DELMAR — Hidden off the dead-end road is a time machine, as the suburbs melt into the quiet tranquility of Normans Kill Ravines Park on 70 Wright Lane. The park is on beloved ground for Delmar resident Olive Mae Wright Hallenbeck.

“People have no idea what that used to be back there,” said Hallenbeck. What are now biking trails and the inviting landscape of the new park were previously hay fields and the sprawling farmland that belonged to the Wright family’s 101 Acre Ranch.

Almost three times legal limit

Man reports accident at station, charged with aggravated DWI

DELMAR - A 40-year-old Glenmont man entered the Bethlehem police station on Wednesday, June 28 at approximately 8:06 a.m. to report he was involved in a two-car accident at the intersection of Route 9W and Feura Bush Road a half-hour earlier.

While a later investigation found no evidence of the accident, there was plenty of evidence, according to reports, that the man was drunk.

A patrol officer responded to the station to talk to the man and observed that he had no visible injuries, but did have his black polo shirt on inside out, had slurred speech, watery bloodshot eyes and had an odor of an alcoholic beverage emanating from his breath.

A second officer arrived at the station and noticed that the man parked his 2005 Toyota Carolla in a parking space marked "Police Vehicle Parking Only, Chief of Police."

In the back parking lot of the police station, he was given and failed, field sobriety tests and tested positive for breath alcohol on a pre-screening device. The man was taken into custody for DWI and walked into the station.

When inside, at approximately 9:38 a.m., he provided a breath sample that returned a .28 percent BAC. The legal limit is .08 and the threshold for aggravated DWI is .18.

The man was charged with aggravated DWI and given an appearance ticket for Tuesday, July 18 for Bethlehem Town Court.

Further investigation by Bethlehem police found that there was no physical evidence of the accident in or around the roundabout, and a review of camera footage the next day from a local business that has the intersection in its view from 5:30 a.m. - 8:06 a.m., showed no evidence the car was there.

DWI on North Street

DELMAR - On Friday, June 30 at approximately 12:02 a.m., Bethlehem police observed a white 2023 Jeep Cherokee traveling west on Delaware Avenue with no lights on. The Jeep turned onto Adams Street and across Kenwood Avenue when officers performed a traffic stop on North Street.

Officers observed a strong odor of an alcoholic beverage emanating from the Jeep and asked the driver, a 43-year-old Delmar man, about his lights not being on and he turned them on.

After officers requested he exit the vehicle, they

Please take notice that, on or about July 5, 2023, CHPE LLC and CHPE Properties, Inc. (collectively referred to as "CHPE") intend to request modification of an Environmental Management & Construction Plan ("EM&CP") for the Temporary Laydown Yards Segment of the proposed Champlain Hudson Power Express ("CHPE") Project approved by the New York State Public Service Commission ("PSC") on February 16, 2023. The proposed modification would add a temporary laydown yard on previously disturbed lands in the Town of Bethlehem (Albany County) which will be used for construction staging, marshalling, and storage during construction.

CHPE holds a certificate of environmental compatibility and public need (Certificate), pursuant to Article VII of the Public Service Law (PSL), to construct and operate the CHPE Project. The PSC approved CHPE's Temporary Laydown Yards EM&CP; modifications to that approved EM&CP which impact areas not previously included in the EM&CP review process require additional public notice and an opportunity for the community to comment. Details of the planned work locations, including an overview map of the proposed route, are available on the Project website at: <https://chpexpress.com/overview-of-public-documents/environmental-management-construction-plan/>. In general, construction activities for this Segment are anticipated to commence in summer 2023. Construction of the laydown yard will generally occur between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., with any high-noise construction activities occurring during daylight hours as much as possible.

The approved Temporary Laydown Yards EM&CP and Bethlehem Annex Laydown Yard Change Notice provide detailed information regarding how the temporary laydown yard will be constructed. The document describes and depicts the specific location of these yards including the Construction Zone and temporary work areas, as well as descriptions of work to be performed, plan and profile drawings, and protocols to be used during construction to protect the community and the environment, and to comply with the CHPE Certificate.

