatur finished a very impressive third, beating a runner who competed in the intersectionals a year ago. "Jon ran really well," the veteran coach stated. Others scoring points were Pat Lentlie (8th), Jason Eberhardt (9th), and Ted Popkoski (12th). Voorheesville beat Lansingburgh in the other race by a score of 22-36. This left the squad with a 1-1 league record and a 1-2 overall mark.

On the girls side, Dorinda Gifford finished third in a losing effort to Lansingburgh and first as the girls beat Cohoes. Kim Sullivan came in second against the Tigers, with Renay Arbout.

Carev Donahue and Erin Donnelly also scoring points for the home squad. This also leaves the girls at 1-1 in the Colonial Council and 1-2 overall.

This week, the boys squad hosted Albany Academy on Tuesday. That one was expected to be an easy victory for the Blackbirds, who then go on to Schenectady on Saturday for the Grout Invitational. This race will also include people from different states, but will be split up by the size of the schools, so the Birds hope to fare better.

Charles C. Myers Sr. of Delmar reeled in a 40-inch long, 32-pound King Salmon at Lake Ontario recently. Myers was fishing Sept. 12 with the George Ward party.

Blackbird's tennis team undefeated

By Dave Larabee

It was an active and very successful week for Voorheesville's varsity girls tennis team, as the Blackbirds reinforced their dominant standing atop the Colonial Council.

On Monday, the team put their undefeated record on the line as they hosted league rival Lansingburgh. The visiting Knights provided little challenge as the home team rolled, 6-1. The Blackbirds (5-0 overall) allowed their foes only 4 games in 5 singles matches, as Paige Hotaling, Audry Fitzgerald, Donna Mensching and Betsy Zeh all won to remain undefeated in individual play. Also winning for Voorheesville were Cathy Tarullo and the doubles team of Dee Gobeille and Danise Hoagland.

On Wednesday and Thursday, the Blackbirds played in the Colonial Council tournament. In singles play, Voorheesville sent three players to the semifinals, in which Hotaling dismantled the number one player from Ravena with little difficulty 6-0, 6-0. In the other semi-final, Fitzgerald defeated teammate Donna Mensching, 6-2, 6-3. In the final, Hotaling defeated Fitzgerald in a close first set, 7-5, and then rolled to a 6-2 second set victory, thus winning the singles title for the second straight year. Mensching was victorious, 6-0, 6-2, in the consolation match.

In doubles play, there was another all Voorheesville final, as Zeh and Tarullo combined to defeat teammates Michelle Petre and Jen Toritto, 6-1, 6-2. Last year's third place team of Jen Zeh and Kris Flanders fell in the Quarterfinals to a team from Ravena, 10-6.

This week, the girls traveled to Ravena on Monday, are playing Watervliet at home today (Wednesday), and are travelling to Lansingburgh tomorrow. If all goes as expected, the team should remain undefeated while working towards the sectionals.

Soccer team 4-1-1

By Rick Leach

Improvement seems to be the word for the Voorheesville Blackbird soccer team, as they enjoyed another successful week on the way to moving their record to 4-1-1 in Colonial Council play and 5-2-1 overall. The Birds registered two wins and a tie during the week to set the stage for Monday's game against league leading and undefeated Albany Academy, one of the top small schools in the area and state.

Last Monday the Birds booters met Waterford on a rainy, windswept day. Voorheesville did not let the poor weather get to them, totally dominating the game. The Blackbirds had 28 shots on goal to Watervliet's four, and tallied on five of them for a shutout victory. Jeff Smolen opened the scoring, capitalizing on a beautiful pass from Keith Fragomeni to give the Birds a 1-0 advantage.

"Keith made a very intelligent play," coach Bob Crandall noted. "It is nice to see a sophomore with that kind of presence." The next time around it was Fragomeni on the scoring end as he took a pass from Andy Rockmore for a 2-0 lead. It was Rockmore and Fragomeni combining one more time, but the opposite way to make it 3-0 Birds. Brian Tracey, playing in his first game of the season after an injury, scored on an assist from Kyle Kodra to make it 4-0. Smolen closed out the scoring, pushing across a pass from Mike Race for a 5-0 Blackbird victory. Kevin Davis, and Kevin Reeth combined on the shutout.

