Post office to close

Clarksville service to shift to Feura Bush, appeals process ongoing

By CHARLES WIFF
wiffc@spotlightnews.com

The Postal Service has slated the Clarksville Post Office for closure, an event that could happen as soon as the end of October.

The USPS noticed the decision on Aug. 23, which triggered a 30-day appeal period. After that, the Postal Regulatory Commission would have 30 days to notify the Postal Service of any appeals that have been filed that would stop or delay the closure.

Should the office be shuttered, service would be transferred to the post office in Feura Bush off of Route 32, which is about five miles away.

The Clarksville Post Office fell under a larger study assessing the hundreds of postal branches in the Albany District, which stretches north to the Canadian border. The decision was made for several reasons, according to Postal Service Spokeswoman Maureen Marion; among them the relatively little business that occurs there.

"The retail window in Clarksville averaged 31 transactions a day, which averaged to be about 31 minutes of work," Marion said. "When you have an office that is staffed for 8 hours a day, 31 minutes is a really difficult thing to balance as appropriate."

That generally indicates there's a lot of stamp sales at the window, Marion continued, a transaction the Postal Service has been endeavoring to make available at locations others than the post office.

The office was also without a

Friends group prepares for 40th anniversary of environmental preserve

By CHARLES WIFF

Shorter days and cooler nights are hearkening not only the changing of the seasons, but a new session of outdoor fun and learning at the Five Rivers Environmental Education Center.

Just as in past years, the start of the fall season will be kicked off with a free festival at the popular nature preserve. Though there will be activities for all ages, the Fall Festival is definitely kid oriented, with plenty of stations and activities to entertain youngsters and teach them a thing or two about the natural world.

A collaborative effort between the Friends of Five Rivers group and the Department of Environmental Conservation, the Fall Festival usually draws over 2,000 visitors to the preserve.

"The festival itself is designed to get families there to actually see the area, to experience some of the things they'll see in an outdoor classroom right there," said Jan Messina of the Friends of Five Rivers.

Returning favorites include eco-crafts, live animals (with experienced animal rehabilitators), juggling, puppet shows, astronomy, a GPS game, fly casting, "The Incredible Journey" of a water droplet, and the "Insect Safari" with trained naturalists. There are also naturalist-led family hikes at regular intervals, featuring geology, botany, and wildlife.

This year's special event will be a treasure hunt leading kids through the event's nature-themed events to a prize.

Service station plans improvements

Also, Wemple Corners review just getting under way

By CHARLES WIFF
wiffc@spotlightnews.com

The developer overhauling a Delaware Avenue gas station is bringing even more ambitious plans to the Town of Bethlehem that include space for a Dunkin Donuts or Subway franchise in a renovated convenience store.

Delmar Holdings LLC and Frank Hessari, the owner of the Valero station on the corner of Delaware Avenue and Elm Avenue, have already been before the town in 2009 and received approval to make a number of upgrades to the site. Only a few parts of those plans have been implemented though, one being the installation of a new sign, and these grander plans are intended to make the location a more useful stop.

"Now Mr. Hessari would like to have a much larger inventory and propose the complete reconstruction of the site plus new additions," said Chris Boyea of Bohler Engineering at a Tuesday, Sept. 6, meeting of the Bethlehem Planning Board.

The station is now in operation and deals

Fine dining in the heart of a village

New culinary team aims to deliver fresh and affordable eats in Altamont

By CHARLES WIFF
wiffc@spotlightnews.com

For the residents of the quaint and quiet Village of Altamont, a night of fine dining or unwinding with a few drinks usually means striking out to a larger neighboring city or town.

But a group of entrepreneurs are looking to bring something entirely different to the village's downtown with a wine bar and bistro. Mio Vino is heading toward a mid- to late-October opening at the corner of Main Street and Maple Avenue, in the space previously inhabited by the Hungerford Market (which has moved to the back of the building).

"We just felt Altamont needed an eatery that was open past 2 o'clock in the afternoon."

— Michael Giorgio

Besides the venerable Home Front Café a few doors down, there are scant dining opportunities in the village. But the team thinks there's an opportunity on the streets of Altamont.

"We have the same business philosophy, and we just felt Altamont needed an eatery that was open past 2 o'clock in the afternoon," said Michael Giorgio, the owner of the building.

But they're not planning on the public showing up for lack of options. In fact, they'll have to draw customers in to be successful.

Chef Evan Sloan is planning a diverse menu that ranges from casual pub foods like burgers, sandwiches and simple dishes like macaroni and cheese priced between $5 and $10, and entrees between $15 and $19. In all things, he's planning to use locally grown, fresh ingredients and make dishes from scratch.

"We might only have six entrees on the menu, but it might change week to week," he said.

The centerpiece of the kitchen will be a wood-fired oven for baking pizzas and other dishes. The restaurant will have seating for around 50 patrons, with some more space at the bar. In addition to stocking a range of wines, selected by a local sommelier, the bar will also have a selection of microbrews.

One thing Mio Vino won't need is a freezer — except a small one for storing homemade ice cream.

The team said setting affordable prices was a goal right out of the gate, especially since pleasing recession-minded palates is a necessity. That's something Sloan said he's keeping in mind as he designs the menu.

"I think people are really getting excited about food now," he said. "If they get a good meal, they'll be happy paying for it."

Giorgio calls the business union "divine intervention," Sloan and his wife of two years, Siobhan Spencer, having just missed out on a nearly sealed deal on a Saratoga Springs restaurant location, and Giorgio and his wife, Emilia, having just lost a chef for the Altamont space. A plumber mentioned the culinary duo to Giorgio, and the rest's history.

Now Sloan and

Spencer, who will be running the front-end operations at Mio Vino, live above the restaurant that's rapidly looking more and more the part. The interior design is to incorporate LED lighting for a modern, polished look, and since part of the building was recently an apartment the dining spaces will be cozy and intimate.

Patrons will also be able to dine on the porch in fair weather. The extensive renovations haven't gone unnoticed in the community, said Spencer.

"The town seems really excited about this. We get a lot of positive feedback," she said.

The owners plan to employ around a dozen workers in full- and part-time positions.

The team behind Mio Vino is shooting for a mid-to late-October opening. For regular updates, find the restaurant on Facebook or Twitter, or look to the pages of The Spotlight.

The old CVS at the corner of Elsmere and Delaware avenues was being torn down Thursday, Sept. 8, to make way for the new home of Community Care Physicians, now inhabiting offices next door. Those offices will also be demolished later down the line once the doctors practicing there have moved into a new structure.

Three-car accident

Three vehicles were involved in a crash that took place at about 2 p.m. Friday, Sept. 9, at the intersection of Route 443 and New Scotland South Road in Unionville in the Town of New Scotland. Three people were injured and transported to area hospitals. The Albany County Sheriff's Department is handling the investigation and charges are pending.

DWI sweep nets 17

Seventeen were arrested on drunk driving charges over the Labor Day weekend, according to figures released Tuesday, Sept. 6, through the Albany County STOP-DWI Program.

Ten municipal agencies and State Police participated in the blanket patrol. Of the drunken driving arrests, two were for aggravated DWI for having a blood alcohol level of above 0.18 percent, and there was also one arrest made for DWAI-drugs.

In the 589 traffic stops made during the sweep, police also discovered 15 designated drivers and 11 instances of aggravated unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle. The average BAC for those arrested on drunken driving charges was 0.14 percent.

The Labor Day sweep was the 91st countywide blanket patrol in the STOP-DWI Program's history.

Slingerlands crash

A driver lost control of his vehicle as he rounded the curve near Bridge Street on New Scotland Road near the Slingerlands Fire Department the afternoon of Tuesday, Sept. 6. The vehicle went off the road into two garbage containers, sending trash all over the road, before rolling over and crashing into a tree. Albany County Paramedics treated both passengers at the scene, but they declined to go to the hospital. Charges may be pending.