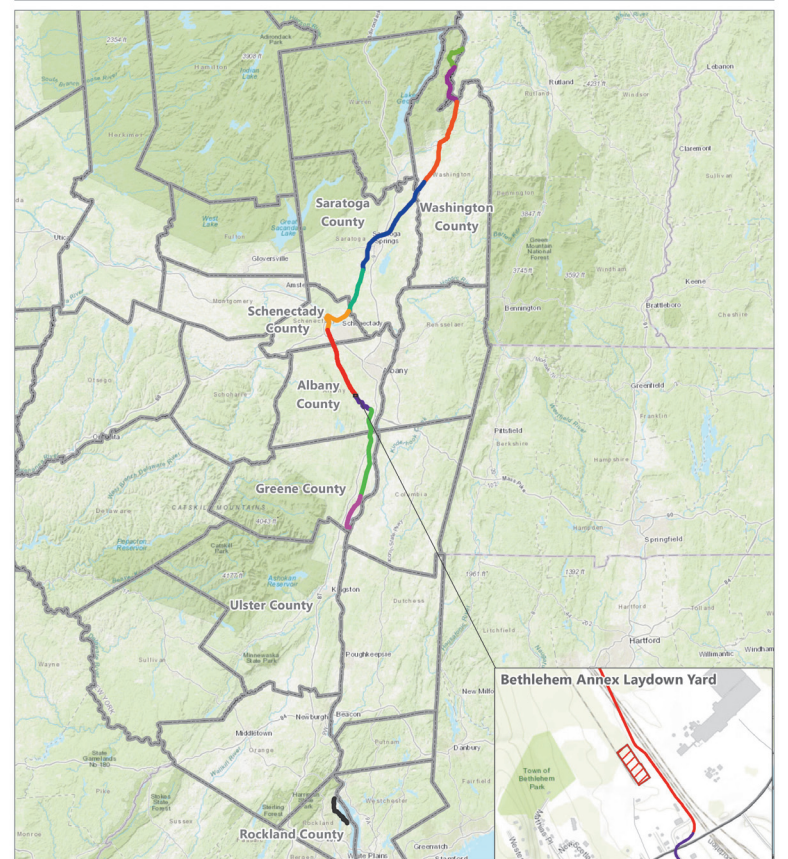

The full Commission docket for the Project can be accessed via the Commission's website at: <http://documents.dps.ny.gov/public/MatterManagement/CaseMaster.aspx?MatterCaseNo=10-T-0139> and electronic copies of EM&CP documents also will be available on the Project website at <https://chpexpress.com/overview-of-public-documents/environmental-management-construction-plan/>.

Four die in tragic New Scotland Fire

Small child and three adults perish, teen jumps from window

By JOHN MCINTYRE
mcintyrej@spotlightnews.com

VOORHEESVILLE - A fast moving fire at a farmhouse at 64 Normanskill Road killed four people on Saturday, July 8.

At approximately 5:15 a.m. a woman called 911 to report the fire and say she was trapped in the house with a 5-year-old girl. The pair could not escape the room due to an air conditioner in the second-floor window.

Dispatchers tried to help the woman find another way out of the structure, but were unable to do so before they lost contact.

When firefighters arrived, the house was fully involved, said New Salem Fire Chief Steve Ayers.

"We knew right away that people were trapped and we had to get inside," he said. "When the call came in we immediately called (other departments) in."

Ayers and firefighters from Slingerlands and New Salem, who were first on the scene, attempted to go through the front door.

"We gained entry through the front door, but the fire was so intense. The heat pushed us back," he said.

According to Ayers, a firefighter from New Salem arrived with his civilian car and had a ladder on the roof and was able to access the room on the second floor with the air conditioner by prying it loose, but the heat and smoke was so intense, they could not access the room.

"It was just an awful scene," Slingerlands Chief Craig Sluers said. "When the water falling on your head from (fire department hoses) was burning us we could tell the intensity of the fire."

The house was a farmhouse built in the early 1900s and also had a metal roof that kept the heat in, according to firefighters.

The family ran the Circle Tree Farm on the property and sold a variety of goods including eggs, flowers and firewood.

The Neander family has farmed the land for generations. Arthur (AJ) Neander, 35, has been running the farm since his mother Ann died last November. He perished in the fire along with his uncle Dale Denato, 64, who was disabled and AJ was caring for, according to the Go Fund Me for the family.

Rebecca Montersosso, 40, who made the initial call and daughter Emily Neander, 5, died inside.

Emily was a student at the Voorheesville Elementary school and the district released a statement Sunday.

"This is heartbreaking news," Superintendent Frank Macri said. "The loss of a student is always tragic, but this is compounded by the community's loss of several members of the family. On behalf of the school district, I want to express my heartfelt sympathy to those who loved and cared for the family."

Macri notified district staff and families Saturday of the tragedy, and the school's crisis team was activated to develop a grief support plan for students and staff in need.

AJ's 15-year-old son Anthony jumped from a second-story window and was the lone survivor of the fire.

Friends of the family have set up a page to help with funeral expenses at gofundme.com/f/community-tragedy.

"As we all know funeral services are costly for one person let alone four. So I am starting this to help with the funeral expenses and the expenses of getting some new things for Anthony as everything he owned has been lost due to that fire," the page said.

