Republican forces to battle in primary Hahn vs. Fritts in Bethlehem race

By Tom McPheeters

The Bethlehem Republicans continue to be a party divided. The Sept. 15 primary for town tax collector will either settle old scores or result in two roughly equal camps in the party that has dominated town politics since its inception.

The Republican Committee last week nominated Charles Fritts, a party stalwart who has served as chairman of the Board of Appeals for 14 years, as its candidate for receiver of taxes, rejecting incumbent Kenneth Hahn. Hahn immediately announced he would force a primary, and said he already has 50 people working on his campaign.

Hahn called the committee's action "an act of injustice and political indecency," a punishment for supporting Gary Swan in last year's Republican primary for the 102nd District assembly seat. Swan and party chairman Bernard Kaplowitz split the town's votes in that primary, allowing Columbia County candidate John Faso to win the seat.

day, Kaplowitz didn't deny that "there are people who are still mad" about the 1986 primary. "But that's not me," he said. The committee selected Fritts because of his qualifications and because of questions that have been raised about Hahn's use of computers in the tax collectors office, he said.

The Republicans presented no other surprises in their nominating meeting. They picked Thomas Scherer of Slingerlands, a long-time Board of Appeals member and party officer, to run for the town board seat being vacated by Ruth Bickel, also a Slingerlands resident. That continues a tradition of selecting candidates on the town board who represent distinct areas of the town — Planning Board member Dennis J. Corrigan, who has already been selected to fill the Glenmont seat vacated by John Geurtze, will run in November to fill the two years left in Geurtze's term; and Frederick Webster of Elsmere, who was selected in April to replace W. Scott Prothero on the board, will run for a full four-year term.

Girl scout troop grew up together

The photos on the first pages of the thick scrapbook are of little girls in green pinafores with long, straight hair and solemn expressions.

They show a candlelighting ceremony in the basement lunchroom of the Slingerlands Elementary School—the official investiture of Troop 542 in Neighborhood 2, District 9, Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council, Inc.

In a few weeks, it will be picture-taking time again for four of those same girls as they graduate from Bethlehem Central High School. But now

Kay Zolezzi

"The really neat thing," she said recently, turning the pages of the scrapbook, "is to look at these pictures and see how they've developed and matured and become leaders."

All four girls, Portia Wu, Diane Steffens, Tammy Colman, and Susan Zolezzi, are graduating this year from BCHS with averages in the 90's, many honors and awards, and a number of scholarships that will help pay the tuition bills at the colleges of their choice.

Portia is going to Yale, Diane to Uranus College in Pennsylvania, Tammy to Bates, and Susan to Tufts.

□ Bethlehem Republicans

All other incumbents were endorsed by the committee. Supervisor J. Robert Hendrick will run for a second full two-year term; and Highway Superintendent Martin Cross, Town Clerk Carolyn Lyons and Town Justice Peter Wenger will all run for new terms.

The committee also endorsed incumbent county legislators W. Gordon Morris of Elsmere, James C. Ross of Elsmere and Robert W. Hoffmeister of Slingerlands for new terms.

The town Democratic Committee has yet to announce any candidates, and Chairman William Burkhard said recently potential candidates are "hanging back" to see who runs for supervisor on their ticket. The rift with the Hahn-Swan forces, he observed, may make it imperative for the party to come up with a strong candidate for tax collector. "I think we have to go for that," he said.

The Republican nominations signal another change at town hall — a completely new look on the Board of Appeals. At Fritts' urging, the town board recently added two new board of appeals members, M. Sheila Galvin and Dominick DeCecco, and Galvin gave the nominating speech for Fritts in the committee meeting Thursday. Swan's term on the board expires at the end of this year and he is unlikely to be reappointed. If both Fritts and Scherer are elected this fall, the board would have only two members with any length of service, Robert J. Wiggand and Orin J. Barr.

But the Sept. 15 primary for tax assessor will be the political focus in Bethlehem this summer. Because of his party nomination, Fritts is already on the ballot, and Hahn said he plans to have 50 of his supporters in the field collecting 1,000 signatures when petitioning starts June 9.

Hahn had clearly been expecting the committee's action and knew he was outnumbered in that arena. Town Republican committee members cast weighted votes, based on the number of votes cast for the Republican candidate in the last gubernatorial election in their district; Fritts got 4003 votes to Hahn's 997 based on that system.

"A handful of people, who supposedly represent the views and best interests of nearly 8,000 Republicans, chose to ignore my 24 years of service to the people of Bethlehem and my 30 years of devotion to the Republican Party," Hahn said in a statement released Thursday evening.

Hahn said his "record in office over the past 24 years was never a matter of criticism or question by those who cast votes against me."

"I would disagree with that," Kaplowitz replied Friday. There was some discussion about the operation of Hahn's office at the meeting, he said, "and I suspect we'll hear more about that before this is all over."

The issue that has already been raised is whether Hahn could have moved faster in computerizing his operations. Earlier this year, the town board refused to allow Hahn to hire an assistant — the relative of a Swan campaign worker — on the grounds that the computerization issue needed to be examined more closely. Hahn has maintained that most of his operation is computerized, in tandem with the assessor's office, but that the town's own computer is not equipped to handle the volume of material generated by those two offices.

Primaries, however, are seldom won on issues. This contest is more likely to test Hahn's base in North Bethlehem, where he lives, and the Swan forces' strength in Glenmont, where Fritts lives but where the mainstream Republican Party is most vulnerable. Glenmont is experiencing the most rapid growth in the town, and the newer residents have already shown a willingness to take on the town on such issues as zoning and planning.

Scherer committeeman

Thomas W. Scherer, the new Republican candidate for the Bethlehem Town Board, has spent many years involved with the town government since becoming a resident in 1959.

He has been a member of the town Board of Appeals for 18 years and said he is proud of the work the board has done in that time. "We call it the best board in town," said Scherer. Scherer has also been a Republican committeeman for 16 years and has run campaigns for various candidates in that time.

The town board hopeful feels that Bethlehem has progressed very well over the years. "I want to contribute and be part of the planning for the future," he said.

He is currently vice president of the New York Food Brokers.

Scherer has been a member of the Slingerlands Fire Department and served as chairman of the board of fire commissioners for five years. He is a past member of the American Legion and former president of the American Food Brokers Association.

Post office site named in Slingerlands

Slingerlands has a new post master and will have a new post office building next year on the old Charles Sanders property behind what is now Hoogy's Village Corner, according to a postal service official.

However, Anthony Pizzitola, who owns the land with his wife, said Friday that no deals have been made. "There's nothing concrete yet," Pizzitola said. Negotiations have been "going on for three years," he said.

Reginald L. Poulin Sr., the postal service's area director of field operations, made his remarks about the new building during swearing in ceremonies last Wednesday for the new Slingerlands postmaster, Edward C. Connors. The new, larger facility will be constructed under a build-lease arrangement within 12 to 14 months, Poulin said.

The current facility is in the Tollgate Restaurant building, across New Scotland Rd. The postal service announced more than a year ago that Slingerlands would get a new building, but has never announced a location.

The Sanders property has been a controversial site in Slingerlands, and is situated next to an historic burial site. The land was cleared of Sanders' old house about five years ago, and no building proposals have been received by the town, although adjacent land on Kenwood Ave. has been developed commercially. Pizzitola said Friday that as far as he knows only the post office building is being proposed for the site.

Connors, a native of Rexford, was officer-in-charge of the Burnt Hills, Watervliet and West Sand Lake post offices before receiving the Slingerlands appointment. He is a Vietnam veteran and is a member of the Mohawk Post American Legion and the National Association of Postal Supervisors. He and his wife Virginia have two sons.

Planners pass Delmar Village

By Kevin Mullen

The Bethlehem Planning Board had its say on Delmar Village last Tuesday, unanimously recommending building project approval for the controversial project after setting a number of conditions designed to allay concerns over traffic in the area.

The unanimous vote during a packed meeting followed a discussion of several suggestions that the planning board would make in the recommendation to the town board. Before the meeting, Chairman John Williamson told the audience that it would not be allowed to speak and that consideration of Delmar Village would be discussed only by the board and its consultants.

Sam Messina, a member of the Bethlehem Citizens for Responsible Planning, said after the meeting that he didn't "feel demoralized or down" about the decision, one that he expected. But, he said, "I was hoping that it would be a split vote."

Messina said that the Bethlehem Citizens For Responsible Planning has "consulted with our lawyer" on its next step. The lawyer, John McCarthy, is "skilled in planning and zoning issues," according to Messina. He said that McCarthy will either follow through with a lawsuit against the planning or against the town board if it grants the site plan.

Board planning consultant Edward Klienke began the meeting by giving the planning board a chronology of the events and submitted information regarding Delmar Village; a process that has taken almost three years. It began in November of 1984 with a request for a zone change.

Public Works Commissioner Bruce Secor was asked by board member William Johnston about criticism from "citizens" that the capacity of the Cedar Hill sewage plant has been overburdened and if untreated sewage has been dumped into the Hudson River. Secor denied both statements and explained, by using several charts, that the plant is running smoothly. He did say that "average annual flow" had increased in 1985 and 1986 because they were "wet years" and the older sections of the town's sewer system have an infiltration problem.

Asked by Johnston if the plant could "handle Delmar Village flow," Secor said that the plant could.

"The new areas in town create only an additional small amount of waste flow," Secor said.

The Cedar Hill plant was designed in 1969 and built in 1974.

Secor said that the "water system has never been in better shape."

Jim Caton of Alliance Investment Corp. said that the construction of the 232 apartments would take about two years. Caton said Alliance would build the north section first "because of the amenities."

The suggestions that the planning board will recommend to the town board are the following. These are "draft suggestions," and subject to further review.

- The Fisher Blvd. Extension (the name of the new road connecting Delaware Ave. to Orchard St. through Delmar Village) is to be constructed (or bonded) prior to the issuance of any building permits, but to be closed to through traffic (except for emergency vehicles) at the intersection with Orchard St. until such time as the existing Fisher Blvd. is improved. Opponents of Delmar Village had objected that the new road, designed to eventually link with the Delmar Bypass, would dump more traffic onto Orchard St.
- A sidewalk is to be constructed along the entire length of Fisher Blvd. Extension as well as on

Shapiro, and their mother Mary Jennings at Saturday's farmer's market at the Delmar Methodist Church. Tom Knight

Richfield Dr. for its full length and to be completed prior to final acceptance of town highways and release of bonds.

- No driveway shall have access to either Fisher Blvd. Extension or Orchard St.
- The 50 foot buffer along Orchard St. is to remain in its existing natural state.
- The schedule of construction for the apartment complex will be a minimum of two years. The number of building permits for single-family homes shall not exceed ten permits per year.
- The clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and allied appurtenances must be completed prior to the issuance of the building permit for the 105th dwelling unit. The balance of recreational facilities to be constructed prior to December, 1989.
- Change name of "Helderwood" area and street name.

Before the vote, board member Neil Moylan addressed the audience, saying that "there are three people who have 50 years of experience on the board." He said that the board was "assisted by experienced, professional staff" and has done a "pretty good job."

"What we have before us now is typical of what a population of 25,000 people" generally has, said Moylan, a former state commerce commissioner. He reminded the audience that the town "is in the process of hiring a full time planner" and concluded by saying that Delmar Village has gone through the planning process and "conducted itself within the law." We are, he said, "a government of laws rather than people."

Messina said that he "honestly feels that this development is in trouble" because the "zone change was not done in respect to a comprehensive plan" under town law.

In other business, the planning board held a public hearing for a one-lot subdivision for Hans Hochkamp on South Rd in Selkirk. Hochkamp wants to put a modular home on the land. No one spoke for or against the subdivision.

The next planning board meeting is scheduled for June 2 at 7:30 p.m.

Alumnae reunion at girls academy

Library celebrates

As a prelude to its 75th anniversary celebration in 1988, the Bethlehem Public Library is inviting local residents to share their memories about the library during Celebrate the Library Day on Sunday, June 14, from 1 to 4 p.m. All are welcome.

According to Marie S. Carlson, head of audio visual services, any written or oral remembrances, photos or other memorabilia about the library will be welcome. The memories can pertain to the new facility on Delaware Ave., or to the former sites of the library. Local residents with information about the beginnings of the library in 1913 are especially welcome.

Items or written material maybe submitted in advance for display during the June 14 event. Oral recordings may be taped in advance at any time before the 1988 anniversary. Carlson is working on a history of the library as part of a town history that is being prepared for the Town of Bethlehem's 1992 Bicentennial. For information write to Marie S. Carlson, Bethlehem Public Library, 451 Delaware Ave., Delmar, NY 12054, or phone 439-9314.

Galvin, DeCecco join board

By Kevin Mullen

Two facelifts were evident at last week's Bethlehem Board of Appeals meeting. One was the board itself; sitting on the board were two new members, Dominick DeCecco and Sheila Galvin, making it a septet for the first time. The other facelift concerned the Big Apple Truck Stops Ltd.; a public hearing was held for an overhaul and renovation of the existing Big M, located on Routes 9W and 32 in Glenmont.

Representing Alex Latsinik, chief operating officer of the Big Apple Truck Stops Ltd., was attorney Ronald H. Sinzheimer of Albany.

Sinzheimer said that Latsinik is presently leasing the site from Regina Kaminsky but has purchased a chunk of land where the former Kaminsky house stands. Sinzheimer said that Latsinik plans to renovate the interior and exterior of the truck stop. No enlargement of the building is planned.

The company also plans to renovate the big sign but change the color of the canopy, preferably to a black and red border with white. The board was concerned about what colors would be used to repaint the sign. Chairman Charles Fritts said that any gaudy colors wouldn't be appropriate because Rt. 9W is a main entrance into the town and must be attractive.

On the land that has been purchased, the new owners plan to remove the garage and the two-story house and erect a six foot fence around the east side of the parcel. Sinzheimer said that there is a "residue of oil on the site" and that the owners intend to clean it up.

Two diesel tanks will be installed — with no increase in gallonage — and a water/oil separator. He described the tanks as "double-walled tanks." The capacity of the tanks are 36,000 gallons. Three new "modernized" gas pumps will also be installed. A water discharge permit is needed from the state Department of Environmental Conservation for the separator, which separates water from oil and picks up groundwater contamination. Sinzheimer said that they could use the separator without the permit but would have to pump the liquid into a holding tank and send it off to an approved site until the permit is approved. A permit is also needed for gasoline storage, which Latsinik already has. Sinzheimer said that C.T. Male is presently doing engineering work at the site and Building Inspector John Flanigan said that Environmental Conservation has been monitoring the site for a long time: "They live there," he said.

Sinzheimer said that Latsinik

plans to landscape the site with "low" shrubs that "are hearty because of the truck fumes." He said that a landscaping professional has been hired. DeCecco was especially concerned about the type of trees or shrubs that would be planted and Sinzheimer was asked to submit a "landscape design" to the board. The board also wanted pictures of truck stops that "are similar" to what Big Apple has in mind for the area. Latsinik owns a truck stop in New Baltimore.

There will be 30 spaces for the semi-trucks. This prompted board member Gary Swan to suggest the possibility of "an attractive nuisance," having "thirty trucks running all night long." There won't be a motel, but the restaurant seats will be expanded from 12 to 40. He suggested the possibility of restricting the number of trucks that would run during the night. Board member Robert Wiggand like Swan's suggestion. Latsinik said, that he wouldn't be opposed to a limit of five trucks running at one time.

Sinzheimer said that Big Apple is cleaning up the site, that they're "doing it on our own."

Sinzheimer said that in one of the company's early site plans an exit ramp was devised, but that "it's taken the state four months to get back to us orally." He said it could take a year to get approval. The board was especially interested in his idea. Flanigan said that an exit ramp would relieve traffic congestion.

The board drew up a resolution granting a variance for Bruce L. Weber of Elm Ave. in Selkirk. Weber wants to erect a six-foot board fence within his property parallel with the side yard property line to block out the view of abandoned cars at Bleau's garage.

The board drew up a resolution granting a variance for Kenneth C. Spooner and Margaret Pollard of 43 Jordan Blvd. They want to construct a one-story addition to their home.

In another public hearing, Sanjay and Mangala Sugandhi are seeking a variance to build a 16 by 20 foot addition to their home at 13 Hancock Dr. in Glenmont. They are 321 square feet over the allowed lot occupancy. Three neighbors spoke in favor of the addition.

In another public hearing, Clara Tucker is seeking a variance to build an eight by eight foot entrance way to her home at 535 Wayne

Place in Delmar. The addition is 80 square feet over the allowed lot occupancy. Tucker said that the addition would act like "an air lock to keep cold air out of a room." She said besides acting as a solar unit, it would also increase her security. One neighbor spoke in favor.

The last public hearing was for Dr. Joel M. Spiro of 16 Devonshire Dr. in Slingerlands. Spiro is seeking a variance to construct a three-car garage to store antique cars. He already has a two-car garage. Accompanying Spiro was architect Harris Sanders, who said that the garage would be English Tudor in design. Spiro said that he has stored his cars in Rotterdam and locally, but that he can't get them out after they're stored. He said that he has to store them around October because of the competition for garage space. Spiro said that he would not use the garage for "commercial repairs."