Other arrests

Bethlehem police on Saturday, Aug. 27, arrested Carlos Carden, 28, of 961 Maple Avenue, Schenectady, and charged him with felony DWAI-drugs, DWI and aggravated unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle.

Police pulled up to Carden's 2005 Honda Civic at about 12:54 a.m. as it was stopped at the Monroe service station at 454 Route 9W in Glenmont, according to arrest reports. Carden was unable to produce identification or registration and said he was heading from his father's house in Poughkeepsie back to Schenectady, police said.

Carden had glassy eyes and appeared impaired, and failed sobriety tests, police said. His passenger said she was taking Vicodin but didn't know what Carden was on. Carden was placed under arrest but allegedly refused to submit to having a blood sample drawn for tests. He allegedly became belligerent at the police Carden was remanded to the Albany County jail without bail, and a preliminary hearing was scheduled for Aug. 31.

Bethlehem police on Saturday, Aug. 27, arrested Anthony James Seliga, 51, of West Cossackie, and charged him with DWI, operating a vehicle with suspended registration, aggravated unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle, an article 7 registration violation, failure to surrender plates, operating a vehicle without insurance, unlicensed operation of a motor vehicle, failure to signal a turn, making an improper turn and possession of marijuana.

Police pulled over Seliga's 2005 Kia Sedona on Feura Bush Road in Glenmont at about 1:42 p.m. after a license plate reader alerted police the car's insurance was suspended. When interviewed, he allegedly had the odor of alcohol on his breath and appeared intoxicated. Seliga allegedly said he'd drank two beers after work at 10 a.m. and failed sobriety tests. After being taken into custody, police allegedly found a baggie containing 3.52 grams of marijuana in his pocket and a pipe with marijuana residue on it in the car.

A breathalyzer test at the police station allegedly showed Seliga's BAC to be 0.17 percent. He was scheduled to appear in court on Sept. 20 and released.

Selkirk senior charged with arson

Bethlehem police on Friday, Sept. 2, arrested Catherine L. Stalker, 70, of 16 Hoffman St., Selkirk, and charged her with arson in the third degree and reckless endangerment in the first degree, both felonies.

Police say a 911 call was received at just before 10 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 31, reporting a fire at Stalker's residence. She told police she'd been asleep in the living room and awoke to a "pop" noise and the smell of gas, according to arrest reports, and rose to find the house on fire. She drove next door to call 911, police said.

Matters of Opinion in The Spotlight

Post office closures hard, but necessary, decisions

Throughout the Capital District, numerous rural — and some not-so-rural — post offices are facing closure.

One such office is the Clarksville Post Office, which could be closed as soon as the end of October. This may seem doubly hard to the people of Clarksville, who experienced the closure of Clarksville Elementary School earlier this year.

Editorial

We at The Spotlight can understand the chorus of disapproval that comes when a community's post office is on the chopping block, but as we've said of school closures, bricks and mortar do not memories make. A community is sold short when its members think its identity resides in its buildings and not themselves.

It's a tough decision to make, but the numbers make sense. It's not as though Clarksville is an underserved area for postal service. It's done business without a postmaster for the past 18 months and a single employee is able to carry the branch's workload.

From Charles Wiff's story on page one: "The retail window in Clarksville averaged 31 transactions a day, which averaged to be about 31 minutes of work," Postal Service Spokeswoman Maureen Marion told Wiff. "When you have an office that is staffed for 8 hours a day, 31 minutes is a really difficult thing to balance as appropriate."

Long and short, the Clarksville Post Office meets the criteria for closure. Section 404(b)(2) of title 39, United States Code states, in part, that "The Postal Service, in making a determination whether or not to close or consolidate a post office, shall consider (i) the effect of such closing or consolidation on the community served by such post office; (ii) the effect of such closing or consolidation on employees of the Postal Service employed at such office."

The ramifications of keeping the Clarksville Post Office open at its current volume would be more detrimental than its closure — it's as simple as that, as tough as it may be to see the office shuttered.

Of course, you are free to disagree with us. Send us a letter to that effect at news@spotlightnews.com.

More importantly, if you are served by the Clarksville Post Office and wish to make an appeal, do so to the Postal Regulatory Commission through Sept. 24 by mailing to 901 New York Avenue Northwest, Suite 200, Washington, DC 20268.

The Commission may also be found on the web at prc.gov.

Ready for another adventure abroad

By LIZ PERRY

The writer is Waterford resident.

A year and a half ago, I wrote a three-piece series for The Spotlight's Point of View column about my experiences around the world and back during a Semester at Sea, where I lived and studied on a ship. I got the chance to travel to 11 different countries in the course of four months with 520 other students, and I was lucky enough to share my adventures with you back home.

Now that I have graduated from the University at Albany with a bachelor's degree in anthropology, I am off again for yet another adventure around the world. This time, instead of traveling place to place with others, I am moving on my own to South Korea to teach English for a year.

All the other times I spent abroad, it was only for a week or so at a time in each country. This time, I will be living among the locals, trying my best to learn the language and culture. And even though it's teaching English that got me a job in South Korea, I am hoping to use this experience in my future to help others and rebuild communities that have been destroyed all over the world.

In South Korea I will be living in Incheon, which is the fourth largest city in the country, and only 30 minutes from the capitol, Seoul. The school is a Private Hagwon, with three English teachers and four Korean teachers. Together we will be teaching students between the ages of 5 and 14. I will be focusing on teaching Kindergarten along with a Korean teacher, as well as a couple of night classes for middle schoolers. The school system is very different in South Korea. You are constantly being graded, and if you don't do well in kindergarten then you won't make it into a good public school. And once graduating from grade school, even with good grades in a decent public school, you won't make it into a good middle school and so on. So even from kindergarten, schooling is very important. So important that many students go to a public school during the day, a hagwon in the late afternoon and most of the times even another hagwon at night or a private teaching lesson. Many of the students, even before the age of 14, are attending school from 8 a.m. to 10:30 at night.

Many of the students, even before the age of 14, are attending school from 8 a.m. to 10:30 at night.

Point of View

I'm not too nervous about moving to another country on my own. In fact, I'm not even thinking about it really. When I was accepted into the Semester At Sea program, I didn't think about what it would be like because I didn't want any preconceived expectations. I had never been abroad before so I didn't know what to expect, and in a way I didn't want to know what to expect. I have, however, looked into what not to do in a specific country because the last thing I wanted was to insult another culture. All I wanted to do was just have an open mind when I entered a country, and not compare what life was really like there to what I had Googled or read about previously. The same goes for when I move to South Korea. I had a very short timespan in which to sign the contract. In just a day, I had to make up my mind if I wanted to move there or not.

A day after I signed the contract, I admit I started second-guessing my decision, but after that, I realized that the only reason I wouldn't want to go is because I felt guilty for leaving my family, and I felt too comfortable to leave. I chose to sign that contract because it will help me in my future, and I will gain from my experiences, good and bad.

This will be the hardest year of my 22 years of life so far, but really it's up to me to make it the greatest.

Several post offices in the Capital District are being studied for possible closure as the USPS struggles financially. Many postal customers feel these offices are hubs of the community, while others — and us, see editorial at left — feel post office closure is the type of consolidation the USPS needs to exercise in order to stay competitive as a business.

Your Opinion in The Spotlight

Ben's Bridge is a vital link

Editor, The Spotlight:

In light of tropical storm, Irene, and its damaging effects on South Bethlehem and Feura Bush, it seems prudent to revisit the closing and planned demolition of the Jericho Road Bridge, more commonly known as Ben's Bridge.

Rain swollen creeks closed bridges in South Bethlehem and fallen trees took care of the rest of the roadways. The area was stranded and isolated. If Ben's Bridge, over the CSX rail yard, was still open, there would have one access point allowing both residents and emergency services into the area.