Two days later the Birds travelled to the "Death Valley" of the Colonial Council, Schalmont's home soccer field. The Blackbirds played very well but could only come away with a 1-1 tie, due to a goal by Fragomeni with only 10 minutes left in the game. "We had some near-misses on shots, but we played a pretty strong game," Crandall stated. "Our passing was very nice and our line played well."

Strikers Dave Dunning and Jon Flanders also played superior

On Friday Voorheesville hosted Lansingburgh in another league game. Race and Smolen scored within six minutes of each other to stake the Birds to a 2-0 halftime lead. The Knights came back strong in the second half, scoring a goal and cutting the score to 2-1. Rockmore and Ken Andriano countered with goals to give the home squad a 4-1 victory. Kevin Berry played a great defensive game for the Birds to help out goalkeeper Davis, who had eight saves.

Following the Academy game Voorheesville was to play at Cohoes Wednesday and then host Mechanicville on Friday. Cohoes is always tough at home, and should be a formidable opponent for the Birds, who beat the Tigers 4-2 earlier in the year. The Blackbirds whitewashed the Red Raiders 8-0 before and should have no trouble this time around.

The Right To Complain

• When your real estate agent brings a prospective buyer to your house, the smartest thing you can do is get out of the way. The presence of the owner inhibits the prospect; he feels he cannot look where he wants to or say what he thinks.

• It's a good sign of interest when a buyer looks in closets and cabinets to measure storage space and figure out how his own things would fit. But when the seller's in the house, the buyer is uncomfortable poking around.

• Surprisingly, the real estate pro welcomes unfavorable comments from the prospect; often we can counter those objections right away and use them as selling points. An owner may take a complaint personally and get defensive. We can answer it effectively.

RCS runners strong at invitational

By Josh Curley

Another successful week was experienced by the RCS boys Cross Country team. They raised their dual meet record to 3-0 with a crushing win over Schalmont and some excellent times completed at the Guilderland Invitational.

The Indians proved their strength when they destroyed Schalmont 18-41 with first, second, third, tie-fourth and tie-sixth places. Lance Tucker, Paul Curley, Josh Curley, Jim Noeth, and Bill Pellitier provided the force in the victory.

Ravena Cross Country runners did well against some of the best runners and most powerful teams in the region on Saturday Tawasentha Park in Guilderland. Several team members had top finishes: Paul Curley captured 17th in the tough varsity boys division, Dena Perry and Theresa Darlington finished 11th and 19th respectively in the varsity girls division, and Jeff Schaffer finished a strong 19th in the JV boys race, earning himself a spot on the varsity squad in the next meet.

The Indians were scheduled to travel to Cohoes on Tuesday. Cohoes is regarded as the top team in the Council and will have come off a win at an Invitational in Utica. Though RCS is a definite underdog, there is hope for an upset on the strength of high placings by the third, fourth and fifth Ravena finishers.

Also this week, Ravena will be one of the many teams expected to turn out for the Grout Invitational in Central Park of Schenectady on Saturday.

Saratoga falls to BC

By Rose Docteur

Last week started off well for the Bethlehem field hockey team, but ended with disappointment.

The girls started off with a 1-0 win over Saratoga that lifted their spirits for the next game. On Thursday, however, they lost to Columbia. Coach Julie Wendth said that the team dominated the game, but lost in an exciting double overtime with a final score of 2-1. The last game of the week against Niskayuna was another disappointment when the girls lost 2-0.

There are some returning players that are working very hard to make this team a success. They are Lisa DiFrancisco, Heather House, Megan McGinn and Jackie Menzie.

The team's record is now 1-5 and the team does not plan on making sectionals this year unless they work hard and improve their record. The next game is this Friday home against Shenendehowa.

