Parents who listen still best medicine

By Ann Treadway

In today's Age of the Pamper, nervous new parents don't have to worry about stabbing their babies with diaper pins.

But Dr. Edwin Pesnel, who retired last month after a 38-year career as a pediatrician, has a vivid memory of a young father left in charge by his wife who did pin some skin along with the diaper. The baby screamed, the mother-in-law was summoned and fainted dead away, and Dr. Pesnel had to order the paralyzed papa to bring the baby to him for removal and repair procedures.

While this was an emergency he could handle a bit better than that parent, Dr. Pesnel said during a recent interview he would never claim to "have all the answers" about raising children.

He would only advise that they not be allowed to "rule the roost," that behavioral limits be set and enforced, and that parents spend the time to really listen to their children — at all ages.

Dr. Pesnel and his wife, Irene, who moved from Darroch Rd. in Delmar to a townhouse in Chadwick Square, Glenmont, two years ago, have two grown children of their own, and six grandchildren.

Perhaps this personal experience has kept him humble. In spite of having "read all the books," he said, he and his wife "wandered from one extreme to the other" in their parenting techniques. But then he chuckled and added: "But it seemed to work out okay."

Now a vigorous-looking 70-year-old, Dr. Pesnel moved to Albany from New York City with his family as a sixth-grader, graduated from Christian Brothers Academy, Cornell University, and Albany Medical College, and began his private pediatric practice in 1948. From 1974 until his retirement on Oct. 17, he served as chief of pediatrics at St. Peter's Hospital.

He cited two reasons for his recent decision to retire: an "eye problem" that he feared would affect his ability to treat patients, and a feeling of "disenchantment" with current trends in the field of medicine.

Doctors today function under the constant threat of having to defend their actions in court, he said, which leads to excessive, often unnecessary, testing and an overly-cautious approach to diagnosis and treatment.

In addition, he said, questions that were once decided by doctors — such as whether a person should be admitted to the

Voorheesville's library: a question of location

By Lyn Stapf

If the executive board of the Voorheesville Public Library has its way this Thursday, Nov. 13, will be a lucky day.

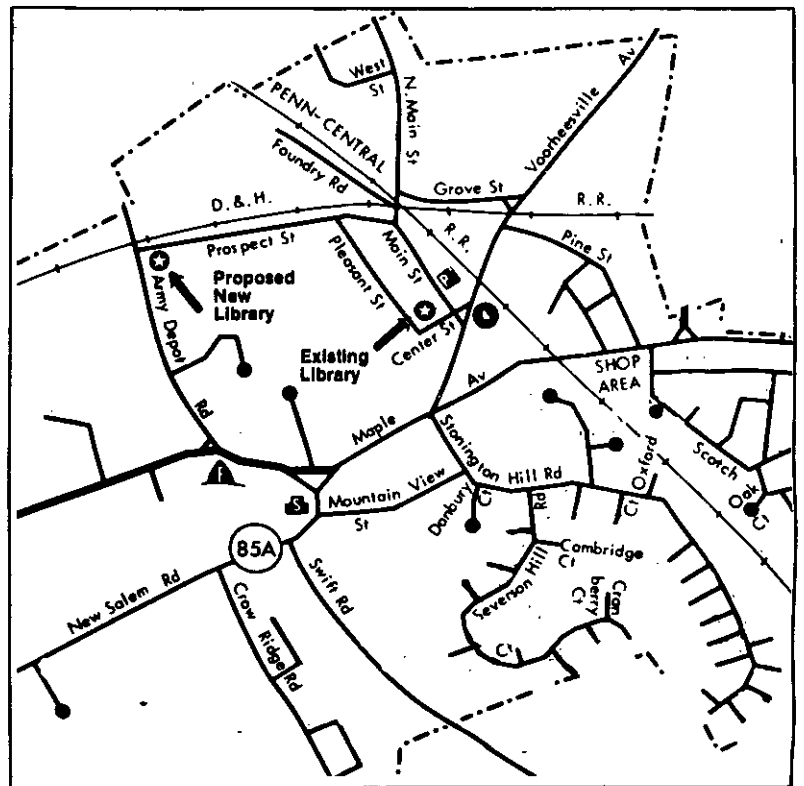

"We're very optimistic," said Board President Ed Donohue, referring to the upcoming vote on the $890,000 bond issue to finance the proposed new public library.

That optimism is tempered with some concern that — so far — interest in the project has been light. And board members are anxious that district voters understand why they chose the Prospect St. site and decided on a 10-year bonding period for the project.

The referendum will culminate a three-year study aimed at providing the Voorheesville Central School District with a modern new library.

"The past 36 years has seen our rapidly growing community outgrow the present facility," said Donohue, referring to the obvious overcrowded condition in the building on Main St., which was previously a Presbyterian Church. "It's definitely time to consider the need for a new building which will better serve the needs of everybody, from pre-schoolers to senior citizens."

To do this, Delmar architect Leslie Bender has been retained and has designed a building of approximately 7,000 square feet of space providing for an expanded children's reading section as well as a well-equipped adult reading area which includes personal computers and a typewriter for use by the general public, as well as a leisure reading area. The plans also call for a community room which could serve 50 people.

"This space, which can also be divided in half to accommodate smaller groups or two separate meeting, would provide a place for area clubs and organizations to meet as well as additional room to house the library's popular children's programs" said former board president Hugh McDonald, who serves as the chairman of the project.

The T-shaped building on a 1.7 acre site would also include a

Pool bids way over budget Board meets in secret to discuss contract award

By Patricia Mitchell

After a discussion and an adjournment to an executive session apparently not allowed under the state's Open Meetings Law, the Bethlehem Central Board of Education has accepted bids on replacing the high school swimming pool that came in at $300,000 over estimates.

However, because bids on other projects were accepted below estimates, the district is only $98,000 over projected costs for the $4.5 million capital improvements bond issue approved by district voters last December.

Bids were opened on Oct. 28 to replace the swimming pool, and for hardware, mostly for locks at the high school. At last Wednesday's meeting of the board, the district's architect Ben Mendel, of Mendel, Mesick, Cohen, Waite, and Hall, presented the high figures and suggested some alternates. The board then adjourned into a closed executive session.

Before the executive session, Board President Bernard Harvith said while board members might want to discuss changes in the bid orders, the executive session was allowed under a section of the law that covers "proposed acquisition, sale or release of real property." While the district would not be buying or selling property, Harvith said, the executive session was permitted because the bond work would add to the real estate values of the buildings.

However, the executive director of the state Committee on Open Government said Friday the use of executive session to discuss bidding is not covered by the law.

"It doesn't fit," said Robert Freeman. "In my opinion, it would not have constituted a release into executive session. It has nothing to do with the sale or release of real property."

The state's Opening Meetings Law, passed in 1977, says all meetings of public bodies are open, except for specific actions, including collective negotiations, matters that may imperil the public's safety, and matters concerning particular employees.

While BC board members discussed personnel matters and current litigation in Wednesday's executive session, Dr. Briggs McAndrews, acting superintendent, said Friday the board also discussed if there was a possibility of litigation if change orders on the bids were accepted.

"The executive session discussion was concerning the change orders and any litigation involved with them," McAndrews said.

The Open Meetings Law allows a board to discuss current, pending or proposed litigation so the board does not have to reveal its strategy when going to court, Freeman said. Because the board was not discussing court strategy,

Local voters still hard to pin down

Voters in Bethlehem and New Scotland last Tuesday followed the statewide trend of jumping all over the ballot — mostly to vote for incumbents, whatever their party. But when it counted, Bethlehem Republicans let party loyalty be their guide, helping to elect John Faso of Kinderhook to the state assembly in the 102nd District.

John Faso

Faso, an attorney and commissioner of the state Bill Drafting Commission, survived a tough four-way primary to win the Republican nomination, raising some questions about whether he would have the support of the disappointed party organizations in Albany and Greene counties. Eugene Keeler, the Columbia County district attorney, got an early start and ran a persistent, if low-key campaign.

But the nearly two-to-one edge in Republican registration was more than Keeler could handle as Faso won comfortably in all three counties. The totals: 24,826 for Faso, 17,135 for Keeler and 1,284 for Shaun Marie Levine, the Conservative candidate. Bethlehem's 1,898 plurality for Faso was about 700 votes better than his predecessor, C.D. "Larry" Lane's final campaign for the seat in 1984.

Party labels meant little in the 103rd Assembly District, where Albany Democrat Richard J. Conners was reelected with an overwhelming margin, carrying even the nominally Republican towns of Guelderland and New Scotland.

Incumbent State Sen. Howard Nolan, who has extensive business interests in Bethlehem, wasn't able to carry the town, although he did win in New Scotland on his way to an easy triumph over his young Republican challenger, Peter Crummey.

And as expected, Bethlehem voters like John Clyne whether he is a Democrat or a Republican. The former county court judge and Delmar resident was swamped by the Albany Democrats in his bid on the Republican line for a state supreme court judgeship, but had the support of both Bethlehem and New Scotland voters.

Suicide ruled

Bethlehem Police said they found the body of a Cherry Ave., Delmar, man at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at Calvary Cemetery in Glenmont, after he committed suicide.

Frank Rossi, 83, was pronounced dead by the Albany County Coroner later that day, police said.

Board hires consultant

Dr. James O'Connell, dean of the education school at the State University at New Paltz, will conduct a one-year search for a new superintendent for the Bethlehem Central School District.

The school board, which is seeking to replace Dr. Lawrence Zinn, selected O'Connell at its meeting last Wednesday. Zinn resigned in September after 15 years as superintendent at BC to take over the Saratoga Springs City School district. Dr. Briggs McAndrews has been acting superintendent while a replacement is sought.

"Jim is the best for our district," said board President Bernard Harvith. "We hope to find someone and have that person hired by July 1."

pleased to find someone with O'Connell's caliber, and that everyone was looking forward to the search process.

O'Connell is a principal of a national search team, Roy, O'Connell, Eckett, Moran, Inc.,

BETHLEHEM

of New Paltz and Cambridge, Mass. The school board approved an $8,000 contract for the search, which includes expenses.

In the next step of the search process, O'Connell will hold a general meeting with district residents on the search process and the new superintendent, and brochures on the position will be prepared.

O'Connell has been dean at New Paltz since 1981. Before that, he was with the state Education Department as an assistant commissioner for education, finance, management and school services. He was also superintendent of the Carmel and Roundout Valley school districts, and received his doctorate in education from Harvard University. O'Connell received his master's from New Paltz and he has his bachelor's in classics.

The board also reviewed the first reading of a new policy on involuntary transfers. The board will transfer an instructor who is the best qualified and competent to fill a vacancy. However, if more than one teacher is qualified, those with less seniority will be transferred.

The policy defines an involuntary transfer as from one building or position to another, or for teachers of special subjects, such as physical education, from one curriculum level to another.

The policy was agreed on in the last teachers' contract. A similar policy on transfers was tabled at the Oct. 1 meeting of the board, and since then some wording has been revised.