This emergency situation points out the need for Ben's Bridge to be refurbished and remain open. I have written to the Commissioner of Public Work for Albany County to reevaluate the decision to close and take down the bridge. Copies of my letter have been sent to our local, state and federal officials asking them to put their efforts into retaining this vital connecting link for the residents of South Bethlehem.

Help Bethlehem Cares walk for a cure

Editor, The Spotlight:

Seven local merchants are selling paper sneakers for only $1 each to benefit diabetes research. This great sneaker sale is part of the effort of our townwide team, Bethlehem Cares, that will participate in the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation's Walk to Cure Diabetes on Sept. 25th at Corporate Woods in Albany.

Bethlehem Cares would like to thank these businesses for supporting our quest to cure diabetes by selling paper sneakers for us: Ravena Shop'n

Save in Ravena; Delmar Marketplace, Delmar Beverage Center and A Perfect Blend, all in Delmar; VanAllen Farms and Glenmont Discount Beverage Center, both in Glenmont; and Gold Coin Restaurant in Slingerlands.

The next time that you visit one of these businesses, please consider making a $1 donation. You won't just be buying a paper sneaker. You'll be buying hope for a lot of people that a cure will be found for diabetes and its complications.

If you would like more information on participating in the Walk to Cure Diabetes, call Bethlehem Cares at 439-6894.

If you can't participate but would like to make a donation to support diabetes research, you can mail your check (payable to Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation) to Bethlehem Cares at 65 Boylston Drive, Delmar, NY 12054.

Thank you!

Thanks for providing poets a place

Editor, The Spotlight:

Thank you for supporting the monthly poetry column, along with the Hudson Valley Writers Guild.

I received an honorarium from the HVWG, and of course, you have provided the valuable space for the column. It's always wonderful to have income from my work since that's the way of the world even though poets seem to be excluded from certain near universal laws.

More importantly, I am extremely pleased with the presentation of my poem. The comments at the end are astute, or so it seems to me, since they gave me a whole new view of the meaning of my poem, "Moose Love," something I never thought of before.

Also, this response to the poem made me realize that it will fit nicely into a manuscript I'm now working on; hopefully my next published book.

Underground Railroad talk planned

Paul Stewart will present a slide show and talk about the Albany area's abolitionists and freedom seekers at the library this Friday, Sept. 16, at 1 p.m.

Stewart and his wife, Mary Liz, are cofounders of the Underground Railroad History Project of the Capital Region, Inc., a public history organization dedicated to the preservation of Underground Railroad history in this area.

In 2006 the couple was given the Historic Albany Foundation's Sense of Place Award. In 2008 they were awarded the Underground Railroad Free Press Prize for their restoration work on the historic Stephen and Harriet Myers residence on Livingston Avenue in Albany—a known Underground Railroad headquarters.

The Stewarts have organized conferences, led walking tours in Albany and Troy, published articles and educational materials, and raised funds for preservation work. They also founded UGR Players, a community theater company featuring local Underground Railroad history in staged productions. In 2009 they were appointed scholars-in-residence at Russell Sage College.

This program is supported by Bethlehem Senior Projects, Inc.

RCS COMMUNITY LIBRARY

The days are getting cooler and soon the leaves will begin to change. It's a perfect time of year for a day trip. With a library pass, your admission to five popular Capital District area destinations is free.

Take the family on a tour of the USS Slater on the Hudson River in Downtown Albany. On another day, think about a trip to Historic Cherry Hill for the Restoration Tour or the Architecture Hunt for families. Gardeners may like to spend an afternoon planning for next year's gardens at the Berkshire Botanical Gardens in Stockbridge, Massachusetts. Don't miss the tree houses in the gardens! The Schenectady Museum and suits-bueche Planetarium is the perfect destination for a less than perfect weather day. A little longer drive, but always worth it, is The Clark Art Institute, in Williamstown, MA. This year the Clark offers a special exhibit of the works of Impressionist painter Camille Pissarro through Oct. 2. Catch it while you can!

The museum pass program at the RCS Community Library is exclusively for adult borrowers who are residents of the library's service area. Each pass can be checked out for one week, no renewals. Availability is first come, first served, no reserves.

Story times for kids

School is back in session and library story times have resumed, too. Choose the story time that fits your child and your schedule and join us!

POSITIVELY PRESCHOOL returns to its regular 10:30 am time on Thursday mornings at the Library with Miss Kathy Domery. Bring your preschoolers for a story and related craft, lots of smiles and a chance to meet new friends.

ROMP AND READ offers stories, songs and games for the toddler set. Meet Miss Kathy Meyer in Selkirk on Tuesday mornings at 10 am at the Selkirk Firehouse on Route 396, east of Route 9W. Romp

Library to hold dress drive, movie day

Fairy godmothers wanted! The library, in partnership with the Cinderella Project of the Capital District, is hosting a dress drive and movie day on Sunday, Sept. 25, at 1:30 p.m.

We are collecting dresses and accessories appropriate for wearing to a high school formal or prom. The donation of new or gently-used formal dresses or accessories enables young women to attend formal school events by alleviating associated financial burdens. For more information go to www.cinderellaproject.net or call the library at 765-2791.

Cemetery tour

Join us on Oct. 2 at 1:30 for a fascinating look at Albany's connections to the Civil War as we tour the Albany Rural Cemetery with local historian Mark Bodnar. Mark will introduce statesmen, businessmen, authors and soldiers, from privates to generals. The two-hour tour starts at the cemetery chapel, where we board the Albany Aqua Ducks Trolley. Call the library to register. Trolley tickets are $20 for Friends' members and $25 for non-members. This program is sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

Storytimes resume

Regular storytimes resume on Tuesday, Sept. 20, at 10:15 a.m.

Our theme-based early literacy programs are multiage level. You may choose whatever day is most convenient for you. Art activities are also a part of the program.

Sharpen your skills at photo forum

You know how to take a large digital photo and make it smaller, but what if you want to do the opposite? You've tried it, and seen the (often unsatisfactory) results. At the Thursday, Sept. 15, Digital Photo Forum, that starts at 7 p.m. and is open to all, you'll learn how to use freeware called SmillaEnlarger. One review of this program had nothing but good things to say about it: "Reducing a picture is quite easy, but what if you want to make it larger? You'll probably end up with a mixture of colored pixels that hardly resemble the original image. Fortunately you can

GUILDERLAND PUBLIC LIBRARY

now use SmillaEnlarger, a very simple tool that enlarges images while keeping quality loss at a minimum. How does it manage to do that? Easy: by apply a quick resizing algorithm - created by the developer - that smoothes and de-noises the original image."

Sept.'s photo-sharing theme is ARCHITECTURE, so bring images of whatever you like that features something from the 'built' environment.

Storytime registration

Registration for Baby Bounce (ages 6 to 18 months), Fall Toddler Time (ages 19 to 36 months), and Registered Preschool Storytimes (ages 3 1/2 to 5) is now open to all. Register in person at the Youth Services desk, or by phone at 456-2400 x 9.

Apple festival

Look for the Guilderland Public Library's booth when you visit the Apple Festival, at the Altamont fairgrounds, on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 17 and 18. We have lots of fun stuff for you to browse.

Learn all about Medicare and your choices

Town of Guilderland SENIOR CALENDAR

This is the time of the year that you can change your Medicare coverage. It is very important that you make sure your drug coverage is working for you. Call the Senior Center to make an appointment for any Tuesday in October to have a trained counselor review your medications and your drug coverage. Bring all your medications with you (the prescription bottles). A trained counselor will verify in the Medicare system that your drug insurance will cover your drugs.

If the coverage you currently have will not work for you in January, we will try to find one that does. This service is provided to you by Albany County Department for Aging and Senior Services of Albany.

Will you soon be 65, or are you already enrolled in Medicare but still have questions about your coverage options? There are Medicare counselors trained to help you understand your choices and options. Attend a presentation designed to provide you with an understanding of Medicare and the choices available to you on Thursday, Oct. 20, from 10:30 a.m. to noon in the Town Hall Boardroom.