A resolution was prepared granting a variance for Conrad Kung of 1360 New Scotland Rd. in Slingerlands, the Gold Coin restaurant. Kung wants to move an existing door and enclose an existing roofed area for storage purposes. The board "would encourage and suggest" that a one-way exit driveway on the east side of the property, adjacent to the Hess station, be built.

A public hearing was set for June 3 at 8:30 p.m. for the Glenmont Association of New Hyde Park. They are seeking a variance for percentage of green space on 13 acres of land located on the west side of Rt. 9W, south of Feura Bush Rd. in Glenmont.

The next board of appeals meeting is scheduled on June 3 at 8 p.m.

Sentenced for burglary

A Watervliet man has been sentenced to three months in jail after state police arrested him for burglary and forging several checks taken from a South Bethlehem business.

Gregory Sedefian, 33, of Watervliet, was sentenced for third-degree burglary after he broke into an office at Callanan Industries in South Bethlehem on Dec. 8, 1986, and for second-degree possession of a forged instrument when he passed a forged $300 check on Oct. 8, 1986.

He was sentenced Wednesday in Albany County Court by Judge John G. Turner to three months in the Albany County Jail and five years probation.

Parent protests student shuffle

By Patricia Mitchell

Early shuffling of next year's kindergarten students that will move an extra class into the Glenmont School brought a dismayed reaction of one parent at last week's Bethlehem Central school board meeting.

The recommendation to send an overflow of Elsmere School kindergarteners to the Glenmont School was approved by the school board on Wednesday. But just 24 hours before, the administration was recommending sending the same group to the Slingerlands School.

Earlier this year, Hamagrael families were told their kindergarteners would go to the Elsmere School because an extra section of classes will open at Hamagrael, taking over the room. Dr. Laura Kagan "vehemently protested" the shuffling from Elsmere to Slingerlands as was first planned, saying parents and children need to trust in what they are told.

At last Wednesday's meeting, Kagan said she was told in late March or early April that her daughter would attend kindergarten at the Elsmere School instead of Hamagrael where her sons now go. She said the district shouldn't have said the district shouldn't have sent Elsmere if they eventually would be sent elsewhere. She asked the school board if they change kindergarten placement again to do it soon and to be sure of their decision.

"You can't keep changing the game on five-year olds," Kagan said.

Board member Charles Reeves questioned the two different proposals made on the placement of the kindergarteners. A proposal dated May 19 recommended the Slingerlands School and a second proposal dated May 20, the day of the meeting, recommended the Glenmont School, he said.

Reeves again called for a long range-planning committee, saying he wants to see planning that is proactive instead of reactive.

But board President Bernard Harvith again rejected the idea of a long-range planning committee. He said the real question was whether the board would have received better information sooner on the situation, and added that he didn't think so.

A brief argument developed between the two board members when Harvith said he wasn't going to talk about the planning committee any more that night, and Reeves said he had better not. Harvith said he had been on the school board for 15 years and no one ever talked to him that way.

The school board agreed to send the section of kindergarteners from Elsmere to Glenmont because of higher enrollment than originally predicted. Acting Superintendent Briggs McAndrews said four sections were expected at Elsmere, but numbers later indicated five would be needed. About 14 more kindergarteners are expected from the Murray Ave. area in Delmar, now part of Hamagrael's district, he said.

Explaining the two different proposals, McAndrews said he had a better idea within 24 hours. If the kindergarteners went to Glenmont instead of Slingerlands, BC would be able to offer a room at Slingerlands to Board of Cooperative Educational Services for use for one year, and he said BOCES is in need of classroom space.

But board member Marjory O'Brien said she would prefer not to act on leasing the room to BOCES without more information on its situation. She said BOCES had just purchased the Maywood School for use.

Even though more kindergarteners could be registering for school during the summer, Harvith said the district has moved kindergarteners around for the past 20 years, sometimes even in August, and has hired teachers then too.

The 14 kindergarteners that will be moved will be taken from both Elsmere and Hamagrael districts, McAndrews said. The district will be able to accommodate up to 25 more students with the present arrangement.

Kindergarten classes at Slingerlands and Clarksville are also expected to be slightly larger than normal, with 26 to 28 students to a section, McAndrews said. Kindergartens average 22 students, but the district tries to have 24 or less.

One teacher will have to be hired for the kindergarteners and three aides for classes at Slingerlands and Clarksville will need to be added. McAndrews said it is a "past practice" to have aides in slightly larger kindergartens.

There are 246 kindergarteners registered now for next fall and McAndrews said 248 are projected, but a few more will probably be enrolled during the summer. There are 275 kindergarteners this year, he said.

Learning that the arrangements could be changed again, Kagan said after the meeting she is "seriously considering other options" and might send her daughter to a private school or hold her out a year. She said she sent her sons to private kindergarten, and they now go to Hamagrael.

Even though her daughter grew up around the Hamagrael School, Kagan said after receiving a letter from Joseph Schaefer, principal of the school, she told her daughter she would go to Elsmere for kindergarten and the child adjusted to it.

Speaking as a psychologist and a mother, Kagan said some five-year-olds look very grown up but others have a difficult time adjusting. If kindergarten placements are changed again, she asked how the children believe in the decision.

In other Bethlehem Central school board business, change orders on the construction at the high school pool were approved. The plumbing contract now increases by $4,222 and the electrical contract by $1,000. McAndrews said it is within scope of the bond issue's financial plan.

The change orders were needed to move some water pipes and electrical connections, McAndrews said. Plans used in designing the new pool didn't show the exact locations of the pipes and connections and adjustments had to be made, he said.

The school board also approved several staff recommendation for next year. Appointed were: Margaret Bartis as probationary elementary school teacher, Mary Ellen Beck as probationary foreign language teacher, Karen Cole as probationary English teacher, Sandra Flynn as temporary eighth grade typing teacher, Patricia Grady as temporary elementary replacement teacher, Barbara Muller as a foreign language teacher, Katherine Nelson and Gail Sobolewski as a replacement math teacher.

Also, the board appointed James Yeara as an English teacher, Ned Sudborough as a part-time replacement English teacher, transferred Louis Gilboord temporarily from the middle school to the high school, reduced the assignment of Roberta Rice in earth science, reduced the assignment of Denise Stark for high school foreign language, granted leave of absence without pay to David Angell, and continued Richard Bassotti as director of Continuing Education at $2,368.

The school board went into executive session once at the end of the meeting to discuss personnel matters, but McAndrews said no action was taken after the session.

The next meeting of the BC school board is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, June 3. The board also tentatively set Wednesday, June 10, as a special meeting.

Bethlehem police save despondent man on bridge

By Patricia Mitchell

After some tense minutes on the Normanskill Bridge Saturday morning, Bethlehem Police twice stopped a man, despondent over a medical diagnosis, from jumping off the bridge.

Police officers said they wrestled the 41-year-old man to the ground in his attempts to jump, and later him sent to the Capital District Psychiatric Center. Two officers received minor injuries in the incident, police said.

When Officer Jeff Vunck arrived at the Rt. 9W bridge at about 3:55 a.m., he said, he saw a man on the west side of the bridge on the shoulder. When Vunck walked up to the man, he shouted "Back, back," as he climbed over the railing and threatened to jump.

Officer Wayne LaChappelle arrived at the scene as Vunck tried to talk with the man. LaChappelle approached the man from the rear, and also tried talking with him. Police said as the man looked to Vunck, LaChappelle charged the man and tackled him from the guardrail. Both officers wrestled the man to the ground.

Police said the man seemed despondent and appeared to have been drinking, and he told police he had been diagnosed as having tuberculosis. The CDPC Mobil Crisis Team arrived on the scene, along with Bethlehem Sgt. Paul Roberts and Officer Vincent Rinaldi and Albany County Sheriff Sgt. John Mahan. As the man was being placed on an ambulance stretcher, he bolted from the ambulance crew and ran toward the east side of the bridge, again attempting to jump off.

Vunck and LaChappelle ran after the man and wrestled him to the ground again and he was carried to a stretcher and taken to CDPC. The two officers went to Albany Medical Center Hospital for treatment of Vunck's bruises and LaChappelle's dislocated thumb that will keep him off duty for the rest of the week, police said.

Owens Corning Fiberglas will be expanding its Delmar facility as part of a multi-million dollar capital investment, the state Department of Commerce announced today.

The expansion, subject to the final approval of the Power Authority of the State of New York, will bring 100 new jobs to the area.

Plant manager David Shannon pointed out that Owens Corning received much co-operation and support for its plan. "Without the help of key state and local officials, the Power Authority of the State of New York, Delmar Town Supervisor Robert Hendrick and local representatives, this expansion would have been much more difficult to achieve," said Shannon. He added that Niagara Mohawk and BFI Industries were extremely supportive.

Owens Corning has manufactured insulation at the 29,000 square foot Delmar plant since 1976.

Overcrowding being studied

By Sal Prividera

It was back to routine business for the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Board of Education last week following passage of the $12,862,674 1987-88 budget.

The board heard an update from the Committee Addressing Facilities and Enrollments, which is charged with studying ways to relieve overcrowding. The committee expects to have recommendations on solving current overcrowding problems in the RCS district — the need for a building program, the feasibility of all-day kindergarten classes and the fate of the Ravena school — by September, said board member Mark Sengenberger. The committee will be contacting the four towns in the district for information on current growth rates.

The next meeting of the committee is set for Thursday, May 28, at 4 p.m. in the senior high library.

The board tabled a special report from the insurance committee due to the absence of board members Louis Neri, Steve Berletic and James Morgan. However, the board did hear a special report from the education committee on a new teacher orientation program. The mentor program would have an experienced teacher serve as a helper to new faculty assisting in familiarizing them with district policies. A honorarium may be given to the mentor for this service.

In other business, the board unanimously approved the wrestling team's request to attend the Peru Invitational wrestling tournament for the third consecutive year. Board member Ronald Peretti agreed with the decision but citing other such requests felt the district "should adopt a policy" on overnight trips that is not a determinant of "what is more or less valuable."

On the recommendation of Superintendent William Schwartz, the board selected the district policy program presented by the Regional Planning Center of BOCES. The board heard proposals from BOCES and from the New York State School Boards Association, both expected to cost the district about $6,000.

However, the district could receive educational aid for the BOCES plan making its net cost approximately $3,000. Board member Sara Hunter voted for the BOCES plan despite her belief that the school board association plan was "a step ahead." Schwartz said ideas from school board association plan could be made part of the BOCES policy plan implementation. The policy plan will result in a mandated set of rules and regulations for the RCS district.

Two personnel considerations went before the board and were approved. Illona Wolanin was granted her request for another year of maternity leave, which is part of her contract, according to Schwartz. Kelly McHuegh, who has her special education certification pending, was added to the substitute teachers list.

The board unanimously voted to accept an award of $250 from the General Electric Foundation that was part of the Award for Career Education won by high school senior Jeffery Distin. The award must be used by the science department under GE stipulations.

The board went into an executive session at the end of the meeting to further discuss personnel and negotiations.

The next meeting of the RCS school board is scheduled for Monday, June 1, at 8 p.m.

Rice journies to raise awareness

With less than a week to go before she undertakes a cross-country bicycle trek, Jeanette Rice is ready to roll.

The Bethlehem Central teacher will be leaving Saturday from LaGuardia Airport to Seattle, Wash. From there on June 1, 208 bicyclists will be riding cross country to raise the public's consciousness about lung disease in the American Lung Association's "Trans America Bike Trip."

While she was trimming her gear to fit into a military duffel bag and making sure her bicycle is up for the trip, Rice said Friday she can't wait to start the ride because it is a challenge she can't resist.

Coincidentally, Rice and Madelon Pound of New Scotland, who started left New Scotland for Tennessee last week in a horse and buggy she will be driving to her nephew's home, met earlier this month while both were out on a training run for their trips.

Rice and Pound both stopped at the Stewart's in Voorheesville for a break, and Rice said they were immediately attracted to each other. Pound, Rice said, "beamed" with the excitement of her upcoming journey and spoke of the arrangements made to care for the horse along the way.

Both women are undertaking their trips for themselves and their families. Pound will be traveling in 19th century dress for the month-long journey to Tennessee where she will turn over the horse and rig to her nephew to be stored on his farm. The carriage was built by the carriage factory, owned by her grandfather, William A. Paterson.

Pound's journey has a "beautiful" historical aspect to it, Rice said, adding that she is going on her trip for her family members who don't smoke and those who have died.

The bicycle trip will end July 16 in Atlantic City.

Rice said she was looking forward to crossing the Cascades after June 10 on the Going-To-The-Sun Highway in the Glacier National Park. That portion will take them from sea level to 4,000 feet in just 54 miles. On their second day, still at 4,000 feet, the group will cross through Steven's Pass in Washington.

Jeanette Rice

Rice will be one of four bicyclists from the Capital District. They will have an opportunity to meet the rest of their group on Sunday during an orientation. A 12-year-old daughter of another bicyclist will also be making the trip, and Rice said she was anxious to meet all the participants and see how they do.

The community has been "very supportive" of her journey, and Rice said she has met her personal fund raising goal. However, she said, the bicyclists from the Capital District are still short of their $40,000 goal. Contributions can be made until July 16 to the American Lung Association, 8 Mountain View Ave., Albany. Patricia Mitchell

News from Selkirk AND South BETHLEHEM

Barbara Pickup

Student musicians on road

On Friday, May 8, the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Junior High School band performed at the New York State School Music Association (NYSSMA) Evaluation Festival at Colonie High School. Under the direction of Scott Andrews, the band performed at Level III (moderately easy). The band received a grade of B for their performance of three selections: "Excalibur," by Jay Chattaway; "Pageantry Overture," by John Edmondson and "Russian Masters Suite," arranged by Phillip Gordon. Junior high students who performed at Niskayuna High School on Saturday, May 16, in the NYSSMA Solo evaluation festival were Kim VanDerzee, Lori Friday, Benay Britton, Erik Deyoe, Traci Layman, Jennifer Izzillo, Michael Jordan, Giles Wagoner, Kevin Hall and Matthew Schwabrow.

Historical group elects officers

Recently elected officers of the Town of Bethlehem Historical Association are President, Margaret Law; Vice President, Ann Vandervort; Recording Secretary, Jancy Houck; Corresponding Secretary, Mary Elizabeth VanOostenbrugge and Treasurer, Gary Houck. Elected to serve for three-year terms as trustees were Harry Huckins and Iring R. Leonard.

Strawberry dinner planned

The strawberry season is finally here and a date has been set for the Bethlehem Grange's baked ham and strawberry shortcake dinner.

The dinner will be held Saturday, June 6, at the grange hall, Rt. 396, Beckers Corners, Selkirk. Serving will be continuous from 4 to 7 p.m. All are welcome.

Scouts collecting paper

If you've been doing some spring cleaning and discovered that during the winter months the newspapers have managed to pile up again, please don't toss them out. The Youth of the South Bethlehem

United Methodist Church are in the midst of a paper drive which will conclude on Saturday, June 13. A trailer will be located at the church on Willowbrook Ave. in South Bethlehem beginning on June 10, to accept contributions of newspapers.

Market spaces available

The Bethlehem Elks Lodge 2233, Rt. 144 and Winne Rd., Selkirk, is currently making plans for a large flea market to be held on Saturday, August 29. Space will be available for 70 booths.

Reservations may be made by calling Ken Parker at 731-2916 or Dick Harple at 756-7447.

Thank you extended

The Bethlehem Grange wishes to express their appreciation to the public for making their open house a success. The week-long event, held recently at the grange hall in Selkirk, was well attended. A special thank you is also extended to the groups and organizations who prepared displays and provided information, including the Bethlehem Elks, the Sunshine Senior Citizens, Selkirk Fire Co., No.1, the Bethlehem Junior and Subordinate Grange, the YMCA, the Selkirk Post Office, AT&T, General Electric Co. and Bethlehem Volunteer Ambulance.

Contributions welcome

If you possess household items, furniture or books that you no longer have any use for, you might wish to contribute some of them to the Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church's garage sale. The event is scheduled for Saturday, June 7, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Glenmont Reformed Church, 1 Chapel Lane, Glenmont. Donations may be left at the church during the week of June 7. Information may be obtained by calling Marie Privler 439-4573 or JoAnne Lowe 465-9725.

Motorcycle spill

A Glenmont man was taken to Albany Medical Center Thursday after he lost control of his motorcycle and crashed into a fence, Bethlehem Police said.

Injured was Marcial Adorno, 28, of Beacon Rd., police said. At about 7:30 p.m. Thursday he took his motorcycle out after working on it and the steering wheel locked up as he was driving south on Rt. 9W, Adorno told police. Adorno lost control of the motorcycle and it hit the fence of the Calvary Cemetery, police said.

Adorno was ticketed for driving without a license, an unregistered vehicle and without insurance, police said.

Voorheesville students' play going to Albany

By Patricia Mitchell

Filled with bad puns and an underlying theme of the renewal of life, a play about a worm and his soil friends will be performed by Voorheesville Elementary School second graders at the Imagination Celebration.

The class will be performing Wally the Worm and the Den of Doom! at 10 a.m. Sunday, May 31, at the State Museum in Albany, with another performance slated for 1:45 p.m. Friday, June 5, at the school.