The New Salem Fire Department is also meeting Wednesday to discuss what to do to help the family, Ayers said.

The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Firefighters from New Salem, which covered the district where the fire happened, Delmar, Westmere, Voorheesville, Elsmere, Slingerlands, McKownville, Onesquethaw, Selkirk and North Bethlehem all responded.

Town opens safe space to exchange goods

Area is covered by video surveillance cameras

DELMAR — There is now a safer place in Bethlehem to exchange goods that are bought and sold on electronic marketplaces.

On Wednesday, June 7, the Town of Bethlehem and the Bethlehem Police Department installed an e-commerce parking exchange zone at Town Hall on Delaware Avenue.

"When meeting others to buy or sell something from an internet post or app, it is important to take necessary safety precautions," Police Chief Gina Cocchiara said. "Our designated e-commerce parking exchange zone is under 24-hour police dispatch surveillance."

The exchange zone is marked with a sign in the first parking spot closest to the east side of the Bethlehem Town Hall building at 445 Delaware Ave.

Town workers trimmed trees to allow better visibility for the surveillance cameras. The idea has been implemented in other towns in the area, and Cocchiara said she modeled it after what East Greenbush police established.

"I communicate often with other chiefs in the area, and we thought this was a good idea for our community," she said.

Police recommend, if possible, exchangers should bring someone with them and offer to exchange money with an app instead of using cash or checks.

"If you choose not to use our e-commerce parking exchange zone, it is important to meet in a public place, well populated and preferably during the daylight hours," she said.

■ COMMUNITY

Bethlehem to host high school cabaret night

Event to be held August 3, Showcasing Local Talents

By AMY MODESTI
modesti@spotlightnews.com

DELMAR - The Town of Bethlehem Parks and Recreation department is searching for young performers to take part in the first-ever Thursdays in the Park High School Cabaret night. The cabaret event will take place Thursday, August 3, at Elm Avenue Park, 6:00 p.m.-7:30 p.m.

Several months ago, Bethlehem Town Board Member David DeCancio reached out to the parks and recreation staff members Heather Maltby and Jason Gallo about the idea to host a high school cabaret night and that several Bethlehem High School students were interested in the idea.

Bethlehem High graduate Henry Reichman, a political activist and musician, also worked alongside DeCancio and several classmates to think of ideas to help get high school students back out and about in the community.

"I met with a couple of friends and Mr. DeCancio a couple months ago and we were thinking of ideas that would get high schoolers out and about in the community and out of their own houses and something that always drew people in high school are the cabaret nights that the high school does," Reichman said.

Due to Covid, only a few cabaret events had taken place at the school. Bethlehem High School has many students who excel musically and Reichman thought by having a cabaret night could draw a crowd, help the youth get back out into the community, and increase community engagement he said.

Reichman wants to also battle against teenagers born in the Generation Z demographic who want to stay inside their homes more as they lack personal engagement on a daily basis. Many of Reichman's peers didn't take part in the school's Eagle challenge for mental health and the winter dance due to lack of attendance.

Reichman wants to help his peers get off their screens, interact in their town with friends, and take part in fun community events that encourage people to come together.

History of the Cabaret

The idea of the cabaret came about as an experiment during a Bethlehem First Night around six or seven years ago. DeCancio, a member of Bethlehem Opportunities Unlimited, wanted to find out with the high school principal what high school students wanted to do for an event.

The high school principal and DeCancio created a Google poll with five to ten options of things that students wanted to do and the main thing that kept coming up was a cabaret-style night. Each First Night event attracted 35-40 students to perform in front of an audience.

Parents at the time praised DeCancio for the opportunity to perform as sometimes in school, their child may not be comfortable performing with their

The cabaret event during the first night helped DeCancio create a town youth advisory council. Children and teens could voice their concerns about the things that are needed in their community in the council.

"We live in a great town but what can be done better? There was talk about a lack of programming for younger kids, tweens, teens, under-tweens, and for seniors." DeCancio said. "I organized the meeting with Heather, Jason, and the kids and they sat around here and spitballing ideas and cabaret just kept on rising to the top."

Cabaret, according to DeCancio, was something that the children wanted to do. The event will also have the assistance of high school music director, Mr. Jason Dashew, who will provide sound and accessories for the students.

How to Sign Up For Cabaret

From now through July 20, Town of Bethlehem high-school age residents who wish to participate must have a household ID number to register for the cabaret through online registration or by contacting the parks and recreation office, (518)-439-4955, option 7. Each performer (or group) will have a 5-6 minute performance time slot, and must bring their musical equipment to be used on the park's mobile stage.

"I want people to sign up and want people to show up," DeCancio said. "We want to celebrate our neighbors, see their talents, and bring people together."