Thinking about changing your current Medicare coverage? This is a great time to get a better understanding of the whole picture. The enrollment change period will begin in October and end early in December.

Having trouble paying your Medicare premium or related medical expenses? Find out if you may qualify for Federal assistance with your medical expenses.

You're almost 65? Come learn about how Medicare works. You'll probably be surprised by the number of choices available to you and all the factors that you should consider when making your choices.

teaching. An excellent academic program means our students are prepared to be leaders in helping make the world a better place."

The full-scrabble time is 1 p.m. The registration fee of $100 for a single golfer or $400 for a foursome includes the greens fee for 18 holes of golf at Normanside Country Club, a cart and dinner. ## Cancer walk deemed a success

About 400 walkers made their way about Bethlehem's Elm Avenue Park on Sunday, Sept. 11, in the 8th Annual Albany Capital District Walk for Hope to battle pancreatic cancer. With partial fundraising totals in, it's expected that the event will at least meet the $100,000 that was raised last year for the Lustgarten Foundation. The event also included a moment of silence to recognize the anniversary of the 9/11 attacks. "It went amazingly," said organizer Shari Piper. "We had a wonderful, wonderful committee that was at the park at 6:30 in the morning setting things up, and their hard work paid off." Donations are still being accepted at albanypercwalk.org.

Pine Hollow Arboretum hosts concert to benefit Irene victims

By CHARLES WIFF
wiffc@spotlightnews.com

John Abbuhl knows his trees.

Walking through the forest near his Slingerlands home, he points them out one by one. An umbrella magnolia doesn't escape his gaze, nor does a great fir reaching into the sky or small ferns lining the ground. He calls them out by common and scientific name.

Perhaps what's more impressive than Abbuhl's encyclopedic knowledge is that he's responsible for much of the varied and beautiful landscape at his doorstep, having planted more than 3,200 trees there over the decades. He also welcomes the public to enjoy the dozens of unique species from all over the world.

Abbuhl is the founder of the Pine Hollow Arboretum, 25 acres of ponds, nature trails and a remarkable bounty of flora. It's a little-known treasure sitting off of Maple Avenue, not far from the bustling Price Chopper plaza, though it's doubtful you'd know it sitting next to a serene, sun-splashed koi pond.

The Arboretum has been growing since Abbuhl bought his home in 1966 while he was working as a pediatrician. It grew and grew as a hobby, and now it exists as a nonprofit entity. He's hoping the community will avail itself of this resource.

"As a growing organization, we need to increase our membership, make ourselves more visible, to make the community understand whatever our worth is," Abbuhl said.

The Arboretum is hosting a unique musical evening in hopes of doing just that. On Sunday, Sept. 25, it will host the Duo Marchand, playing Renaissance-period music with a natural theme.

The event had originally been planned as a fundraiser for the Arboretum's operations, but after Tropical Storm Irene devastated parts of the Capital District, the decision was made to shift the focus and donate the proceeds to relief efforts.

"It's the right thing to do," said Abbuhl. "We suffered very little ourselves here from this whole event, in contrast to what's gone on around us."

The Duo Marchand, consisting of Andrew Rutherford and Marcia Young, has performed in places like the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the New York Botanical Garden and the Yale Collections of Musical Instruments. Rutherford, a resident of West Sand Lake, plays the lute, and Young provides harp music and lends her voice to their repertoire of 17th-century music.

For the Arboretum's event, the Duo Marchand will be playing a selection of nature-related songs in a program entitled "Tis Nature's Voice." There's quite a few such tunes from the Renaissance time period because it was quite common for love songs and poems to have a natural element, said Rutherford.

"We've been playing

He's made more than 3,200 plantings in the preserve, which today has species from all over the globe for the public's enjoyment and enrichment. (From Page 17) this sort of music from the 17th century and earlier since about 1995 or so," he said.

The show is one of the few places you'll be able to see a musician proficient on the lute, as well. The instrument went out of style in the mid-18th century. When Rutherford got interested in it, he ended up taking violin-making classes so he could construct his own because it's difficult to find one.

"The chronology [for lute players] is you start out playing electric guitar, then you work your way backwards," he quipped.

Now, Rutherford works part of the time as a luthier, making lutes and other instruments. Young is a music teacher in New York City.

In addition to the musical performance, the Arboretum will be hosting works of art this fall at its educational center at 16 Maple Avenue. The show will open on Saturday, Sept. 17, with an event from 2 to 5 p.m., and work from 25 local artists will be on display through October. Though the Arboretum is open to visitors free of charge during the daytime hours, the center is not always staffed.

"Our desire is to make that building be open as much as possible, but the limitation is the volunteers we have to keep that building manned," Abbuhl said.

The Arboretum will be open for a tour from 1 to 3 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 24, the day before the concert with Duo Marchand.

The concert will be held on Sunday, Sept. 25, at Slingerlands Methodist Church, 1499 New Scotland Road, from 4 to 5 p.m. A reception will follow from 5 to 6:30 p.m. A $20 donation is asked. To RSVP or for more details, call 439-6472.

Two wheels to Tanzania

Delmar man organizing bike collection for overseas aid

By CHARLES WIFF
wiffc@spotlightnews.com

What for most Americans is a playful diversion, source of exercise or even an alternative mode of transportation could be for another person on the other side of the globe a link to a better life.

Delmar resident Charlie Hughes is hoping to provide that link to people in the African nation of Tanzania by gathering bicycles at a collection drive on Saturday, Sept. 17.

Every year, as the fall turns into winter, bicycles are wheeled into basements, propped up in garages or lifted into attics. Some of them will never come out.

"After a while they get put outside, and they get put in the trash. And we could really use these bikes," Hughes said.

By "we," he means Pedals for Progress, a nonprofit based in New Jersey that sends bicycles all over the world to developing countries in Africa, Eastern Europe and South America, where they can make a big difference.

In these parts of the world, motorized transportation can be scarce or prohibitively expensive, and much of the population gets around on foot. Bicycles can open up a new world of opportunities.

"The people in rural countries and poor places, they don't even have roads. And in places where they do have roads, only the very wealthy can afford cars," said Pedals for Progress' Beverly Merchant. "It increases their family income immediately one way or another. They can get to their jobs, kids can use them to go to school ... and a lot of the bikes become jobs."

Bikes are used to haul trash, taxi people around and to haul food or other goods to market for sale.

Altogether, Pedals for Progress has collected and distributed over 130,000 bicycles in its 20-year history. The shipment of 500 bikes to Children in Vinh Long province in Vietnam with bicycles provided by the Pedals for Progress foundation. The group collects bikes to send overseas to poor and rural areas, where they can make a big difference. Charlie Hughes, a Delmar resident, is organizing a local drive to be held Saturday, Sept. 17.

Submitted photo

Tanzania that the Albany drive will be a part of will be the group's first to that country.

The bikes aren't actually given away to people. They have to purchase them from the local agency distributing the bike at market price.

This serves not only to stimulate the local economy but strengthen the groups Pedals for Progress works with, said Merchant. For example, the Tanzanian shipment will be given to the distributing agency (the Unity in Diversity Foundation), but after selling the bikes and keeping good records, that group should be able to pay shipping costs on at least a portion of the next shipment, and so on.

"People who have to pay for a bike value it a lot more," Merchant added.

In some instances, the sale of the bikes has allowed overseas groups to branch out into other projects like water purification.

Hughes was involved in a Pedals for Progress drive when he lived in New Jersey, where the group is headquartered. Now a resident of Delmar, he's taking up the cause at St. Vincent in Albany. Members of the parish and others are volunteering to work the drive and get the bicycles ready to be shipped.

Donated bikes should be in working or repairable condition. Tricycles won't be accepted, nor will bikes that are in very poor condition.

"We don't mind a little rust on the handlebars, but we don't want any rusted frames. They just can't be used," Hughes said.