Referring to a workshop on the budget by the board last month, Sherwood Davies, a candidate for the school board last May and a member of Bethlehem United Taxpayers, said any new items that may be added to the budget should be fully justified by the

June pay day for excellence in teaching

By Patricia Mitchell

Bethlehem Central teachers are scheduled to receive their Excellence in Teaching (EIT) funds in one payment next June.

BC will receive $72,000 under the program that was inserted into the state budget this year. Additional fringe benefits, such as retirement funds and Social Security, must come out of the district's pocket, a cost equal to about 25 percent of the funds.

In addition to teachers, teaching assistants, school nurses and supervisory staff will also receive the payment. Part-time staff will receive funds prorated to full time staff. Staff serving a part of the year, replacement teachers, and those on sick leave will also receive the payment.

Those who will not receive the funds are teachers on leaves of absence, substitutes, administrative staff and Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) staff working in the district.

Final amounts on how much each teacher will receive have not yet been calculated, said Franz Zwicklbauer, business administrator. Because part-time teachers will be sharing in the funds at a part-time equivalent, how many full-time equivalents and how much they will get is still being debated.

However, Zwicklbauer said there are about 240 teachers in the district, who could receive a ballpark figure of $300 each.

The one-year agreement on the distribution of funds was announced at last Wednesday's Bethlehem Central Board of Education meeting, after an agreement was reached between the board and its teachers union.

"Unfortunately for our district it is not a lot of money, but we will take all we can get. Our teachers are worth a lot more," said board President Bernard Harvith.

A committee will review the calculations and determine any questions of eligibility before the June payment.

Instead of using the EIT funds to raise teachers' salary levels, the lump-sum payment will allow BC to go back to current salary levels if the state funds stop coming.

staff in terms the "common layman can understand."

"We are all lay people ourselves," Harvith said, agreeing that budget items have to be understandable.

Davies also said the board should consider state-published costs per pupil in different areas when preparing the budget. Davies said BC has the highest cost per pupil among the Suburban Council schools in fringe benefits.

In other business, the school board:

- Approved Technical Theatre and Stagecraft Guild as a new club at the high school. The club will provide involvement in stage writing, set construction, and other theater preparations, and provide service for school productions, concerts and assemblies. With advisor Nicolas Nealon, the club will receive no money from the district but does plan to raise money, Harvith said.

- Learned that the high school received official accreditation from the Middle States Visiting Committee after a visit in the spring.

The board went into executive session once at the end of the meeting to discuss personnel matters and swimming pool work bids.

The next meeting of the Bethlehem Central school board is slated for 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12.

□ Pool bids over

Freeman said the law probably does not apply.

"It sounds unlikely to me," Freeman said. "The question is, was that discussed?"

Asked to explain the basis for the executive session, Harvith said the board did not say exactly why it voted to go into the session, and he said he could not discuss the bidding any further because he did not want to "let out the bottom line."

After the executive session, McAndrews said the board accepted the bids when it reconvened back to regular session, and no change orders on the bond work have been decided for now.

The board accepted five different bids for bond issue work, including a bid from Best Lock Corporation of $18,071 for replacing hardware at the high school, primarily locks. On pool work, four bids were accepted, including a bid for $679,300 from Surface Systems, Inc., of Schenectady, for general construction work; a bid for $116,200 from Albany Specialties, Inc., for heating and ventilating in the pool; a bid for $46,859 from A. S. Crisafulli, Inc., of Albany, for plumbing work; and a bid for $72,700 from Flex Electric Contractors, of Rensselaer, for electrical work.

Work at the pool was estimated at $606,818, said Franz Zwickl-bauer, assistant superintendent for business administration, after the meeting. The four bids accepted by the school board totaled $915,059, a difference of $308,241.

Because bids on other projects were accepted below estimates, the district made up some money and, it will only lose $98,000, Zwickl-bauer said. For example, the recently completed roofing projects were estimated at $578,000, but actually cost $219,000, he said.

While the bids came in "significantly" over estimates, Mendel said it is hard to hit specific job projects on the money. He said if the school board accepted alternate work, the bond issue would not be in jeopardy.

Mendel said alternates, such as refurbishing lockers in the girls' gym instead of buying new ones, would allow all parts of the bond issue to be done, and he said the board should allow the architects to change bid orders in the future to allow for flexibility.

However, board members disagreed with Mendel's suggestions.

Board member Marjorie O'Brien said the projects were gone through in great depth when the board prepared the bond issue for voters. She said she was afraid that some new proposals on the pool were not discussed, and therefore were not put in front of the voters.

"These were all discussed. I will not accept alternates on the girls' locker room. We went through this interminably," O'Brien said.

Board member Charles "Bud" Reeves said if change orders are made, quality of the work may suffer.

"To me, that is less quality," Reeves said.

While Mendel said refurbishing lockers instead of replacing them, or other changes in the bond will not mean poorer quality, the bond issue could be "jeopardized" if changes were not made.

"I think we have a very good proposal here," Mendel said.

Even though materials that will be used in the work are "middle of the road," Mendel said the architects very much underestimated costs, and underestimated the difficulty of the pool work. Construction of swimming pools have to meet a number of state Education Department and Health Department guidelines.

Construction at the swimming pool is expected to start as soon as approval on the project is received from the state Education Department, and Zwickl-bauer said that could come by the end of November.

Because of the work, the pool has been closed at the high school for the school year. No swimming classes are being taught this year, and swimming teams are practicing at the middle school and go away to meets. Community groups, including the Delmar Dolphins, have had to find alternative sites to practice this year.

Election planned

The Board of Elections of the Elmwood Park Fire District will prepare rolls of registered voters of the Elmwood Park Fire District on Nov. 21, from 7 to 10 p.m., at the North Bethlehem Firehouse.

Only residents who have registered with the County Board of Elections on or before Monday, Nov. 17, will be eligible to vote.

Bethlehem's 1987 budget brings small tax decrease

By Kevin Mullen

Despite an increase of $501,380 in appropriations in Bethlehem's General Fund for 1987, Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick announced a 3.8 per cent tax rate decrease at the town board's special budget meeting last Wednesday night.

The board approved the 1987 spending plan unanimously after hearing a critique from Democrat David Sawyer. Sawyer, a frequent critic of the town's budgeting practices, said he "spoke in favor and against" the budget.

Hendrick said that the tax rate decrease of 28 cents per $1,000 — from $7.42 per $1,000 to $7.14 — was possible because of an increase in anticipated revenues. The town's assessed valuation increased from $88.53 million to $92.36 million, county sales tax revenue increased $200,000, state per capita aid increased $47,500, and mortgage tax revenue increased $55,000.

The preliminary budget for 1987 totals $12,579,145, an increase of $418,024 over the 1986 operating budget. The general fund, or town budget, is the largest slice of the budget pie, making up 44 percent. Water, sewer and highway are 21, 18 and 17 percent, respectively, of the remaining pie.

Hendrick explained that the Federal Revenue Sharing program has been terminated by Congress, but that $110,000 is available from the unexpended balance from previous years.

Sawyer, a Democrat who unsuccessfully ran for a town board seat last year, questioned this year's unexpended balance. A former state budget examiner and who now works for the Public Service Commission, Sawyer has argued that the town should not end the year with large surpluses. Hendrick countered that approximately $30,000 of the unexpended balance was interest accrued at rates between 12 and 13 per cent.

Sawyer threw out many questions during the special meeting. He was critical of the "large numbers of inequities" in assessed valuation. Hendrick admitted the problem but said that a gradual review has been proceeding. Sawyer asked if a study was made for the 5 percent increase in town salaries; Hendrick said that he compared the town salaries to other "moderately sized municipalities and we were low."

"We're not in the ball park with the state," said Hendrick, who was also a state budget examiner before he became supervisor.

"No one is," agreed Sawyer.

Sawyer wondered if the town's "bad check service" would put collection agencies out of business. Hendrick assured him that it didn't; he said that the service helped not only commercial establishments, but people too. He said that the program has caused the arrest of persons who have passed bad checks around.

Sawyer urged the board to hire a full time planner. Hendrick had previously said he would recommend doing that, and told Sawyer that it would be given "serious consideration." There is $225,000 in the contingency fund, which will be used for comprehensive traffic and land use planning studies, and the full time planner, if one is needed. Sawyer also saw a need for a community center; $25,000 has been set aside in the contingency fund for one.

Some of the other topics that he raised were the "impasse on the Jericho bridge," a change in the budget process that would emphasize "not only money but the program side," and autumn's maddening habit of falling leaves. "What happened to the leaf removal system?" he asked. Hendrick addressed his frustration of inconsistent pickups, but he said that "getting the manpower is the problem."

The meeting moved on to the highway, sewer and water budgets. Hendrick reported a highway tax increase of 0.6 percent, from $20.47 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to $20.60 in the 1987 budget. He explained that the increase was necessary so the 5 percent cost of living increase and normal salary increments for town employees could be achieved. There are no major increases in general road repairs, permanent improvements, machinery, brush or snow accounts. The highway budget totals $2,178,568, an increase of $38,945 over the 1986 operating budget.

The water fund will show a tax rate increase of 3.7 percent, from $8.76 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to $9.09 per $1,000. Hendrick said the increase is necessary to cover increased costs for operation and maintenance and to pay for the major water storage and distribution improvements that are presently under construction. The water fund totals $2,586,274, a decrease of $216,572 from the 1986 operating budget. The reason for the decrease in 1987 is debt service; bond anticipation notes were converted to permanent serial bonds to take advantage of a favorable bond market.

In the sewer fund, the tax rate for those who live outside the Delmar-Elsmere Sewer District will increase by 3.6 percent, an increase from $6.76 per $1,000 to $6.99 per $1,000. For those inside the sewer district, there will be an increase of 3.8 percent, from $19.31 per $1,000 to $20.40 per $1,000. The sewer budget totals $2,249,211, an increase of $94,271 over the 1986 operating budget.

Rt. 396 bridge open

The Mosher Bridge carrying Rt. 396 over Conrail's Selkirk Yard has been restored to full-width operation.

"We completed the emergency repairs to the structure and reopened the bridge to two lanes of traffic as quickly as possible," said John E. Taylor, regional director of the state Department of Transportation.

An inspection by DOT engineers last winter found serious corrosion of many steel supporting members. Rather than placing weight restrictions on vehicles using the bridge, DOT installed a temporary traffic signal system to provide for a single lane of alternating two-way traffic while repairs were being made.

The 63-year-old, 543-foot-long, twin-girder bridge was the subject of a public hearing last February. While temporary repairs have been made, administrators at the state Department of Transportation are reviewing a recommendation from regional planners for replacement of the bridge at the present location.

RCS to fill seat

An empty seat on the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Board of Education is expected to be filled by a new member appointed at the board's next meeting on Monday, Nov. 17.

The appointed board member will serve until the day after the next annual election in May.

The board was expected to hold interviews with six candidates in an executive session Monday night, said Superintendent William Schwartz. The board solicited applications from interested district residents until Thursday, Nov. 6.