TOP STORY

The history and heritage of the Normans Kill Ravines Park

The Wright family's attachment to the property can be traced back to Walter Wright. Shortly after his marriage to Olive Tolhurst McNary in 1910, the newlyweds, along with his parents and siblings, moved to the farmland on North Street.

The 1913 Family Directory of Delmar records the two families living next door to each other. Since then, members of the Wright family have continued to live there for over 100 more years. Wright Lane would then be named after the family farm, a common practice of the era.

The history of street and place names is unique to every town. "In the 1900s, the name went along with who the property owner was," explained Susan Leath, former Town of Bethlehem Historian and active Bethlehem Historical Association member.

"Often the street names were named after the people and the families that lived there. That's one way to remember who the families are," added Leath. With the passing of time and the creation of subdivisions, street names gradually have dwindled in their association with the original families that lived on them.

After turning eighteen, Hallenbeck left the farm when she married. However, her fond memories illuminate a vivid picture of her childhood spent at 101 Acre Ranch.

"The barns are what I'd like to have remembered," she said. The property's barns have since been demolished. The barns were multipurpose and essential to transitioning the farm through several stages of growth and the property's evolution over the decades.

101 Acre Ranch boasts a rich equine history, dating to Walter Wright's Riding School in the 1930s and early 1940s.

Advertisements from the school praise Wright's 'exceptional' horses and the benefits of horseback riding as an activity for everyone.

A favorite memory of Hallenbeck's is spending time horseback riding. As a young girl growing up on the farm, Hallenbeck had a horse named Silver, named after The Lone Ranger.

"I could ride all the way out to the railroad track," she said. Hallenbeck would ride Silver, where the Ravines biking trails now stretch out. "It didn't look then like it does now," she quipped.

Later, the farm became actively involved in the dairy business, with Hallenbeck recalling how "Grandpa Wright had dairy cows."

"It was a lot of work to keep that place going," she added. There were no snow plows; winters were difficult to combat at times and bred a sense of endurance. Tractors would help haul them out of snow banks on the road to the farm.

On a recent visit, Hallenbeck saw the newly paved road at Normans Kill Ravines Park. "Bethlehem has gone from a little quaint place to a beautiful town," said Hallenbeck. "When I grew up, there were dirt roads. Back where the park was, it was almost like a secret because it was a dead-end road. Over all the years, it's changed."

Hallenbeck's goal is for the park to commemorate the Wright Family's heritage and for people to realize the land and that her family "lived there and made a living off that land."

"I would like to bring awareness to what the land was," said Hallenbeck, "and would like it to be recognized for the Wright Family."

Reciprocal borrowing

Borrow e-books and digital audiobooks from library systems across the region through the Upper Hudson Library System's reciprocal lending agreement. UHLS has teamed up with the Mid-Hudson Library System – and even more recently the Mohawk Valley and Southern Adirondack library systems – to allow access to more borrowing options through OverDrive and Libby. Through a reciprocal lending agreement, patrons in each of these systems can now borrow available titles from the other's catalogs.

How does it work? The option to borrow from these additional systems will appear under "Partner Libraries" in the upper right hand menu of the OverDrive menu as it appears on the website. If you're using the Libby app, go to the menu, tap "Add Library" and search for Mid-Hudson Library System. You'll be prompted to enter your library card number to sign in. Visit bit.ly/43dV8ef for a short video that will walk you through the process.

Bethlehem police poster contest

Children to Win Prizes, Recognition at Board Meeting

BY AMY MODESTI
modestia@spotlightnews.com

DELMAR - Calling all Bethlehem youth, what does safety mean to you? That's what the Bethlehem Police Department wants to know.

The police department is seeking children from first through fifth grade to take part in the public safety poster contest. The department is currently reaching out to youths/parents/guardians through the Bethlehem Police Departments social media platforms, the Bethlehem Public Library, and BCSD news letter for event participation.

This is the first annual poster design contest. From now until Monday, July 24, participants may pick up a poster at the Bethlehem Police Department (open 24/7) and create a design.

"The topic of safety is something that is discussed daily; whether it be at home, in school, at work, and/or with visual aids and presentations." Caitlin Krage, detective for Bethlehem Police Department said. "This poster contest places the creativity in the hands of our youth; encouraging them to interpret what safety means to them, why safety is important, and how safety applies to their daily lives."

Hence this year's theme, "What safety means to me!"

"What Safety Means To Me" is connected to other programs and opportunities that the police department offers to its residents," Krage said.

The police department teamed up with the Bethlehem Public Library to display the poster designs. Bethlehem residents would be able to place their vote on the best design and also learn about different aspects of safety and how it relates to everyday life and a variety of activities.