Bicycle donors are also asked to make at least a $10 donation toward the cost of shipping the bike overseas. The cost to get a bike to Tanzania is actually about $40. Both the value of the bike and the transportation donation are tax deductible, and staff at the collection will give donors a receipt on the spot.

The collection will take place at the St. Vincent de Paul Parish Center, 984 Madison Ave. in Albany (across the street from the College of St. Rose) from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 17, rain or shine.

Rockmore receives Fulbright scholarship

Electrical crews working to restore power in the aftermath of Tropical Storm Irene left the Bronchetti family with a unique monument: "Irene's Chair." The workers who showed up in the Slignerlands neighborhood had traveled all the way from Wisconsin, said Anne Bronchetti, and after removing a tree close to a new utility pole they fashioned the stump into a perch. Ryan T. Rockmore of Delmar has been awarded a Fulbright U.S. Student Program scholarship to Spain in Dance, the United States Department of State and the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board announced recently.

Rockmore, a New York University student, is one of over 1,600 U.S. citizens who will travel abroad for the 2011-2012 academic year through the Fulbright U.S. Student Program.

The Fulbright Program is the flagship international educational exchange program sponsored by the U.S. government and is designed to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries. The primary source of funding for the Fulbright Program is an annual appropriation made by the U.S. Congress to the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs.

Participating governments and host institutions, corporations and foundations in foreign countries and in the United States also provide direct and indirect support. Recipients of Fulbright grants are selected on the basis of academic or professional achievement, as well as demonstrated leadership potential in their fields. The program operates in over 155 countries worldwide.

Since its establishment in 1946 under legislation introduced by the late U.S. Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, the Fulbright Program has given approximately 300,000 students, scholars, teachers, artists, and scientists the opportunity to study, teach and conduct research, exchange ideas and contribute to finding solutions to shared international concerns.

Fulbright alumni have achieved distinction in government, science, the arts, business, philanthropy, education, and athletics. Forty Fulbright alumni from 11 countries have been awarded the Nobel Prize, and 75 alumni have received Pulitzer Prizes. Prominent Fulbright alumni include: Muhammad Yunus, managing director and founder, Grameen Bank, and 2006 Nobel Peace Prize recipient; John Atta Mills, president of Ghana; Lee Evans, Olympic gold medalist; Ruth Simmons, president, Brown University; Riccardo Giacconi, physicist and 2002 Nobel Laureate; Amar Gopal Bose, chairman and founder, Bose Corporation; Renee Fleming, soprano; Gish Jen, writer; and Daniel Libeskind, architect.

Back to the grind

Despite delays from heavy rains, students in the Bethlehem Central School District headed to class Thursday, Sept. 8, on the first day of school. In the Ravena-Coeymans-Selkirk Central School District, schools were closed as roads remained closed and residents contended with another round of flooding brought on by a day of pouring rain.

Town to collect electronics

The Town of Bethlehem's fall electronics collection event will be held at the Highway Garage, 74 Elm Ave. East, Selkirk on Friday, Sept. 23, between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 24, from 8 a.m. to noon. Residents and town businesses may participate free, but businesses are required to pre-register.

The NYS Electronic Equipment Recycling and Reuse Act, which went into effect April 1, requires manufacturers of covered electronic equipment to pay for the collection, handling, and recycling or reuse of electronic waste, or "e-waste."

E-waste covered by the new law includes computers, televisions, computer peripherals and small electronic equipment (VCRs, digital video recorders, portable digital music players, DVD Players, digital converter boxes, cable or satellite receivers, and electronic or video game consoles).

"I receive a growing number of calls about recycling electronics, and people have more options for dealing with their outdated equipment than ever before," said Dan Rain, Bethlehem's recycling coordinator. "Free electronics recycling is now ongoing throughout the year at the Town's Rupert Road Transfer Station, and we're holding a collection event next week."

"I'm proud of our community for their efforts to protect the environment by recycling electronics and other hazardous materials," stated Town Supervisor Sam Messina.

The vendor for this event is Regional Computer Recycling and Recovery based in Victor.

A solemn ceremony

For the love of flutes

By JACQUELINE M. DOMIN
dominj@spotlightnews.com

Local club gives the instrument and its players a chance to shine

This is how much Beth Devlin loves the flute.

When she was a kid, she'd always pester her older sister for a chance to play her flute.

When she was old enough to play an instrument herself and was told she'd have to play the clarinet because too many kids had signed up for flute, the normally reserved Devlin was so upset that her parents went to school and insisted she be given a chance to play the flute.

When she hears a song, she gets a kick out of identifying all the different instruments, but she's most intent on listening for the flute.

So when Devlin heard about a new group called the Capital Area Flute Club back in 1997, she wasted no time getting involved. Devlin has been part of the club since its second meeting, giving her a chance to mingle and make music with others who have a special affection for the flute.

"When I first went, I really liked it," she said. "It's a different experience (than a band). It's more intimate. It's a lot of fun."

The club has 15 to 20 active members and it's always looking for more. Flute players from across the Capital Region are invited to an open house Saturday, Sept. 17, from 1 to 4 p.m. at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Delmar.

Members of the Capital Area Flute Club give a concert at a local nursing home each year, including this March performance at the Eddy.

Haven't played your flute in a while? Don't let that discourage you from dropping by.

"A lot of people are held back by their fear," Devlin said. "They think they can't do it. I would love to encourage them to just give it a try."

Carol Drake, another longtime member, stressed that the group is "low pressure." Meetings are held once a month, with performances throughout the year at venues like a local nursing home, the Hudson Winter Walk or the Troy Victorian Stroll.

"We try to have a polished product, but we're not cutthroat," Drake said. "It's a nice atmosphere. We try to keep it so friendly. There are no divas."

Drake teaches music in the Burnt Hills-Ballston Lake school district, so over the years, she's learned to play a number of instruments. But the flute is her strongest instrument, and when she heard about the club, she liked the idea of getting a chance to perform.

"As a music teacher, I don't play much," she said. "I was looking to play my flute, really play it."

Sure, she could have joined a local band or orchestra. But those don't let the flute shine in quite the same way. Songs feature long rests, "places you aren't playing at all," she said.

The club's music, on the other hand, is tailored to flutes.

"I found it much more engaging," Drake said.

She also enjoyed the camaraderie among the members. "We have a unity in what we're looking for," she said. "It's a social thing, a good time."

There are annual dues to belong to the group: $25 for adults and $10 for those 12 and younger. Drake said the dues help fund the group's "extensive library," from which musical selections are drawn.

Debbie Russell said she's made several friends through the group, which has been as much of a treat as getting to play music written specifically with flutes in mind.

"Music should be fun," she said. "That's what it should be about."

Russell has older siblings and remembers going to one's concert when she was younger. She saw a girl playing the flute and knew she wanted to play it, too. She even went to school for music, studying to be a teacher at Crane School of Music in Potsdam, although her career took a different path.

"I am a musician," she said. "It's part of me and always will be."

She joined the flute club about four years ago, in February. Fall is a popular time for new members to come aboard, marking the beginning of a new year for the club. Drake said the club draws from all over, with members hailing from Nassau, Saugerties, Clifton Park and Amsterdam. Though it meets in Delmar because that's a central location, Drake said with a laugh that she thinks only one member actually lives in Delmar.

Like Devlin, she said she hoped people would check out the club and its open house even if their flutes have been collecting dust for a while.

"Don't worry about your skills," she said, noting that if people regularly attend the meetings, their skills are bound to get sharper anyway.

"We enjoy making good music, but we enjoy the journey more," Drake said.

The open house is free, and refreshments will be served. For more information on the Capital Area Flute Club, visit its Facebook page.