Golfers take two

After defeating Niskayuna 6-4 and Scotia 9 1/2 to 1/2 last week, the Eagles traveled to McGregor in Saratoga on Thursday and suffered their first loss of the season.

Low scores were 38 by Matt Young and 41 by Mike Durnat. This will be a big week for the Eagles as they entertain the top teams from the Blue Division, Colonie and Saratoga, on Tuesday at Normanside, then travel to VanPatten to play Shenendehowa on Thursday and finish the week against Guilderland at Pinehaven on Friday.

Eastern Star meets

The Order of the Eastern Star, Onesquethaw Chapter 818, will celebrate the homecoming of James Herbst, associate grand sentinel of the Grand Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, State of New York, on Wednesday, Oct. 1. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m.

Lady Indians at 5-3

By Paul Curley

This week the Ravena girl's soccer team tries to avenge two stinging early-season losses to Schalmont, who they faced Tuesday and Holy Names, who they play Saturday. The Indians must also beat Cohoes Thursday to maintain their winning streak. Last week was a perfect one as the team earned two shutouts to boost its record to 5-3.

Despite a three-point advantage the matchup against Watervliet was considered a "pretty tough game" by goalie Jackie Mulligan who held the opponents scoreless. Ravena's three goals were scored by Tammy Samsel on a breakaway, Tracy Klein on a direct kick over the goalie's head and by Marsha DiNapoli, who caught a high bouncing shot on the right side and powered it across to the opposite side of the goal.

This kind of scoring was not seen in a defensive struggle at Lansingburgh Saturday, where Ravena won 1-0. The only goal was a lucky shot by Samsel that rolled into the goal to give RCS the victory.

Classes cancelled

The classes senior citizens exercise classes scheduled for Wednesday, between 2 and 3 p.m., have been cancelled through December. The classes will resume in January.

The Monday and Friday morning exercise classes are still in progress and will continue through June.

Cyclist pleads guilty

A Delmar man had his license revoked after he pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge of driving while intoxicated, Bethlehem Town Court officials said.

Shannon McElroy, 28, of Kenwood Ave. in Delmar, appeared in town court earlier this month on the charge.

McElroy was arrested and charged with the misdemeanor DWI on July 29, after the motorcycle he was driving tipped over on Delaware Ave. at 9:15 p.m. According to police reports, McElroy said he was driving west on lower Delaware Ave. at about 30 miles an hour, and as he swerved to avoid potholes in the road, he lost control of the motorcycle and fell off.

McElroy was treated for arm and shoulder injuries following the incident, police said.

Indicted for burglary

Three men have been indicted for second degree burglary and three other felony charges by an Albany County Grand Jury after they were arrested following a four-hour manhunt in Glenmont on Sept. 11.

Indicted and arraigned last week were Michael Pearson, 18, of Maple Ave. in Selkirk, his brother, Ricky Pearson, 19, of First St. in Albany, and Timothy Thomas, 19 of Second Ave. in Albany, according to the Albany County District Attorney's office. The three were indicted on felony counts of second degree burglary, second degree grand larceny, third degree grand larceny, and on felony and misdemeanor counts of unauthorized use of a vehicle.

The three men have been charged with breaking into a house in Selkirk on Sept. 11 and taking more than $1,500 worth of property, including a rifle and a .22-caliber handgun, the district attorney's office said. They were also riding in a vehicle that was allegedly taken from an acquaintance in Albany.

A vehicle driven by the men was seen earlier that day in the hamlet. State police said they attempted to stop the vehicle on Rt. 9W after the burglary, but the vehicle ran off the road and the three ran into woods near Wemple Rd. State police, Bethlehem Police, K-9 units and a state police helicopter were called out to search for the three men.

Teacher workshops

Four Bethlehem Central teachers attended the four day Poetry as Performance workshop sponsored by the Capital Region Center Institute for Arts in Education.

Asta Roberts, Ann Connolly, Jan Weitman and Jim Yeara switched from acting as teachers to performing as artists. Twenty-six teachers from other area schools also participated.

The teachers experienced a variety of performances, videos and lectures, participate in poetry-writing workshops, and received instruction from regional and internationally acclaimed artists.