The play tells the story of how insect patrons of a Mulch Shop teach some humans about taking care of the soil and its cycle of life. There are flowers, farmers and a parade of insects including worms, a snail, grasshopper, ants, a centipede and a boll weevil. There is also a band of bees called the Hives Angels named Bret, Fret, Threat, Bette, Debt, Jet, Pet and Queenie. The heroes are take-offs on modern day cartoon figures, with a worm turning into He-Worm and a bee into Bee-Ra.

"The play has a lot of bad jokes in it," said John Farrell, the artist collaborating on the play. A graduate of Voorheesville Central Schools and a resident of New York City, Farrell is an actor, director and composer.

Farrell describes the play as a loose confederation of bits that everyone can have fun with and said it tries to stay away from the serious. He said the most important aspect for the children is the experience of doing.

After the school was invited to produce a play for the Imagination Celebration late last summer, the play got its start in September when the classes of Lucinda Wright and Corinne Weeks began a study of soil. The soil is also part of the State Museum's displays, and tying science and the museum in with art is a theme of the Imagination Celebration, Wright said.

On a trip to the museum last fall, the classes and Farrell received a guided tour and lessons. The classes then reflected on the trip and put together a puppet show about insects and the soil in October. Farrell built the play around the puppet show and used the students' ideas. Wright said Farrell taught the children about story telling, characterization and movement.

"They've all fallen desparately in love with John," said Wright, a 46-year teacher in the district. She was Farrell's second grade teacher, and gave Farrell his start in acting when he played the lead bear in a class performance of Coldilocks and The Three Bears.

Last week, Wright, Weeks and Farrell were trying to devise ways to have the heroes emerge from ordinary bugs. The fifth grade class under Andrea Gleason will be making costumes, and Wright said she was "creative." The costumes will be more representational than life-like, she said, but a centipede will require four students plus a head.

Most of the scenes take place in an organic Mulch Shop, and William Vincent's third grade class will be working on the set design.

Most classes at Voorheesville Elementary put on a play for the school in June, and with the Imagination Celebration the classes were stimulated to do something different with the play, Wright said. The play production has been worked into the year's curriculum.

The play production has been a very broad experience for the class and the children have grown in a lot of different directions, said Weeks, who also puts on plays at the Heldeberg Workshop. For example, she said, they learn social development and how to work with others when making the centipede work.

Working with children is not too much different than working with adults, Farrell said, and there is the same problem of keeping them both quiet. An improvisational teacher for adults in New York City, he said he taught the second graders an acting game in Voorheesville, and the next night was teaching the same lesson to his adult class. In the middle of the lesson, he said, he stopped and realized he was using the same words he used with the second graders and an adult student wasn't getting the idea, either.

Working with the Voorheesville class has been good for him, Farrell said. The New York City arts world is somewhat cut off from the mainstream, he said, and he sometimes forgets what children are like.

Wright said the project has also been "enthusiastically backed and supported" by the administrators. It is being underwritten by the State Museum and the state Education Department, and Voorheesville Elementary will be one of six schools performing in a pilot program of the Imagination Celebration.

Life in the pond

A program on animal life in and around the pond will be held at the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center in Delmar, Saturday, June 6, at 2 p.m. The program will be led by center naturalists and is open to the public free of charge. Participants should dress for the outdoors.

Parade plans set

Memorial Day parade

Voorheesville American Legion Post 1493 will sponsor a Memorial Day parade on Saturday, May 30.

The parade will form at the elementary school at 10 a.m. and will proceed down Maple Ave. to Voorheesville Ave., over Main St. to the Legion Hall.

Assemblymen Richard Connors and Mayor Ed Clark will speak during ceremonies at the hall. Father Arthur Toole of St. Matthew's Church will give the benediction. Other honored guests will include Watson Oslewski, Albany County council commander of the American Legion, Roy Gony, past department vice commander, and Don Duncan of Voorheesville, sergeant at arms of the department.

Among the groups participating in the parade will be the New Salem, Voorheesville and Altamont Fire Departments and Ladies Auxiliaries, and members of the New Scotland Elks Lodge 2611 and Ladies Auxiliary. Members of the Voorheesville Legion, the Sons of the Legion and the Legion Auxiliary will also march.

Community youth groups participating will include the Voorheesville Neighborhood Girl Scouts, Boys Scout Troop 73, Cub Scout Pack 73, students from the Nursery school of the First United Methodist Church of Voorheesville and kindergarten students from Voorheesville Elementary School. Players from the New Scotland Kiwanis Club's grasshopper baseball and softball leagues will also join in the parade.

According to Ray Jones, parade chairman and commander-elect of the Legion, all are invited to view the parade and Memorial Day service.

A van will be parked at the Legion Hall to collect non-perishable canned and packaged goods for area food pantries.

Races and walks planned

Herb Reilly, coordinator of the Memorial Day races, invites all runners to participate in a 15-kilometer race beginning at 11:30 a.m. from the American Legion Hall. A 3.2-kilometer race and a fun walk will also begin in the village at the same time. Free children's races will be held immediately following the parade at approximately 11 a.m. The races are sanctioned by the Adirondack TAC Championship committee.

Registration for $5 will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. at Voorheesville Elementary School. Parking will be available at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church.

The first 3 runners to place in each division will receive trophies. The first 200 finishers in each race will receive a souvenir.

The races are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of New Scotland, the New Scotland Elks Lodge 2611, the Village of Voorheesville and Voorheesville American Legion Post 1493. Proceeds will go to youth activities. For information call 765-2538.

Lyn Stapf 765-2451

New float debuts

The Maple Avenue Cultural Society will also be on hand for the parade with a new float. Last year, the group created a prize-winning float for the Tricentennial parade depicting the anti-rent wars in early Albany County.

Since then the large flatbed float has been decorated for Christmas and Easter, with Santa and the Easter Bunny on board to give goodies to area children.

The members of the cultural group would like to thank the community for continuing support.

Scouts to be honored

Daisies, Brownies and Girl Scouts of Voorheesville will hold their awards assembly at Clayton A. Bouton Senior Junior-Senior High School on Tuesday, June 2, at 7 p.m. All are welcome.

On Monday, June 1, the leaders will hold their final meeting of the school year at 7:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church of Voorheesville.

Pre-schoolers graduate students of the First United Methodist Church in Voorheesville will be held at 7 p.m. on Thursday,

May 28, at the church social hall.

According to teacher-director Rosemarie Pakenas, May has been a busy month for the graduating students, who traveled to Five Rivers Environmental Center and other locations.

Library board meets

Monday, June 1, will be the date of the monthly board of directors meeting of the Voorheesville Public Library. The meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at the library, will include discussion about the building plans for the new library and the search for a director. All are welcome.

Notice for parents

On the subject of the library, the Voorheesville Public Library and the Guilderland Free Library will sponsor a "Parent Fair" on Wednesday, June 3, from 6:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m., at the Guilderland Library on Western Ave.

The event has been organized to inform parents and parents-to-be of the many opportunities available to them and their children in this area. New residents are especially urged to attend.

Any person, program or organization interested in participating may call Nancy Hutchinson at 765-2791 or Cherry Neil at 456-2400.

Students select musical instruments

Fourth grade students at Voorheesville Elementary School sign up for band and music lessons on Wednesday, June 3, at 7:30 p.m.

According to Susan Dougherty, coordinator, the evening will begin with a discussion of the grade school music program to be presented by district music teachers Frank and Cynthia McDermott and Lydia Tobler. High school students will be present to assist grade school students in viewing and trying various woodwind, brass and percussion instruments.

Lessons and band practice begin in fifth grade. For information call 765-2382.

Seniors plan summer

Members of the New Scotland Senior Citizens group are back on the road again. After returning from a whirlwind trip to Montreal, the seniors are gearing for a busy summer.

According to Lois Crouse, president, the seniors will be traveling to Hyde Park on Friday, June 12. The group will visit the Vanderbilt Mansion and dine at Coppola's Restaurant. On Sunday, Aug. 2, the seniors will attend Eddie Arnold's performance at the Colonic Coliseum. Any resident of the Town of New Scotland is eligible to attend either event. For information call Mrs. Crouse at 765-2109.

Monte Carlo night

Members of the Voorheesville Fire Department invite everyone over 18 to their first Monte Carlo night on Saturday, June 6. The event will be held at the firehouse on School Road from 8 p.m. until midnight. Admission is $1.

Kid's Club opens house

The Kid's Club, an after-school care program housed at the Voorheesville Elementary School, will hold an open house on Wednesday, June 3, in the group's classrooms, located across from the cafeteria. Parents and students are invited to stop by while the program is in session, from 3 p.m. until 6 p.m., to meet Cynthia Manguilli, program director, and Kathy Creed, assistant director.

Tag sale scheduled

The Kiwanis Club of New Scotland will hold a tag sale on Saturday, June 6, from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m., at Voorheesville Elementary School. Donations may be made by calling Jim Coffin, chairman, at 765-4556.

Family program at Five Rivers

The Five Rivers Environmental Education Center in Delmar will hold a family-oriented exploration of the outdoors on Saturday, June 6, at 10 a.m. The program will be led by center naturalists and will include a project that may be taken home.

The program is open to family groups, and parents and children must accompany each other. Pre-registration is required and a fee of $2 per family will be charged. For registration or more information, call Five Rivers Center at 453-1806.

Bernie Colligan

Accepts scholarship to St. Bonaventure

Bernie Colligan, a former Bethlehem Central High School student, has accepted a full Presidential Scholarship to St. Bonaventure University. The award is presented each year by the university based on academic excellence.

At St. Bonaventure, Colligan plans to major in international business and be a member of the school's Division One diving team. This past year he co-captained the Pittsford-Melon swim team and placed second at the New York State Swimming and Diving Championships. He is presently under All-American consideration.

Colligan dove for the Bethlehem swim team and lived in Delmar for 11 years before moving to the Rochester suburb of Pittsford.

Deb Meester Wins scholarship

Deb Meester of Delmar was recently awarded a $5,500 renewable scholarship from Central College in Pella, Iowa.

Meester, a senior at Bethlehem Central High School, is involved in Students Against Drunk Driving, drama, the marching band and the National Honor Society. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johannes Meester of Delmar.

Laccetti gets honors

Geoffrey J. Laccetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Laccetti of Delmar, graduated with honors from the State University of Environmental Science (ESF) at Syracuse.

Laccetti was one of 18 honor students representing the two top students in each of ESF's nine curricular areas. He graduated magna cum laude in Environmental Studies and will work for the state health department as a program research specialist.

they'd held in high school are too numerous to try to cite, Zolezzi said. She did mention, though, that Portia is a talented violinist who has been a member of the Empire State Youth Orchestra, and that Portia and Susan have served as president and vice president, respectively, of the Bethlehem Central chapter of SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk).

While Troop 542 started out with 11 eager, young fourth-graders, Zolezzi said most of its subsequent membership loss was because families moved away. Only a few, she said, dropped out because they felt they couldn't give scouting the necessary time commitment.

Kay Zolezzi became an enthusiastic leader of this Girl Scout troop even though as a child growing up in California she was a scout herself for only one year and "hated it." All they did, she said, was "sit around and do craft-type things."

She has been instrumental in making sure that Troop 542 did far more. They took trips—to Cape Cod as fifth-graders, to Quebec City, by train, as eighth-graders, and to Puerto Rico as juniors in high school. The latter trip almost had to be cancelled when the small airlines from which they'd bought tickets went bankrupt, but—as a Spotlight story at the time noted—donations from people in the community paid for new tickets and they took off on schedule.

The troop also did a lot of camping, starting with staying overnight in lodges, then tents, and eventually backpacking and setting up primitive campsites. As Kay Zolezzi, who had never camped before, became a convert, she talked her husband, Tom, into helping out, and nowadays they both act as rangers for Girl Scout Neighborhood encampments, often at Camp Little Notch near Fort Ann.

During their late elementary school and Middle School years, the girls in Troop 542 spent a lot of time entertaining as clowns before various community groups, from the very young to the very old, after a visit to a clowning exhibit at the State Museum. They also turned this shared interest into a fund-raising method, by putting on birthday parties for children.

They were so popular as party entertainers that they made the Spotlight for that, too, as a story pasted in the big scrapbook shows.

Kay Zolezzi thinks the "secret of success" of this Girl Scout troop was that "we always added something new to look forward to." They marched in Memorial Day parades, and sold Girl Scout cookies—and even did some artsy-crafty type things—but they also undertook more unusual projects, such as the clowning.

Another reason the girls remained interested in scouting throughout their school years, Zolezzi said, was because they were encouraged to work with younger scouts on various projects, such as planning camping trips, which they found was a lot of fun.

Although they are disbanding now as a troop, the four girls and their troop leader plan to keep in touch by exchanging one continuous letter, with each adding to it and mailing it on to the next.

Kay Zolezzi knows she will miss the girls, especially her daughter Susan, but she also feels she needs to do something different now too. She will attend a graduation ceremony of her own next month, receiving a master's degree in community health nursing from Russell Sage College, and would like to find a job, perhaps with the state, in nursing administration. And there's Tom and Tom Jr., 16, still to keep her busy at home.

Mostly, as she looks through the big scrapbook full of photos and clippings, Zolezzi feels great pride in the accomplishments of her Girl Scout troop. "They have developed confidence and leadership skills," she said, "and I think they are prepared for whatever life has to offer."

Scouts make friends with service projects

The Brownies of troop 123 in Elmsere School recently visited the Good Samaritan Home with a juice machine and a large supply of oranges. Using the theme "a little bit of sunshine to brighten your day," the Brownies provided the residents with fresh-squeezed orange juice. "It was a great project," says troop leader Irene Rosenthal. "The girls might have been shy if they had come just to talk. But with the juice flowing, the girls stayed a whole morning and made lots of new friends." The members of Cadette troop 649 recently provided a dinner for the Adirondack Chapter of the American Bell Association, a non-profit organization. The girls planned the menu, prepared the food and participated in a program of entertainment. The members of Junior troop 644 served a dinner for the New Scotland Senior Citizens.

Other troops have done service projects for their sponsoring organizations. Troop 534, for example, planted flowers and raked leaves for the Delmar Reformed Church, the troop's meeting place. Daisies planted flowers around their school in Slingerlands. Members of troop 319 filled orders for Elmsere School t-shirts, sorting and bagging the items.

St. Thomas Brownies look toward moving up

Fourteen Brownies in troop 534 at St. Thomas School have been involved in activities with both younger and older Girl Scouts. As third graders, the Brownies taught younger girls how to make Lumme sticks, decorated with Maori motifs, and to learn the chants that go with balancing and tossing the sticks. At the same time, the Brownies were looking forward to "flying up" to Junior Girl Scouting and two juniors visited the troop meeting to explain Scouting on that level.

The St. Thomas Brownies tried a little bit of everything this year. They learned the Girl Scout Promise in sign language. They went winter camping at a Scout lodge in East Greenbush, sliding downhill by moonlight. They examined owl pellets and learned about the food chain from an environmental conservationist at Five Rivers. They made pumpkin bread at Thanksgiving and attended the Albany Institute's festival at Christmas. They closed the current year marching in the Bethlehem Memorial Day parade. Troop leaders are Toni McGrath and Ma-tha Smith.

A directory of popular restaurants recommended for family dining in the immediate area within easy driving distance of Bethlehem and New Scotland.

We trust that you will continue to enjoy your favorite restaurants and hope that on your next evening out, you will try one of the fine dining places advertised on this page.

Girl Scouts celebrating 75th anniversary

Area scouting remembered

This year marks the 75th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the United States. In 1912 Juliette Gordon Low brought Girl Scouting to America from England and organized the first troop of 18 girls in Savannah, Ga., in March. Her niece, Daisy Gordon, was the first registered Girl Scout in the United States.

In 1914 the Girl Scout trefoil design was patented and membership grew to over 1,000. The uniform of the time was a khaki skirt and blouse with a black kerchief tied four-in-hand and a wide brimmed campaign hat with "Girl Scouts" on it.

The national organization was incorporated, a constitution was adopted and Juliette Low was elected president in 1915.

Lina Goodrich of Albany, a part-time nature consultant and volunteer in the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council, was a Bethlehem troop leader in the early 20's.

The council office assigned her this volunteer position and she rode the bus from Albany to the Elsmere School for weekly troop meetings. Scouting was very different then according to Mrs. Goodrich. The badges were "geared to the home," with laundress and home nursing among the most popular badges. A requirement for the horsewoman badge was to stop a runaway horse.

"There were no luxuries. At resident camp you slept on a mattress you filled with hay or straw yourself," said Lina Goodrich.

By the late 30's Girl Scouting began to take shape as we know it today. In 1936 the first nationally franchised Girl Scout cookie sale took place.

Scouting continued to make advances. In 1951, the North Atlantic Girl Scouts were organized to serve troops on foreign soil. Also that year the program was redesigned into four age levels: Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior.

The Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council was formed in 1958, when the Albany Area Council, the Troy Area Council and lone troops in Greene and Columbia Counties merged.

Safety-Wise, a book on health and safety, was published and Campus Girl Scouts (for women college students) were officially recognized in 1965.