The board is seeking to fill the seat of Dr. Frank Filippone, who resigned last month.

Candidates for the position are: James VanValkenburg of Selkirk, Thomas Rotello of Ravena, Carol Anderson of Coeymans, J. Russell Sykes of New Baltimore, James Morgan of Glenmont and John Lavelle of Glenmont.

McDonald's hearing concludes

By Kevin Mullen

Round two of McDonald's current attempt to construct a drive-through window at its restaurant on Delaware Ave. in Elsmere continued last Wednesday night with a traffic engineer telling the Bethlehem Board of Appeals that the addition would have "no significant increase in traffic" on Delaware Ave.

The board made no decision on the controversial case, but did issue informal decisions denying an existing garage in North Bethlehem and an expansion of Hostetter's service station on Delaware Ave. at Cherry Ave.

Reopening a previously adjourned public hearing, the board heard from Jon Dietrich, a traffic engineering consultant with Champagne Associates of Troy, who presented three studies — of existing traffic conditions on Delaware Ave., an estimation of added traffic, and an evaluation of the added traffic.

With the drive-through window, Dietrich said, traffic would increase by 10 percent. Dietrich said that most traffic flowed during the noon hour, approximately from noon to 1 p.m., but that that three different times were used to measure the traffic flow. Measurements were made on Friday, from 11:45 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and from 4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.; and on Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

A machine count was made using a tube on Delaware Ave. and manual counts, called turning movement counts, were made on the driveway.

Edward Kleinke, the town's planning consultant, said that a state environmental quality review report showed no adverse environmental impact on the area. But, he said, in his opinion there would be "a conflict with traffic movement on the site." Kleinke said that "not only vehicular conflict, but a pedestrian conflict."

Again voicing her dissent was Shirley Sargent of 15 Crannell

Ave., who spoke at the first session of the public hearing.

"The real issue really isn't traffic," she said. "In 1969 McDonald's said that they were going to build a restaurant according to the zoning ordinance. I blame the corporation. The zoning code is very clear on what a restaurant is. No one today has said that McDonald's is not a restaurant."

In a 3-2 vote, the board drew up a resolution denying Mr. and Mrs. Alfred R. Davenport of 412 Krumkill Rd. in North Bethlehem a permitted-uses variance for permission to continue to operate a repair garage at their premises.

Board member Gary Swan, who voted against the resolution, explained to his fellow members that after he had read the minutes of the public hearing and visited the Davenport premises, he decided to vote against the resolution because of two factors: human impact and location. Swan said that denying the variance would be a "hardship" on Davenport, though not on his son. Both men repair cars. He said that Davenport has been in business for 30 years. He said the location is "right smack dab on the New Scotland town line."

Swan suggested that the business be limited to only father and son; that all junk must be removed; some kind of buffer zone should be made; and that no promotion or advertising of the business be made. Davenport said at the public hearing that he has never advertised.

Joining Swan was Robert Wiggand. Voting for the denial was Chairman Charles Fritts, Orrin Barr and Thomas Scherer.

The board also drew up a resolution denying a variance for King Services, Inc., which was seeking permission to increase square footage of the premises at Hostetter's service station, 594 Delaware Ave. in Delmar; shift auto repair business to the rear and increase the service bays from three to five; construction of a convenience store; and construction of a restaurant with a capacity for 30 persons.

The board felt that parking would have been inadequate and the proposed changes would have been "injurious to the neighborhood" and would have "increased traffic." The resolution said the board felt that the changes wouldn't have stayed "in harmony with the neighborhood."

In another public hearing,

Rodney and Theresa Conrad of South Albany Rd. in South Bethlehem, sought permission to build a home in a flood plain. But Conrad and Building Inspector John Flanigan disagreed on exactly where the proposed building was on a map. Flanigan said that the site was in a flood plain, which according to a federal law requires that the lowest area of the house must be at an elevation of 148 inches above the water line. Flanigan said it measured at 145.

Conrad said that "the law does not apply to us" because he wasn't in a flood plain.

Near the end of the hearing, Conrad suggested that he'd be willing to lay three feet of block, which would increase his elevation to the required 148 feet. Flanigan then told him if he came in the next day he'd give him a building permit. No decision was made at the hearing.

Following the final public hearing, A. Edward Lange was given "informal approval" to construct a chimney for a fireplace at his home at 21 Euclid Ave. in Delmar. He gave the board letters from 15 neighbors who supported the construction.

In other business, the board:

- Set a public hearing on Nov. 19 for Andrew J. and Mary L. Caplis of 27 Dumbarton Dr. in Delmar. They are seeking a variance for an addition to their premises.

- Drew up a resolution denying a variance for Mark R. Lassonde of 19 Oakwood Rd. in Delmar. Lassonde was seeking permission to start a nursery school/day care center for 17 children.

- Drew up a resolution approving for Delmar Car Wash, Inc. permission to add a 14 by 36 foot addition to the rear of the car wash. It will be used as a storage area and garage for vehicles.

- Drew up a resolution approving a variance for Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Tartaglia of 31 Tierney Dr. in Delmar. They were seeking permission to build an addition to their premises.

Children's Book Week

The Voorheesville Public Library has several interesting activities for youngsters of all ages to help celebrate Children's Book Week, Nov. 17 through Nov. 23.

To begin with there will be a special Bedtime Story Hour on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 7 p.m. This special time will be in addition to the regular pre-school story hours held on Monday, Tuesday and Friday at 10:30 a.m. and Friday afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

On Thursday, Nov. 20, guitarist-composer-singer Paul Strausman will present a special concert for pre-schoolers at 10:30 a.m. Strausman, a noted area musician, has composed and recorded a number of children's songs, and was the founder of the music program at the Kids Place Day Care Center at the Empire State Plaza.

That same afternoon older students will be treated to an afternoon of Thanksgiving crafts as well as the holiday movie "Molly's Pilgrim," to begin at 4 p.m. All activities will take place at the library on Main St.

Induction postponed

The Honor Society induction originally scheduled to be held on Thursday, Nov. 6, has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School.

The event was postponed because several members to be inducted were also members of the Voorheesville soccer team, which played (and won) the first round of the state tournament in Plattsburgh that day.

As before, all are welcome to attend the ceremony and the reception which follows, all to be held at the high school.

Salem Hills meeting

The Salem Hills Park Association will hold its annual meeting on Monday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m. at St. Matthew's Church. All residents of Salem Hills are welcome to attend.

Christmas bazaars

Plans for the annual Christmas Bazaar at St. Matthew's Church on Mountainview Rd. are in full swing. The craft fair sponsored by the Catholic church will be held on Saturday, Nov. 22, and will feature a large variety of handmade items from holiday decorations to toys and needlework to baby clothes. All are welcome to attend.

Members of the First United Church of Voorheesville will also hold their annual Christmas Mission Bazaar on the same day featuring a number of hand crafted items as well as refreshments.

Garden Club meets

The Helderview Garden Club will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. in the social hall of the First United Methodist Church of Voorheesville. Those interested in finding out more about the group, which is responsible for the lovely seasonal arrangements in the boxes at the entrances to the village, may contact president Evelyn Berger at 765-2357.

Bus schedules discussed

The Voorheesville PTSA will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the elementary school cafeteria. A business meeting will be held and elementary school Principal Donna Grant Canavan will be on hand to answer any questions concerning the new bus schedule, which goes into effect this week, eliminating the shuttle bus routes. All are welcome to attend.

Kids Club expanding

The Kids Club, the newly formed non-profit corporation which provides after school care for grade school students at the Voorheesville Elementary School, will be expanding its activities this week as several of the 21 boys and girls presently enrolled in the fee-for-service program begin a series of karate lessons to improve their self-control, self-confidence and balance.

Director Cindy Manguilli reports that she would be glad to speak with any high school students interested in volunteering to help with the program, which runs from 3 p.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Substitutes for the program are also needed. Any graduated adults who have experience with elementary school students may contact the program at 765-2043 during the above-mentioned hours.

School board meets

The Board of Education of the Voorheesville Central School District will hold a special meeting on Monday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m. at the high school. At that time the group will go into executive session to discuss personnel matters.

Local 4-H Club members joined 60 students in a recent three-day Eastern Regional 4-H Agricultural Business Career Conference at the State University Agricultural and Technical College at Cobleskill, featuring workshops on careers, and the college's programs. At the conference were, from left, Rebecca Bull of Selkirk, June Hunter, Cooperative Extension Agent, Renee Hunter of Voorheesville, Scot Chamberlain of Voorheesville, Deanna Greer of Delmar and Star Pieck of Guilderland.

Cheese day

The government surplus cheese distribution day originally scheduled for Nov. 7 will be held on Friday, Nov. 14, at St. Matthew's Church in Voorheesville. Area residents who receive Social Security, WICS, HEAP or unemployment are eligible to receive cheese and other staples.

Football banquet

There is still time to make reservations for the football banquet to be held on Thursday, Nov. 19, at the Crossgates Restaurant, Washington Ave. Ext., Albany, beginning at 7 p.m. For information call Dot Buckley at 765-2524.

Johnston Rd. bridge replacement discussed

The replacement of the bridge over the Normanskill on Johnston Rd. will be the subject of a public informational open house Wednesday (today) by the state Department of Transportation, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Albany County Resources Development Building on Martin Rd., Voorheesville.

The bridge on the town line between Guilderland and New Scotland cannot be repaired to meet modern traffic demands because of its design and deteriorating condition, according to a DOT statement.

Construction on a new bridge at the same location is scheduled to begin in 1989, and during construction the bridge would be closed to traffic for six to 10 months.

Plans for the new bridge call for a wider expanse to accommodate both pedestrians and bicycles.

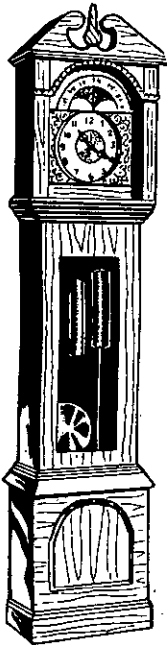

The "open house" will allow residents to ask questions and discuss the plans with representatives from the department, and all comments will be considered during the design of the project.

For information, or to comment on the project, write to: J. Robert Lambert, Regional Design Engineer, state Department of Transportation, 84 Holland Ave., Albany 12208, and refer to project PIN 1751.51: Johnston Rd. Bridge over the Normans Kill.

□ New library

work area for the library staff as well as space for parking approximately 50 cars around the perimeter of the building.

The energy-efficient concrete block structure will be faced with brick. Bender said at a recent informational meeting that it is anticipated that the cost to heat the building would be approximately 10 percent more than at present even through the new building would be twice the size of the present library.

The plan includes room for future expansion, as well as access for the handicapped.

The result of a study in 1984 by library consultant Andrew Gedde, the building project will provide the space needed to accommodate the growing population in the Voorheesville Central school district.