In return, displaying the poster designs will also help increase exposure of safety awareness.

Submissions are to be returned to the Bethlehem Police Department by July 24. Judging of the posters will then take place at the Bethlehem Public Library from Thursday, July 27-Saturday, July 29.

Winners for first, second, and third place will be announced during the National Night Out event, Tuesday, August 1, at Elm Ave. Park. Winners will receive Stewart's ice cream coupons and an outdoor summer activity bundle.

Honky Tonk Angels at the Rep

ALBANY — The Capital Repertory Theatre will present Honky Tonk Angels from July 14 to August 20 at 251 North Pearl Street in Albany. This charming, foot-stompin' musical mixes 30 classic country tunes into a hilarious story about three gutsy gals who are determined to better their lives and follow their dreams to Nashville to become the Honky Tonk Angels.

Performances are Tuesdays through Sundays, with evening and afternoon options depending on the day. The show is part of the Rep's 22-23 subscription series, and tickets may be purchased online.

Tang Teaching Museum Holds Frances Day 2023

SARATOGA — The Frances Young Tang Teaching Museum and Art Gallery at Skidmore College will hold its annual summer open house, Frances Day, on Saturday, July 15, beginning at 2 pm. This family-friendly event honors the museum's namesake, Frances Young Tang, and will include tours, art-making activities, food, music, giveaways and more.

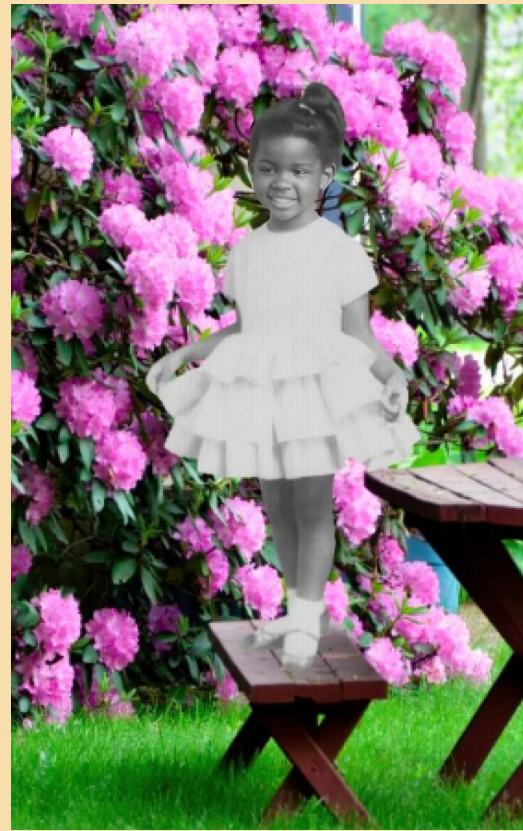

The day includes a timed schedule of events and ongoing activities both inside and outside the museum that visitors can drop in on at any time, all of which are free and open to the public. More information can be found at tang.skidmore.edu.

Albany County Farmers Market

ALBANY — The first day of the Albany County Farmers Market, presented by the Downtown Albany BID, in partnership with Albany County and MVP Health Care, will be on Sunday, July 16 from 12-4 pm. The market is free and open to the public and will take place on South Pearl Street in downtown Albany, in front of the MVP Arena.

Other market dates for 2023 include August 20, September 17, and October 15, all at the same time and location. A list of vendors may be found online at downtownalbany.org.

Saratoga Arts Presents 'Homestead: You Are Here' by Yuko Edwards

SARATOGA — Multidisciplinary artist Yuko Edwards' on-going series "Homestead: You Are Here" will be on view in Saratoga Arts' Atrium Gallery from July 15 to August 26. The series began when Yuko was a resident of Saratoga Springs and took solo walks throughout the inner-city. On those walks, Yuko saw reflections of her own family in the landscape, memories from the past as well as possible new futures. The photographic works raise questions of belonging and evoke the existence of the Black community and its energy.

An opening reception for the exhibition will be held on Friday, July 14 from 5-7 pm.

EXHIBITS

Albany Institute of History and Art
It's a Wrap: Two Hundred Years of Outerwear

It's a Wrap: 200 Years of Outerwear highlights the fashionable garments that help keep us clean, dry, and warm. Exquisitely tailored jackets are juxtaposed with Gilded Age evening wraps encrusted with jet bead trim and dripping with fringe made by the famed Parisian House of Worth. Victorian capes, cloaks, and coats made from luxurious and colorful fabrics are displayed next to outfits worn in Albany during the 1880s tobogganing craze. The simple, yet colorful Shaker cloaks made in Mount Lebanon, New York, contrast with a glamorous 1962 golden brocade evening gown with matching coat by Sophie Gimbel for Saks Fifth Avenue. Also featured are contributions of capital region companies, such as Albany International's PrimaLoft®, a down-like insulation first used in 1990 by L.L. Bean. With this exhibition, we hope to build an appreciation for outerwear that can be fun and elegant. February 18, 2023–August 6, 2023.