Recently, the first annual Leader's Day and Daisy Girl Scouting for kindergarten age girls were introduced.

Two early Girls Scouts practice life saving methods taught at the scouting camps while other scouts and leaders look on.

Famous women scouts

Girl Scouting has been the starting point of development for many young girls since 1912. Some of them went on to become well known for their accomplishments as adults.

Nancy Reagan, who is currently the honorary President of the Girl Scouts of America, was a former scout herself. Several girls who have been members of the first family were former scouts, including Julie Nixon Eisenhower, Ethel Kennedy and Pat Nixon.

In the area of aviation and space, former scouts have been noted for their accomplishments. Amelia Earhart set many firsts for women in aviation. She was the first woman to earn a pilot's license and was the first to fly the Atlantic Ocean alone. Two space shuttle crew members, Dr. Rhea Seddon and Christa McAuliffe, were Girl Scouts.

Many former scouts have become successful in the performing arts. Comedienne Lucille Ball, who will always be remembered for "I Love Lucy", and actresses Helen Hayes, Melissa Sue Anderson and Mary Tyler Moore were all Girl Scouts.

Skier Suzy Chaffee, gymnast Kathy Rigby and ice skaters Peggy Fleming and Dorothy Hamill spent part of their youths in the Girl Scouts.

Advice columnist Ann Landers was a scout, as were journalist Barbara Walters and Dr. Joyce Brothers. The first woman to be a United States Supreme Court justice, Sandra Day O'Connor was a Girl Scout.

The Girl Scout Law

I will do my best:

- to be honest
- to be fair
- to help where I am needed
- to be cheerful
- to be friendly and considerate
- to be a sister to every Girl Scout
- to respect authority
- to use resources wisely
- to protect and improve the world around me to show respect for myself and others through my words and actions

These Girl Scouts served as part of the Honor Guard with a group of Boy Scouts for Gov. Lehman's 1937 inauguration.

Ravena scout leader seeks former members

The Ravena Girl Scout neighborhood is one of the oldest in the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council area, according to Mrs. Alice Gurney. Mrs. Gurney has been a registered Girl Scout for over 40 years and has currently become a lifetime member of the Girl Scout movement. She has started a campaign to locate some of the members of the original Girl Scout troop in Ravena, to celebrate 75 years of Girl Scouting.

During the 1930's a school teacher in the Ravena area formed a Girl Scout troop, patterned after her troop in her hometown of Ticonderoga, NY. Two members of that troop have been found and will participate in the Ravena neighborhood's celebration of the 75th anniversary in the fall. If anyone knows of the other members of the troop, please contact Mrs. Gurney at 756-8239.

Mrs. Gurney's troop was originally formed when the young women involved in the Young America Victory Club in the Ravena area wanted to remain a group after the war. They had been a united group, working to support the war effort, and wanted to remain a group. The Girl Scout troop was formed from these young women and continues in Ravena today.

Slingerlands Scouts prepare for train trip

Cadette troop 649, led by Caroline Wirth of Slingerlands, is concentrating on "daily living skills" and fund raising in preparation for a trip.

Mrs. Wirth and her seven girls, all high school freshmen, have as their motto "Do it in Scouts if you won't be doing it with your family or in the near future." A representative of the State Labor Department, for example, talked to the troop about the job market and demonstrated how to fill out a job application. A man knowledgeable about cars came to a troop meeting to discuss buying a first car, driver education classes and the reaction of parents to a teenage driver in the house.

The girls in troop 649 are trying to earn money for a crosscountry train trip to some of the national parks. Three months ago Mrs. Wirth and her Cadettes took over two paper routes, one in Delmar and one in Slingerlands, to earn money for the trip. "We're out delivering 85 papers at 5:45 a.m." says Mrs. Wirth "but it's worth it. The girls are hard workers. I'm proud of all of them."

Junior Scouts to receive awards

Junior troop 644 is composed of 13 girls in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in the Clarksville School and Bethlehem Middle School. The leader is Joann Bcomhower of Unionville.

The girls visited Howes Caverns, earned a one-time-only patch from Hudson Valley by learning about Halley's Comet and stayed overnight at Sha-Te-Muc, the council's camp in Columbia County. They earned the First Aid and Wildlife proficiency badges, including a visit to Five Rivers, and marched in the local Memorial Day parade.

The Juniors have recently been involved in a bridging ceremony, where they welcomed older Brownies into their troop and also said goodbye to troop members moving on to Cadettes. Badges and awards earned during the troop year will be given out at a Court of Awards May 29 at the Clarksville Fire House.

...and still going strong

Bethlehem neighborhood largest in area

There are currently 43 Girl Scout troops in the Bethlehem Central school area. A total of 411 girls and 132 adults are registered in the Girl Scout program. In the Ravena-Coeys-Selkirk area there are 19 troops and 216 girls, with 44 registered adults. The Voorheesville area supports 18 troops, with 127 girls and 48 adults. Girl Scouting is alive, well and serving many girls in the area.

The Delmar area troops celebrated the 75th Anniversary of Girl Scouting this year by participating in a display at the Bethlehem Public Library. Troops created exhibits showing the decades of Girl Scouting and the many activities available to girls in Girl Scouting, today and yesterday. In May, the troops held a bridging ceremony, welcoming Daisy Girl Scouts and Juniors into the Older Girl program. Traditionally, troops will march in the Memorial Day parade as a group.

The Ravena neighborhood painted store windows along Main Street in celebration of the 75th Anniversary. Cadette troop 641 presented a special program at the Crossgates Mall celebration — a Morse Code exhibit. Girl Scout Sunday (March 15) brought out over 200 people to the First Reformed Church in Selkirk to celebrate Girl Scouts around the world. The neighborhood also hosted a hayride, a "make your own ornament" day and caroling for the senior citizens in town.

The Voorheesville neighborhood will be celebrating the 75th Anniversary on June 2, with a special day for all the troops. Birthday cake and balloons will be shared and graduating Senior Girl Scouts will be specially honored. Senior Citizens were invited to a holiday party in December. Troops prepared a song or skit to perform. The entire neighborhood joined together for a sledding party in January, a Girl Scout sing-along and friendship circle in March and pumpkin caroling in October.

A family tradition

Girl Scouting is a family tradition for Brownie Troop leader Judy Languish of Elsmere. The tradition began with her grandmother and is continuing with her daughters.

Mary Bonnewell, Judy's grandmother, was active as a Girl Scout leader and in the 1940s she founded camp Blue Bay on Long Island. The camp is still open today.

Judy Languish's mother, Betty Stone of Delmar, was a troop leader when Judy was a Brownie and her sister Sue was a Junior. Mrs. Stone continued her involvement with Girl Scouting as secretary of the board and as program committee chairman for six years. She encouraged her daughters as they continued with scouting according to Mrs. Languish.

Sue Schell, Judy's sister, was involved in scouting as a youngster. The Delmar resident continued her work with the Girl Scouts as an adult by becoming a member of the Board of Directors.

Judy Languish was a Girl Scout from the second grade through her senior year in high school. Before she had her own children she served as a Brownie troop leader at Arbor Hill Elementary School. Her view of scouting has changed as her role in scouting has changed.

"When I was growing up it was a good time. I got to do many things I wouldn't have done," said Mrs. Languish. Now, she feels the important part of scouting is the growth of the girls and hopes to "teach the girls to be better people through scouting".

Irene Rosenthal
Neighborhood leader

Irene Rosenthal of Slingerlands works with children as the children's and young adult librarian at the Bethlehem Public library. However, her involvement with young people does not end at work; she also serves as neighborhood chairperson for area Girl Scouts.

The Delmar neighborhood is the largest in the Hudson Valley Girl Scout council, consisting of 43 troops. Mrs. Rosenthal volunteered for the position because she felt that it was very important for the chairperson to be easily accessible to troop leaders. The chairperson is responsible for co-ordinating all activities for their neighborhood. She also conducts meetings for troop leaders to keep everyone up-to-date.

Mrs. Rosenthal first became involved with scouting as a manager, when she became a troop leader in a program designed to keep older girls interested in the Girl Scouts. She renewed her involvement when her daughter was five years old by becoming a Daisy leader and later a Brownie leader.

"I'm really gung-ho on scouting. I think girls can accomplish tremendous things by working together," said Mrs. Rosenthal. "I see again and again girls growing through their Girl Scout experience." She views the Girl Scouts as a strong organization that provides through training for all adult leaders.

Leaders are trained in many areas, including camping and age-level training to help them deal with the age group of their scouts, according to Mrs. Rosenthal. "Girl Scout leaders are very committed people... a special breed willing to put in time and effort" for their troop, she said.

Department of Correctional Services, first became involved in scouting as a Boy Scout and later became a troop leader. He and his wife, Elizabeth, were Girl Scout troop leaders for four years when their daughters joined the scouts.

There is "a public misunderstanding of Girl Scouts," according to Golke. "They are not only in business to sell cookies."

"Boy Scout and Girl Scout programs are similar; they both provide programs to help develop individual abilities," said Golke. The Girl Scout program helps kids learn leadership skills and abilities, he said.

Karl Gohlke
Board member

Karl Gohlke of Slingerlands has recently completed his second term as a member of the Board of Directors of the Hudson Valley Girl Scout Council. The board is responsible for making policy decisions for the council. Members meet once a month to discuss and make decisions on council policy. He was also involved with the board's camping and by-laws committees.

Linda Drew
A troop leader

Linda Drew of Delmar has been a Girl Scout troop leader for four years since her daughter became a scout. Her troop consists of nine fifth grade girls from Hamagrael Elementary School.

"I like them to get involved with the community," said Mrs. Drew. That is exactly what her troop has been doing. Last year, the troop took care of a garden in Corning Park as part of Albany's Tricentennial celebration. The city provided plants that the troop weeded and watered for the entire summer. "The kids really loved it," said Mrs. Drew.

Her troop also designed and constructed a plywood sign to commemorate Girl Scout Week. The permanent sign is displayed annually at the Elsmere School.

For Mrs. Drew, a pharmacist and mother of two, Girl Scouting means the "possibility of working with children to teach them to be reasonable and independent citizens."

Mrs. Pasquini was a Girl Scout from second to ninth grade. She enjoyed the outdoor and camping aspects of scouting the most. The Girls Scouts "helped me grow a lot," she said. "Developing outdoor skills helped develop my self-worth and encouraged me to try more."

The mother of two, who is expecting another child, said she is in scouting because of her enjoyment and because she wanted "to give something back." She has been in scouting for eight years as an adult and hopes to continue with her troop after the birth of her child.

Mrs. Pasquini said her scouting activities have "slowed down" because of her family responsibilities. However, she is still advising other troop leaders on activities for their troops and has helped the Camp Little Notch fund accomplish about $2,000 of its $10,000 goal.

Golden year for Daisies

Daisy troops are for girls who are five years old or in kindergarten. Diane Stevens of Slingerlands, leader of Daisy troop 797, calls 1987 "a golden year for my girls. The girls liked each other and there was a marvelous blend of different personalities."

The best activities, according to Mrs. Stevens, "involved imagination and fantasy." The girls each made rooms out of she boxes, decorated with wallpaper and containing a Daisy paper doll. The Daisies drew maps of their community on paper, a mixture of the real and the imaginary, according to Mrs. Stevens. They also learned to sew a bit and, with puppets, practiced making emergency phone calls of various kinds.

Eileen Pasquini
Leader, adviser, mother

Although she does not have any children in the Girl Scouts, Eileen Pasquini of Delmar is very involved with scouting. She is a troop leader for 11 sixth and seventh grade girls, an age-level consultant in the Delmar neighborhood and chairman of the in-house fund raising committee for Camp Little-Notch.

Cook says no conflict on land deal

By Patricia Mitchell

The chairman of New Scotland's Water Resources Commission was involved in a land transaction in the area of the proposed Font Grove Rd. water district with a developer who later agreed to put up a grant to start the district.

According to public records and his own explanation of the deal, Robert A. Cook, who became chairman of the committee in late 1985, sold an option for 28 acres of land to the Klersy Building Corp., which later granted $30,000 to the town to start forming the water district that will include that land, now under development as a subdivision. The precise amount of the option transaction has not been revealed by the parties involved, and also included another sale of seven acres of land that Cook and his wife sold directly to the developers, which is also part of the subdivision.

Town officials say there was no conflict of interest because Cook acquired the option before he became chairman of the committee, because he had nothing to do with Klersy Corp.'s offer to help establish the water district and because the water district is not being extended to Cook's own property. However, the town board is scheduled to discuss the issue further.

New Scotland

A public hearing on the creation of the Font Grove Rd. water district will be held Wednesday, June 3, at 7 p.m.

A key issue in the transaction is how much money Cook made from the option he sold. Tax stamps on the deeds filed with the Albany County Clerk's office indicate the selling price of the option and the seven acres of land owned by Cook and his wife were between $114,500 and $115,000. But Cook said the tax stamps are incorrect and that Klersy Building Corp. will be refiling the deed with new tax stamps reflecting a much lower sale price. Although both Cook and the builders declined to say how much the transaction was for, Cook said the actual selling price was about half as much as the tax stamps indicated.

In buying the land from three property owners and then selling the land to the developer, Cook was represented by a partner in town attorney Fred Riester's law firm, Riester said. One of the three partners from whom Cook bought the 28 acres is a former law partner of Riester's and his father is now a law partner of his, Riester said.

Those disclosures were made by Riester at an April town board meeting, and elaborated on by Cook at an April planning board meeting, with more questions asked at the May town board meeting. Even though Supervisor Stephen Wallace said Cook told the residents of the land deals during informational meetings on the water district, those meetings were the first time the transactions were revealed to the general public.

Cook was named as consultant to the planning board in September, 1986, at a yearly salary of $4,500. He is also chairman of the water resources commission, and he said he was appointed in October or November, 1985, to explore and develop water sources for the town, which has notorious problems with water supplies. Cook receives no salary from the town as commission chairman. He left his position as chairman of the planning board in March, 1984, prior to the land transactions.

In the November, 1984, option with the previous land owners, Cook agreed to pay $55,000 for 28 acres that are just south of the railroad tracks on Upper Font Grove Rd., Cook said. The one-year option on the land was for $5,000, with an optional second year. He agreed to purchase the 28 acres from partners Gerard Conway, Marcello DeAngelis and Joe DeAngelis, Riester said. Gerard Conway is a former law partner of Riester's, he said, and his father, William Conway, is presently a law partner in the same firm.

In a transaction recorded in the clerk's office in November, 1985, Cook sold Klersy Development both the option and an additional seven acres of land that is also part of the subdivision, Riester said. In August, 1986, Klersy Building Corp. exercised the option from the three partners that it had purchased from Cook for the 28 acres that is now a large piece of the Windridge subdivision, paying the agreed-on $55,000.

Both Cook and a representative from the company declined to say how much the purchase price was, but the deed on file with the Albany County Clerk's office contains tax stamps that indicate that the selling price was between $114,500 and $115,000. Riester said the tax stamps were substantially higher than the actual purchase price, and Cook said they were almost double of the cost of the land and the option.

Cook said Monday he complained about the tax stamp to Klersy Corp. and received a letter from the Klersy lawyer last week that notified him the tax stamp would be corrected and refilled with the county clerk's office. Cook said he thinks a mistake was made when the deeds were filed because it was such a complicated deal. He said he has received some agitation from neighbors on the transactions, and he said he gathered they were upset because of the high sale price reflected by the tax stamps.

There would also be a penalty if tax stamps were purchased for less than the actual selling price, Riester pointed out.

For the two land transactions, Riester said Cook was represented by John E. Holt-Harris Jr., a partner in the Albany law firm of DeGraff, Foy, Conway, Holt-Harris and Mealy, where Riester is also a partner.

There has been no secret of his deal with Klersy, Cook said. The sale of the land to the Klersy Building Corp. was not contingent on anything, Cook said, adding that it is over and done with. The land was signed over to Klersy Building Corp. to avoid a conflict of interest, Cook said, adding that he had no role in the subdivision.

And Riester said he did not have any involvement in the transactions between Cook and the sellers of the land, or between Cook and the Klersy Building Corp. Riester told the town board about the land transactions because he wanted to make them aware of the situation, he said.

Cook's involvement with the development company and his role as water resources chairman represents no conflict of interest, Riester said, because the town and planning boards were made aware of the land transactions. If they thought there was a problem with the transactions then they could take action before the water district is created, but he said the biggest problem with a possible conflict of interest would be if it wasn't disclosed.

The town board will talk with Cook to clarify the transactions more, Wallace said. Because Cook is an appointed employee of the town and not an elected official, it is up to the town board to determine if there was any problem with the transactions, he said.

At the planning board meeting, Cook said he has retained no interest in the land he sold to Klersy, and he has no financial interest in the water district because it does not include his farm. Even though the district will be expanded to include three of his neighbors on Font Grove Rd. and will go to the edge of his farm, Cook said he will not be included in the water district.

"I would love to be in it, but it would cost me $18,000," Cook said. He also does not have any interest in developing his land, Cook said.

The grant offer from Klersy Building Corp. was made to Wallace, and Cook said he played no role in it. About two years ago, the town was looking at developing a water district for the area, but because the cost was too expensive, placed at about $600 for each home, the idea was dropped, he said.