The cost of the bond will include all fees for construction, design and furnishing of the building, as well as the cost of the land on the corner of Depot Rd. and Prospect St.

The site was selected after a two-year search to find an adequate parcel of land of at least 1.5 acres situated in the heart of the school district.

The biggest undertaking of the entire project, the site search considered ever available piece of land within a radius of the present library.

Properties considered included the former Grand Union building, which was available only for lease until 1991, needed considerable work and provided much more space than necessary; a site on Stonington Hill Rd. at the entrance to Salem Hills, which could not be used due to inadequate space left after providing the required angle of repose; land owned by St. Matthew's Church and several pieces privately owned near Crow Ridge Rd. and the elementary school, which were not available for sale. Library board members also inquired about land at both school campuses, but were informed nothing was available.

The site finally chosen lies seven tenths of a mile from the present building, still well centered in the district. According to Donohue, the site provides easier access from a wider variety of routes and should cut down on some of the traffic problems found at the present site, an important point since a survey last year showed that 85 percent of library users arrive by car.

To minimize the overall cost of financing the building a, 10-year bond at 6.5 percent interest was chosen. In the Town of New Scotland, that means an increased tax rate of $10.70 per $1,000 of assessed value, which comes to approximately $53 a year for the first year of the bond for the average homeowner assessed at $5,000, or a little over $4 per month.

The tax rate will gradually decrease in subsequent years. Also, as soon as the bond is passed the library board will become eligible to file for additional funds available through state and federal grants, which if received will further cut the cost of the project to the taxpayer.

The decision to go with a 10-year bond not only made a lower rate of interest available but also saved approximately $380,000 in interest.

"We've done our part," said Donohue. "And now it's up to the voters." The four informational meeting sponsored by the board were sparsely attended, and the board is hoping that the public hearing this evening (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the high school will draw more of a crowd, especially those who may have reservations about the project.

Voting will take place on Thursday from 2 to 9 p.m. at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School, preceded by a brief meeting at 1:45 p.m.

Colors in quilts

Quilters United In Learning Together (QUILT) will meet at the First United Methodist Church, 428 Kenwood Ave., Delmar, on Friday, Nov. 14, from 9:30 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Councilman cries foul on town appointments

By Patricia Mitchell

Several Republican appointments to boards in New Scotland have abridged a long-standing agreement on the bipartisan sharing of power, claims Councilman Herbert Reilly.

Reilly, one of two Democrats on the five-member New Scotland Town Board, charged Monday that three appointments made at last week's town board meeting came under pressure from the Republican Party and its chairman, John Graziano.

Graziano said Monday the charge is not true. Neither he nor the party had any influence on the three appointments, even though the Republican Party did put up some nominations, he said. Graziano added that while nominations come from all over, it is not significant where they come from.

The town board last week approved the appointments of Lucia DeDe, a registered Republican and wife of Douglas DeDe, a former Voorheesville village trustee, to a one-year term; and Paul Nichols, a registered Democrat, to a two-year term on the Board of Assessment. The board was expanded to five members to avoid a two-year gap in appointments.

Also approved was the appointment of Ronald Van Ronnie, a registered Republican who ran last year for the county legislature, to a five-year term on the Zoning Board of Appeals. Van Ronnie is replacing Robert Farrell, a registered Democrat, whose term expired in August. Reilly said Farrell was denied re-appointment to the board in favor of Ronnie.

In the past, Reilly said, various boards in the town were kept bipartisan, and when a seat opened up, usually whoever was chosen to fill that seat was of the same political party.

The nominations to the boards Wednesday came as surprise moves, Reilly said. Nominating two more people to the board of assessment was first discussed at the town board's October meeting, but was tabled, Reilly said. Last Wednesday's agenda, handed out just before the meeting, only listed a discussion of nominations, but after a nomination and rundown of qualifications, DeDe and Nichols were approved by the board.

Reilly said the Democratic town board members are entitled to know what is going on at town hall, and if the seat was to be filled, he should have been informed. He said all three nominations — including Nichols — seems to have come directly from Graziano. He said he has no quarrel with the appointments, just that he was left in the dark that they were to be made.

"These are all good people," Reilly said. "We have no clout, whatsoever, on these boards."

Graziano said he did not handpick the new board members. "I knew a lot of people wanted them. They are all good people," Graziano said. "We put forward a bunch of names. Some of those were selected. The town board people pick whoever they want."

Those wishing to be considered for an open seat can approach the parties or the town board members. Graziano said he assumed the nominations came from all the town board members, and that Reilly can make nominations, also.

The nominations are not a political issue, and Graziano said he did not know where the idea of a Democratic seat or a Republican seat came from.

"It is not an issue," Graziano said. "I don't know the balance of the boards, to tell the truth."

hospital — are now "all spelled out by agency rules and regulations."

He sees, sadly, an age that is disappearing. "There doesn't seem to be any room left for the sympathetic handling of an individual patient's needs," Dr. Pesnel said, "and this bothers me."

On the other hand, he acknowledges that the public image of physicians today is "as low as it's ever been," and thinks that's due to poor communication. Relatives of a sick or injured person are under a lot of stress, he said, so explanations should be made tactfully and completely.

"I've seen some (physician behavior) that made me cringe," he admitted, adding that medical schools should probably stress humane and compassionate treatment methods more than they do, but that the curriculum is already terribly crowded.

Dr. Pesnel was the youngest in his own family, he said, so he didn't have any early exposure to babies. He was influenced to specialize in pediatrics, he said, by two doctors he greatly admired, Dr. Otto Faust and Dr. Frank Williams, both now in their 90's.

At a testimonial dinner held for Dr. Pesnel in early October at the Albany Hilton, one speaker estimated that he had treated "in excess of 25,000" patients. And besides "the mob" that showed up there to honor him, he received many notes and letters from former patients and their families.

"I'll miss the kids," he said the other day, but quickly added that he won't stop "doctoring" completely, because he'll be supervising the pediatric clinic at the Albany County Health Department one day each week.

He also plans to remain active as a member of the Board of Directors of the New York State Easter Seal Society. That organization, he said, is currently investigating the possibility of starting a day care center at its Central Ave. site for children who are minimally developmentally disabled, a type of facility he thinks is greatly needed.

Dr. Pesnel also hopes to expand and continue a hobby he's enjoyed since 1977 — showing slides and speaking to different groups about old Albany. With his collection of "many carousels — all pictures that I've taken myself" — he's been an official speaker this year for Tricentennial events.

Keeping that presentation, along with a stamp collection and his medical papers, organized and up-to-date will probably occupy him for a long time — if the cartons sitting on the floor of his den are any indication.

"I'll still be getting up early every day," he said.

RCS board policy 'flexible'

By Patricia Mitchell

Calling the present policy "flexible," the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Board of Education has decided to keep its existing transportation and babysitting policy.

In emergencies, the policy allows for changes to be made for a student to be re-routed or ride a different bus on a note from a parent to the bus driver, teacher or school principal. Even though a drop-off change in babysitters has to wait for five weeks, if an emergency arises, a note will permit a one-time change.

"It seems like the policy is working," said board member Steve Berletic.

The community relations committee brought its concern to the board that parents with babysitters would have to wait five weeks no matter the situation. The board had earlier tabled a motion that changes in drop-off points should be made by administrators.

Because several emergency changes are handled by bus drivers, teacher and principals in a week, Berletic said the present policy should be kept. The bus garage should be informed if changes are long-term.

The policy can accommodate emergencies, but it can't accommodate changes with a student once a week, said board member Wayne Fuhrman. There have been problems with parents making several changes during a year.

After an Oct. 27 meeting, the transportation committee recommended that the present babysitting policy stand.

In other RCS school board business, Superintendent William Schwartz said district officials and City of Albany officials will meet Wednesday (today) to discuss a bill signed by the governor over the summer that gives tax exempt status to city water properties. The legislation could result in a revenue loss of about $370,000 to the district, although city officials have said they will negotiate payments in lieu of taxes.

Schwartz said he, board president Anthony Williams and attorney Simeo Gallo will meet with city budget director Daniel Klepak and Corporation Counsel Vincent McArdle to discuss future payments by the city in place of taxes.

Williams said that taxes have been paid by the city for the next year.

"What we are looking at is the future," said Williams.

The school board also approved an overnight trip to Johnson City on Saturday, Dec. 6, for the varsity volleyball team for a non-league tournament, but reserved decision on transportation. Schwartz said the team is seeking permission to go with transportation by the district, but the team would be able to arrange its own transportation.

Board member Sara Hunter said it was a fine opportunity, but an "extremely long way. 150 miles seems a long, long way."

The board decided to reserve decision on providing transportation until bus costs and driver costs were determined.

The board adjourned into executive session at the end of the meeting to discuss personnel matters and the distribution of state Excellence in Teaching funds.

After the meeting, Schwartz said no action was taken but that the board hopes to meet with the teachers union in the near future. He said he suspects an agreement on the distribution of the funds could come within the next few weeks.

The next meeting of the RCS school board is slated for 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 17.

NEWS FROM SELKIRK AND SOUTH BETHLEHEM

Drug Awareness Day

"Be Drug Free" was the phrase used to kick off Drug Awareness Day at RCS Junior High School. On Oct. 23, 180 sixth graders participated in activities to reinforce the theme "Be Drug Free". Listening to guest speakers, making drug posters, reading drug related stories and watching special television programs made the students aware of the dangers of drug use.

The day began with the students making "Be Drug Free" buttons that they wore during the day. A short story dealing with marijuana use was read and discussed to help set the tone for the day. A visit from Chief Nieves of the Coeymans Police followed. During his presentation, Chief Nieves emphasized not only the legal consequences and dangers of drug use, but also the importance of good communications between students and their parents.

Carl Gigliotti and Phil Heath from the Coxsackie Correctional Facility spoke about the end results of drug abuse. Both are counselors at the prison and related their experiences to the students.

The final speakers were members of the Ravena Rescue Squad, who talked about their experiences with drug and alcohol-related accidents.

Students also watched a special television program on WMHT Channel 17, entitled "Drug Wise". Following segments on Drug Use and Misuse, and Arrested Development the teachers discussion.

The day ended with the students creating posters for the "Be Drug Free" poster contest. Many of the posters carried slogans the students used throughout the day — "Say No to Drugs", "Be Drug Free" and "Just Say No."

Old Albany houses

A program about Dutch

Architecture entitled, "Albany's Oldest Houses and the People Within," will be given by Shirley Dunn at the Nov. 20 meeting of the Bethlehem Historical Association at 8 p.m. in the Cedar Hill Schoolhouse Museum located on Rt. 144 and Clapper Rd.

Ms. Dunn is an historic site assistant at Crailo State Historical Site and has been doing research and preservation consulting for the past 15 years. Her talk will contain new bits of information based on travellers' accounts and recent studies of buildings, and will be accompanied by an unusual slide show, a unique representation of the oldest buildings in Albany and surrounding area. The public is invited.