Edvard Munch: Trembling Earth The Norwegian artist Edvard Munch (1863-1944) is best known for his vivid depictions of love, anxiety, and death. Raised in a strict religious household, one impacted by the early loss of his mother and sister, Munch once poetically stated "sickness, insanity, and death were the black angels that guarded my cradle." The artist has been understood as an isolated and melancholy figure, and his early years were indeed marked by struggle as he faced critical censure and battled addiction and mental illness. By his mid-thirties, after Munch sought natural cures and medical attention, he found emotional stability and commercial success at home and in Germany, where he lived for many years. When he returned to Norway for short stays, settling there permanently in 1909, Munch lived in a variety of rented and purchased residences in the countryside, preferring natural surroundings to the urban environment. June 10–October 15 2023. Museum hours: Daily, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday. New York State Museum Unveiled: Wedding Wear in 19th-century New York

In choosing their wedding clothes, brides and grooms are influenced by fashion, economics, technology, religion, geography, celebrity, personal taste, and their role in society. This was as much the case in 19th and 20th centuries New York as it is today. Wedding clothing holds memories, and pieces—dresses, shoes, suits, and head wear—are often preserved and passed to subsequent generations. A couple's choices reveal historical information about both the individuals who wore them and those who made them. Some garments find their way to museum collections. This exhibition will unveil stories of select New Yorkers. Exhibit

COMEDY

Pauly Shore

An entertainment career was virtually pre-ordained for Pauly Montgomery Shore. At age 4, he sat on the lap of The King himself in the company of his father, comedian Sammy Shore, who opened for Elvis during the early '70s. Around the same time, Pauly's mother, Mitzi, and father opened The Comedy Store on Hollywood's Sunset Strip, giving their son the rare opportunity to hang out and be inspired by such rising talents as Robin Williams, David Letterman and the late Sam Kinison, who became his mentor. At 17, Pauly began writing and performing his own material, creating the persona of "The Weasel," a character that quickly appealed to young audiences. While playing small roles in such movies as 18

Again and Phantom of the Mall, Pauly honed his comedy routine to a frenetic level, gaining the attention of MTV, which, in 1990, gave him his own show, "Totally Pauly." Pauly rose to national attention during a strong four-year run on MTV, also revealing his comedy chops on the 1993 HBO special "Pauly Does Dallas." His initial success on television led to a three-movie deal with Disney, beginning with the boxoffice hit Encino Man, co-starring Sean Astin and Brendan Fraser. Brucker, Weisse, Canterbury Jazz Orchestra

The BWC Jazz orchestra brings their big band jazz stylings to The Linda. Comprised of a mix of the Capital Region's most seasoned veterans and up-and-coming stars, the BWC Jazz Orchestra is co-run by drummer Cliff Brucker, trumpeter Steve Weisse, and trumpeter/arranger Dylan Canterbury. Upon receiving a music donation from the son of the late Al Quaglieri, former leader of the Albany Jazz Project, Brucker reached out to Weisse and Canterbury about putting together a rehearsal band to read through the music. The response to the band's open rehearsals was so positive that the three leaders decided to establish more formal avenues for the band to perform. Building upon the initial book from Quaglieri's extensive library, the book has grown to include original compositions and arrangements as well as other charts that span the stylistic gamut of jazz history. With a talented and eager crop of musicians, a sizable list of swinging and diverse charts to pull from, and a deep-seeded love of the art, the BWC Jazz Orchestra looks forward to becoming a part of the healthy lineage of big band jazz in New York's Capital District for years to come. See the show July 13th at 8 p.m. only at The Linda WAMC's Performing Arts Studio, 339 Central Avenue, Albany.

Man Must Explore, JVK, HeadFirst

Man Must Explore is an explosive alt - rock group based out of Albany, NY, originally started to push musical boundaries through their signature cocktail of post punk and blues influences. With musical themes ranging from the infinite cosmos to shadowy depths of the human mind, they embody the words spoken by astronaut David Scott on the Apollo 15 mission; "I sort of realize there's a fundamental truth to our nature, Man must explore . . . and this is exploration at its greatest." MME is currently developing their first EP. Each song on this project is about some form of dependence, such as dependence on a significant other ("The Bluff") or drug dependence ("Rx"). "Whether our music makes you want to break off a bad relationship, scream and cry into the void, or put your fist through a wall, we hope it brings you peace in the end." As they continue to record more of their music in this same vein, they remain eager to continue exploring whatever comes next and hope you join them. The show will be July 15th at 8 p.m. only at Pauly's Hotel, 337 Central Ave., Albany.