Call out for cat's family

A female kitten was found near SUNY Albany a night or two before Tropical Storm Irene swept through the area (on Sunday, Aug. 28). She's gray with white on her chest, is about one year old and is spayed, according to a veterinarian. Marcia Scott has taken possession the kitten from a friend who found her but couldn't take care of a cat, and she's hoping pet and owner can be reunited soon. "She's very friendly. The vet at Guilderland Animal Hospital said it was definitely somebody's pet," Scott said. The kitten was found on Clermont Street between Hawkins Street and Melrose Avenue. Rosemont Park is a block away. Anyone who has information about the kitten is urged to call Scott at 334-3195.

Blotter

• Bethlehem police on Sunday, Aug. 28, arrested Joseph W. Lake, 26, of 10 Rotterdam Drive, Glenmont, and charged him with DWI, refusing a breathalyzer test, moving from his lane unsafely, driving with no headlights and unlawful possession of marijuana.

Police responded to a two-car accident on Route 9W in Glenmont at about 3:37 a.m. Lake said he was heading home from downtown in his 2012 Hyundai sedan when he struck another car. Police said he was stumbling and had the odor of alcohol on his breath.

Lake allegedly refused to take a breathalyzer test and was taken into custody. Police said he had 1 gram of marijuana in his pocket and a marijuana "roach" was allegedly found in the car.

He was scheduled to appear in court on Sept. 6 and released.

• Bethlehem police on Saturday, Aug. 20, arrested Kim Y. French, 50, of 117 Morris Street, Albany, and charged her with petit larceny and possession of a hypodermic needle.

Police were called to Wal-Mart on Route 9W in Glenmont for a shoplifting report, and apprehended French getting on a CDTA bus, according to arrest reports. She was allegedly stealing two Panasonic cordless phone sets and a Blu-Ray player, and police said she had a needle containing heroin residue on her person.

• Bethlehem police on Monday, Sept. 5, arrested Allen R. Bace, 29, of 91 Elizabeth Street No. 2, Albany, and charged him with DWAI-drugs, having non-transparent side windows and having no headlights on in inclement weather.

Police stopped Bace's 1994 Honda Accord at about 5:43 p.m. on River Road in Glenmont for the above violations. Police noticed the odor of marijuana coming from the car and Bace told them he had smoked in the car a few hours earlier, according to arrest reports. He allegedly failed sobriety tests.

Bace had a blood sample taken by paramedics and was given a court date of Sept. 20 and was released.

• Bethlehem police on Saturday, Sept. 3, arrested Matthew J. Stefanik, 21, of 24 Collabek Road, Feura Bush, and charged him with a common law DWI, failure to stop at a stop sign and failure to keep right.

Stefanik allegedly called police at about 4:43 a.m. and reported his 2008 Infinity G37 had been stolen then found in a field off of Feura Bush Road in Selkirk.

When police interviewed him he appeared intoxicated and had the odor of alcohol on his breath, according to arrest reports. Police said Stefanik reported leaving his car at Pixie's on Friday night, taking a cab into Albany to hit the bars and returning at about 4 a.m. to find the car gone. He said he then drove around in the cab using his remote car alarm in an attempt to find the car and saw the headlights in a field, according to arrest reports.

Police said Stefanik could not produce the name of a cab company and subsequent investigation proved he'd been driving the car westbound on Feura Bush when it went into the field. Stefanik allegedly said he may have fallen asleep and made up the story because he was scared.

He allegedly failed sobriety tests and a breathalyzer test at the station showed his BAC to be 0.12 percent, police said. He was scheduled to appear in court on Sept. 20.

• Bethlehem police on Friday, Sept. 2, arrested Thomas Jeffrey Fronk Sr., 36, of 186 Hudson Avenue, Delmar, and charged him with DWI, DWAI, driving a vehicle with suspended registration, an article 7 registration violation, operating a vehicle without insurance, failure to produce a valid ID card, failure to notify a change of address on his license and registration and inadequate exhaust.

Police pulled over Fronk's 1992 Ford F150 on Woodlawn Terrace in Delmar at about 9:52 p.m. for having inadequate exhaust and a suspended registration for lack of insurance. Police said he had the odor of alcohol on his breath. Fronk said he'd had two drinks at an area bar, and he failed sobriety tests.

A breathalyzer test at the station allegedly showed Fronk's BAC to be 0.07 percent. He was scheduled to appear in court on Sept. 20 and released.

Fall

For the adults, master gardeners will be on hand to advise on nature-friendly gardening at the center's Wildlife Garden, and NYSEDA representatives will provide green building and technology advice.

Friends of Five Rivers will also be holding a membership drive at the festival in anticipation of the preserve's 40th anniversary next year (though the land was used for other purposes prior to the opening of the facility that exists today).

Much of the educational programming at the center is volunteer driven through the Friends of Five Rivers, who work with the small staff there.

"We've had a long and very complimentary and very friendly relationship with DEC, and we look forward to another 40 years," Messina said.

Five Rivers is open year-round, and has over 10 miles of hiking, snowshoeing or cross-country skiing trails for public use on its 450 acres. Thousands of students take field trips to the center every school year.

The Fall Festival will take place from noon to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 17, rain or shine. Parking is free and there is no admission fee, though food, drinks, gifts and other items will be on sale.

Station

mostly with gas sales, but "obviously the inside sales will be much better when we have more to offer them than a candy bar," Boyea continued.

The building's repair bays, which are no longer in use, would be converted to store space to significantly increase the usable area. A fast food-type eatery would inhabit the space closest to Elm Avenue. The entire exterior of the building would see an update, with design by Keystone Builders.

The new plans also call for the existing gas pumps to be shifted to a different configuration and expanded to four sets from three. The existing car wash would see a complete rehabilitation with new equipment and drainage issues fixed.

The applicant was given instructions to draw up a before-and-after comparison between the approved plans and what's being presented now. Board member John Smolinsky also asked the developer to consider outdoor or indoor seating, noting that the corner is often an after-school destination for Bethlehem Central High School students, many of whom frequent the Stewart's store across the street.

Comment opportunity

Town of Bethlehem planners and members of the Town Board will likely meet in coming weeks to discuss how to handle a rezoning request from the developer proposing a huge hamlet development in Glenmont.

The town will require a scoping document as part of the project's environmental review. It's not a required part of the process, but it will help narrow the focus of planners as they consider the rezoning request. It will also provide an early opportunity for formal public comment.

Wemple Corners, which on paper consists of 470 apartments, 56 twin homes and 145,000 square feet of various commercial space, is asking the town to rezone the 95-acre parcel from mixed economic development to hamlet zoning.

According to the developer, this rezoning is necessary in part to allow the construction of senior apartments. But Donald Zee, attorney for applicant Milltown Plaza, said the town's own plans like the Route 9W Corridor Study call for such a development at the corner of Wemple and Route 9W.

Planning Board Chairman George Leveille said that's not entirely the case.

"The comprehensive plan was very emphatic about creating a business development here... you have to go into why that's not feasible," he said.

Smolinsky said the town shouldn't approach rezoning lightly.

"If it's the senior housing that you claim is prohibitive to [mixed economic development], then rezone that parcel and keep the rest MED," he said.

A recent change to the project include the possibility of building condominiums. The developer will also be working the heavy traffic from Bethlehem Soccer Club tournaments into its traffic studies, Zee said.

It's expected the Town Board will in the near future take up scheduling a scoping session and public comment opportunities.

Daughters of Sarah receives award

Daughters of Sarah Nursing Center received the Business Partner of the Year award from the Glenmont Job Corps Academy at a Health Industry Council meeting on Wednesday, August 31, 2011.

Sharon Laurent, director of nursing at Daughters of Sarah, said, "We have been very pleased with the Glenmont Job Corps students who have come to us. They've been well prepared and enthusiastic about the opportunity to work in the health care field. That enthusiasm and interest combine to really motivate us to support and teach them further what they need to know in order to be professional, effective health care workers."

Korey Adams, Glenmont Job Corps Center Director, said, "Our trained students gain valuable work experience at Daughters of Sarah Nursing Center. Normally, Job Corps' health industry internships last six weeks, but Daughters of Sarah designed a 12-week program. We were happy to make an exception to that rule" to meet Daughters of Sarah's requirement.