Citrus sale ending

The South Bethlehem United Methodist Church's Annual Citrus Sale will continue for just a few more weeks. If you're interested in ordering fruit shipped directly from Florida in time for holiday use and giving, orders should be placed now.

Fruit available is: navel oranges, 2/5 bushel, $9.95, Tangelos, 2/5 bu. $8.75; Hamlin oranges, 2/5 bu. $8.75; pink grapefruit, 2/5 bu. $8.25; white grapefruit 2/5 bu. $7.25. Also Navel oranges, 4/5 bu. $18.00; Tangelos, 4/5 bu. $15.25; Hamlin oranges, 4/5 bu. $15.25; pink grapefruit, 4/5 bu. $14.75; and white grapefruit, 4/5 bu. $12.75.

Orders can be placed by contacting Ruth Wright at 767-2280.

Breakfast next Sunday

You may have had to wait just a little longer this month to enjoy the Bethlehem Elks' Breakfast Buffet, but anyone who has ever attended one of their breakfasts knows they're worth waiting for. Due to a scheduling conflict, this month's buffet is planned for Sunday, Nov. 16 instead of the first of the month, as they are normally held. Served from 9 a.m. to noon at the lodge, Rt. 144 and Winnie Rd. in Selkirk, it will be as usual and "all you can eat" breakfast. The menu includes pancakes, eggs, sausage, bacon, waffles, 'Elk' gravy, toast, juice and coffee. The cost is $4 for adults, $2.50 for children under the age of 12.

Barbara Pickup welcomes items for her column. Contributions may be sent to her at Box 172, Selkirk, 12158. Please include a name and phone number.

Traudt leads Birds to 19-10 victory

Spotlight SPORTS

By Kevin Mullen

Junior fullback John Traudt rushed 39 times for 164 yards and scored three touchdowns to lead Voorheesville to a 19-10 comeback win over Chatham last Friday night at Chatham's home field. With the victory, which was played in a steady drizzle, the Blackbirds advance in the sectionals, facing Hudson this Friday night at Bleecker Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

Watervliet shut out Hudson last Friday night, 7-0, to take the Buckley Cup.

With fullback Jeff Mazafero on the sidelines with an injury, the 5 foot 10 and 165 pound Traudt became the ball control offense on the wet night as he bulled his way behind the Blackbirds' offensive line, picking up consistent short yardage. He averaged 4.2 yards per carry. His three touchdowns came on bursts of three, two, and 15 yards.

Most of the rushing yardage came on inside plays. "We ran the option, but they took it away from us," said head coach Pete Douglas, referring to the Panther defense. "So we ran it inside. That's what they offered, and we took it."

The Blackbirds rolled up 215 rushing yards and passed for 36, for 251 yards of total offense. Quarterback John Meacham completed three of seven passes.

Voorheesville scored on their second possession of the first quarter. They put together a 55-yard drive in 10 plays following a Chatham punt, culminating in Traudt's three-yard run up the middle at 1:53. The low conversion attempt was blocked.

But the Panthers came right back with a growl, scoring 18 seconds later. Maybe they were thinking about the opening game of the season when Voorheesville shut them out 25-0, which started the Blackbirds' string of four consecutive whitewash victories. Brian Mathew rumbled up the gut for 30 yards and a quick score after a 50-yard kickoff return by Zach Gobel. The conversion by Mathew was good, and Chatham led at the end of the initial frame.

Voorheesville seemed certain to score at the start of the second quarter. The Blackbirds ran off a 12-play drive that began from their own 27, following Chatham's score, and ended with a fumble on the Panther 15. Chatham recovered, but couldn't do anything, punting quickly, then retaining possession after a roughing the kicker penalty against Voorheesville. But on their second play, defensive back Tom Donahue picked off quarterback Luke Sagarin's pass, and the Blackbirds took over on Chatham's 44 with 5:20 left in the first half.

An eight-play drive by the Blackbirds following the turnover brought the ball down to the home team's 30, where they eventually lost possession on downs.

Chatham took over from their own 30 with 1:27 left in the half. On third and 10, following two incomplete passes, Sagarin heaved a 60-yard bomb on the left sideline to Gobel, taking the Panthers to the Voorheesville 10. But the Blackbirds' defense stiffened. A short run and a pass got Chatham to the 3-yard line, where they had to settle for a 20-yard field goal by Mathew. The ball almost rolled over the cross bar, but it counted.

The Blackbirds' defense clamped down on Chatham in the second half. Douglas had praise for his defense, especially defensive tackle Chuck Giantasio who, the coach said, had four tackles and "stuffed the run and did a super job." Traudt had nine tackles, Roger Ginder had seven tackles and an interception, Marty Gordinier had eight tackles, one interception and a fumble recovery, and Donahue had an interception.

Voorheesville took the lead for good at 2:57 of the third quarter when Traudt plunged over from the Chatham two-yard line. There were two key plays on the eight-play drive that covered 39 yards. One was a 16-yard pass from Meacham to Brian Smith in motion toward the left, which got a critical first down after a penalty against the Blackbirds put them in the hole at the start of the drive.

Setting up that first down was a Meacham to Bruce Kiniski pass of 13 yards that took the ball from the Blackbirds' 47 to the Chatham 40. Voorheesville tried a two-point conversion but Meacham's pass to Ed Sapienza was batted down.

Voorheesville put the game away with 23 seconds left in the contest when Traudt broke several tackles, kept his balance, and plowed 15 yards for the final score. Matt Cillis's extra point was good. The score was set up by Ginder's interception at the Chatham 21. The drive took four plays.

Chatham head coach Tom Komp praised both teams. "It was a tough game," he said. "Voorheesville's a good team. It was a better game than the first time on opening night."

As it turned out on Sunday, Voorheesville will face Hudson, last year's Buckley Cup Champions. As the Blackbirds meet better competition in the playoffs, will they continue to rely on their ground attack, with Traudt, Kevin Kelly, Mazafero, and the master of the option, junior quarterback John Meacham? Or will they install a more balanced offense, with more passing?

The Blackbirds will probably continue to use what got them this far: the Meacham option. And if that is frustrated, Traudt and Mazafero off tackle. Why tamper with success?

Eagles finish football season with 5 wins

By John Bellizzi III

Although they lost their last game, the Bethlehem Central varsity football team ended their independent season with the best record since the championship year of 1978 — five wins, three losses and one tie.

Last Friday, the Eagles travelled to Mont Pleasant on a cold, rainy evening and lost 12-8. "I'm disappointed for the seniors that we didn't win the last game," said Bethlehem head coach John Sodergren. "I'm very pleased with the way the season went overall, though. We had a better year than most people expected, and I feel good about the way we played."

The Mont Pleasant game was fairly close, but also uneventful. Mont Pleasant recovered a BC fumble in the first quarter and ran it back for a touchdown. Mont Pleasant increased its lead to 12-0 with another touchdown in the second half. With 1:36 left in the game, John Lindsay received a pass and ran 70 yards downfield to score for Bethlehem. A two point conversion followed, but it wasn't enough.

The Eagles rushed 36 times to pick up 120 yards, and senior co-captain Ed Perry was 2 for 7 passing, for a total of 53 yards. Adam Acquario, also a senior co-captain, rushed eight times for 38 yards, while junior Rich Gray rushed 11 times for 34 yards. Lindsay, also a 12th grader, rushed seven times for 26 yards. These four made up the backbone of the Eagles' strong offense this season. Other seniors who played for Bethlehem Central this year were ends Corey Wiles, Pat McCormick, Sean Mooney, Paul Evangelista and Jeff Boyd, linemen Peter Rizzuto, Doug Pratt, Andy Miller and Jerry Riegel and running back David Brown.

Bethlehem Central certainly had a good independent season, but stop to think about how they would have done if they hadn't taken a leave of absence from the Suburban Council. BC played five out of the eight league teams for a league record of 4-1. Eliminated from the Eagles' independent schedule this year were undefeated Saratoga, 4-2-1 Shenendehowa and 1-6 Colonie. The scenario might have been thus: the Eagles would most likely have fallen to Saratoga, but they had a very good chance of beating Shenendehowa and beating Colonie was almost a certainty. This would have given BC a 6-2 Suburban Council record, good for first place in the Gold Division (Guilderland would be second with a 5-3 record, and Burnt Hills would be third at 4-3-1), and second place overall in the league (behind Saratoga, who would be 8-0 after defeating Bethlehem). Even if the Eagles had fallen to Shenendehowa, they would still have had a 5-3 record, enough to tie Guilderland for the Gold Division championship and also Bethlehem's stiff defense against Mont Pleasant in the closing seconds wasn't enough, and the clock ran out.

for second place in Suburban Council. Of course, Monday morning quarterbacking is relatively easy and risk free, so the real test will come next fall as Sodergren and assistant coaches Ken Hodge and John Furey accompany the Eagles as they return to Suburban Council plan. "I was pleased with our achievement at all levels this year," said Sodergren about Bethlehem's football program. "The freshmen played a very competitive season, and the JV's ended off on a good note." That good note was the 14-12 victory over Mont Pleasant last Saturday. On each of their first two drives, Mont Pleasant scored, dominating the game 12-0 until the final moments of the first half. At that time, halfback Bob Dillon scored Bethlehem's first touchdown, followed by a two-point conversion by Jamie Dillon. In the beginning of the third quarter, fullback Pete Bragaw scored the winning touchdown.

The Mont Pleasant game, as well as victories over Shaker and Niskayuna and losses to Burnt Hills, Amsterdam, Guilderland, Columbia and Johnstown, give the junior varsity team coached by Carl Freitag and Chris Rutschmann a record of 3-6.

The freshman football team, coached by John DeMeo and Bob Salamone, ended its season last Friday at home, tying Guilderland 14-14. The first touchdown came at the beginning of the game, on a run by Boe Acquario, giving the Eagles an early 6-0 lead. Before the first quarter ended, though, Guilderland came back to tie the score and then take the lead with a two-point conversion. Trailing by two points, Acquario again scored for Bethlehem, and then Peter Klein ran the ball in for a two-point conversion, giving BC the lead again, 14-8. The Dutchmen came through with another touchdown in the last quarter to tie the score. With less than ten seconds remaining in the game, Bethlehem's Craig Weinert intercepted a Dutchman pass out in the flat and took it downfield, only to be hauled down at the three yard line. Unfortunately, time ran out before the Eagles could score, leaving the game tied at 14-14.

The frosh Eagles finished with a 3-3-1 league record, defeating Niskayuna, Columbia and Colonie and falling to Shaker, Shenendehowa and Burnt Hills.

The Mont Pleasant game, as well as victories over Shaker and Niskayuna and losses to Burnt Hills, Amsterdam, Guilderland, Columbia and Johnstown, give the junior varsity team coached by Carl Freitag and Chris Rutschmann a record of 3-6.

Indians finish third in Council

By Bart Gottesman

"Rain, rain go away" was probably the feeling of Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk and Tamarac football players last Saturday morning.