Residents along Font Grove Rd. in New Scotland are customers of Bethlehem water, which comes from the Vly Creek Reservoir. It is serviced by a small, antiquated water line from Font Grove Rd. that loops around to Upper Font Grove Rd.

There wasn't any action on the water district until the developers became interested in getting public water, Cook said. The Windridge subdivision received approval from the planning board in June, 1986, and a water supply was needed before the homes could be occupied. Water was available from the old mains, but Cook said the developer knew he had to spend money to get the water.

Last summer, Riester has said, Bethlehem was planning to replace some of its old water lines along Font Grove Rd. and offered to replace its lines as far as they extended into New Scotland. The new lines would have been the same size, a size that is too small for its present use. And because the Windridge subdivision is about 1,200 feet from Upper Font Grove Rd., it would not be included because Bethlehem only has an obligation to install pipes up to 150 feet.

In a report to the town board in August, Cook said the water service system that would be installed could be used in the future to transmit water to other areas in the town if a water source is found in the area. The water commission has been looking at the general area east of the Village of Voorheesville. Replacing the lines, installing fire hydrants and installing mains to allow possible future expansion is estimated at $80,000.

Then, in November, the town board learned the Klersy Building Corp. and a buyer of one of the lots agreed to put up $30,000 to start the district. With the additional funds, Riester has said, New Scotland can create the district, have Bethlehem bear the basic expense for much of the work for replacing the lines and pay the town to upgrade the system. The cost to the residents choosing to go into the system will be much less, Riester said.

New Scotland entered into a similar commitment when the Swift Rd. water district was created. The developer of the Carradale subdivision promised to buy 12 water taps to start the district, even if they were not all to be used.

Even though Ridge Rd. was included in the original water district, land owners there opted last year not to become part of the new district, Cook said. Instead, Riester said three residents along Font Grove Rd. agreed to pay $25,000 to have the water extended up to their lands. They are the DiNado, Cannistraci and Heddermann families, all neighbors of Cook, Riester said.

"We are desperate to get the water," Riester said.

3 DWIs reported

Bethlehem Police said they charged three people with driving while intoxicated this week.

A 31-year-old Albany man was charged with DWI Sunday morning after another motorist spotted him weaving on the road, police said. When police stopped the man on Delaware Ave. and Adams St. in Delmar, they found him to be intoxicated.

After stopping a 47-year-old Albany man for speeding on Delaware Ave. near the Albany city line, police said they ticketed the man for DWI and speeding at about 1:10 a.m. Thursday.

At about 8:35 p.m. Wednesday, police said, they charged a 26-year-old Westerlo woman with DWI on Rt. 144 and Halter Rd.

Employees honored

Four local employees of the New York State Teachers' Retirement System have been honored at the system's service award program.

Honored for 20 to 24 years of service were Ann E. Marshall (23 years), Thomas F. Keyes (22) and Marion H. McFadden, all of Delmar. Harold N. Langlitz was honored for 20 years of service.

Pocketbook taken

A Carstead Dr., Slingerlands, woman reported that her pocketbook was taken from her car between Friday and Saturday, Bethlehem Police said. While the pocketbook was later found, police said $10 in the wallet was missing.

Ironweed crews came to town again Friday night, preparing for field shots along the railroad tracks in New Scotland. Production crews do their preparation work in Slingerlands by the Tollgate as they talk with Bethlehem Police officers, above. # Miners, town battle over order

By Patricia Mitchell

A stop work order has been issued to workers doing site work at the controversial 27-acre gravel mine at the former Tall Timbers Country Club, New Scotland officials said last week.

The order was issued by Building Inspector Walter Miller earlier this month to William M. Larned and Son, Inc., and their subsidiary, Voorheesville Sand and Stone, said town attorney Fred Riester. The construction of dirt berms, roads and a second bridge, and planting of trees would require a special use permit issued by the planning board or a building permit, he said, neither of which the miners have. The permits would be needed because the work done for the mine will change the use of the land.

However, according to reports in the Schenectady Gazette on Saturday, the miners attorney claims the town has no authority to issue a stop work order because they hold a mining permit from the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) and a Department of Transportation highway permit. Schenectady attorney Wayne Smith said that he would fill out and return a building permit from the town that was mailed to him, the Gazette said.

New Scotland

Earlier this month, a state Supreme Court judge overturned a planning board decision that denied the mine off Hilton Rd. and Rt. 155 because DEC law supercedes local zoning under the Mined Land Reclamation Act. The town has decided to appeal the decision to the Appellate Division.

Larned and Son were challenging the planning board's December, 1986, decision that rejected the 27-acre gravel mine and declared mining an illegal use of the land following a September town board action that repealed the special use of mining. Larned received a DEC permit to mine in March, 1985, and applied to New Scotland in April, 1985, for a special use permit to mine in Industrial and Low Density Residential (LDR) zones when mining was a special use in the two zones.

The recent decision does not give Larned and Son the right to mine the land immediately because the company will need a signed order from the judge, Riester said. An order based on the decision was sent to the Supreme Court judge late last week by Smith to be signed. However, Riester said Thursday the judge was out of town and he has spoken with the judge's office over some questions on the way it is written.

As soon as the order is signed, Riester said, the town will take its appeal to the Appellate Division. When the appeal is filed, it will automatically stay the decision and will act as a stop work order because the town is a political subdivision in the state.

Constructing roads, berms, a second bridge over the Vly Creek and planting trees are all required by DEC before Larned and Son can start mining. The second bridge will be needed because the miners decided to change their route out of the property by exiting just south of the intersection of Rt. 155, Normanskill Rd. and Voorheesville Ave. Company officials said earlier this year they changed their route because of concern over their original plan to exit on Normanskill Rd. A measurement of the average seasonal high of the underground aquifer was also scheduled to be taken this year, company officials have said, because the mining would stop five feet above the table.

Donna Mensching, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mensching of Voorheesville, and Laura Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Martin of Slingerlands, have been named Valedictorian and Salutatorian for the Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School class of 1987.

Valedictorian Mensching ranked number one in her class with an average of 98 percent. She is a commended student in the National Merit Scholarship Program, was a winner of the Bausch and Lomb Science Award and was chosen outstanding science student in her junior year. Recently, she was one of 119 seniors selected from schools in the Capital District to be honored at the first Scholars Recognition Program sponsored by the State University at Albany and the Golub Corporation.

Currently, Mensching is taking courses for college credit. She is vice president of the Voorheesville chapter of the national Honor Society, an active member of Key Club and has participated in varsity volleyball and tennis.

Salutatorian Martin ranked second in the 135-student class with an average of 97. She is also a commended student in the National Merit Scholarship Program, a member of the National Honor Society and is taking advanced courses for college credit. She is the recipient of the EPI Math and Science Award for being the outstanding math and science student in her class and the Daughters of the American Revolution Award for excellence in history. She was also honored at the first Scholars Recognition Program.

Currently, Martin is first flute in the high school band. She was captain of the girls swim team and participated in varsity basketball and track.

Atlas Copco lays off 50 people

By Sal Prividera

Fifty employees at Atlas Copco Comptec Inc. were laid off in a restructuring move by the Voorheesville company last Friday. The company, a manufacturer of compressors and expansion turbines, made the announcement on Wednesday.

Gary Gillum, Comptec communications manager, said the poor U.S. economy, particularly in the company's primary business area of petrochemical and wastewater treatment, was the reason for the layoffs. Gillum described the current petrochemical market as "pretty flat" in the U.S.

"Basically we feel this move will allow us to continue to prosper," said Gillum. Comptec expects to be able to support its reduced staff with the work in progress and current order backlogs. The company is "fairly confident" that there will not be any further staff cutbacks and views the future of the Voorheesville plant as stable, provided the economy remains stable, he said.

Twenty percent of the jobs cut were from administration and 30 percent from the manufacturing department. The 50 employees were notified two days before the layoffs took effect. Despite the short notice, Gillum said "most employees anticipated something would happen for the past month." While there is not a formal program set up for those who lost their jobs, the company will try to assist them, he said.

The Voorheesville company is a subsidiary of Atlas Copco North America, a subsidiary of Atlas Copco AB, a Swedish conglomerate. Assistance from the parent company had previously prevented layoffs at Comptec, but "couldn't help enough this time," said Gillum.

The Voorheesville plant, unlike most manufacturers, custom builds its compressors and turbines based on the needs of the individual buyer.

Gillum said the company "would like to" be able to return the layoff employees to the staff, but the "rehire possibilities" can't be anticipated.

Deer causes accident

A 36-year-old Ravena man escaped injury Saturday morning when his car flipped over after a deer ran into his path, Bethlehem Police said.

The man was driving south on Rt. 144 at 2:30 a.m. when a deer on the road caused him to lose control of his car. The car crossed into the oncoming lane, left the road and went into a ditch, where it overturned. Police said the car then skidded back onto the road, where it came to rest on its roof facing east.

3 BC teams first in division

By John Bellizzi III

Ladies and gentlemen of Bethlehem, here they are, the first place baseball teams in the Gold Division of Suburban Council at all three levels of high school competition: The Bethlehem Central varsity baseball team, coached by Ken Hodge, the Bethlehem Central junior varsity team, coached by John Furey, and the Bethlehem Central Freshman team, coached by Jesse Braverman.

Surely very few area schools can boast being champions in a major sport at all three levels during the same season. This was the frosh team's second league title in as many years; yet the varsity's most recent championship was 15 years ago. The continued success at the lower levels is a good sign for more high-caliber varsity baseball action in coming years.

The 1987 varsity team finished the season with an 11-4 Suburban Council record, 16-5 overall, enough to give Bethlehem its first Suburban Council title since 1972. The Class A Sectional tournament was scheduled to begin yesterday.

Other preliminary tournaments will follow before the state finals.

"Everyone who has gotten this far has a chance at the states," said Hodge. "We just have to win each round as we go. There's a lot of stiff competition right in this Section. We have to take this one step at a time."

Last week, BC picked up two more league victories, and won a non-league game by forfeit. Monday, the Eagles defeated Shaker and clinched their title, 8-5. Paul Evangelista was the winning pitcher, while Shaker's bullpen "had control problems." Doug Pratt doubled and hit a three-run homer. Josh Weinstein and Mike Hodge both went 2 for 4.

Burnt Hills fell to the Eagles on Wednesday, during their last game of the regular season. Hodge threw a three-hitter, striking out six. Coach Hodge praised his squad's excellent defense, crediting Pratt and Evangelista with "several really good plays." Pete Russo came to bat with the bases loaded and smacked a base-clearing triple. Ed Perry's RBI single was also a key element of BC's victory. Hodge was 2 for 4, and Bill McFerran was 2 for 3.

The Eagles were scheduled to face Canojoharie last Thursday in a non-league contest to end the regular season, but the other team didn't show, making Burnt Hills the final contest before the Sectionals. Other Sectional-bound players on this year's varsity team are Jon Skilbeck, Bob Jakhra, Jeff Boyd, Corey Wiles, Gary Mendel and Brian Battle.

Although the varsity team is headed for the Class A's, Bethlehem's "farm teams" — the JV and freshmen squads — don't have any post-season competitions. The junior varsity team, finished with a 17-1 record, good enough not only for a Gold Division first place but also good enough to earn the distinction of having the best record in the Suburban Council. "We beat every team that we played," reported Coach Furey proudly. "Our one loss was to Niskayuna, the second time we played them, but we beat them the first time.

Furey said the team's season statistics and record "speak for themselves." In 18 games, the team scored 129 runs. The batting average was .320, with a team earned run average of 2.10. "Close games with good teams were the highlights of the season," said Furey. For example, two wins against Burnt Hills came in the last inning. The Eagles won back-to-back victories over Colonie and Shenendehowa, two of the toughest teams in the Blue Division.

There were 14 players on the 1987 JV roster. Doug LeClair, Sean Lynch and Pat Doody did an outstanding job on the mound this year, with LeClair and Lynch also functioning as first basemen. John Reagan was the team's catcher. The regular infielders consisted of Dave Sodergren, Chris Hughes, Chris Aloisi, Chris Pratt and Ryan Flynn. Outfielders were Kyle Snyder, Peter Coccozza, Jamie Dillon, Pete Bragaw and Devon Cahill.

"All of the kids took an active part in the team being as successful as it was," said Furey. "The team was very well-rounded. At one point each player had something to do with keeping the winning record. There were no one or two real 'heroes.' Different people had to come through in clutch times."

The modified (freshmen) team's 11-3 record earned them their second consecutive Gold Division championship. The batting average was .314, with a fielding average of .933. The team scored an average of 9 runs per game.

Braverman cited two players as outstanding hitters: Dan Formica, who batted .444, and Al Greenhalgh, whose .393 average included three home runs and 22 runs batted in. Craig Weinert was "outstanding in the field" with 32 assists at shortstop, according to Braverman. BC's two strongest pitchers at this level were Alex Hackman and Scott Hodge. Hackman had a 5-0 record, with a 2.07 ERA, the same ERA he had as an eighth grader. Hackman struck out 60 batters in 44 innings, and fared well at the plate, with a .323 average. Hodge was 4-1, with a 2.68 ERA and a .339 batting average.

Spotlight SPORTS

"It was a great season all around," said Braverman. "We had some close games, especially with Burnt Hills and Mohonasen; but, we managed to pull through by only one run." Mohonasen and Burnt Hills were Bethlehem's stiffest competition at the freshman level, trailing with 10-4 and 9-6 records.

This year's varsity team has gone on to prove themselves in Sectionals. The JV and freshman teams, on the other hand, are a sure sign that BC's strength on the diamond will continue, making the Eagles a force to be reckoned with in the Suburban Council in the future.

Birds top 'Fordians'

By Matt Bates

The Voorheesville baseball team ended its season last week with a victory over Waterford and a loss to Mechanicville. The squad's final record is 2-14 in the Colonial Council and 2-16 overall.

Last Monday, John Lawrence drove in Rick Weismeyer to cap off a two-run second inning. The two runs, added to the one run scored in the first, gave the Birds a 3-2 win over Waterford. John Traudt pitched the entire game for Voorheesville.

Two days later, the Birds were beaten 9-2 by a powerful Mechanicville squad. Multiple errors hurt the team in the contest. John Lawrence and Rick Weismeyer pitched the game to conclude their season.

Faces check charges

A 24-year-old woman was arrested Tuesday for allegedly passing several bad checks this year at area businesses, Bethlehem Police said.

The woman allegedly passed checks amounting to about $307 to six businesses and restaurants in Glenmont and Delmar, police said.

She was charged with issuing a bad check, petty larceny and theft of services and arraigned before town Justice Roger Fritts, police said.

Extra innings end RCS hopes

By Bart Gottesman

Their destiny was in their own hands. Win the 12-inning marathon tie with Albany Academy and defeat Schalmont, a team they easily defeated early in the season, and they would hold the Colonial Council Championship trophy.

Maybe next year? The RCS Indians baseball squad failed to complete the final part of what would have topped off a great season as they lost the extra inning completion to Academy, 11-10. The Indians then defeated Schalmont 4-3 to finish second in the Council with a final record of 12-4.

The game at Albany Academy started off in the 13th inning. The situation was similar to a sudden death over time. If Ravena scored and Academy didn't, the Indians would come out victors. If Ravena failed to produce a run and Academy did score, championship dreams would slip into the fading sunset for RCS. The second situation became reality.

Ravena failed to score in their half of the inning. Albany Academy led off their half of the inning with a strikeout, followed by a single, an error, a walk and finally a squeeze bunt allowing the winning run to cross home plate.

In the season finale at Schalmont, Larry Rivers went the distance to pick up his ninth win for RCS against one loss. Keying the 4-3 victory was Russ McBride who had two hits, one being a RBI single providing the margin of victory.

The Indians record was good enough to earn a spot in sectional play. They will open play at Schenectady's Central Park on Tuesday against Bishop Gibbons.

Another new baseball league

By John Bellizzi III

New leagues and teams are being created to give Bethlehem youth more opportunities to play organized baseball. Last year, Randy Gambelunghe started things off by bringing Connie Mack baseball to the Tri-Village area. The league offered an alternative to Bethlehem Babe Ruth baseball and American Legion ball. Gambelunghe led the Bethlehem Blue Eagles to a respectable finish in the Eastern New York Connie Mack League. This year, Jesse Braverman, coach of the Bethlehem Central freshman baseball team, is at the helm of Bethlehem's first ever entry into the Mickey Mantle league.

The Mickey Mantle league is made up of baseball players 16 and under, although Braverman says that few members of his 13 man roster are under 16. The franchise was made possible by a grant from Bethlehem Opportunities Unlimited. The league's 19-game schedule includes home games on Saturday and Sunday afternoons at the Elm Avenue Park and away games on weeknights, with two games scheduled at Heritage Park, home of the Albany-Colonie double-A Yankees farm team.

The roster for the new team is made up of 10 players from the Bethlehem Central varsity and junior varsity teams, and three from the Christian Brothers Academy junior varsity squad. "This is a very competitive league," warned Braverman. "I hope to have a good start." Braverman expressed gratitude on behalf of himself and the team to Bethlehem Opportunities Unlimited for making the Bethlehem Mickey Mantle league possible. Play ball!