Dave Matthews Band

Dave Matthews Band emerged from the jam-band underground of the 1990s to become an enduring American musical institution. Steeped in the progressive, multi-cultural sounds of the 1980s -- the group spliced bar band college rock with the jazz and worldbeat explorations of Paul Simon and Sting -- Dave Matthews Band built a following through word-of-mouth cultivated by traded cassettes of live performances, a trick learned from the Grateful Dead. Where the Dead concentrated on psychedelic explorations, DMB was groove-based, anchored by fusion drummer Carter Beauford and given slippery life by Matthews, a singer/songwriter who specialized in exuberant exhortations and moody introspection alike. Between 1994's Under the Table and Dreaming and 2009's Big Whiskey & the GrooGrux King, Dave Matthews Band were mainstays on the adult alternative rock charts, yet no matter how many hits they had, they remained road warriors, drawing significant crowds to celebrate the release of Walk Around the Moon, the 2023 album that appeared nearly three decades after the group's major-label debut. See the show July 15th at 7:30 p.m. only at SPAC, 108 Avenue of the Pines, Saratoga Springs, with a second show on Saturday.

Jason Aldean

Not a traditionalist and not a bro next door, Jason Aldean cut a distinctive figure in modern country in the new millennium. Possessed with a serious swagger and a slightly steely edge, two traits that treated him well on full-throttle rockers like "She's Country" and "Crazy Town," Aldean also had a way with a ballad, and these two gifts helped him become one of the biggest new country stars of the 2000s, racking up hits like "Big Green Tractor," "Dirt Road Anthem," and "Take a Little Ride." Aldean stayed on the top of the charts for the better part of two decades, reaching number one on Billboard's Country Airplay chart nearly every year between 2005 and 2020. During this time, he cannily adopted some current trends -- "Burnin' It Down," the double-platinum hit from 2014, incorporated R&B rhythms -- as he quietly emphasized his softer side, one that was showcased well on "If I Didn't Love You," a duet with Carrie Underwood which was the first hit from Macon, a 2021 album that had a companion in 2022's Georgia. Both albums hit the Top Ten of the pop charts. See the show July 16th at 7:30 p.m. only at SPAC, 108 Avenue of the Pines, Saratoga Springs.

Ragtime Wind Jammers

Dave Lambert, Woody Strobeck, Steve Lambert, Mike Lawrence, and Ron Bill all make up the local Jazz Group; The Ragtime Wind-jammers. # A summer dessert that is just peachy

Peaches are a nutritious summertime favorite. Peaches are antioxidant-rich, include a wide range of vitamins and minerals, and are rich in fiber. And there is no denying how sweet and tasty peaches can be, whether they're plucked right from a tree or enjoyed in any number of recipes.

Cobbler is a type of dessert that gained popularity in the United States during the 19th century. It is made by putting fruit in a deep baking dish and then topping it with a drop biscuit batter and sometimes a crumb topping. Any number of fruits work well in cobblers, including apples, pears and various berries. However, peach cobbler is the quintessential summertime treat.

Cobbler gets its name from the fact that early American settlers didn't have strict recipes with exact measurements for ingredients, so they took what they had and "cobbled" them together.

Today's cobbler bakers enjoy the benefits of having more direction when putting together their desserts. This recipe for "Southern Peach Cobbler" comes courtesy of Paula Deen.

Southern Peach Cobbler

Serves 15

- 1 1/2 cups self-rising flour
  - 1 stick butter
  - 1/2 cup water
  - 2 cups sugar, divided
  - 4 cups peaches, peeled and sliced
  - 1 cup milk
- Ground cinnamon (optional)

Preheat oven to 350 F.

Combine the peaches, 1 cup sugar, and water in a saucepan and mix well. Bring to a boil and simmer for 10 minutes. Remove from the heat.

Put the butter in a 3-quart baking dish and place in oven to melt.

Mix remaining 1 cup sugar, flour, and milk slowly to prevent clumping. Pour mixture over melted butter. Do not stir.

Spoon fruit on top, gently pouring in syrup. Sprinkle top with ground cinnamon, if using. Batter will rise to top during baking. Bake for 30 to 45 minutes.