Adams also pointed out that Daughters of Sarah has offered post-internship employment to 20 of its Job Corps interns, commenting, "To have twenty placements from one employer is exceptional. We are honored to work with Daughters of Sarah and hope to continue this wonderful collaboration. The staff and students at Job Corps extend thanks and congratulations for being an industry leader."

The interns have worked at the 210 bed Daughters of Sarah Nursing Center during and after their internships as Certified Nurse Assistants (CNAs).

Daughters of Sarah Nursing Center opened its doors as the Hebrew Home for Aged in 1942, later moving to its current Washington Avenue Extension campus in Albany. The Nursing Center houses every resident in a private room. A campus-wide renovation and expansion project in the last decade added an assisted living residence (The Massry Residence) and the Golub Family Memory Enhancement Center, all comprising the Daughters of Sarah Senior Community.

County Soil and Water Districts to help farmers recover

At the request of State Agriculture Commissioner Darrel J. Aubertine, County Soil and Water Conservation Districts will be working directly with farmers to assess damage in agricultural disaster areas and identify projects for funding from the Governor's $15 million Agricultural and Community Recovery Fund (ACRF).

The Conservation Component will provide $5 million in funding for farmers to restore farms and farmland damaged by Hurricane Irene, and prevent further damage in the future. Eligible counties include Albany, Broome, Clinton, Columbia, Delaware, Dutchess, Essex, Greene, Lewis, Montgomery, Oneida, Orange, Otsego, Putnam, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Schenectady, Schoharie, Suffolk, Sullivan, Ulster, Washington and Westchester counties.

County Soil and Water Districts will confirm land eligibility based on site inspections of damage. For land to be eligible, the hurricane must have created a new conservation problem that, if left untreated, would: degrade the State's natural resources; impact public drinking water supplies; present ongoing pollution risks to surface and groundwater; pose threats to production facilities; impair farm safety; affect the land's productive capacity; or present challenges to farm production that are too costly to implement without state assistance. Eligible emergency conservation practices include, but are not limited to: debris removal; restoring fences and conservation structures; crop removal; land shaping and grading; and installation of vegetative practice including cover crop. Eligible costs include: architectural and/or engineering services; consultant services; construction and other direct expenses related to implementation.

Applications for funding will be accepted from Soil and Water Districts within the eligible counties on a weekly basis until all available funds are awarded. Recovery funds requested will be reviewed and approved by the Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets in consultation with the State Soil and Water Conservation Committee, the agency that oversees policy and programs for New York's 58 County Soil and Water Districts. Project selection will be based on identified need and degree of loss in consideration of the available funding for eligible counties.

Farmers in need of assistance in Albany County should contact the Soil and Water District as soon as possible at 518-765-7923. A list of county contacts can also be found on the web at: www.nys-soilandwater.org/contacts/county\_offices.html.

St. Thomas kicks off school year with hole-in-one

St. Thomas the Apostle School invites golfers to the first annual St. Thomas Golf Classic on Saturday, September 24th at Normanside Country Club in Delmar.

Golfers who participate will win the satisfaction of helping to ensure that quality Catholic school education is attainable and affordable for all. Proceeds from this tournament will benefit the School's Financial Aid Fund which, along with funds from the Parish of St. Thomas the Apostle Church reduces the cost of tuition for all families in the school community.

Maryann McCarthy and Patrick McCarthy, event co-chairs agree that "In many ways, St. Thomas helps shape our community for the better by educating our children and building the foundation of their faith from a very young age. Parents of St. Thomas students want to ensure the school continues to grow for years to come. One way to do that is to try to give some of our time and effort to help raise money for the cause. A golf tournament seemed like a great way to do that. Parents, alumni, any supporter of St. Thomas or lover of the game of golf can come out and spend some time on a great course for a great cause."

Thomas Kane, Principal, reminds us, "More than ever, we recognize the growing need for people to live their faith through service in the community. At St. Thomas, social justice and service to others are cornerstones of our teaching. An excellent academic program means our students are prepared to be leaders in helping make the world a better place. On September 24, you can play golf and help change the world for the better! Not a bad way to spend a Saturday."

The full-scrabble time is 1 p.m. The registration fee of $100 for a single golfer or $400 for a foursome includes the greens fee for 18 holes of golf on the beautiful Normanside Country Club course, a cart and dinner. Team prizes will be awarded in addition to prizes for the Longest Drive, Closest to the Pin, and the "Beat the Principal!" competition.

The registration form may be downloaded from the School's website, www.stthomas-school.org or by contacting event Maryann McCarthy at (518) 331-7386.

Streak

Plainsmen.

Guilderland quarterback Tim O'Connor threw for 155 yards and had several good runs to lead his team. O'Connor's best series was at the end of the second quarter when he marched the Dutchmen deep into Shen territory before time ran out.

"We're pleased with the fight and the spirit of the players," said Penna. "We told the players that no matter what the outcome was, we wanted to see them fight the whole game, and we did that."

Shen's scoreless streak will be in jeopardy next weekend when it hosts Shaker (2-0). The Blue Bison have scored 67 points in their first two games including Friday's 35-point performance in a victory over crosstown rival Colonie.

"Shaker is one of the best teams in their division, and we have to be at our best in order to win the game," said Steuerwald.

Meanwhile, Guilderland will try to lock down its first win of the season next Friday when it meets a Saratoga Springs team that is coming off a 43-14 loss to Bethlehem.

"At this point, we just want to get better and win our next game," said Penna.

Bethlehem (1-1) took advantage of several Saratoga miscues to post its first victory of the season. The Eagles forced three Blue Streak turnovers and capitalized with scoring drives of their own.

Quarterback John Gossola led Bethlehem with a pair of long touchdown throws in the first quarter. The first toss went to Joe Giaccone for 60 yards, and the second went to Josh Martinez for 30 yards.

Tailback Mike Graves rushed for 147 yards and two touchdowns for the Eagles, and Jason Clas added a 51-yard scoring run. Graves had touchdown runs of 28 and 37 yards.

Saratoga tailback Jesse Spencer had nearly 100 yards of rushing and a pair of touchdowns, but that was the only reliable source of offense for the Blue Streaks.

Bethlehem concludes the road portion of its regular season schedule Friday when it visits Christian Brothers Academy.

BC swimmers begin with win

The Bethlehem girls swim team opened its 2011 season with a 99-83 victory over Guilderville last Wednesday at Voorheesville High School.

Lauren Zemering paced the Lady Eagles with victories in the 100- and 200-yard freestyles. Grace Ayer (50-yard freestyle), Kessler Thompson (diving), Bethany Powhida (100-yard butterfly) and Haley Goodrich (500-yard freestyle) contributed individual victories.

Jenna Bickel had victories in the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard backstroke for Guilderville.

Eagles sweep Dutchmen

The Bethlehem boys volleyball team improved its record to 3-0 with last Thursday's 3-0 sweep over Guilderland.

The Eagles won the match by scores of 25-16, 25-7 and 25-18.

Mike Marshman had 11 kills, and Mike Carrk contributed eight kills for Bethlehem. Benji Federman added 31 assists.

defense – a unit that has yet to allow a point this season – and Saratoga gained too much confidence after beating up on Albany.

Even if that was the case, Bethlehem's offense took a quantum leap against Saratoga. Quarterback John Gosstola had two touchdown passes in the first quarter, and sophomore tailback Mike Graves rushed for 147 yards and two second-half touchdowns. Neither one of those players came close to those numbers against Shen. Nobody wearing the orange and black of Bethlehem did so against Shen.

Bethlehem's defense also came up big against Saratoga. One week after allowing Shen to run for 550 yards, the Eagles gave up less than half of that total against Saratoga and forced three turnovers.