Most of Friday night and all day Saturday a steady downpour turned a friendly football game into a two-team mud wrestling match. Four inches of water stood in the middle of the field at Tamarac High School, making the Cross-Conference 'playoff game into a slippery low-scoring contest. "(The conditions) affected the whole outcome," stated a disgruntled Gary VanDerzee.

The game ended in a Ravena loss, 8-6.

The Indians low scoring performance, their second lowest of the season, resulted primarily because of the rainy conditions. Their offense revolves around a ground attack which was brought to a screeching halt because trying to cut back or accelerate quickly in mud just doesn't work. RCS running back and 1986 Section II scoring champion Brent Shook did manage to rush for 119 yards, not close to last weeks 300 yard performance and below his season average.

With the ground game slowed up, much pressure was put on Ravena's passing game, a facet of the Indian offense which had been used sparingly throughout the season. Ken Koonz playing at the quarterback position put the ball up nine times, completing two of the passes for a total of five yards.

The game, however, was one that the Indians should have won. The stats were close. Ravena had 168 total yards compared to Tamarac's 189. Bad breaks were one of the Indians' main reasons for losing, as was a 36-yard touchdown pass they gave. The team had a habit of giving up the big play in many of this years games.

The Green and Gold was also hurt when an apparent Shook touchdown run was nullified by a penalty and a pass was dropped by a Ravena receiver in the end zone. "We gave away too many opportunities," said VanDerzee.

Tamarac's first quarter touchdown gave them a 6-0 lead which held up until Shook responded with a 16 yard dash in the second quarter. In point after attempts both teams were unsuccessful — Tamarac missed a kick and Ravena failed on a two-point pass attempt. The final two points occurred when Ravena was punting out of its own end zone and the snap was mishandled. The miscue resulted in a safety, giving Tamarac a 8-6 lead and eventual victory.

At the beginning of the season if someone had asked the Indians what kind of season they would have, a 6-3 record and 33-0 loss to a top competitor would not have been possibilities for answers. With numerous returning players with outstanding talent, RCS was a threat to win the council. Instead, they finished a very disappointing third place. VanDerzee reflected this in saying that the team's outcome was "not as good as anticipated."

Next season looks to be another promising year for Ravena. The Indians have many juniors with varsity experience looking to play full time next year. They also have a talented crew moving up from the JV team.

As if it were any consolation, both teams that defeated Ravena during the regular season, Watervliet and Voorheesville, both received sectional bids and will keep playing until they lose a game.

Girls soccer teams honored

By Lisa D'Ambrosi

Outstanding members of the Bethlehem Central girls soccer teams were honored at a banquet Sunday at the Century House in Latham attended by 130 players, coaches and family members.

The award for best offense went to Leslie Anderson (varsity), Britta Wheman (junior varsity) and Karyn Mendel (freshmen). Best defense went to Julie Francis (varsity), Kelli Docteur (junior varsity), and Carrie Bruch (freshmen).

The award for most improved went to Sue Norton (varsity), Nan Downie (junior varsity), and Kirsten Kearse (freshmen).

The Best Coaches award (Jennifer Grierson Award), went to Colleen Smith (varsity), Katrin Wahlen (junior varsity), and Suzanne Spinelli (freshmen).

The Most Valuable Player Award went to Lynnette Stracke (varsity), Katie Barnes (junior varsity) and Katie Mantanus (freshmen).

Every year, three scholarship awards to attend soccer camp in the summer are awarded. This year, they went to Caroline Yaczko and Mary Beth Cook on varsity and Courtney MacComber on junior varsity.

Tip to hunters

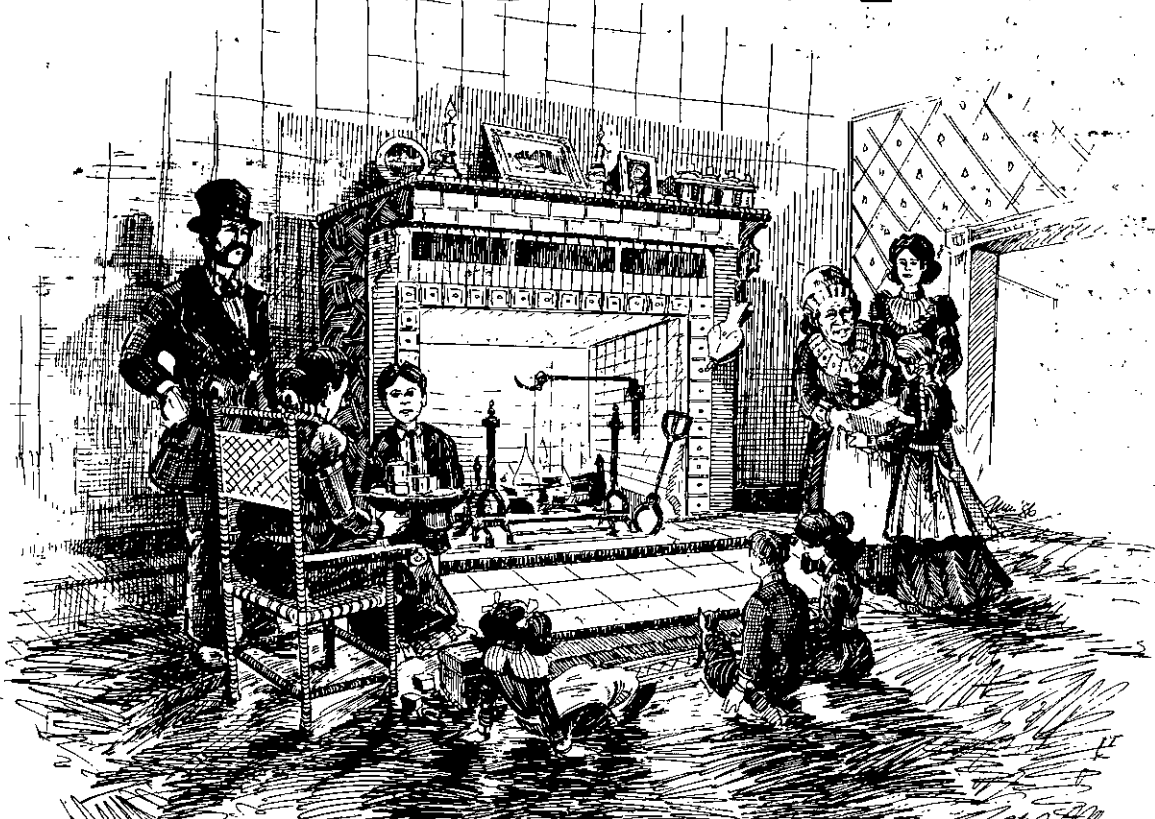

Hunting season has started, and state troopers said many problems between hunters and landowners can be avoided by being courteous and respecting the rights of the landowner.

State police said taking a few minutes to find a landowner and asking for permission to hunt on the property might be advantageous in the long run.

Holiday bazaar

Saint Stephen's Episcopal Church in Elsmere will hold a holiday bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 15, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. All are welcome.

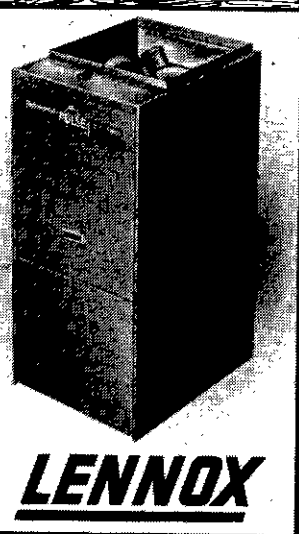

Your present furnace is a thing of the past.

Much like a fireplace, conventional gas furnaces that are over 10 years old waste an enormous amount of their energy—and your money—heating the outdoors. As much as 45%.

That's why you should consider replacing your present furnace with the furnace of the future. The revolutionary Pulse gas furnace from Lennox.

Operating under the same principles as a rocket engine, the Pulse is up to 97% efficient—versus as low as 55% efficient for conventional furnaces. Which means it extracts more heat from the same amount of gas. And circulates it inside your house—instead of wasting it outdoors.

Bethlehem teams win 16 championships

By Charles Henrikson

"This has been the greatest year in BC cross-country history," according to he who should know, Coach John Nyilis.

The BC boys and girls teams won a total of 15 championships, along with one JV championship. Both teams won their respective dual meet championships, and there were five BC runners named to the All-Suburban team: seniors Pete Winkler and Kim Cornaire, Juniors Tom Nyilis, Brendan Kearse and Freshman Julie Hammer. This is the second year in a row that three BC boys have been named to the All-Suburban team, a notable achievement for any team.

The season ended last Saturday with the State meet in Buffalo. The girls made a respectable showing, finishing sixth in the team competition. They finished with 135 points, just thirty away from a third place finish, which was definitely within their reach. Julie Hammer ran an incredible race, finishing 33rd. Kim Cornaire then came in with a 45th place finish, followed by Heather Wolfe in 49th, who ran what was probably her best race of the year, according to coach Nyilis.

Becky Arenson ran a good race finishing 63rd, as did Tricia Shultes in 40th. Eighth-grader Amy Smith finished just behind Shultes in 74th. Cathy Saba, normally one of BC's top runners, fell into oxygen debt early in the race, and barely hung on to finish (88th), before she passed out in the chute. She was then hooked up to oxygen, and loaded onto an ambulance, but the ambulance could not be started. By the time a second ambulance arrived, her condition was improving steadily, and she never did go to the hospital, but only complained of leg cramps and recovered from her trauma.

The Section 2 team also fared well, finishing fourth. BC contributed the fourth through sixth and eighth and ninth runners to this team. The other members were those who finished in the front at the sectional meet.

BC will continue to be quite strong in both the boys and girls divisions next year. Five out of the seven varsity boys will be returning, as will four of the girls. Once again, both squads will be the ones to beat in the section. BC's main competition next year will come from Shenendehowa and Saratoga for the boys, and Columbia and Linton for the girls.

Rogers, DeCatur going to Federation meet

By Rick Leach

Disappointing. That is the only way to describe the performance of both Voorheesville and Section Two at the New York State Cross Country Championships, held Saturday in Buffalo.

"The Blackbirds had hoped to finish in second or third in the Class C meet, but they could only muster a sixth place, well behind fellow Section Two squad Granville, who finished in second place. Equally disappointing for the Birds was the performance of star runner Chuck Rogers, who finished in 23rd place. Brian Collistra, a Hoosic Valley runner who Rogers had beaten all year, came in in fifth place. The one bright spot for the Blackbirds was the running of junior John DeCatur, who came in right behind Rogers in 29th place. "John ran very, very well," coach Ken Kirik noted.

The rest of the top five for Voorheesville were Jason Eberhardt, Pat Lentlie and Ted Popkoski. "It was a disappointing race, but I'm glad we qualified and the experience was great," Kirik noted.

One of the few good notes of the day was that both Rogers and DeCatur qualified for the Federation Meet on Saturday at Cortland Park in New York City. This meet involves the entire state and there are no classifications.