Some of the artists included Jackson MacLow, the "grandfather" of performance poetry, Barney Bush, Arman Schwerner, beat poet Michael McClure, and Ray Manzarek, former keyboardist for The Doors.

Special emphasis will be placed on the literary traditions of rock music and pairing poetry with the teenager's idiom of rock-n-roll, at a special three-day conference held at Hudson Valley Community College in late April.

The Poetry in Performance workshop was held at the State University at Albany, Performing Arts Center, on Sept. 25, 26, 29 and 30.

Artists will visit classrooms during October, November and December.

A friend's wishes

Editor, The Spotlight:

As we prepare to leave Bethlehem, we pause to reflect on our many experiences here. We feel that we must publicly express our thanks for the kindnesses and support shown to us over the past 15 years, and especially at the time of our departure. We sincerely appreciate the flood of calls, cards and letter expressing regrets about our leaving and extending good wishes for our future.

Bethlehem is indeed a special place, made up of special people; and we wish you well.

Many thanks

Editor, The Spotlight:

I would like to thank Dispatcher Donovan of the Bethlehem Police Department for his help on Sept. 25. He asked all the questions needed to dispatch the ambulance.

I would like to thank Animal Control Officer Scott Anson, the Delmar Rescue Squad crew, Craig Sluers and Tom Howard, as well as Jim Reagan, for being there when I needed them. They did everything needed to take care of Kevin and calm me.

The nurses and doctors at St. Peter's Hospital were fantastic and kept a very close watch. In time the stitches will mend. To all involved I say thank you.

Counseling policy

Editor, The Spotlight:

I was appalled at two statements on the subject of drugs attributed to Patricia Pinchback, student assistance specialist for BCHS (Spotlight, Sept. 24). "What is frightening, she (Pinchback) said, is that some parents assume that because they don't see the evidence — because of lack of communication — substance abuse is not there." Then, "As a counselor, Pinchback said the only time she will notify parents about substance abuse is when it is life-threatening, including addiction to heroine or acid."

In other words, Mrs. Pinchback doesn't think that parents can spot drug use, but she's not going to tell them about it until their child is suicidal or really hooked. "She then is able" (i.e., needs their cooperation) "to refer the family to a treatment facility for the addiction."

Who makes policy for the Guidance Department? The Board? The administration? Or the Guidance Department itself? Do all of our counselors operate this way? If so, I think the policy needs some discussion.

A few years ago, the notification of parents of pregnant minors by doctors and clinics was hotly debated, our solid tradition of privacy between doctor and patient prevailed. However, I am not aware of any similar tradition of privacy between students and school counselors, whom I thought were hired by the taxpayers (parents) to provide guidance (direction, not treatment), to bring problems to the attention of parents, teachers and administrators, and to head off problems before they got out of hand.

I'll bet that if an eight-year-old on the bus gets hit with a lunch box that the parent will be called to have the bump on his head checked by a doctor and that the bully will be reprimanded, banned from riding the bus for a week, and his parents will be notified. But are we to believe that when these two kids are 14, and one is selling drugs to the other, that maybe the drug dealer's parents will be notified (but not because he is a user) and the other child's parents will be called barely in time to make funeral arrangements? If, as she says, "It is good kids from good homes," why would the school hesitate to call the parents?

I think Mrs. Pinchback's comments are typical of policies of institutions toward families.

Hospitals, nursing homes, schools, and any bureaucracy that deals with one member of a family sees the rest of the family as either part of the problem or at least too much of a hassle to bother with. Dealing with an individual is always easier than with a group, so the people who care the most are called only when the bureaucrats have given up or need their written approval to move to the next level of the bureaucracy.

I'm sure there are other sides to this issue and I'd like to hear them. Jean Eckel Elsmere

Scouts' quilt displayed

A tricentennial quilt assembled by 500 Girl Scouts will be on display through Oct. 19, at the Albany City Hall.