Spotlight still leads league

By John Bellizzi III

Spotlight picked up two more victories last week in Tri-Village Little League action to hold first place with a 6-0 record.

The team's first win last week was over Price-Greenleaf, 9-3. Dave Miles pitched for Spotlight, and Mike Aylward on the mound for Greenleaf. Darren Studler of Spotlight hit a home run. His teammate Mike Pelletier singled twice and tripled. Miles, Mike Futia, John Schaller and Lee Eck were all good for singles. Aylward and Brian Garver both had two-base hits for Greenleaf. Singles were hit by John Noonan and Brian Mullan.

Thursday, Starwood Fund Raising fell to Spotlight in a 4-2 ball game. Pelletier and Miles combined to strike out seven and walk 5, giving up 5 hits. Josh Formica, fresh off the injured list, pitched a three-hitter in his first major league start, striking out seven and giving up four bases on balls. For Starwood, Luke Paigo and Eric Schmollinger each hit a single and a double; and, Kevin Smith singled. Miles and Jon Scholes singled and Pelletier tripled.

General Electric's first victory of the season came last Tuesday 15-5 over Professional Kitchen Design. Professional Kitchens and GE are now tied for fourth place with 1-5 records.

Ed Luberdia pitched the entire game, striking four batters out and walking six. Luberdia helped his own cause with a single and a triple. Jon Pesnel had two singles and a double for the winners. Mike Fabe

Duncan McKaskill, Starwood's no. 11, swings for the fence against Spotlight last week. Spotlight won 4-2. John Bellizzi and Andrew Black struck out eight GE batters, giving up 18 walks. Black and Mike Carpenter had the only two hits for their team that evening.

Main Care defeated Price-Greenleaf, 14-3. Main-Care, with a 4-2 record, is in second place, while Greenleaf and Starwood are tied for third at 3-3.

Mike Gambelunghe and Kory Snyder split pitching duties. Offensively, Gambelunghe was good for three doubles. Bob Conway and Josh Lanni each added a double. Jamie Fraser contributed two singles. Spencer Kirkman doubled for Price-Greenleaf. Singles were hit by Aylward and Brandon Costello. Scott Hasselbarth and Brian Garver were on the mound for Greenleaf.

Davies Office Refurbishing squeaked by Keystone Builders in their last two at-bats Friday evening to hold on to the top slot in Intermediate League. Davies has a 6-0 record in the American Division.

Matt Winterhoff and Brad Mattox combined on the mound for the winners in the 12-7 ballgame. Neil Prabhu, Sean Brewer and Aaron Thorpe were on the mound for Keystone.

This week, Davies faces Peter J. Verardi Electrical Contracting, the leader of the National League with a 4-1 record, on Saturday morning. Verardi has defeated Handy Andy, Stewart's, Farm Family and Keystone, and lost their season opener to Hoogy's Village Corner. Hoogy's (2-3-1) meets Roberts Real Estate (1-3) on Saturday, and Farm Family (1-3-1) faces Stewart's (1-4). Tonight, Verardi plays Roberts and Handy Andy faces Keystone.

In Majors this week, Price-Greenleaf and Professional Kitchens were scheduled to face each other last night. Spotlight meets GE tomorrow evening. On Saturday, it's Starwood vs Professional Kitchens, GE vs Greenleaf and Spotlight against Main-Care.

BC to get another shot at Guilderland

By Dave DeCecco

Last week, the Bethlehem tennis team saw a little bit of everything — a win, a rare loss and another rainout.

The rainout came Monday, when the Eagles awaited their showdown with Guilderland on BC's courts. The teams had time for warm-ups and little else as the rains started coming down late in the afternoon.

Tuesday, Bethlehem traveled to Mohonasen and gave the Mohons another pounding. The guests suffered a 9-0 loss to the Eagles.

Wednesday, the team finally had their shot at Guilderland. The Dutchmen got by BC under windy conditions, 5-4, moving the Eagles' record one notch down to 13-2. Coach Sue Schaefer said all singles matches went the full three sets, illustrating how close this one actually was.

Thursday the team went to Burnt Hills for individual sectionals.

Tennis

All Eagle players lost in the opening rounds, largely because they drew the top seeds in the tournament.

Eric Lee, however made it to the final round Friday at Shenendehowa, where he lost to Guilderland's number one player 6-1, 6-2. Schaefer said Lee was not getting enough of his first serves in and was playing to his opponent's strengths.

Lee met up with the same player yesterday (Tuesday) in Delmar, where the Eagles faced Guilderland for the final match of the season. This could have some bearing on the outcome of the Suburban Council race. Thursday the Eagles have team sectionals and Schaefer anticipates that they will be ranked at least fourth.

Birds strong second in Colonial Council

By Rick Leach

While Albany Academy has continued to dominate the Colonial Council tennis league for the sixth year, the Voorheesville tennis team did extremely well in the league tournament, with three out of four of their groups losing only to Academy.

Voorheesville's number one singles player, Chris Stevens, received a bye in the first round, then defeated Andreoli of Schalmont, 7-6, 6-0. Following this, Stevens fell to second-seeded Peter Kim of Albany Academy by a score of 6-4, 6-4. The only other singles player for the Birds was junior Steve Smith, who lost to Dunn of Schalmont in a thrilling 10-8 match in the first round.

The Blackbird doubles teams also did an outstanding job. Tom Kurkjian and Dave Mistretta, the third-seeded doubles team, received a first round bye and then defeated the Schalmont doubles team 6-1, 6-2. Following this, they played eventual doubles finalists Brenner and Kolachov of Academy. After falling in the first set, 6-4, the Voorheesville duo battled back for a 7-6 second set victory only to fall, 6-3, to the Cadets in the third set. The other Voorheesville doubles team was fourth-seeded Ken Andriano and Dave Larabee. The duo won easily in the first two rounds, winning 10-5 in the first and 6-1, 6-1 in the second. However, along came Academy's number four and five players, Oberting and Byrne, who captured a 6-1, 6-3 triumph.

Despite these losses, all but Smith qualified for the June 1 and 2 individual sectionals at the State University at Albany. The team also qualified for the Class C Sectionals tomorrow (Thursday). The squad will find out today (Wednesday) what seed they receive and who they will play. "We hope to get at least second seed, behind (defending champion) Lake George," coach Tom Kurkjian stated.

Yesterday the Birds finished out their regular season at Cobleskill. They finished out their league season two weeks ago with an 8-2 league record, losing only to Academy. Their overall record stood at 10-2.

How do you go about choosing a real estate broker to sell your home? Ask your friends for recommendations. They'll tell you who worked hard and successfully for them, and they're usually quick to tell you who didn't.

We're proud of the referrals we get. Our satisfied clients tell their friends about our expert salespeople who know how to set a price for a house—and then work hard to get it. They show off the ads we ran about their house. They talk about reliability: the way we keep appointments promptly and lock up carefully after showings. They talk about enthusiasm: the way we communicate excitement about a property to prospective buyers and at open houses. And they almost always remark about how easy it is to put a house on the market when we do the selling.

Carey leads Eagles in track sectionals

Pete Crowley in one of his workout sessions with Steve Guynup and John DeMeo of the BCHS wrestling team. John Bellizzi

Mastering another sport

By John Bellizzi III

Wrestling is a grueling sport that demands a great deal of determination and mental discipline. The sport forces participants make the sacrifices required to reach peak physical condition. Peter Crowley of Delmar is one of the area's determined wrestling athletes. The discipline and the rigors of training, have allowed Crowley to overcome the handicap of blindness in addition to the physical and mental obstacles common to all wrestlers.

Determination, physical ability and mastery of his other four senses make him a formidable opponent. Crowley, who is dedicated in weight training, regularly participates in Tae Kwon Do lessons at Delaware Plaza. He has already won a national title by bowling a 205 to win the National Bowling Championship for the blind. Now, Browley is training in the Bethlehem Central High School gym twice a week with John DeMeo and members of the Bethlehem Central wrestling team.

From June 14 to 21, Crowley will be in Albuquerque, New Mexico, to participate in a national tournament for the blind, which includes competition in track, weight lifting and wrestling. He will be wrestling freestyle in the 163 pound weight class. If he succeeds at this preliminary level of competition, Crowley will have the opportunity to wrestle in the 1988 Olympic Games for the Blind, to be held in Seoul, Korea.

Crowley's enthusiasm and anticipation are evident in his twice-weekly workout sessions. His high spirits show not only in his matwork but also in his general attitude and state of mind.

"Pete's determination and heart can be an example to handicapped people everywhere," said DeMeo. "He didn't let his handicap stand in his way; instead, he made the best of what he has in terms of his other senses. Pete's amazing in terms of physical abilities, and he's making rapid progress."

Last Saturday at Burnt Hills, the Bethlehem girl's track team placed fifth in the Section II Championships.

Senior co-captain Anne Carey led the way by winning the 400 hurdles in 63.3, her fastest time in two years. In the process Carey avenged a loss to Maura Westerdahl of Troy earlier in the season. Carey also anchored the 3,200 relay of Julie Hammer, Kathy Saba and Kim Cornaire to a first place finish with a leg of 2:17.6. The team time was 9:43.1, that group's best of the year.

Junior co-captain Kelly Ross, just hours after her junior prom, won the high jump at 5-6, also her best this season. She had three shots at the Section II record of 5-8, and almost got it on her first try. Junior Liz Keens, presumably under the same circumstances of little sleep, placed fifth in the high jump at 5-10.

Bethlehem got more points in the 3000, where senior Heather Wolfe placed fourth in 11:22.2, and eighth-grader Becky Arenson placed sixth in 11:29.2. In the 1600 relay BC placed sixth in 4:20.1.

The boy's team did not fare as well at their Sectionals Friday at Guilderland because of injuries sustained by Steve Connolly and Brendan Kearse.

Kearse, who has not been able to run for some time, ran the 3200 relay with Brendan Mitchell, Pete Winkler and Ian Berry. The team placed fifth, and Mitchell set a PR with his 2:03.4 split. Berry placed fourth in a competitive 800 with a time of 2:00.6 and shattered his best time of the season in the process. Senior Dave DeCecco won the 3000 steeplechase in 10:59.2. Sophomore Bob Dillon finished sixth in the triple jump at 40-1/4. Chris Dwyer was sixth in a new event — the pentathlon.

Both squads had their Suburban Council Championships last week. The girls placed sixth on Tuesday at Shaker. At Shenendehowa, also on Tuesday, the boys could only come up with three points without big guns Kearse and Connolly.

On Friday, the night of the senior ball, a very small portion of both teams will travel to the State Qualifiers at Johnstown. Carey competed at the State pentathlon qualifier on Tuesday. The girls will pass up the 3200 relay because of the conflict.

Methodist church associate named

The anticipated appointment of Rev. Maggie McCarey-Laird of Chicago as associate pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Delmar has been announced by Rev. Dr. Leon M. Atkins, Jr., district superintendent of the Albany District of the Troy Conference.

The appointment will become official after it is announced at the Annual Session of the Troy Conference being held between May 28 and 31.

Rev. McCarey-Laird is a native of Iowa and a graduate of Northeast Missouri State University. She is currently engaged in post-graduate studies at Drake University and will be graduated from the Garrett Evangelical Theological Seminary along with her husband, Robert. Both will be ordained as deacons in the Troy Conference on May 31.

Capital district Civil War Round Table makes its debut in the Memorial Day Parade in Delmar. Boy Scouts Stephen and Kevin Salhoff carry the colors for Gen. Dan Sickles and Nathan Augustus.

Rev. McCarey-Laird is the mother of three and most recently was a mental health worker at the Lutheran General Hospital in Illinois. Her husband will become the pastor of the Stepentown Federated Church. Both appointments are effective June 28.

Future in sight

Editor, The Spotlight:

I echo the sentiments of Mary and Douglas Powell and Patricia Mascarenhas (Spotlight 5/20/87), as well as the Bethlehem Citizens for Responsible Planning, in pleading that a "master plan" be developed for the Town of Bethlehem before any further residential or commercial building be approved.

The problems caused by unchecked growth were well addressed in Ms. Mascarenhas's letter (schools, water, traffic, etc.); but, we must also be concerned about development from the historical and aesthetic aspects. Once our town's older buildings and our natural environmental assets (large trees, fields of wildflowers) have been destroyed, they cannot be replaced. At a time when communities all across the country are putting much money and effort into reclaiming the history and beauty they have lost, let us appreciate and preserve what we still have. Those quaint New England towns, for example, are attractive because their residents and officials have been willing to fight to keep them that way, through careful planning and zoning.

Development seems inevitable. Let us couple it with intelligent foresight.

Look at ways of young people

Editor, The Spotlight:

Our town government has been making a concerted effort in the past several years to beautify the town park and many of the pocket parks. The school district also works hard to maintain its grounds and buildings. It is most unfortunate that a number of town residents do not feel they have any obligations to the community they live in. They drag race their cars across grassy traffic islands and neighboring lawns. Young trees are stripped of their branches and damaged by youngsters climbing among the fragile branches. And of course there is the proverbial graffiti and litter.

The same parents and responsible adults who look the other way at these "small indiscretions" would be the first to sue the town or school if their child fell out of a tree and was hurt. They would be the first to be outraged if their teenager ends up in town court for shoplifting, vandalism, drunk driving, selling and using illegal drugs, robbery, and the list goes on.

Unless the responsible adults in this community are willing to instill a sense of respect for self and others (including the community) in the children within their sphere of influence in the child's early years, they should not be surprised at the results of their "looking the other way."

Those adults who are trying very hard to raise or influence responsible future citizens find the apathetic, unconcerned attitudes of some of the adult residents of this community difficult to deal with. Also our children find it hard to deal with these attitudes which result in the negative peer pressures that exist.

Editor, The Spotlight:

The Delmar Kiwanis were proud to have sponsored the Vidbel's Olde Tyme Circus. Judging from the many smiling faces it was enjoyed by all who attended. An undertaking such as this requires the combined efforts and cooperation of numerous people within our town.

On behalf of the Delmar Kiwanis I would like to extend our gratitude to all those who helped make it possible. Special thanks to John Flanigan, Lieutenant Horrigan and the Bethlehem Police, Paul Woodin and the Delmar Rescue Squad, Phil Maher and the Department of Parks and Recreation, and Glenn Vadney and The Spotlight. Special thanks to the local merchants and business people without whose generosity very few of these community activities would be possible.

Most importantly we are grateful to the citizens of our town whose loyal support of the activities and organizations within our local area make these events a success. It is this community spirit and commitment that makes our town such a wonderfully unique and pleasant place to live and work. Thank you.

Children need guidance

Editor, The Spotlight:

As an educator for 14 years and a teacher at Bethlehem Middle School, a member of this community and a person who cares greatly about young people, I am becoming increasingly distressed about the growing problem of substance abuse by our kids in this community. I find it hard to believe the parents in this community would approve of their children using drugs. However, it seems almost every weekend we hear of unsupervised, as well as supervised parties in various locations in our town where alcohol and other drugs are available, regardless of the age of the participants. As adults are we really that naive as to the dangers of alcohol and drugs to young people?

I am wondering if we as adults have created a generation of young people who firmly believe a good time is not possible without alcohol or other substances. Where have they learned this? It seems to me that something has gone wrong. Parents have expressed to me on many occasions that they are uncomfortable when they call about the location, time, type of drink that will be served, or the supervision, of a party because it embarrasses or upsets their children. They seem to be worried about their children being angry with them. I remember so often as a teenager my father and mother saying to me, "You do not have to like our decisions or ideas, but we love you and will do what we feel is best for you. If that means that you are angry with us, we are sorry, but that is our responsibility as good parents." I may have been angry at the time but somehow I got a very strong message about values and caring. When I looked back at it later, more objectively, I realized they were right much more than they were wrong and today I thank them so much for being the wise, yet strict parents they were. Are we as educators, community members and parents really being responsible allowing our kids to attend these parties? What is this saying to our children? What values are they learning? Do parents in this community really know where their kids are and what they are doing on weekends? I look back at myself at age 13, 15 or 17 and realize I was not mature or responsible enough to make wise choices for myself all the time. I needed guidance, structure and limits. I firmly believe kids today are no different.

My biggest fear is that this community will not take this problem seriously until a tragic accident occurs and kids are hurt or, worse, killed. Please do not wait that long. The young people in our community are very special. I could fill this page and many more with the names of young people I have taught in the past five years that I think are terrific kids. I feel very fortunate to teach here. However they are kids. The need our example and our guidance. As an entire community we need to look at this problem. We need to deal with it at the family level. We need to become responsible, caring and "involved" people. After all, we are the adults and our kids need us.

Draft master plan

Editor, The Spotlight:

It is apparent from the public hearings and meetings I have attended recently in Bethlehem Town Hall and from the reporting done by The Spotlight that our town officials have been active in comprehensive planning of our sewers, water mains, roads and to a lesser degree for our future water resources needs, which is good. The problem is that the critical component of comprehensive planning, land use planning, is being ignored. What is most disturbing, despite a ground swell of grass roots interest and support, is our top local officials have not made any admission that it is indeed time for the Town of Bethlehem to prepare an updated land use plan and perhaps time to evaluate and improve the town's land use laws.