Rogers came in top 25 in this meet last year and hopes to do as well again, and this is the first time for DeCatur. Kirik said that "it should be a good experience for both of them."

BC girls learning teamwork wins games

By Charles Henrikson

"We could be a top contender." After the first week of play with a record of 2-1, coach Nancy Smith feels that her girls volleyball team has great potential, and is doing well so far.

This Bethlehem Central Volleyball team is lead by senior captains Wendy Vogel and Amber Cole. Also on the team are Heather House and Debbi Bailey, seniors, Lynette Stracke, Beth Obach, Andreas Armstrong, Erica Roos, Lee Ann Frye and Kristi Burkhardt, juniors, and a lone sophomore, Julie Francis. Currently, Vogel and Francis are the setters, along with Stracke and Obach, while the rest of the team are hitters.

The team had its first game last Monday, as they opened the season with a win over Shenendehowa by the scores of 15-3, 15-4. Smith said the team played as a "beautiful unit," the way she hopes they will play all year. Wednesday was a tougher day, as the team did not play so well and lost to Niskayuna in two games. The first game easily went to Nisky, and in the second one BC tried to come back, but it was to no avail, as BC lost that one by two points. On Friday BC triumphed easily over a hapless Mohonasen team by a lopsided score.

one that could win it all, if they managed to come along as a team, and "work as a clock together." Volleyball is such a team sport that "everyone has got to be on the same wavelength," and a team of great individuals is not going to win games like a group of mediocre team players. At this point, however it appears that BC has both. Lynette Stracke is playing extremely well, and "looks like a star" to Smith. Vogel and Francis are good all-around players, while Cole and Burkhardt are the top net players for BC. These top individuals, along with the team attitude expressed in their first match against Shenendehowa, should make BC one of the top teams in the council this season.

This week BC has an almost full schedule. The team traveled to Shaker on Monday, and then hosted Ravena and Doane Stuart in a tournament yesterday (Tuesday). Today the team is playing at Burnt Hills, in what promises to be one of the toughest matches of the year. They will then play at home against Guilderland to round out the week. All home matches are at six o'clock in the BC girls gym.

Lady Eagles splash to title

Four of the swimmers who led Bethlehem Central's girls varsity to a fourth straight Sectional crown will be going to the state championship meet on Long Island this weekend.

Despite a small squad, the Eagles took charge of a strong Scotia team in the Section 2 championships at Skidmore College in Saratoga last weekend. They won only one of the 11 events, but placed high enough and often enough in the finals to earn 215 points to 179 for Scotia. Guilderville, the combined Voorheesville and Guilderland team, was third with 139 points. Twelve other teams finished far out of the running.

"Everybody swam well," enthused Ken Neff, BC's first year coach. "Both relays finished second with strong swims. The free relay was just touched out by Scotia, and dropped its best time by more than five seconds, and we had a couple of near misses.

That one victory was worth a headline in itself. It came in the 100 free, where BC's budding superstar, freshman Jennifer Mosley, upset Scotia's controversial Kyle DePold, a boy permitted to swim on the girls team because the school cannot field a boys team. DePold had been reinstated by the state education commissioner on Thursday after having been declared ineligible the preceding Monday in response to protests from competing schools.

DePold won Friday's qualifying heats in both the 50 and 100 freestyle, and had already set a new Section 2 record in the 50

Bethlehem Central's girls varsity swimming team will be going to the state championship in Long Island this weekend after winning the Sectional crown for the fourth straight year. The team's co-captains are Sue Mallery, left, and Dorothy Hartman. Patricia Mitchell (24.56 seconds) on Saturday when the six finalists went to the blocks for the 100. Mosley had finished second in the 50 final, and had qualified on Friday with a 56.91 in the 100, good for third place. But this time it was Mosley with a brilliant 54.88 taking the crown. DePold, who had won the qualifier in 55.77, could only produce a 55.47 in the final.

But this intrasectional duel will continue this weekend in the state meet at Nassau Community College, where both will swim both freestyle sprints.

Other state qualifiers making the Long Island trip include the Mallery sisters, Sue and Kris, and Lisa Ogawa of Bethlehem, Angela Washburn of Voorheesville and Guilderville's medley relay foursome of Cathy Jo Dedrick, the Martin sisters Laura and Rachel, and Becky Hilton. Washburn, a freshman at Clayton A. Bouton High School, is the new Section 2 champion in the 200 free, winning in 2:00.67. Dedrick, a talented seventh grader who may be the youngest swimmer from this area ever to make the state meet, will swim two events on Long Island. She took second in the 100 backstroke at Skidmore, and will compete in that event as well as the relay.

Laura Martin, a Voorheesville senior, will anchor Section 2's medley relay entry. Her sister Rachel, a junior, will swim the breaststroke split and Hilton, a Guilderland junior, the butterfly.

Bethlehem's aquatic Mallerys will be joining Mosley as double qualifiers in the states. Kris took third in both the 200 and 500 freestyle events in the Saratoga splashing, and Sue was second in the 'fly and backstroke. Ogawa, a junior, qualified with a 2.19 in the 200 IM, her personal best, good for second in the sectional meet.

This quartet delivered a major portion of Bethlehem's winning point total, but it was the Eagles' superior team depth and balance of talent that made the difference. Kelly Ross was second in the diving and Carrie Merrill 11th. Neff pointed to Jennifer Halsdorf, a junior, who made the finals in the 200 and 500 free, taking sixth in both, and Christina Rudofsky, a freshman, who was fifth in the 100 free and swam strong splits in both relays. Jill Cleveland, a senior, was fourth in the breaststroke and missed the state qualifying time by three-tenths of a second. Katie Fish and Merideth Dix also produced important points. Fish swam in the medley relay and made the consolation finals in the 'fly and 200 free. Dix made the consolation finals in the breaststroke, cutting more than three full seconds off her previous best time.

Second place in both relays gave the Eagles a big lift toward the top. Sue Mallery, Cleveland, Fish and Rudofsky swam the medley for BC, and the 4-by-100 free relay quartet of Kris Mallery, Rudofsky, Ogawa and Mosley lost a thriller to Scotia by half a second, dropping more than five full seconds from their fastest previous clocking. Only the winning relay foursomes and the first three places in individual events qualify for the state meet providing they meet cutoff times.

Neff was full of praise for the spirit and performance of his small contingent, citing among other examples Rudofsky's willingness to bypass individual events in order to give needed help to the relay teams.

Mergers finish 11-2

By Rick Leach

In the past the Guilderville girls swim team has not always been that successful. However, this year was a different story.

Led by coach Nadine Bassler, the squad compiled an 11-2 record during the season, losing only to Aqua League powerhouses Bethlehem and Scotia, by a total of 23 points. Next came the sectional swimming and diving championships at Skidmore College in Saratoga. The group finished a very respectable third place, one of their highest finishes ever.

The weekend started off with the preliminaries on Friday, to decide who would move onto the consolations and finals on Saturday. Of the 13 Voorheesville swimmers competing in the meet, eight made it to the second day. The finals started off in good fashion for the Mergers, with Cathi Joe Dedrick, Rachel Martin, Becky Hilton and Laura Martin winning the 200 yard medley relay. Their time of 1:57.19 was good enough to earn a trip to the New York State Intersectional Championships on Saturday. The next race was the 200 yard freestyle, and Guilderville made it two in a row, as Angela Washburn turned in a time of 2:00.67 to capture the title and qualify for the states. Also doing well in this event was Rachel Martin, who came in eleventh place.

The 200 yard individual medley was next, and Erin Martelle and Dedrick finished eighth and fourth, respectively to lead the quad. The Mergers did not place anyone in the 50 yard freestyle, but eighth-grader Nicole Leach took a strong eleventh in the 100 yard butterfly to lift the team's spirits for the next race, the 100 yard freestyle. Laura Martin earned a fourth place finish and Hilton came in sixth with times of 57:16 and 58:4, respectively. Washburn placed a somewhat disappointing fourth in the 500 yard freestyle, but Dedrick posted a 1:05.47 in the 100 yard backstroke, good for second and a spot in the Intersectionals. In the next race, the 100 yard breaststroke, Leach placed eleventh for the second time and Rachel Martin came in sixth. The final event was the 400 yard freestyle relay, and it was a good way to finish out the day for Guilderville, as the team of Hilton, Laura Martin, Washburn and Stacy Miller finished in third place. Overall the group managed 151 points, capping off a fine season.

Dolphins place

Three Delmar Dolphins finished in the top six places and received medals at the Mohawk Valley Manta Rays Developmental Swim Meet in Rome on Sunday. In the 10 and Under boys' age group, Marc Kanuk placed first in the 100 yard individual medley and the 100 yard freestyle, third in the 50 yard freestyle, and fifth in the 50 yard backstroke.

In the Eight and Under boys' age group Billy Leary placed third in the 25 yard backstroke, and Eric Edie took fifth in the 25 yard breaststroke.

Strong performances were also turned in by Brian and Kimberly Lenhardt.

Homes Sales Up

NEWS ITEM: home sales are moving so fast in many areas that lenders are having difficulty processing loans. Item: in Milwaukee, home purchase contracts are up 40 percent. In Indiana, sales of existing homes posted an 81.4 percent rise.

In short, homes are selling well. Lower mortgage rates are bringing out prospects who've been waiting to buy. If you have been considering selling, this is a good time.

But it's not enough to put a "for sale" sign on your front lawn and wait for buyers to appear. It's still necessary to set the right asking price, to advertise well, to qualify prospects, and then show and sell the property effectively. It's not easy; we've been selling houses for years, and we know how demanding the job is.

Even when homes are selling fast, it's smart to list with us and have the job done right. You'll sell faster, and for more.

Birds go out winners

By Rick Leach

Win or lose on the long trip to Poughkeepsie, the Voorheesville soccer team knew they had had a great season. They had gone 15-5-1 for the campaign and the Sectional crown, and had reached the quarterfinals of the New York State Class C championship.

But the Blackbirds wanted more when they challenged favored Highland, defending Section 9 champions, for the Eastern Regional title at Vassar College on Monday, with the winner going to the Final Four in the state playoffs. They came out pumped up and pressured Highland throughout the first half, but couldn't cash in.

"We've had opportunities galore," a frustrated coach Bob Crandall told his players at the halftime break. The shots on goal were even at four apiece in the half. Possibly the closest miss was a beautiful 30-foot shot by Matt Bates that soared over the goalie's head only to sail inches to the right of the post and out of bounds. The Blackbirds then had a corner kick, but were unable to score.

The second half was nip-and-tuck until a Highland forward beat keeper Kevin Davis on a one-on-goal breakaway. There was 20:03 remaining, but with just under five minutes left on the clock a second Highland goal seemed to put the game away, but the Birds, in character with their never-give-up style, kept the pressure on to the end, but once they realized what a memorable season they had, the smiles came back and the bus ride home was as long but happy as any. Only a few people expected Voorheesville to beat Cobleskill in the first round of the Sectionals. The experts were wrong again.

when the Blackbirds upset Greenville and Waterford. They fought off adversity and doubt to take the Section 2 Class C championship along with the first round of the state eliminations.