The quilt project was undertaken by girls who attended the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council's day camp at Is-Sho-Da in East Greenbush this past summer. Approximately 500 out of 1400 girls at the camp sewed a portion of the quilt.

The quilt's central scene shows the sun, a hill, a stream and a beaver and is designed to show that things both change and remain the same. The quilt celebrates Dutch, Indian and Girl Scout themes, including Albany's tricentennial, the Girl Scouts of the United States of America's 75th anniversary in 1987 and Is-Sho-Da's 33rd anniversary.

Scraps for the applied quilt were collected by adults and girls in the council and all girls who worked on the quilt signed the muslin back. The quilt, which measures five feet by six feet, is entitled "Girl Scout Heritage." The work was under the direction of Ro Woodard of Coeymans Hollow, camp director; Eileen Pasquini of Delmar, camp program director, and Kathy Soden of Albany, arts and crafts counselor.

Book Review

By Nat Boynton

When a retired Scotia man began poking into the genealogical records of his seafaring forebears on the Maine coast several years ago, he found such a wealth of stories that he decided to "go public." The result is a fascinating, engrossing chronology of adventure, intrigue and colorful personalities woven into a backdrop of familiar history.

The Sea Chain, a 439-page laminated-cover book by John Duncan, is a true story — or rather, a number of true stories — of many ships and many voyages to many lands. It is spiced with famous names, Civil War naval battles and the transition of the U. S. merchant fleet from the great three-masted sailing vessels of the 1840s to the introduction of auxiliary steam power. The author's exhaustive research into diaries, ships' logs, municipal and marine museum records has also produced more than 100 photos and prints that add a full dimension to the story.

Captain Charles Duncan of Bath, Me., is the patriarch of The Sea Chain. He shipped aboard the 700-ton Queen Victoria in 1841, became a ship captain in 1844, survived Confederate raids on Union shipping and closed his career in political controversy in the Port of New York. His sons fought with Admiral Farragut at Mobile Bay and for another generation were masters of sailing ships that spanned the globe, experiencing everything from typhoons to mutiny.

Family records and files of old newspapers revealed a suspicious death at sea with the captain's daughter a central figure, and in the 1880s his controversial son-in-law was in command of the magnificent yacht that took Robert Louis Stevenson and his American wife Fanny on an extended charter cruise to the South Seas.

On land there is the captain's close friendship with that famous preacher Henry Ward Beecher, and his conflict with a former passenger on a Holy Land voyage, Mark Twain, who disapproved of prayer meetings and no-smoking rules.

Now, nearly a century later, Captain Duncan's great-grandson emerges as a masterful storyteller. His easy style and obvious credibility, combined with the rich historical legacies the captain, his sons and their families have given us, make for delightful reading, a cozy prospect with the longer evenings of winter coming on.

The book is a treasure at $12.95, and if not in stock at Lincoln Hill Books at Delaware Plaza or the Book House at Stuyvesant Plaza, they can order it for you from Americana Review, 10 Socha Lane, Scotia 12302.

Hazardous Waste by Any Other Name

The Blue Circle Atlantic Cement Company recently announced its plans to burn solvents and other "waste-generated fuels" in their cement kiln at Ravena. These are, in fact, hazardous wastes. This proposal would have a definite impact on the communities of Ravena, positive record of contributions to the local area. I am told that this method of disposal may be among the safest. However, the proposed burning by the company raises questions that must be answered. These include: how much waste is to be burned; how will it be transported into the site;

"People have a right to know"

Coeymans, Bethlehem, and northern Columbia county.

As I have gone door to door campaigning to represent you in the State Assembly, it has become obvious to me that—despite the announcement of the company—few people realize that this proposal is in many ways identical to a project proposed seven years ago, which was rejected by the community.

Blue Circle Atlantic Cement Company has maintained a where will it be stored; where will emissions fall; and how will this affect local volunteer fire fighters.

I believe that the people have a right to know. There is a duty that any company owes to local residents to keep them fully informed when the disposal of any kind of hazardous waste is proposed. I call upon the company to hold a public hearing before it enters the permit process in order to explain their project in detail.