To the best of my knowledge, the town's infrastructure planning is based on the town's antiquated zoning map which in turn is based on a 27-year-old master plan that was never adopted. I strongly believe our town officials, with citizen advisory assistance, need to prepare a land use plan that addresses citizen concerns and is compatible with the town's natural and cultural resources. Once this plan is favored by the majority of town residents it should be officially adopted. Infrastructure planning should be accomplished in conjunction with the planning process required to establish an updated plan. A very strong argument could be made that if the town was doing more land use planning, the need for extensive and costly public works projects such as sewage plant expansion, water main extensions and road construction would not be as great as it is today.

An effective land use plan is the guide or blueprint for land use decision making and is the key to maintaining the integrity of the town's character and desirable quality of life. Without an adopted land use plan, the Bethlehem Town Board and Planning Board are making unguided land use decisions when they approve zone change requests, infrastructure improvements, and site plan and subdivision proposals.

Delmar Village and Brookhill Village, both requiring zone changes and site approval, are two examples where the planning board and town board must make important land use decisions without having a current land use plan to serve as a guide for decision making. The town would probably not be mired in controversy if it had one. I have yet to hear any sound reasoning in support of Delmar Village or Brookhill Village, both high residential density proposals with apartments, and with office and retail stores, to be constructed in rural to moderately suburban environments. The only supportive rationale for the type of land use proposed for these sites comes from those who want to develop them. It is the town who should be taking the lead by establishing the most appropriate type, location and intensity of development it will allow to occur.

Most people understand and accept that community growth and development is inevitable and I would venture to say most are not opposed to it. It is the quality and appropriateness of future growth and development where public concern and unrest lies. By the number of people in attendance at recent public hearings and meetings and by the number of active concerned citizen groups, the signal is strong and clear that there is a great degree of public concern and unrest about planning and development matters in the town. By not having an effective land use plan, the town is not doing all it can to ensure that orderly, responsible and appropriate growth is going to take place. It is likely that widespread public concern and unrest will continue as long as the town is making land use decisions without an up to date land use plan.

Special thanks

Editor, The Spotlight:

Having never run for public office before, I was gratified with the support that I received in the recent election for trustee of the Voorheesville Public Library. My friends and family were most helpful with circulating petitions, mailings, calling, helpful advice and encouragement. Sincere thanks to all of them and the voters of the Voorheesville School District. I look forward to working for and with the community in the future!

Health care course for women at CHP

The Capital Area Community Health Plan will offer a health care for women course at the Latham Health Center beginning Monday, June 1, from 7 to 9 p.m. The two-session course will focus on health concerns of women and include topics such as keeping home records, pregnancy and pre-menstrual syndrome.

Pre-registration and pre-payment are required to join the course. For more information on registration call the Health Promotion and Education Department at 783-3110, extension 217.

League elects 2

Two area women were elected to the board of directors of the League of Women Voters of New York State during the group's recent convention in Cooperstown.

Andree Marr of Glenmont was elected first vice president and Christine Deys of Delmar was elected director. Both women are members of the Albany County League of Women Voters.

Marr was elected to the board in 1985. As legislative action director she manages the Albany office and the lobbying effort in the Capital. Deys, a three-year member of the board, will supervise league study and action on social policy legislation in her new position.

Beth L. Carpenter married

Beth L. Carpenter, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Carpenter Jr. of Clarksville, and Paul M. Berger, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Berger of Williamsville, were married April 11 at the Clarksville Community Church. The Rev. James A. Neevel officiated.

Diane Carpenter, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Suzanne Buckley and Jessica Katz were bridesmaids. Jessica and Jennifer Dippel were flower girls. David Berger, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Robert Wojner and Steven Petrowski.

The bride is a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School and Alfred University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Sweet Home High School and Alfred University. He is employed by Title Network Ltd. in Buffalo.

After a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple will reside at Grand Island, N.Y.

Peace Sunday

Peace Pentacost will be celebrated Sunday, June 7, at 7 p.m., with an ecumenical worship service at the Delmar Presbyterian Church.

The service will include Scripture, prayer, song and a slide presentation entitled, "For Life: Christian Peacemaking in the Nuclear Age." Children are welcome to attend and refreshments will be served.

For information call 439-8322.

Sandy Sauer

Sauer-Goodrich

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Sauer of Hurley have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandy, to Kyle Goodrich, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ariel Goodrich of Delmar.

The bride-to-be, a graduate of Kingston High School and Ithaca College, is employed as a physical therapist at Albany Medical Center. Her fiancé, a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School, holds an associate's degree in industrial technology drafting. He is employed as a purchasing agent for D.A. Bennett/Tri-Village Plumbing.

A summer 1988 wedding is planned.

Connors to be honored

The Cerebral Palsy Center for the Disabled's officers and board of directors will hold its seventh annual awards dinner at the Desmond American Inn on Thursday, May 28, to honor Assemblyman Richard J. Connors and WTEN and its staff.

Connors, whose assembly district includes the Town of New Scotland, will receive the Humanitarian of the Year award for his dedication to seeking legislative action for the disabled and for his volunteer work at local organizations.

WTEN-TV and staff will be honored for their 27 years of volunteering to produce the Center's telethon and their insight in reporting issues regarding the disabled.

NORTH HUDSON

From the tranquil and scenic beauty in North Hudson, you can take a short drive in any direction to a different Adirondack locale or activity. North Hudson's convenient location permits the vacationer to establish a center from which he can venture to mountains, streams, lakes, or historic sites, small villages and other resort towns.

Salmon spawning grounds plus trout fishing in the many lakes, ponds and rivers present a challenge for avid anglers. Just west of the Northway, The Branch cascades over beautiful Blue Ridge Falls and joins the Schroon River in North Hudson.

Quiet country roads and woodlands invite birdwatchers and hikers. Close by are the trail heads to the southern extremities of the high peaks. The extensive forest lands in North Hudson tempt campers and hunters. The Blue Ridge Road through the Boreas Country has a unique and little known attraction - Balanced Rock, a huge glacial boulder. It was left by the retreating glacier of the last Ice Age, perched precariously on a rock ledge. About a mile beyond Balanced Rock is the crossing of the Boreas River, a pleasant picnic spot with excellent trout to be had from the cold waters.

Among the trees beside the Schroon River, North Hudson's recreational park offers swimming from a sandy beach, picnicking, tennis, and a children's playground.

Founded in the early 1800s, the town consisted of the hamlets of Blue Ridge, Schroon River and North Hudson. The first state campsite at Sharp Bridge on Route 9 was here to serve the traveling public as it is today. The old country church on the hill still meets the spiritual needs of travelers and the native population as it did long ago.

This quiet, country setting provides a place for families, young couples and the older set. Friendly, helpful townspeople will make your stay a pleasant one. Bring your camera, bird book, fishing polls, bicycles, canoes, back packs, golf clubs, tennis racquets and downhill or cross country skis. Come unwind and enjoy the tranquility of North Hudson, a unique locale and four season community. Enjoy the serenity of nature, warm hospitality and comfortable lodging away from traffic and crowds.

Take Exit 29 off the Northway (I-87) from the south or Exit 30 from the north.

Ticonderoga,

on the quieter side of Lake George

Exits 24-28

Soldier guides re-enact the firing of the canons at Fort Ti.

Ticonderoga is uniquely situated between two major lakes. Lake George to the southwest is a mecca for tourists and residents alike. On the east and stretching to the north is Lake Champlain, one of America's largest lakes and a major historical and recreational resource.

The Village of Ticonderoga has more than just its historical past to interest the visitor. It is a thriving community of many facets from outdoor fun to cultural activities.

The town is very proud of the Ticonderoga Festival Guild. Now in its 8th year, it has presented the performing arts to thousands of people during the summer in an informal atmosphere under the tent. Its Wednesday morning programs are free to the general public and all designed to open up the world of music, drama and other forms of performing arts to young audiences. The evening series offers internationally reknown artists and are also presented under the tent in the village green.

A public beach and boat launching site are available with access to Lake George, one of the most beautiful lakes in the Adirondacks.

Ticonderoga Country Club boasts an 18 hole championship golf course. It is considered one of the most challenging and beautiful courses in the north country.

State and private campsites are abundant and strategically placed with many on the water.

Motel accommodations are plentiful and reasonably priced both in the village or on the lake. Restaurants in the area offer a range from fine dining, family fare, to hamburgers and sandwiches.

Visitors to the Village of Ticonderoga should not miss an opportunity to visit the Hancock House located across from the Liberty Monument at Moses Circle. Built by Horace Moses and dedicated in 1926, this gambrel roofed granite building is an exact replica of the John Hancock House in Boston. Originally the headquarters for the New York State Historical Association, the building now houses a seven thousand volume research library and exhibits exceptional period furnishings.

Today's visitor to Fort Ticonderoga and the historic district surrounding it, including Mount Hope Battery, Mount Defiance and the older forts of Crown Point State Historic Site, will hear fifes and drums echo off ancient stone walls as if the ghosts of past bandsmen were replying; and, on misty days, shadowy outlines of Benedict Arnold's naval fleet may seem to head northward on Lake Champlain to do battle at Valcour Island.

If it were not for Stephen Pell, the fortress that was attacked six times — and successfully held on three of those occasions — would be just a name on the page of history books. We would not be able to walk the battlements of this star-shaped stronghold or cross the drawbridges to the demilunes, the land-facing outer walls of Fort Ticonderoga.

In 1908, Pell instigated restoration of the French-built fort on the rocky promontory and opened the West Barracks to the public the following year. Today, that building houses the Armory and the fort's famous gun collection.

Even before you reach the stone walls of Fort Ti, history unfolds along the tree-lined drive. You pass markers and monuments showing the location of redoubts and troop camps.

During the summer months, costumed militiamen explain the history of the fort and present demonstrations, cannon firing and marching to Colonial military music. Within the museum rooms, costumed "family folk" describe life in a military outpost and answer questions about items in the exhibits—including a Thomas Cole painting, portraits of George and Martha Washington, powder horns, scissors and medicines. Several life-size dioramas show Rangers getting snow shoes repaired, soldiers in their combat locale, and small-scale layouts of the fort and battle formations.

Fort Ticonderoga is open daily from mid-May to mid-October with military drills scheduled from July 1-Labor Day.

The Town of Moriah

Boat launching site in Port Henry

Parade float representing "Champ" which greets visitors on Rte. 22.

Port Henry, in the Town of Moriah, is just minutes from Exit 29 on the Adirondack northway. Located on beautiful Lake Champlain, this village offers not one but two public campsites both directly on the lake shore. Full hookups are available if desired or you can "rough" it with a tent site. Telephone numbers for these campsites are 546-9981, Port Henry Village Beach and 546-7500, Bulwagga Bay Campsite.

Port Henry's Bulwagga Bay is famous for its great fishing. Bass fishermen flock to this area to try their luck.

A public dock and boat launching site located in Port Henry make the lake easily accessible.

The Lake Champlain monster, "Champ", has made Bulwagga Bay its official home and many visitors and residents alike have sighted this mild mannered sea serpent. A special day is set aside to celebrate his "or her" residency.

The busy "downtown" in Port Henry offers a variety of shops Wednesday night concerts are held at the bandstand free of charge during the summer months.

An Amtrak station is located in the center of town offering daily train service from New York and the capital district to Montreal.

Enjoy the many fun filled benefits of the western shore of Lake Champlain.

The famed Ausable, the Boquet, the Hudson, the Boreas, the Saranac, the Schroon, and the Cold River have their headwaters in Essex County. The Great Chazy and Clinton County's Salmon River flow east from the two upper counties. Dozens of streams and creeks and hundreds of brooks thread through the endless hills of the eastern Adirondacks.

Some are renowned and others are just great trout waters like the network of Fishing Brook waters, Calamity Brook and others up which run the wild brook trout. These are wide trickles and runs to get lost on and explore and maybe never find again. These are the adventure trails of the high peaks and wild valleys.

Here can be found wild waters and placid runs that are home for brook trout and rainbows and the holes of the brown trout. But, too, another wild creature courses their waters—the roaming, exploring landlocked salmon, smolts, found in the Boquet Rivers length.

These 6-inch fingerlings resemble their close relative the brown trout. At this size, they change to silver and move downstream to Lake Champlain. Dams prevent much other wanderings in neighboring waters. Sometimes it takes as long as 3 years to reach necessary size. They feed on smelt and within a year they grow up to 18 or more inches. This is when they begin their spawning runs which unlike other Pacific salmon that spawn once and then die.

Two runs of landlocks develop in some of the rivers flowing into Lake Champlain each year, a spring run because of greater stream flow from spring run-off or when the stream temperature attracts salmon because of its warmer water temperature. The fall run occurs when salmon return to their home river to spawn. Fall runs have begun from late August into late November. Best action is mid-September through mid-October. Die-hard salmon anglers generally count on two months of fishing on the Boquet. River flows—spring and fall—seem to govern the intensity and longevity of the runs. One July fourth weekend saw several hundred salmon taken.

Town of Elizabethtown

Exits 30-31

Elizabethtown is the ideal vacation spot for those who wish to get away from it all but still be close to the hustle and bustle of the olympic area. Only 25 miles from Lake Placid, it is located minutes from Lake Champlain.

Surrounded by the Adirondack Mountains, Elizabethtown is the county seat of Essex: It holds many surprises for the traveler besides offering the natural beauty of mountains, streams and the vast forest lands of the Adirondack Park.

Accommodations are available at one of the several motels, or stay at the oldest Inn in the Adirondacks, established in 1808 and located in the center of town. There are also camping facilities at state owned Lincoln Pond and privately owned grounds. RVs are always welcome!

Elizabethtown boasts several fine restaurants serving breakfast, lunch and dinner from Texas Toast to lobster or filet mignon by candlelight. What better way to begin or end one's day.

For the musically minded, Elizabethtown is the home of the Maplewood Music Festival, a Baroque music ensemble that performs in Essex and Clinton counties during the summer. The internationally acclaimed Meadowmount School of Music founded by the late violinist Ivan Galamian is in nearby Lewis and offers evening concerts every Wednesday and Sunday at no charge.

The Adirondack Center Museum is the pride and joy of this small mountain town. It offers exhibition rooms of Pioneer life, conservation antique dolls, mining, 19th century costumes, a library and archives featuring Essex County history, a splendid carriage collection and much, much more. The Colonial Garden behind the museum is delightful and the lovely formal gardens are reminiscent of old Williamsburg. A sound and light show entitled "Two hundred years of History in the Champlain Valley" is shown regularly. A nature trail and wildflower walk is available for the outdoor enthusiasts. Exhibits are scheduled mid-May through September. "American Rustic" Architecture and Furniture for the Landscape from the Gallery Assoc. of New York State will be featured from July 11-Aug. 11. Picnic sites are located on the museum grounds.

Elizabethtown is a fisherman's delight. With the Boquet River stocked by both the county and the state, there is a great variety of your favorite trout just waiting to be caught. There are ample parking places along the river provided by the DEC for your convenience. The fish are here, the choice is yours, brown, speckled, rainbow, all waiting to test your skill.

Split Rock Falls and Gorge has been a favorite spot in Elizabethtown for more than a century. Here the river drops several hundred feet in a lovely series of falls and cascades with intermittent deep rocky pools before taking its final precipitous plunge into the Gorge. The area has ample parking and walks from which one can see this striking view of the falls and first three pools.

For duffers only, the beautiful 9 hole Cobble Hill Golf Course developed in 1896 will challenge even the most experienced. Interspersed by tall pines and mountain views this fine course is one of the oldest in the country. A hike up nearby Hurricane Mountain is a must for every age. The view is spectacular and has often inspired artists to portray the beauty, this spot so remote and protected by the magnificent Adirondacks. Many decide to stay and spend more than just a vacation in this beautiful little Adirondack village that has sometimes been referred to as the Switzerland of the Adirondacks. A great place to visit—a better place to live. We welcome you to Elizabethtown.

Arts in Essex County

The arts are flourishing in Essex County with over 60 cultural organizations now in existence. Amateur to professional gallery art shows feature paintings, drawings, sculpture, crafts and photography. Theatre productions offer dramas, comedies, musicals and cabarets. Musical groups offer classical to contemporary programs. Full service library and literary groups have a complete spectrum of humanities and lecture series. Museums and historical societies, preservation organizations, and special interest groups hold various workshops offering classes in many diverse disciplines.

No where else in the North Country can you find the cultural events produced by resident professional organizations. The Depot Theatre in Westport offers a choice of 4 plays, a new play reading with a working apprentice program for interested students to participate. Gallery exhibitions are held regularly across the county. Saranac Lake and Lake Placid, Center for the Arts show summer residents concerts, movies, gallery exhibits, workshops, the Adirondack North Country Craft Center and more. South to Schroon Lake and Ticonderoga, musical concerts are held in the Boathouse or under the big yellow tent (respectively).

As you travel you will find north through Keene, Ausable and Keeseville summer music concerts and craft fairs. Don't forget the libraries with their programs, summer lectures and movie series. Many events are free of charge.

The Adirondacks offer their inspiring beauty and we offer the artists' who rejoice and express their talents for your pleasure. Throughout history our mountain rivers and lakes have attracted artists and we are fortunate indeed to have this abundance of culture with many residents and visitors involved as performers, production assistants and volunteers.