The Birds just refused to die. Last week they needed to come from behind to defeat the Fordians in overtime, and then had to get over a long bus ride to beat Northern Adirondack on a wet, muddy field in Plattsburgh.

The game against Waterford on Monday, Nov. 3, was "Jon Chapman Night" as the Voorheesville midfielder dominated the game and brought the Birds out of trouble whenever they looked beaten.

"It was Chapman's night," coach Bob Crandall stated, "he played an excellent ball game." However, it didn't look like things were going to work out for the Birds for awhile, as they fell behind 1-0 early in the second half. Voorheesville pressured Waterford throughout the first half and the beginning of the second half, but they just couldn't put the ball in the net. Finally, about 15 minutes into the second half, Chapman put one in to tie it up. No one could score during the rest of regulation and the game went into overtime. Chapman scored again about five minutes into the first overtime period to give the Blackbirds the lead for good. Both teams played well. It was just too bad one of us had to lose," Crandall said. "However, I think it's a tribute to the Colonial Council."

Two days later the group went to Plattsburgh to play the 17-1 Northern Adirondack team. The hosts were much bigger than the Birds, but that didn't seem to bother them, as Mike Race scored midway through the first half and the Blackbirds solid defense and goalkeeping made that lead stand up. Goalkeeper Kevin Davis played an excellent game for the Birds, recording nine saves, including three key ones late in the game. "We didn't play as well as we have, but we won and that's what counts," Crandall noted.

This week, with the season over, Crandall can relax. "Our kids can be very proud," he said. "The team that beat us at Poughkeepsie was a very good team. We certainly didn't embarrass ourselves."

Overall, the Blackbirds were 16-6-1, clearly the best soccer team in the school's history.

Man shoots brother in leg

An Albany man will be appearing in Bethlehem Town Court on Dec. 12 following a hunting accident last Monday in which he accidentally shot his brother with a 12-gauge shotgun, Bethlehem Police said.

The Albany man, Daniel Thompson, 28, of Elks St., Albany, was charged with unlawful possession of a weapon, a misdemeanor, because he is a convicted felon and is prohibited from possessing a weapon, police said.

Wounded was Paul Lowe, 25, of Elk St., Albany, who was treated for superficial leg wounds at Albany Medical Center Hospital and later released, police said.

Delmar burglary

A burglar got away with more than $5,000 in stereo equipment, jewelry and silverware from an Orchard St., Delmar, home on Friday, Bethlehem Police reported.

The burglar entered the home between 8:30 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. by kicking or pushing in the front door and breaking the molding off the jam, police said.

The living room and the bedroom were gone through by the burglar, who took a pillowcase to carry some of the items in, police said.

Items taken in the burglary included a VCR, stereo equipment and tapes, a silver tea service, a camera and jewelry, police said.

The two men were hunting just northwest of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad crossing over the Normanskill, and entered some heavy brush area. Paul Lowe crossed over to his brother's right side. When a bird flew up in the air in front of Thompson, he shot at it thinking his brother was still on the other side, police said. After the shooting, the two men went to the Howard Johnson's on Rt. 9W, where an ambulance was called.

2 deer accidents

Two car-deer collisions occurred this week, Bethlehem Police said.

At 7:05 a.m. Thursday, a Feura Bush man and a deer collided on Delaware Ave. near Dyer Terr. after the deer darted into the road from between two houses, police said.

A Selkirk man was eastbound on Feura Bush Rd. near Elsmere Ave. at 6 p.m. Monday when a deer ran in front of his vehicle, police said.

No one was hurt in the incidents, police said.

Found in the bushes

A boy's blue bicycle was found in bushes at the Slingerlands School at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, Bethlehem Police reported. The bicycle is at police headquarters on Delaware Ave. for the owner to claim.

Cooperation lost

Editor, The Spotlight:

I am addressing this letter to the citizens of the Town of New Scotland because I feel it is important that you be made aware of some significant changes taking place in YOUR Town Hall.

Since I have been on the Town Board, I have always been impressed at the amount of cooperation that existed between both parties representing you. The good of the town always came first. Major projects and pieces of legislation always received bipartisan support. The majority is now dancing to a different tune.

Instead of keeping the various boards bipartisan, there has been a conscious effort to eliminate minority voices from speaking for you. The last straw was at our meeting of Nov. 6, when a well qualified and respected citizen of our community was denied re-appointment to the Zoning Board of Appeals and replaced by a comrad from the majority party. Their town chairman is telling his people to jump, and they are asking how high.

How can one ever justify such action, especially on one of our zoning boards, when we need all the forces our town can muster to protect our home rule against ENCON. Replacements are being made with a disproportionate preference for those active in the majority political party or who have a spouse in that role. Do you really want political allegiances to be the primary criteria used in selecting those who are to represent you in Town Hall? The decisions we make today will be felt for years to come and they must be made by the best qualified people from both parties.

Herbert W. Reilly

Councilman

Town of New Scotland

Voorheesville

Deepest gratitude

Editor, The Spotlight:

The family of the late James McCarroll Sr. wishes to express our deepest gratitude and thanks to our family and many friends for all the kindness shown to us during our time of sorrow.

The McCarroll Family

Delmar

Grocery monopoly

Editor, The Spotlight:

As a newcomer to Delmar, I've been delighted with Delmar charms: the lovely residential areas, the wonderful library and recreational facilities, and the friendly people.

As a homemaker, however, I've been less than happy with the inconveniences of marketing in the one supermarket for the Delmar "neighborhood"—Grand Union. Although it is in many ways a fine store, it has been downright frustrating to be limited in so many ways to the merchandise selections pre-determined for me by the Grand Union empire in the Capital District.

What surprises me, too, is that an enterprising chamber of commerce permits this kind of monopoly to exist. Families in Delmar should not have to travel 5 to 10 miles if they want to do their food shopping with a competitor. The chamber should explore the possibilities to remedy this "closed corporation" and vigorously encourage other large local food chains to consider the market here. They have the clout and the know-how to be effective. Concessions may have to be made to those stores which have already expressed a strong interest in locating here, and coordination with the zoning board may very well be indicated.

The community should be informed of the efforts being made and the possible actions taken. The outcome could benefit us all.

School bus hit

Twenty Bethlehem Central students and their bus driver were uninjured when a tractor trailer hit the back of their bus at Adams Pl. and Oakwood Pl. in Delmar at 3:40 p.m. Monday, Bethlehem Police said.

The Bethlehem Central bus was stopped on Adams Pl., past the intersection of Oakwood Pl., with yellow warning lights flashing to discharge several passengers. Police said the Canadian driver of the tractor trailer, registered in Quebec, was traveling east on Adams Pl., when the school bus driver motioned the driver to move on.

When the tractor trailer attempted to make a left hand turn onto Oakwood, the rear of the truck struck the rear of the bus, police said.

The straight dope

Bethlehem Police Officer James Corbett will speak about "Kids and Drugs in Bethlehem" at the Nov. 18 meeting of the Bethlehem Women's Republican Club. The meeting will be held at the Delmar Presbyterian Church, Delaware and Cherry Aves., beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Car skids off road

Two men were taken to Albany Medical Center Hospital at 1:15 p.m. Saturday after the car they were riding in skidded off Rt. 144 after passing over a large puddle, Bethlehem Police said.

Treated at Albany Medical for shoulder injuries was the driver, Mark Strangle, 22, of Maplewood Ave., Albany, and Frank Merrill, 17, address unknown, for arm injuries. The two men were later released, a hospital spokesman said.

Police said Strangle was ticketed for failure to keep right and failure to reduce speed at special hazards.

Flynn to speak

Maj. Gen. Flynn, who was appointed Chief of Staff to the Governor and Commander of the New York Army National Guard earlier this year, will speak at the Nov. 12 meeting of the Second Milers. The group will meet at the First United Methodist Church, 428 Kenwood Ave., Delmar.

For information call 439-4459.

Ecology lecture

Steven Clemants, a botanist with the New York Heritage Program, will speak about endangered species in New York during the Nov. 19 meeting of the Five Rivers Limited members. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at Five Rivers Environmental Education Center, Game Farm Rd., Delmar. For information call Gerry Oakley at 457-6092.

Christmas fair

A Christmas fair, featuring handcrafted Christmas decorations, needlework items, gourmet and baked goods, a mint condition shop and a raffle, will be held at St. Peter Church, 107 State St., Albany, on Wednesday, Nov. 19, from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. A soup and sandwich lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. A pot roast dinner will be served from 5:15 to 7 p.m. All are welcome.

BETHLEHEM PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Friends of the Bethlehem Public Library will hold their annual meeting on Thursday, Nov. 13, at 7 p.m. at the Library. All members are encouraged to attend the meeting. The program will include the election of officers for the coming year.

Though it is well-supported by the communities it serves, the library does many special things during the year when help from volunteers in the community is needed and very much appreciated. There are also many people who have a special affection for the library — for whom it is more than just a building or a collection of books. The Friends group gives these individuals a personal way to become involved and to help the library.

Under the leadership of President Irving Zeitz, the Friends have assisted the library with several important projects. The group is currently spearheading a fund raising effort to purchase a new and larger exhibit case for the library as a memorial. Generous contributions toward the fund have been made by several area civic organizations and an announcement concerning the gift will be made shortly.

The Friends have also helped "Celebrate the Library" during the Bethlehem Public Library's annual festival in June by contributing refreshments and manning booths during the day-long event. The help of the Friends has also been invaluable during the library's twice yearly Output Measurements Week.

Volunteers Eleanor Haywood and Florence Zeitz served refreshments at last winter's concert at the Library given by Delmar pianist Rhonda Ballou. May Blackmore and Ginny Woodward did the same for the concert by Ann Turner and Bill Jones.

Irv Zeitz is also proud of the many programs for the public the Friends sponsored during his tenure. Memorable among them were a bus trip to New York City coordinated by member Roslyn Faust, a talk by Capital Rep co-producer Bruce Bouchard, and slide presentations by Floyd Brewer of the Bethlehem Archaeological Group and by Friends Eleanor and Robert Alexander.

You can become a Friend of the Library by filling out the application form available at the Reference Desk and paying the $2 membership fee. All Friends meetings and programs are open to the public and new members are always welcome.

Holiday bazaar

The B'Nai Sholom-Reform Congregation, 420 Whitehall Rd., Albany, will hold a holiday bazaar on Sunday, Nov. 16, from 2 until 7 p.m. Featured will be toys, books, jewelry, cosmetics, handmade items and ceramics.

Booths are available to vendors. For information call 482-5283 or 465-1703.

Correction

Pat Keezer, of Delmar, is the wife of Loren DeVoe, owner of PB's Originals in Slingerlands. She was incorrectly identified in the Oct. 29 issue of The Spotlight.

A new library?

Voorheesville needs a new library, everybody agrees. But the library board has been struggling to find a location for more than a year. Now it's time to vote.