To serve, scoop onto a plate and serve with your choice of whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Hydrating is key in summer heat

Summer is a season to enjoy some fun in the sun, but it's imperative that people remember to take steps to reduce their risk for heat illness. Those measures should include efforts to hydrate and remain hydrated throughout the day. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention report that water will almost always help people remain hydrated even when they're working in the heat. But food also plays a vital role in preventing heat illness, as the CDC notes eating regular meals can help to replace the salt lost through sweat. It's also important that individuals avoid energy drinks and alcohol when spending time in the hot summer sun. Many energy drinks contain more caffeine than standard servings of coffee, tea and soft drinks, and excessive caffeine consumption can contribute to dehydration. The same can be said for alcohol, and the CDC reports that consuming alcohol within 24 hours of working in the heat can increase the risk of heat illness.

Troy Music Hall hosting a summer of music in the square

“Every week is something a little bit different, which makes this a fun lineup because you’re not getting the same thing over and over again. If you want to attend each show, you’re seeing varying, unique artists,” he added.

The eight-week schedule kicks off on July 8 with the Dust Bowl Faeries’ distinctive faerie-tale combination of dark cabaret, post-punk, and gothic folk. With each show, the accordion-driven band provides an atmospheric, evocative performance.

Seeing the Albany

Symphony Orchestra perform at Troy Music Hall sparked Bronte Roman’s interest in the venue and its concert events. “I loved the Music Hall from the moment I entered,” she said.

Through her interactions with Executive Director Jon Elbaum, Roman was inspired by the Summer Square series’ family-friendly, positive message. It struck a chord with Roman, who had performed at The Egg Theater to support the fundraiser to assist rebuilding efforts in Puerto Rico after Hurricane Maria.

At the Summer Square series, Roman will be accompanied by a four-piece band as she looks forward to ‘emphasizing the beauty of meeting each other through music’ at the Summer Square event.

On July 15, Bronte Roman will perform a wide spectrum of music featuring Latin, jazz, and pop-contemporary components. She intends for the Summer Square series to be a ‘culmination’ of her work, featuring classic songs from the Great American Songbook and shaping the program based on audience responses.

“I think as a performer, you need to make every performance an experience. Communicating with the audience and making sure they’re feeling great is crucial,” she said.

Carol Dags

Carol Dags, an accomplished vocalist and pianist, will give a distinctive performance on July 22. Attendees can enjoy her signature jazz compositions and arrangements under the stage name Jazzage. Julia Alsarraf’s deep, heartfelt songs will travel across a wide spectrum of genres on July 29, from contemporary folk to indie pop and rock.

Ida Mae Specker, a fiddler, folk singer, and composer, will present a signature fusion of original, contemporary, and traditional music on August 5. Returning performers Triskele will take the stage on August 12 to pay homage to the Capital Region’s Irish heritage while delivering authentic Irish music with current, traditional, and original songs.

“It’s really nice to connect with the audience outside,” Triskele band member Sharon Wheeler said, regarding the venue.

The band, which has been together since 2008, has a personal connection to the Troy Savings Bank Music Hall, recording their albums ‘Triskele Live’ and

Troy Music Hall hosting a summer of music in the square

‘The Collar City Uprising’ at the world-renowned hall. Triskele’s work reflects the Irish history of Troy, connecting their music to the iconic venue. “There’s so much rich culture here,” noted Wheeler.

At the Summer Square series, Wheeler promises that “the audience is going to get jokes, they’re going to have good, traditional sing-along Irish music, and also handcrafted songs that we’ve written, along with great harmonies.” She added, “I like to give stories behind the songs as well, to give people perspective and make it more meaningful.”

“There’s no admission; if you want to sit, eat, drink, or dance, you can do that!” said Wheeler. “You get a real feel for hanging out in the neighborhood, listening to real Irish music.”

Audiences can anticipate singer-songwriters Aiva and Hayley performing a blend of covers and original music on August 19. The Jeanne O’Connor Quartet will close out the series on August 26 by bringing Jeanne O’Connor’s expressive vocals to the genres of pop, Latin, and R&B music.

“We’re giving a showcase to people that we’ve already been able to have before, mixed with new people that we’re excited to have for the first time, like Bronte Roman, Ida Mae Specker, and Aiva and Hayley,” said Murray.

The Summer Square series is recent, stemming from a response to COVID-19. “It was established with the purpose of getting people to come out and experience Troy and the beautiful area by the courtyard,” said Roman. “It was a group effort to bring individuals out to appreciate art, life, beauty, music, and dining.”

“We enjoy doing it,” said Murray regarding the Summer Square series. “The community likes it and enjoys coming out. We often see repeated people coming out and bringing their families. We’re always talking about how music brings people together.”

“What makes this series special is all of the efforts, funding, drive, and concept to create an experience for everyone to be part of everywhere,” said Roman. “It’s an experience; the effort that they put together in selecting the musicians—the wonderful artists in the area—to highlight the talent that is in the Troy area and all around, makes it even more special.”