The question is what is the true nature of these two teams? Is Bethlehem closer to being the team people saw beat Saratoga, or are the Eagles more like the team that lost to Shen? And is Saratoga really more like the team that struggled against Bethlehem or the team that flew past Albany?

We'll know a lot more about both teams in the coming weeks. Bethlehem is in the middle of a tough month of games that includes Friday's road trip to Christian Brothers Academy and next weekend's home opener against Ballston Spa, while Saratoga visits Guilderland, Niskayuna and CBA in the next three games. Somewhere in that stretch, we'll know whether or not last Friday's game was an aberration for both teams.

One team that I'm ready to fully believe in is Columbia. After a pair of down years, the Blue Devils have been impressive through the first two weeks of the 2011 season.

Columbia played a great game against Shaker in the season opener before falling to the Blue Bison 32-28, and then the Blue Devils put together a strong defensive effort in a 12-6 victory at Niskayuna last Friday.

Against Shaker, Columbia jumped out to a 20-6 lead before the Blue Bison's high-powered offense found their rhythm. Shaker running backs Ryan Griffin and Tyler Oppelt gobbled up yards in the second half, which kept Columbia's offense off the field long enough for the Blue Bison to pull off the comeback win.

Columbia's defense had no such problems with Niskayuna last Friday. The Blue Devils sacked Niskayuna quarterback Rob Singleton nine times and limited Singleton to 171 passing yards. I use the term "limited" because Singleton lit up Glens Falls' defense for 417 yards and four touchdowns in a 35-26 loss to the Indians one week earlier.

The Blue Devils now have an opportunity to get on a good run and make the Class AA playoffs. Their final five games are against LaSalle, Schenectady, Averill Park, Bethlehem and Colonie, with three of those games being on the artificial surface at the East Greenbush school. All of those opponents are beatable for Columbia.

Of course, there is always the possibility that the Blue Devils' early success is an aberration. But I've seen enough out of Columbia to believe that it is the real deal this year.

As for this weekend, there is a pair of Class AA football showdowns I'll be keeping a close eye on: Shaker visiting Shen and Bethlehem traveling to CBA.

In soccer, I'll be interested to see how the Guilderland girls fare this week as the Lady Dutch meet Shen and Niskayuna. Guilderland is coming off a 4-1 stunner over Bethlehem last Friday, but as is the case with the Suburban Council, there is always another tough team around the corner. I'll also be checking in on our area's volleyball and field hockey teams to see how they're doing.

an off-year last year, which wiped us off the map.

"We probably have one of the smallest teams we've had since I've been here. But this year, we have more soccer players on our team than we did last year," added Kinnally.

Bethlehem and Guilderland host important cross-divisional games Thursday. Burnt Hills-Ballston Lake travels to Delmar to face the Eagles, while Shenendehowa travels to Guilderland to face the Dutchmen. Kick-off for both Thursday games is 4:15 p.m.

Eagles escape against Guilderland

By ROB JONAS
jonasr@spotlightnews.com

The first Suburban Council boys soccer game between Guilderland and Bethlehem featured a lot of action, but little scoring.

Bethlehem goalkeeper Alex Kessler made several key saves to help the Eagles escape with a 1-1 tie against Guilderland last Friday in Delmar.

"We had some chances to win the game," said Guilderland coach Mike Kinnally. "We hit the post at one point, and their goalkeeper [Kessler] made a great save in overtime."

Bethlehem struck first on an unusual play. Ethan Gunty sent the ball on goal at a sharp angle from the right side of the penalty box. The shot skimmed the near post and entered the far left corner of the goal, though Guilderland contended that the shot went through a gap in the netting. The referees conferred with each other before allowing the goal, which gave the Eagles a 1-0 lead.

Guilderland notched the equalizer near the end of the first half. Nick Iurno chipped the ball over to Jordan Macken on a fast break, and Macken struck it past Kessler to put the Dutchmen on the scoreboard.

The two sides continued to battle for scoring chances through the second half and overtime before settling for the tie.

Both teams spent the early part of this week seeking their first win of the season. Guilderland visited Columbia Monday and hosted Mohonasen Tuesday in a pair of South Division contests, while Bethlehem traveled to Colonie.

"This is kind of an under-the-radar group," said Kinnally of his Guilderland team, which features 11 juniors and sophomores on its 22-man roster. "We had

Shutout streak survives

Dutch put up valiant fight against Shen

By ROB JONAS
jonasr@spotlightnews.com

Through two games, the Shenendehowa football team is undefeated and unscored upon.

Guilderland became Shen's latest victim, as the Plainsmen (2-0) shut down the Dutchmen's no-huddle spread offense in a 27-0 victory Friday in Guilderland.

The Guilderland game was tougher for Shen than its season-opening 50-0 victory over Bethlehem one week earlier. The Plainsmen racked up 550 rushing yards and didn't allow the Eagles to get near the end zone. By contrast, Guilderland (0-2) had some success moving the ball against Shen and had an opportunity to reach the end zone before halftime.

"That was a tough football game," said Shen coach Brent Steuerwald. "We had to fight for everything we got."

Shen's defense made several key plays, though, to make certain that Guilderland did not end the shutout streak.

"They did a nice job of mixing up their basic defensive packages and getting some pressure on us," said Guilderland coach Dan Penna. "They've got tremendous linebackers, and when you've got great linebackers it makes the defense that much more effective."

Shen's offense struggled at times against Guilderland's defense, but some tough running from Tony Fusco and a big pass by quarterback Teddy Van Galen gave the Plainsmen what they needed. Fusco had touchdown runs of 15 and three yards in the first half, and Van Galen's 63-yard pass to Brandon Miller in the third quarter set up Cory Acker's 6-yard scoring run that gave Shen a 20-0 lead.

"We knew they were going to churn some yards out," said Penna. "I thought our defense did an excellent job, given the opponent we had."

Steuerwald said he was pleased with Van Galen's throws and felt that the senior signal caller was looking more comfortable with airing the ball out.

"That helps us because it means that teams can't load up against us [to stop the run]," said Steuerwald. "It really helps our versatility."

Fusco added a 9-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter to finish the night with 77 yards and three scores for the

Was Week 2 real or an aberration?

Sometimes, you have to look at a score and wonder if it's an aberration or a reality.

There were two such scores in Section II football last weekend. One was Amsterdam's 23-7 victory over Burnt Hills-Ballston Lake, and the other was Bethlehem's 43-14 road win against Saratoga Springs.

In Amsterdam's case, I don't believe what the Rugged Rams pulled off at home was an aberration. They played well in a Week 1 victory over Queensbury, and they rode their defense to victory over a BH-BL team that hadn't lost to a Section II opponent in nearly four years.

Amsterdam made it difficult for BH-BL to move the ball, let alone hold on to it. The Rugged Rams limited the Spartans to approximately 200 yards and forced seven turnovers, two of which they turned into defensive touchdowns. No matter how talented a football team is, it's nearly impossible to overcome seven turnovers and win.

Despite its problems with ball control, BH-BL's defense kept the Spartans within striking distance. The Spartans' D allowed a 54-yard touchdown pass from Chris Carbone to Hector Hill and a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter. That was it for an Amsterdam offense that had registered 29 points in its season opener against Queensbury.

BH-BL should clean up its act over the next five games and get back to its high-quality brand of football. But Amsterdam proved last weekend that it, not BH-BL, is the team to beat in the Class A Northwest Division.

As for the Bethlehem-Saratoga game, that one is a little bit of a head scratcher. There was nothing to indicate prior to last Friday that Bethlehem was capable of beating Saratoga by 29 points on the road – not when the Eagles were coming off a 50-0 loss at Shenendehowa the previous week and the Blue Streaks were fresh off a 40-6 victory at Albany.

Maybe that was the key, though. Bethlehem had to play arguably the best team in Class AA on the road, while Saratoga played arguably the weakest team in the class. Perhaps Bethlehem was overwhelmed by Shen's