For more information regarding our many cultural groups and events look for the Essex County Arts Council's summer Arts '87 Information Booklet or call or write Essex County Arts Council, Box 805, Elizabethtown, NY 12932, (518) 873-6301, Ext. 359.

Maplewood Music Festival

Founded in 1977 to provide and promote classical music in the North Country...under the artistic direction of noted violinist Jorie Garrigue, Maplewood brings together a magic mixture of area artists and outstanding guest musicians...for the seventh consecutive year Maplewood will present during July and August Northern New York State's only summer Festival of Baroque and Classical Music performed on instruments of the period, at various historic sites in Essex and Clinton counties.

Ringed on the west by the Adirondack Mountains and on the east by the Green Mountains of Vermont, Westport is nestled into a bay on Lake Champlain and is considered to be one of the most beautiful villages in the area. Whether it is golfing on it's championship golf course in the summer or ice fishing in the winter, you'll find something for all seasons in this small northern town.

During the summer months the historic, renovated D.&H. train station houses the Depot Theatre, which showcases professional actors, actresses, musicians vocalists. They present a variety of plays and musicals throughout the summer. You'll want to check 518-962-4449 for dates, but there is generally something exciting happening Thursday through Monday at the Depot. For the price of a movie ticket, you can enjoy live theatre.

A call to the local Chamber of Commerce at 518-962-8383 will bring you referrals on everything from restaurants, lodging, marinas, real estate, cottage rentals, antiques and theater.

Located on the western entrance to the village, the Depot also has information—pamphlets and brochures—of area attractions and has community volunteers to help you find your way during the summer months or you can write to the Chamber of Commerce at P.O. Box 394, Westport, N.Y. 12993.

The Westport Country Club, is open to the public and offers 18 holes of rolling hills and well kept fairways, in addition to a pro-shop, where lessons, golf cart rentals and accessories are available.

For the water sprites, you can rent small run-abouts, sailboats, or sailboards at the local marina or trail your own boat to launch at the New York State Boat launch site at the northern entrance to the village on Rt. 22. Fishing tackle and bait are available at local stores or can be rented at the marina.

ESSEX ON LAKE CHAMPLAIN

MARINA & RESTAURANT
NEW YORK

Bright sails flair in the wind on Lake Champlain near Essex, N.Y.

In your search for a serene old fashioned little town, Essex is a fine choice. Just off exit 32, nestled at the foot of the High Peaks Region in the Adirondack Mountains, it sits on the shore of beautiful Lake Champlain. With Vermont's Green Mountains on the horizon, and the Adirondacks behind, Essex remains an undiscovered get away.

The Town is an Historic Hamlet restored to preserve the delicate beauty of the past. Once a wealthy shipping port on Lake Champlain until the railroad was built, Essex has remained much the same through the years. Walking down Main Street and various side streets you can see classic Victorian, Greek Revival and Federalist style architecture. Historic guides to the Town are available at the Essex Community Heritage Organization and from local merchants.

After your peaceful early morning or m.d.-afternoon stroll, breakfast, lunch or dinner is served at your choice of four restaurants in town.

There is a marina and a public boat launch to set your boat in the water for a day of fishing, sailing, windsurfing or water skiing. You do not have to go far to be where the fish are biting. The public dock is a favorite spot for veteran fishermen, women and children. The town park looks out over the lake at the Green Mountains and is a place to relax and have a picnic.

Main Street is the place to window shop with local artists and crafts people displaying their wares. The two antique shops are always fun to browse. The library, located across from the ferry dock has a fine collection of the town's history, and is open Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Essex is not without its culture. During the day the art gallery is open for viewing. One night a week, the Humanities Series sponsors a literary or film presentation with a guest lecturer followed by a group discussion in which everyone is encouraged to participate. Check the bulletin board by the Post Office for the schedule.

After an exhausting day of fun you can sit by the lake and sip your choice of cocktails or spirits, listen to music and feel the fresh lake breeze. The ferry travels to and fro, the sun sets and the moon shimmers on the water, what a relaxing picture. If you come by boat there are docking facilities available.

Before retiring, a late evening walk through town captures the serenity that tourists have fallen in love with.

Lake fishing in the two tranquil counties of northern New York

Following Lake Champlain south, fishing flourishes both on the Sixth Great Lake as well as on hundreds of lakes and ponds and rivers inland in the two tranquil counties—Clinton and Essex.

Some of the finest fishing in the northeast is found for bass, walleyes, sauger, northern pike, bullheads, catfish, yellow perch, smelt and other panfish.

Since 1973, lake trout fishing has become some of the best in the northeast. Lakers from 5-15 pounds have been taken. Landlocked salmon are common in the 2-5 pound size with some growing to 13 pounds in spite of the lampreys. Angling for brown trout and steelheads improves each year.

Where to fish on Champlain

Warm water fishing extends from the Canadian border to north of Grand Island and resumes again below Port Henry. Bass, northern pike, catfish and panfish are abundant in these sections of the lake. You might even sip a soda or something stronger and see "Champ."

Cold water species are confined to the deeper portions of the lake. In mid-summer the lake trout fishing is generally concentrated in the area from Westport north to Valcour Island, with most fishing activity in the Willsboro area.

Landlocked salmon are more widely scattered throughout the lake than are the lakers, but normally are found in the same general areas. April, May and September, October salmon are found concentrated off the mouths of rivers like the Saranac, the Ausable and the Boquet. The narrows from north of Westport to Essex is considered a hotspot for salmon throughout the open water season.

When to fish & how to find a site

Boat launch sites can be found at most towns on the New York shore—almost a dozen in number. You'll generally find open water fishing from ice-out to freeze for at least one or more species of trout and/or salmon. In spring, fall and early winter you'll find fish on the surface. From June through late September trout and salmon are down in the deeper waters, so downriggers or wire lines are required to reach them.

To get here

Lake Champlain is paralleled by the Adirondack Northway (Interstate Route 87) but the lake shore can be seen most of the way south by travelling along Routes 9 and 22. Some scenic roads approach even closer to the lake—so follow its shoreline. Easy access to such fishing communities as Ticonderoga, Crown Point, Port Henry, Westport, Willsboro, Port Douglas, Plattsburgh, Rouses Point and Chazy is available. Also along the way are gas stations, motels, restaurants, marinas and tackle shops.

Fishing licenses

New York State's license year runs from October 1 through September 30. License fees are:

Resident fishing	$9.50
Non-Resident Fishing	$20.50
7-Day Fishing (non-resident)	$12.50
3-Day Fishing (resident)	$3.50
3-Day Fishing (non-resident)	$6.50

Species	Open season	Minimum length	Daily limit
Trout
Lake Trout	All year	15"	5
Landlocked salmon	15"		3

A New York State fishing license permits fishing only in New York waters. A Vermont license is required to fish Vermont waters. The New York-Vermont line is roughly mid-lake.

For up-to-date information, call the fishing hotlines in Warrensburg (518-532-3682) or Ray Brook (518-891-5413) 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Local bait and tackle shops located along the lake can also provide helpful information.

Chazy Lake. Central Clinton County on Route 374. This body of water is almost identical in length, width and depth to its northern neighbor on Route 374 except it is shallower by 8 feet. The species present are the same except small mouth bass replace the brown trout. This is considered good small mouth bass water. Boats are available and tourists can be put up nearby. Taylor Pond. S.W. corner of Clinton County.

Taylor is considered a primitive location. The campsite has a limited, regulated permit system. Species include lake trout (large), rainbow trout, landlocked salmon and smelt. Maximum depth is 95 feet. Shoreline length is 8.3 miles. No charge is made for launching a boat. Campers are charged $6.50 per night. Rainbow trout are abundant here.

Paradox Lake. Located on Route 73 at end of Severance village. S.E. Essex County.

Length is 4 miles x .75 miles and 52 foot depth. Species is lake trout and small mouth bass on the dropoffs, with occasional landlocked salmon, plus large mouth bass and northern pike in the shallower waters. Lake Herring (dwarf form) are forage. Lower lake (West Lobe) abundant small bath bass waters—drop offs. The name "Paradox" is supposedly an Indian expression for "water flows backwards," meaning when the Schroon River is backed up temporarily. Note: A painter named Art Lyall paints outdoor scenes inside of bottles—an unknown craft (reportedly). Worth seeing. Studio on Route 9 north.

Schroon Lake. Southern Essex & Northern Warren Counties. Along Route 9.

This 152 foot lake is 9 miles x 1½ miles. Species present include lake trout, small mouth and large mouth bass, landlocked salmon, northern pike smelt, bullheads and panfish. Boats, state campsite & dock available.

Lake Placid. Northwestern Essex County on Route #86.

Like Taylor Pond, Lake Placid has produced "monster" lake trout. It is 150 foot deep and offers fine mid-summer rainbow trout fishing, a brook trout once in awhile, plenth of bass action to keep an angler happy and some respectable-sized northern pike. State launch site, motels and boats available. Ten other lakes and numerous remote ponds abound in the area.

Splake, a hybrid speckled and lake trout and sambrowns a hybrid landlocked and salmon and brown trout are found in Connery Pond—not far distant.

Port Douglas Beach

The crossroads of North Country commerce formerly met in the Village of Keeseville in the Town of Chesterfield. The days of bustling mills and three movie theatres may be a thing of the past, but the civic pride and Victorian architecture are still very much present.

Keeseville, which straddles two North Country counties, Clinton and Essex, is currently in the midst of a revitalization program that has as its goal a restoration of the storied past of the village. Over 200 building permits are currently being acted upon in Keeseville, with more sure to come in the near future. When completed, visitors will see a Keeseville not unlike the 19th century village that routinely hosted the rich and famous as a matter of course.

In the meantime, there is more than plenty to see and do in and around Keeseville. A quick trip down the Adirondack Northway and a stop off at Exit 34 brings some of the best of North Country tourism to even the most casual visitor.

Surrounded by the majestic Adirondack beauty of Baldface and Pok-O-Moonshine mountains and the Trembleau range peaks, Keeseville is a sportsman paradise. The AuSable River dissects the village and has become, thanks to a massive fish-stocking program under the aegis of the local chamber of commerce, one of the best trout fishing grounds in New York State. The Town of Chesterfield Fish and Game Club adds to the outdoor excitement with a yearly fishing derby, featuring cash prizes in a myriad of categories.

If browsing is your fancy, tour scenic AuSable Chasm, just north of the village on U.S. Route 9. Time and the inexorable rush of water have cut away the walls of the Chasm to create unique stone faces in the eons old rock. AuSable Chasm is the oldest tourist attraction in the United States and is world renowned. The chasm tour operates daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Until 4 p.m. in the spring and fall) and covers 1½ miles of the AuSable River canyon. For the rate of admission, one can take the walking tour, the boat ride and a bus which returns to the main building for a breathtaking view of Rainbow Falls, next to the visitor center. In the center itself are a wide range of souvenirs and summer craft shows by local artisans.

If you like to swim, Port Douglas and Port Kent offer beautiful sandy beaches and a fresh, invigorating dip in Lake Champlain, the largest fresh water lake in the nation. Fishing is also de rigueur on the lake.

But Port Kents and Douglas are not only beaches. Port Douglas has a new picnic area, complete with boat-launching facilities and a bath house. Port Kent also features gorgeous and unique turn-of-the-century architecture, the lake, and a nine-hole golf course, both remnants of the summer resort area it once was and aspires to be again.

Also at Port Kent is a car or foot ferry, making Burlington, Vt. and the Old World beauty of New England a scant 45 minute boat ride across the lake.

If you're looking for a place to stay, the lodging accommodations in Keeseville are both varied and plentiful. They range from the AuSable River campsite, AuSable Chasm KOA and Pok-O-Moonshine campgrounds to hotels and motels and bed and breakfast homes. The village itself has good shopping, excellent dining and even a bowling alley! For the curious, a historic walking tour given by the Friends of Keeseville showcases village points of interest, such as the underground railroad station and a Riverside Park view of the double keystone arch bridge, one of the last of its' kind in the country.

Willsboro Wood Products, original maker of the folding Adirondack chair, also builds country cedar furniture. It is all on display at their factory outlet store in Keeseville. Stop in and say hello.

Yes, there is a lot to see and do in Keeseville for both the avid sportsman and work weary vacationer. Plan on staying and enjoying all the village and surrounding area has to offer.

One word comes to mind when thinking of Plattsburgh, N.Y. as a tourist spot. Historic.

The Adirondack Northway may have made Plattsburgh the hub of northern New York State commerce, but it hasn't changed the essential historic flavor of the city.

The Plattsburgh area was the sight of the last foreign war fought on American soil; the War of 1812. British and American frigates and sloops fought tooth and nail on Plattsburgh Bay. If you're a scuba diver, you may still find remnants of the battles at the bottom of Lake Champlain.

In the city itself is a monument to United States Navy Commodore Thomas MacDonough, hero of the Battle of Plattsburgh. A monolith patterned after the Washington Monument sits across from City Hall. A bald eagle keeping a keen eye on the bay for eternity perches at its apex. In the summer months, it's possible to walk to the top of the monument to enjoy a panoramic view of the lake, the city and the surrounding Green Mountains of Vermont and New York's Adirondacks.

MacDonough liked the North Country so much, and Plattsburgh in particular, that he retired to a home on Cumberland Head, across the bay from the city. The history buff will take note that the home has a breathtaking view of the bay and lake on which he made himself famous.

A natural development of industry and commerce occurred along the Saranac River as it emptied into Lake Champlain. A walking tour of the historic Plattsburgh waterfront covers this vital portion of the city. Buildings already on the National Register of Historic Places and those nominated for placement are included. Contact the Chamber of Commerce for more information.

Exits 35-36-37

The history tour doesn't stop with Commodore MacDonough. Less than a half mile from the downtown business district, and near the mouth of where the Saranac River flows into Lake Champlain, is the Kent Delord House. Free tours are held daily of the home that was the headquarters of the British forces during the War of 1812. Once inside, you are transported back in time to the early 19th century. The architecture, furniture and everyday household items of the day are explained in thorough detail by knowledgeable tour guides.

Across the street from the Kent Delord House is a beautifully landscaped park with a scenic view of the lake. In the midst of the greenery is a statue commemorating the discovery of the lake by Samuel de Champlain. For a further, in-depth look at Plattsburgh history, visit the Clinton County Historical Museum in the city.

Plattsburgh is a shopper's paradise. The ever growing city features a clean, well preserved downtown area, easily accessed from the Northway, with dozens of name stores and a plethora of restaurants and mom and pop businesses. It is a charming mix of the old and new.

On the western edge of the city, and just off I-87 Exit 37, is Pyramid Mall. This shopping plaza houses 60 stores and two movie theatres and restaurants, in addition to a bank.

Coming soon across Route 3 from the mall will be Champlain Center. This gargantuan shopping complex will house nearly 100 stores and eight movie screens. It is expected to be open by July of this year.

For the recreation minded, four public campgrounds and beaches are all within a 10 mile drive of the city. At Exit 40 is the new Point Au Roche State Park, complete with campground, beach, picnic area and nature center and trail.

Exit 39E brings one to Cumberland Head Bay State Park, the Crete Memorial Civic Center and Plattsburgh's Municipal Beach, one of the longest inland fresh water beaches in the United States.

Exit 36 takes the outdoors minded to Macomb Reservation State Park, while Exit 35 (Peru) directs the tourist to AuSable Point State Park. Both parks have excellent swimming, fishing, camping, boating and picnicking facilities. While off Exit 36, visit Airborne Park Speedway, home of the NASCAR Northern Circuit every summer weekend.

Back within Plattsburgh's city limits, sportsmen can either lay on the beach and sunbathe, or jump in Lake Champlain to swim and skindive.

Own a boat? The Plattsburgh Marina offers excellent docking facilities from which to launch your craft for a pleasurable day of boating or sailing. Nearby, the M/V Juniper offers daily and evening excursions on the lake. This converted ferry is also used as a floating restaurant and can be rented out for private parties, wedding receptions or any other celebration planned.

The annual Mayor's Cup sailing race is one of the summer's most exciting and colorful diversions, while the Rotary Club, American Lung Association and Lake Champlain International fishing derbies in the upcoming months offer cash prizes up to and over $100,000 that both the professional and amateur angler can vie for. For the fitness fiend, the Champlain Valley Marathon in May attracts serious runners from all over the country.

Plattsburgh is also the home to liberal arts four and two-year colleges, the latter the former Hotel Champlain playground to Presidents and belles of society, and is the site of one of the nation's Strategic Air Command bases. Tours can be arranged of each of these facilities.

Outdoor sports fans may enjoy a round of golf at Bluff Point Country Club, a few miles south of the city on Route 9. The third oldest public golf course in America offers a splendid 18 holes right on Lake Champlain.

Major highways and bus, plane and train service make Plattsburgh and the North Country easily accessible. The Adirondack-Northway connects the city to Montreal to the north and southern New York State, including Albany and New York City, to the south. Brockway Air operates out of Clinton County Airport, west of the city on Route 3, with connections made to all of the region's major cities. Greyhound visits Plattsburgh dozens of times on a daily basis and Amtrak also offers service to the area.
